Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately stop further suffering after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists. mc29

The Key of Success

Is a good memory, without which the student, business man or scientist loses what he gains. Prof. Loisette's wonderful discovery enables his pupils to learn any book, poem, lecture or treatise in one reading or hearing. Endorsed by Prof. Richard A. Proctor, the astronomer, Hon. William Waldorf Astor, late U. S. Minister to Italy, Mark Twain, the great humorist, Hon. Judah P. Benjamin, the famous jurist, and hundreds of others who have all been his pupils, besides classes the largest on record, as 1087 at Baltimore and 1005 at Detroit, &c., &c. The system is also taught by correspondence. Address Professor Loisette, 237 Fifth Avenue, New York, for prospectus.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

The democratic members of the ways and means committee on Feb. 29th struck free fish from the tariff bill they have been so many weeks getting ready to submit to the full committee. They had previously decided to make free fish a feature of the bill.

Richard Ives of Salem, Mass., who does business at 108 Milk street, Boston, fell in the post-office building, Feb. 29th, and fractured his left leg. He was removed to the Homœpathic hospital.

The trial of Rollin M. Squire and Maurice B. Flynn, for conspiracy, began in New York Feb. 29th.

The body of Joseph Chicowine, a jewelry peddler who had been missing from Woonsocket, R. I., since Nov. 19th, was found in a mill trench Feb. 29th. He was murdered by a stab with a stiletto. He was a French Canadian, and leaves nine children.

The seventh story of the new Midland hotel, which is in course of erection at Kansas City, Mo., fell in, Feb. 29th, badly injuring eight men, one of whom has since died.

Hon. O. C. Moore of Nashua will deliver the Memorial day address at Exeter.

That Highway of Nations,

The broad Atlantic, is ever a stormy thoroughfare. Yet blow the winds ever so fiercely, and ride the waves ever so loftily, seamen must man the good ships, tourists will brave the passage, and commercial travelers and buyers must visit the centres of foreign trade and manufacture. That atrocious malady, seasickness, together with colicky pains and much inward uneasiness is often endured when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters would have fortified the voyagers against them. Sea captains, and in fact all old salts and veteran travelers are acquainted with the protective value of this estimable preventive and remedy, and are rarely unprovided with it. Emigrants to the far West should use it as a safeguard against malaria. Seek the aid of the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, and all ailments that impair the harmonious and vigorous action of the vital powers.

Michael Donohue, a farm hand, has been held for trial on a charge of setting fire to the barn of the Pawtucket, R. I., horse car company. He is eighteen years old, and came to this country last June.

Backache is almost immediately relieved by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Try one and be free from pain. Price twenty-five cents.

An entire block in New York, bounded by Lexington and Third avenues and Forty-first and Forty-second streets, was burned March 1st; loss $750,000 or more.

Almost miraculous are some of the cures accomplished by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In the case of R. L. King, Richmond, Va., who suffered for forty-seven years with an aggravated form of scrofula, Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected astonishing results.

The democratic tariff bill has been published. It is calculated to reduce the customs revenue about $60,000,000.

Peter Shaw, of West Winfield, N. Y., was afflicted with a severe cough, with pain in the side and lungs and general depression, causing himself and friends great alarm. He tried many remedies with no good results. One bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry completely cured him.

The Hartford, Conn., Evening Post was burned out on the 1st inst.; loss $30,000.

Ilma di Murska, the prima donna, fainted on the stage at Wilkesbarre, Pa., on the evening of Feb. 29th, and was later reported to be dying.

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

Many disasters from avalanches are reported in Spain; in one village thirty lives were lost, and in another eleven.

Lost.—"I don't know where, I can't tell where, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

Found.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

Yong Lin, a Chinaman, and Nellie Wilson, a pretty white girl of twenty-two years, were married in Boston, Feb. 29th.

She Tried and Knows.

A leading chemist of New York says: "No plasters of such merit as the Ath-lo-pho-ros Plasters have ever before been produced." They are a novelty because they are not made simply to sell cheap, they are the best that science, skill and money can produce, and will do what is claimed for them. For sprains, aches, weakness, lameness, etc., they are unequaled.

401 Fulton St., Sandusky, O., Nov. 21, '87.
The Athlophoros Plaster acted like magic. It is the best I ever tried and I have used many kinds. Our druggist said "plasters are all about the same" but I don't think so now. I sprained my arm and shoulder in July, and it has been painful since, but it does not pain me at all now. MRS. WILLIS MAGILL.

UTILITY OF VOLCANOES.

The Pulverized Material Which They Throw Out of Value to the Soil.

The solid matter thrown out by volcanoes is the most important contribution to the materials which the sea has at its disposal for the nourishment of its life and for the formation of strata. The quantity of the pumiceous and finely pulverized material is enormous. When it falls upon the sea it either floats for a time or at once sinks into the depths. In either case it is, to a great extent, dissolved in the ocean waters, and so contributes to the store of materials which may be appropriated by the organic life of the sea. When it falls on the land, it is generally so incoherent that it is easily swept away by the rains, and so comes quickly into the ocean. The importance of this contribution to marine sediments has been overlooked by geologists, but it is easy to see that it may amount in mass to something like as much as the earthy matter which is brought to the sea by the rivers.

The volcanoes of the Java district alone within a century throws out a mass of this fragmentary rock amounting probably to not less than 100 cubic miles, and perhaps to twice this quantity. Now, the Mississippi river carries out in the form of dissolved matter, mud and sand about one cubic mile in twenty years, or five cubic miles in a century; thus these volcanoes of the Java district have brought up from the depth of the earth and contributed to the sea many times as much detritus as has been conveyed to the ocean by the greatest river in North America. Allowing for the greater porosity of the volcanic dust, it still seems not unlikely that the ejections from a half dozen great volcanoes of the East Indian archipelago, in a period of a little more than a century, from 1772 to 1883, far exceeded that brought into the ocean by all the rivers of North America in the same period.

Although the volcanoes of this district are by far the most powerful which are known, we still cannot fairly reckon that their ejections represent anywhere near the half of the total quantity which came to the earth's surface from such vents during the above named period of 111 years. For during this time some scores of great craters were in eruption, including Skaptar, in Iceland, Vesuvius, Etna, various volcanoes in South America and elsewhere. It seems, therefore, not unlikely that the solid material contributed by volcanoes to the sea floor may, on the average, amount to as much as that taken by the rivers from the land.

Among the solid substances which are ejected by volcanoes we find some of the most indispensable elements of organic life, including phosphorus, soda, potash and other materials. The value of these materials to vegetation may be judged by the fertility which so often characterizes the regions in the immediate vicinity of volcanic cones which cast forth large amounts of ash. If the rainfall be sufficient this ash quickly decomposes into a fertile soil, which tempts the husbandman to replant the fields as fast as they are ravaged by the explosion. Were it not for the constant return of these rarer and precious materials to the superficial part of the earth by means of volcanic action, it is likely that the earth's surface would want many of the substances most necessary for organic life. We thus see that volcanoes play a very important part in the physical history of our planet. The action is, in a large degree, restorative. They help to maintain the earth's surface in a condition in which it may nurture life.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Picking Up the Rare Coins.

"Do you know what a good many bank tellers and men who handle large amounts of gold and silver coins do at the close of the day?" queried a former clerk.

"Go home, probably."

"Yes, but not until they have looked through their metal cash for rare coins."

"Do they ever find any?"

"Certainly they do, sometimes, though not very often. It is a lottery. The fact that some of the rarest of American coins have been picked up in ordinary circulation keeps their eyes peeled. They know values pretty well, and the sanguine cherish the hope of unearthing one of the missing dollars of 1804, which are worth $200 each. In fact, as high as $800 has been offered and refused. The half dollar of 1852, representing Liberty seated, is in circulation. It is worth $1.75. The quarter of 1853, without rays, is occasionally met. It brings $2. Among silver dollars of recent coinage the 1858 dollar, representing Liberty seated, is the most valuable. It is worth $15. So is the same coin of 1839. Both are in circulation. The twenty cent piece of 1877 is worth $1.50, and of 1878, $1.25. They are to be met, though rarely. The valuable dimes and half dimes were all coined before 1846. The silver three cent piece of 1873, with the large star, brings sixty cents; the copper two cent piece of the same year is worth the same. The flying eagle cent of 1856 sells for $1. All the gold coins coined prior to 1883 command premiums.—Chicago Tribune.

Paris' Sewer Cleaning System.

It is scarcely probable that any other city in the world will have, at least for a long period, a system of sewer cleaning as efficient as that of Paris. The sewers are all constructed with that end in view, workmen can carry on their labors without stooping, and the bottom is so shaped as to facilitate the work by the different forms of water gates. In London a second sewer or gallery is sometimes constructed above the main conduit by which a partial cleaning is effected. There is not the slightest doubt that all cities will have eventually to build their great intersecting sewers, at least, in such a manner that workmen can pass through them and clean them. No amount of flushing will ever suffice.—Paris Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

"Volcanoes and Earthquakes," by Samuel Kneeland, A. M., is announced for immediate publication by D. Lothrop Co. The author, who is one of the most distinguished of American men of science, says in his preface, "I shall relate my experience in the volcanic countries; state the theories, and try to bring some order out of the chaos of popular earthquake literature, so that any one can form a satisfactory idea of the principles which underlie these phenomena."

THE INCURABLE CURED!

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Feb. 24, 1887.
Gentlemen—Seven years ago a sore developed on the nose from a slight nail scratch. I tried a few simple remedies, but the sore would not yield. I grew worse every year for seven years. Many thought I had a cancer. Over a year ago I commenced taking S. S. S., and two doses bottles entirely cured me. When I began with Swift Specific I was in very poor health, and could hardly drag about. After I had finished the course of S. S. S. I was strong and buoyant, and had a good appetite. I regard it as a most valuable medicine for ladies in weak, delicate health. It is a household medicine with me. Yours respectfully,
MRS. R. W. WILSON.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 2, 1887.
Gentlemen—For twenty years I have had a sore on my left cheek. It had gradually been growing worse. The many physicians whom I had consulted were unable to do me any good. Last fall a year ago I began using S. S. S. At first it inflamed the sore, and it became more virulent than ever; so much so, indeed, that my family insisted that I should leave off the medicine. I persisted in using the S. S. S. At the end of two months the sore was entirely healed. Thinking that the evil was out of my constitution, I left off the medicine; but in November, ten months after, a very slight breaking out appeared. I at once began again on the S. S. S., and now that is also disappearing. I have every faith in S. S. S. It has done me more good than all the doctors and other medicines I ever took. Yours truly,
A. R. SPARKS.

WINSTON, N. C., April 12, 1887.
Gentlemen—Two or three years ago a cancer came on my face. It soon grew to be quite large. It worse on me, and my general health was very poor. Last September I began a course of S. S. S., which I have continued to the present time with the happiest result. The cancer has entirely disappeared, there being no evidence or symptom of a cancerous character left. My general health is good now, and my appetite better than it has been in years. I am 52 years old, and to-day I am working in the field planting corn. Yours truly, JONAS LIEBLBACH.

Gentlemen—I had a sore on my upper lip for eight years, seven different doctors attempted in vain to heal it. One gave me a small vial for five dollars, which was "certain cure." It is needless to say that it did me no good. About two years ago I became quite uneasy, as people thought I had a cancer, and I took a course of eighteen bottles of S. S. S. The result has been a complete cure. The ulcer or cancer healed beautifully, leaving scarcely a perceptible scar. From that day I have been in excellent health. the Specific having purified my blood thoroughly, increased my appetite and perfected my digestion. In a word, I feel like a new woman, and, best of all, the eight year ulcer is gone entirely. Yours sincerely,
MRS. W. F. CANNON.

A DISTRESSING COUGH.

How many, especially during the Fall and Winter months, are troubled with a Cough, sometimes dry and hacking, sometimes loose causing the sufferer to raise a large amount of offensive matter; this can soon be cured by using Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific, which acts directly on the Throat and Lungs.

Cured her Cough.

Mrs. JEREMIAH CLARK, Lowell, Mass., says: "Twelve years ago I first took a bottle of your Throat and Lung Specific. I had been troubled with a very bad Cough for months. A 50-cent bottle cured my Cough. Since then I have not been without it. I can heartily recommend it to any one who has a bad cough."

Saved his Life.

CHAS. A. WAITT, says: "No language can express the value I attach to your Specific. I believe it saved my life."

We would cite other testimonials did we think it necessary, but a trial bottle will convince you that it is all we represent. Give it a trial.

Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific is sold by all Druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

Labor Matters.

In Chicago, Feb. 29th, it was believed the great strike of engine men on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad was approaching a crisis. Chief Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was reported as saying the company would be brought to terms, if to do this it was necessary to call out every engineer on every western road; and if that did not suffice, every brotherhood engineer in the country would be asked to leave their engines. Chief Arthur and President Perkins of the railroad had a conference that evening, and the strike was discussed in general terms; the meeting was brought about by the Knights of Labor, and it was believed would result in another and more important one, the interview having been a very pleasant one personally. Knights of Labor engineers from the Reading railroad arrived in Chicago to the number of 170, Feb. 29th, and it was said another party of seventy-five would leave Pottsville, Pa., the next day, to take the places of the strikers on the C., B. & Q. An office was opened on Washington street, Boston, on the 29th, for the purpose of engaging engineers and firemen for the tied-up road, on which train work is almost wholly at a standstill.

The Pennsylvania railroad officials have granted the advance of wages asked for by the freight conductors and brakemen, and a strike is averted.

A despatch of Feb. 29th from Wilkesbarre, Pa., says: "There is a big breach in the strike in the Lehigh region. Many assemblies of the Knights of Labor today notified the strikers to return to work at once. The Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal company have ordered their mules back to their mines. By next week 20,000 strikers will be at work."

The ship carpenters of Bath, Me., on Feb. 29th notified shipbuilders that their wages must be increased, to go into effect Monday, March 5th. The carpenters claim that the builders have already advertised for men in other cities, and that the British provinces have been flooded with circulars for carpenters at $2.50 a day. Carpenters have demanded $2.75 and upwards, according to class. The labor unions have issued an appeal to shipyard mechanics in other places, and in Knights of Labor assemblies, to remain away from Bath till the matter is settled. The carpenters of Bath are well organized, and indications point to a strike.

An Anti-Trust Bill.

A bill to regulate trusts is before the Maryland senate. It makes it unlawful for any individual or corporation to enter into or maintain any combination, or to make any contract or arrangement of any kind by which the manufacture or production of any article of commerce, use or consumption shall be agreed to be prevented, restricted or diminished, or by which its price to the public shall be in any manner controlled. Any person who shall, directly or indirectly, violate any of the provisions of the act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subjected to a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $5,000, or be imprisoned for a period not exceeding two years, or both. Any corporation organized under the laws of the state which shall violate any provision of this act shall forfeit its corporate rights.

Railroad Earnings.

A comparative statement of the gross and net earnings of fifty-five railroads during the past four years shows that the average outcome of the year 1887 is an increase of 13.2 per cent in both gross and net earnings over 1886, while over 1885 the ratio of gain in gross of 21.5 per cent is exceeded slightly by the increase 22.2 per cent in net, and that over 1884 exhibits the same tendency, the increase for 1887 over 1784 in gross being 20.4 per cent, which in the net becomes a gain of 21.4 per cent. One explanation of this, as given in Bradstreet, is that the proportion of the gross earnings absorbed by operating expenses shows a steady falling tendency throughout the four years.

A portion of a nearly completed hotel in Kansas City collapsed on the 29th ult., carrying down a vast amount of bricks, mortar, iron pillars and material, and killing a Chicago plumber. The accident has attracted no little attention in the great west, because it is the first decline in real estate ever known in the booming and growing rival of Chicago.

While Congress is engaged in voting for the erection of new public buildings from Bar Harbor to the end of the land, the treasury department, for lack of reasonable appropriations for proper care and custody of public buildings in cities where there is an imperative necessity for them, has been obliged to discharge a great number of janitors, watchmen, sweepers, elevator men and other help, whose services are daily needed. The democracy are slow in understanding how to run the government.

The fish hatching house at Plymouth, owned jointly by the states of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, was burned Feb. 29th, with its contents. Four hundred thousand trout and as many more German carp and land-locked salmon eggs, for spring distribution, were destroyed. Cause of fire not stated.

Louis Paris has served notice on the city of Nashua that he will sue for $50,000, as compensation for injuries received by a sewer accident.

Practical jokers should consider an incident which happened in Blanchester, Ohio, the other evening. Two young ladies played ghost with such effect that two of their friends, Dora Eakins and Lizzie Chaney, were made maniacs, and are likely to die. It has doubtless cured the young ladies of practical joking, but their reformation is too late to be of use to the victims of their sport.

The opposition members of the Dominion parliament have unanimously resolved to make unrestricted reciprocity between the Dominion and the United States the leading plank in their party platform.

A despatch from Constantinople says the sarcophagus containing the remains of Alexander the Great has been discovered at Saida.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

Municipal Affairs.

A committee of three, namely: President Page, and Councilmen Priest and Casey, were appointed to meet a similar committee on the part of the aldermen, to take into consideration the drafting of the annual appropriation bill.

A communication was received from Supt. Morss of the school department, stating that the board of instruction asked for an appropriation of $22,000 to meet the expenses of the schools the present year.

Dr. Clark, chairman of the city board of health, appeared before the council, and made a verbal report in regard to the Jones schoolhouse (the academy) and the Hanover street schoolhouse. He informed the council that the state board of health had examined into the sanitary conditions of both buildings, and condemned them both; and were in communication with the attorney general in regard to the measures to be taken to remedy the existing state of affairs. Dr. Clark further stated that if effective measures to that end were instituted by the city government, the action of the state board would probably be suspended for a reasonable time; otherwise the state law would be invoked to protect the health of the children.

Adjourned for one week.

William H. Hill.

Mr. William Henry Hill, whose decease took place at Boston during the past week at the age of seventy-four, was a native of this city. He attended our grammar schools, and finished his school life at the age of sixteen at the School street school, then under the charge of Hon. Robert Morrison. He was an exemplary pupil, and was often referred to by the teacher as a worthy example for his schoolmates; he was contemporary with Moses H. Goodrich, and they were firm friends.

On leaving school he went to Dover and there learned the book binding business, which he in a short time after pursued in an establishment at Cornhill, Boston. His faithful and skillful manner of doing business made him many friends, and it was not long before he had an establishment of his own in the paper business, from which he emerged years ago as a capitalist.

The character he manifested as a boy at school, that of great gentleness and sweet temper, he maintained throughout his business life, and his ability as a business man commanded the respect of all who knew him.

Assessors' Meeting.

The Board of Assessors for 1888 met on Thursday evening, the 1st inst., and organized by the choice of Moses H. Goodrich as chairman, and Mercer Goodrich as secretary.

A Former Portsmouth Man in Trouble.

The arrest of Dr. George T. Weed, of Newport, Me., on the night of Feb. 28th, on a charge of complicity in the robbery of old Peter Bennett, has created a great sensation there. It will be remembered that this robbery was in itself one of the most sensational affairs that has occurred in eastern Maine for a long time. Two men (or more) entered the house of Bennett, beat him into insensibility, and stole a large sum of money from an old rattletrap trunk in which he kept it, tied up with a rope. Two men named Whitney and Foster, or giving those names, were arrested some days later by a shrewd deputy sheriff near the New Brunswick border, and have since pleaded guilty to the robbery, in the supreme court at Bangor. Bennett declared that he lost $30,000; the confessed thieves restored $20,000, and claimed that to be all they got. Bennett has all along asserted that some of his money was in circulation in Newport, and that somebody of prominence in that town was concerned in the robbery.

Dr. Weed was arrested at his home in Newport after ten o'clock at night, by officers from Bangor, and was taken to the latter place on a freight train. He was found in the sitting room of his residence, in company with his wife and their only child, a daughter fourteen years old. It is said that the people of Newport have for some time been suspicious that the doctor knew something about the robbery, but on account of his position in the community, and the fact that nothing definite could be traced to him, the officers were kept from placing him under arrest. The recent confessions of the other two prisoners, Whitney and Foster, are supposed to have implicated Dr. Weed as having a hand in the robbery. He refused to see a reporter who called at the jail in Bangor the morning after his arrest, and requested that no person be admitted to his presence. The officers also refused to talk about the case.

Dr. Weed was formerly a resident of this city, where he practiced dentistry; and his wife is a native of Portsmouth. He has lived in Newport fifteen years or more; is said to be a skillful physician, and at one time had a large and lucrative practice there. About ten years ago he also owned a drug store in Newport, but intemperance lost him his business and much of his practice; he afterward reformed, and became active in temperance work, serving for some time as president of the local reform club. Of late, it is said, he had to a certain extent relapsed into his former habits, but not to such an excess. The Newporters assert that Weed, Whitney, Foster and others were in Weed's office playing poker on the Sunday afternoon preceding the robbery, which took place on Sunday night; and that Weed has never been willing to say where he was that night.

Dr. Weed was family physician for Bennett, and it is said that in his visits there he learned of the existence of the old man's money and its location. The officers claim that he sent for Whitney, whom he knew before, to come on to Newport from New York. Whitney brought Foster with him, and the three repaired to Bennett's house on the night of the robbery and secured the money. It is said that Weed took possession of the money, putting it in a letter sack which Whitney had, and took it to his home, giving Whitney and Foster so much of it as was necessary to help them in making their escape. It is claimed that Whitney and Foster knew nothing of the amount of the plunder — about $32,000—until the next Tuesday morning, when, stopping at a farmhouse for breakfast, they read it in the papers.

The officers say that their attention was first directed to Weed from the fact that on the night of Bennett's robbery Weed was sent for to attend him, and was not to be found. He called at Bennett's the next morning, but was unable to give a satisfactory answer as to his whereabouts the previous night.

Whitney is said to have made known the secret of the robbery when he followed Foster's suit in pleading guilty. Weed is alleged to have written him several letters regarding the affair, which are now in the officers' hands, and will be produced at the trial. He states in one of these, so it is said, that he removed the money from Whitney's sack, burning the latter, and throwing the iron frame into Newport pond. The officers claim to have found the frame since.

It is not probable that Whitney and Foster will be sentenced at this term of court, as, if they were sent to Thomaston, they could not testify against Weed, who cannot be tried at this term. The whole affair is greatly mixed, the chief feature being a scramble after the reward offered by old Bennett.

Boston & Maine Railroad Change.

An important order issued by General Manager James T. Furber to the employes on all divisions of the Boston & Maine road has just been made public and reads as follows:

On and after Thursday, March 1, 1888, the motive power department of this road and its leased lines, including the Lowell system, will be consolidated, and Mr. William Smith, the superintendent of motive power and machinery, with headquarters at Boston, will have entire charge of the department.

The car department of all divisions, together with leased lines, including the Lowell system, is hereby consolidated, and Mr. D. C. Richardson is appointed car builder, with headquarters at Lawrence, Mass., and Mr. A. M. Waitt, assistant master car builder, with office at Salem, Mass.

The passenger department of the entire road, leased lines and branches, including the Lowell system, is also consolidated, and Mr. D. J. Flanders, the general passenger and ticket agent, and will also extend his authority over the whole line.

Mr. Charles E. Lord still remains assistant general passenger agent, and will also extend his authority as such over the consolidated line.

Mr. George W. Storer, the former general passenger agent of the Boston & Lowell railroad, is hereby appointed assistant general passenger agent of the consolidated line.

JAMES T. FURBER, General Manager.

All the gentlemen named in the order have been prominent in railroad circles for many years and recognized as having no superior in the management of the respective departments with which they have long been identified.

Mr. Job Jenness, formerly proprietor and landlord of the Ocean house, Rye beach, up to the time of its destruction by fire, and since then manager of hotels in Washington, Boston and Kennebunk, died in Fall River, Mass., Feb. 29th, at the age of seventy-six years. The Ocean house was the first summer hotel erected in Rye.

At a supper given by Austin Corbin on the evening of Feb. 27th at his residence on Fifth avenue, New York, to nineteen of the leading railroad men of the country, President Robert Harris of the Northern Pacific road was one of the guests.

The U. S. S. Swatara was put in commission at this navy yard at three o'clock Thursday afternoon, March 1st, Comdr. John McGowan commanding. The Leyden had not at that time arrived from Boston with the crew detailed from the receiving ship Wabash.

"The Little Tycoon," William Spenser's American comic opera, will be played in this city March 17th. A reporter a few days ago having asked Mr. Spenser if his opera was in any sense a copy of the "Mikado," he replied: "The Little Tycoon was written three years before and copyrighted prior to the 'Princess Ida,' which was ahead of the Mikado in the Gilbert & Sullivan series. When I finished 'The Tycoon,' I submitted it to Colonel Morse, Gilbert & Sullivan's agent in America, then playing 'Patience.' He said, after carefully going over the work, that the Japanese idea was entirely new and had never been produced on any stage. He added that he was going to Europe in less than a week, and asked would I accompany him, and he would assist me in bringing it out in London. He was much impressed with the novelty of it, I decided not to go, and before my opera was placed on the stage I was stunned to find that Gilbert & Sullivan had utilized the Japenese element as the full text of their 'Mikado.' The two names, 'Mikado' and 'Tycoon,' meaning the same, it was clear to me that Gilbert & Sullivan had stolen my idea. They saw there was room in it for a picturesque performance, but were it not for the 'Tycoon' there would have never been any 'Mikado' in the Gilbert & Sullivan series. I published this fact during the presence of Gilbert & Sullivan in this country, but they did not dare make a reply, because I was armed with proof that would confound them if they did."

One of the busiest places in the city is J. C. Carr's shoe store. He is disposing of his extra large stock of fall and winter goods, making room for spring goods already ordered. Look out for bargains —or rather, take a look in there, and you will find them.

The fish are leaving the trawling grounds in Ipswich bay, and the winter fishing is drawing to its end.

One-third of the churches in Maine are closed by reason of lack of support, and one-half of the people in the state never go to church. There are 1362 churches in the state, and of these 417 are vacant.

THE worst features about dangerous soaps is the damage done before their injurious effects are detected. The injury done to clothing by the use of poor soap is often greater than the actual wear. Professor Cornwall, of Princeton College, says the IVORY SOAP is pure. His statement should be sufficient guarantee for you to have only the IVORY SOAP used in your family.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

A FACE.

Hope has a tender daybreak in her eyes,
That casts a happy morning on her way.
Her face—it is an image of the day,
As pure and sunny as the summer skies;
And when she smiles a halo round her lies,
Whose light seems born of heaven's most holy ray.
Her lips are sweet as dainty flowers in May,
Yet wear a thoughtfulness that makes them wise.
Oh, shining face! God bless the everywhere;
A little sun by day, by night a star,
To bring bright cheer where pain and sorrow are.
God keep thy gentle forehead free from care,
Thine eyes keep ever from the mist of tears,
—Ernest W. Shurtleff in Boston Transcript.

Highway Postal Locomotives.

In the south of France the government postal service is supplemented by the "wagon post" of private contractors, who employ many hundred horses in conveying small parcels from town to town, even along the railway lines. This business has become so extensive that several road locomotives have been ordered for it, and are proving very satisfactory. Two of these machines are running between towns seventy miles apart, each making the trip one way nightly at a speed of eight miles an hour. Part of the road is very hilly, with long gradients up to as much as one in eleven. The locomotive, with coal and water, weighs fifteen tons, and the loaded wagon from seven to ten tons, making the average weight of the train twenty-three tons. At 175 pounds pressure the engines give about twelve horse power, and with fair roads use about half a ton of fuel for the round trip of 140 miles. These engines have been running over six months without interruption.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Durability of Roman Buildings.

A proof of the remarkable durability of Roman buildings was found in the resistance offered by the foundations of the piliars on which the bridge rested which led from the Roman settlement of Maguntia (modern Mainz) over to the river to the right or eastern bank of the Rhine. There were fourteen stumps of pillars under the water, resting upon piles surrounded by beds of stone to prevent undermining by the current. The woodwork had been destroyed to a depth of not more than an inch, or an inch and a half, and having been taken out and dried it was found unusually hard and well adapted to fine furniture. The expense of removing these pillars was $15,000, or nearly $1,100 each, on account of the great amount of time and labor that had to be spent on them.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Teak Wood Becoming Fashionable.

The teak wood is much admired and fast becoming fashionable, but it cannot be made common, as it is both expensive and difficult to obtain. It comes from India, or rather goes from India to Japan and China, where it is carved. The wood is light in color, but it is sometimes stained or dyed, and it is this kind that we generally see in this country. The open worked patterns are particularly effective as doors and decorative mantels. There are only two direct importers of it in New York, although it is to be had at many furniture dealers, who receive it through the French markets in small quantities. It may be interesting to know that a small pedestal costs $65 and a handsome carved chiffonier $1,000. New York Press "Every Day Talk."

A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative, as well as cathartic properties. This combination of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

Oscar F. Beckwith, aged eighty years, was hung at Hudson, N. Y., March 1st, for the murder of Simon Vandercook at Austerlitz in 1882.

From W. M. Sterling, pastor Methodist church, Waterville, Me.: Dear Sir—I have used Adamson's Balsam in my family for several years and have found it a very pleasant remedy to take, and most satisfactory indeed in relieving coughs and colds. I am glad to recommend it to others.

The British steamer Flamborough has been detained in New York, on suspicion that she is bound on a filibustering expedition to Hayti.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills, aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

The young men of the Catholic faith of Dover had a meeting on Friday evening, for the purpose of starting a Young Men's Catholic gymnasium. The paper has one hundred names upon it, and it numbers the best young men of that faith in the city. If quarters cannot be engaged they will erect a building, probably near the new Catholic school which is to be built.

That Highway of Nations.

The broad Atlantic, is ever a stormy thoroughfare. Yet blow the winds ever so fiercely, and ride the waves ever so loftily, seamen must man the good ships, tourists will brave the passage, and commercial travelers and buyers must visit the centres of foreign trade and manufacture. That atrocious malady, seasickness, together with colicky pains and much inward uneasiness is often endured when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters would have fortified the voyagers against them. Sea captains, and in fact all old salts and veteran travelers are acquainted with the protective value of this estimable preventive and remedy, and are rarely unprovided with it. Emigrants to the far West should use it as a safeguard against malaria. Seek the aid of the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, and all ailments that impair the harmonious and vigorous action of the vital powers.

Funeral services over the remains of Mr. William O. Haskell, Jr., one of the news editors of the Boston Herald, were held at his late residence in Clarendon Hills, on Thursday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles F. Dole of Jamaica Plain, a classmate of the deceased, and were simple and very impressive. The remains were taken to Milton for interment.

Big Dinners.

Every day in this city thousands of persons eat too much at dinner, and, as a consequence, suffer from sour stomach, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, etc. If these will take just one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after eating, they will be surprised by the entire absence of those unpleasant feelings which daily distress them, and may continue in their improper course of eating big dinners without fear. Only one little pill, remember.

OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Ath-lo-pho-ros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 3, 1887.

Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and trying almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After taking one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure.

CHAUNCEY B. REDDICK.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec. 26, 1887.

I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its fangs fastened upon me for the past 30 years I know whereof I speak. MRS. JULIA CHILTON.

DEATH TO PAINS AND ACHES

AMERICAN WOMEN'S VOICES.

A Young English Diplomat's Remark. Throat Gymnastics.

Considerable discussion has been caused by a remark of a young diplomat belonging to the English fisheries commission. He said that he was much struck with the facial and physical loveliness of American women, but that his sense of the harmonious was jarred when they spoke. "Englishwomen's intonation is musical, low, sympathetic, while that of the typical daughter of America is high, somewhat harsh, and not grateful." He added that in repose the American woman is more attractive than her English sister; but that the latter is more agreeable in conversation.

Throughout the debate which this candor has started their is no denial of the assertion that American women's voices are often disagreeable and that English women's intonation is more melodious. But there is no proper effort to get at the cause of the difference. There is an error in admitting that the difference is due to higher pitch in this country than in England. Any one who has heard English women speaking with total self-unconsciousness in their own homes knows that they run to quite as high a note as women of any other country; and that, in proportion as the spirit is amiable, the voice rises as naturally in the gamut as the thermometer ascends when the icy fetters loosen the mercury. Miss Terry's voice is perfectly natural on the stage, and when she is not tragic it is in a high key. Sontag was noted for talking as "flutes lisp and nightingales warble," and both are at their best in high pitch.

The trouble lies not in the pitch, but in the quality of voice. When Lear said of Cordelia, "Her voice was over soft, gentle and low, an excellent thing in woman," it was quality, not pitch, he correctly described. When Petruchio says of Katherine, in "Taming of the Shrew," "Think you a little din can daunt mine ears?" he describes again the offensiveness in woman's voice, its noisiness, not its pitch. Chaucer knew that "small voices, sweet entuned," were "the sweetest melody he ever heard;" and once again it is quality, not pitch, that is referred to. It is undeniable that in the American air all voices are more or less roughened by the catarrhal maladies, more disagreeable than dangerous. We can count too easily the singers we have produced; and the moment a voice is discovered there is feverish anxiety to get it out of the country before our winds crack it in the throat. Few singers born or bred in Europe return, unless in extraordinary cases of great laryngeal pliability, with as even or suave a tonality as they bring out here.

The voices that are bred among us we do our best to destroy for musical quality in either singing or speaking by the elocutionary antics of our schools. In England, except among those who are latterly patrons of the public primary schools, tuition outside the home in childhood is all but unknown. The governess is a tradition as immovable as the house of lords or the judges' wigs. The children study and recite in an ordinary room. The 'low' voice is naturally and sweetly developed, because the lining of the throat is not scraped by voice forcing. When singing lessons begin the special timbre of each voice is carefully watched; and as rapidly as indications suffice, it is given the proper education for its natural register, be that high, low or medium. Meanwhile we have forty children in a large schoolroom; the teacher arranges them in a row at the rear, and stands herself at the front of the apartment, and the child who reads loudest is the highest in order of merit. It is considered particularly commendable if the entire class can read in concert louder than any other entire class in all the competitive schools—competing for the ruin of individual voice quality. The same unscientific course is followed in music. All sing the same register for years; all are urged to shout and "holler" in school. When they are of an age to make battle with the minuet in its right mood, they can already say, as Falstaff did to the chief justice, and more, truly: "For my voice, I have lost it with hollaing and singing of anthems."

Doubtless, too, mental composure has much to do with the quality of the voice. The eager of both sexes will shout or scream. As the best conversers are also the best listeners, the quality of voice which goes so far to make a good converser is inconceivably low and sympathetic. The English girl learns in infancy that she is to speak only when spoken to; that she is to reflect before speaking, and when she speaks, is to say as little as possible that will antagonize her lords and masters. The American girl is accustomed from childhood to speak on everything; to exercise spontaneity, if not independence; and the vices resulting from the abuse of the good ideas herein involved are loud voice, harsh quality, and speech, followed by reflection, perhaps, but rarely preceded by it. American girls, as a rule, are poor listeners. A dozen of them will speak all together, and the highest pitch is often reached in a competition to coerce attention.

Aside from climatic influence, not easily overcome, whose effects, however, can be mitigated, the disagreeable quality in American women's voices is due to irrational throat gymnastics in childhood, and to deficient mental composure in maturity.—Chicago Times.

An author who has published his own book has netted nearly $20,000, whereas his royalties at the usual rates would have yielded him at the outside $4,500. Some books advertise themselves by an attractive title, some by an ingenious system, some by the author's name, though a good, interesting story always advertises itself through its readers, as a good play always inspires those who see it to speak of it to others.—New York Times.

The Only Remedy FOR Contagious Blood Poison.

Mr. D. B. Adams, Union, South Carolina, writes: "I was afflicted with a terrible case of blood poison for nearly thirteen months. I was treated by the best physicians, and used various kinds of remedies, but received no substantial relief. I finally tried the Swift Specific, and about four bottles cured me sound and well."

Col. S. H. Kieser, editor and proprietor of the Opelika, Ala., Times, under date of August 3, 1887, writes: "When I was a young man, through indiscretion, I contracted a disease which has stuck to me for years. Some five or six years since I was troubled with pains, so as to make it difficult for me to walk. Having advertised the S. S. S. in my paper for several years, I concluded I would try it to see if there was any efficacy in the medicine. I commenced using it according to directions and used half dozen bottles. I was once at a way station and, getting left, I walked the seven miles and have never felt any return of the old malady. After experiencing the good effects I must say I was satisfied with the result. I am sixty-eight years of age and I feel now like a young man and can go to the case when necessary and set up from six to eight thousand ems without any inconvenience. I send you this without solicitation."

Mr. F. Woehl, 211 North Avenue, Chicago, under date of June 12, 1887, writes: "I deem it my duty to thank you for the cure I received from your excellent medicine. I contracted a very severe case of blood poisoning about two years ago. Hearing of your medicine, I went to a drug store, the proprietor of which persuaded me to buy a preparation of his own, which he said was a sure cure. I used six bottles of his stuff and grew worse all the time. At last I got disgusted and despaired of a cure. I met a friend who told me that your medicine had cured him. I went to the same druggist again and demanded your medicine. He reluctantly sold me twelve bottles, and I am now perfectly cured. I write this for the benefit of sufferers, to prevent their being deceived by false representations. I thank you again for the benefit derived from your medicine."

Dr. J. N. Cheney, a prominent physician, residing in Zillville, Schley County, Georgia, in a letter recounting the infallible success he has in curing contagious blood poison cases in his extensive practice, writes: "Those who know the almost inevitable, permanently dangerous effects of mercury will welcome your discovery of S. S. S. as a boon to humanity. The medical profession always wary of proprietary medicines, is coming slowly, and in some cases secretly, to the use of S. S. S. in cases of blood disorder. Of course a medicine that cures poisoning in its worst form must purify the blood of every disorder."

Labor Matters.

The management of the Burlington road sent word to all their division superintendents Friday, March 2d, that there seemed no possibility of an agreement between Chief Arthur and the Knights of Labor being carried out. They say the Reading men engaged by them want nothing to do with the brotherhood and that they are more anxious to get their families west, than to get back to Pennsylvania. They further state they are running enough trains to accommodate the public and do all their business; that they are going to run the road their own way, and not compromise the present trouble in any manner.

The Boston Post says: "If the westerner won't work the easterner is ready to hop into his shoes. See the crowd of men who since Wednesday forenoon, the 29th ult., have besought at No. 302 Washington street to be examined as to their qualifications to fill vacancies made by striking engineers and firemen on the line of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad. And on Wednesday evening fifteen engineers and seventeen firemen left Boston for Chicago over different routes, while some sixty followed next evening. The C., B. & Q. people feel quite proud of their recruiting expedition to New England."

The painters and decorators of Boston met on Thursday night and took action upon matters pertaining to the hours of labor and wages for the season of 1888. The walking delegate made a report which showed that business was good, that collections were large, and workmen in good demand for the season of the year. The questions of hours of labor and wages will be further considered.

The marble workers of Boston still hold the same unbroken front which they presented on the first day of the lockout, and there has not, it is claimed by them, been a deserter from their ranks. They also say that the effort of the manufacturers to open free shops presents evidence of being a failure, and many of them who think they know the inside facts in relation to the condition of affairs assert that, if the men continue to stand firm for a few days longer, at least two of the manufacturers will grant the demand that nine hours constitute a working day.

The engineers and firemen on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Johns' railroad and its connections, known as the southwest system, have been granted an advance in wages. The employes had applied for an increase several weeks ago, and while they did not get everything demanded, they are satisfied.

A despatch of March 2d from Omaha says Pinkerton officers armed with Winchester rifles, have charged the strikers, several shots were fired, and a like number of men hurt.

The spoolers at the American Linen company's factory at Fall River, Mass., quit work Friday morning. They complain that they are required to spool twenty-six pounds at the same price formerly paid for twenty-two pounds.

The Dover Democrat of last Thursday says: "Rumor has it here this morning that three locomotive engineers of this city will start for the west to-morrow morning, to take the places of striking engineers on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. The old wounds of the Boston & Maine strike years ago never healed, and some say that the engineers about here who struck then were not treated just as they should have been by the brotherhood."

The Big Fire in New York.

The entire block bounded by Lexington and Third avenues and Forty-first and Forty-second streets, New York, was totally destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon, causing a loss of upwards of $750,000. The fire began in the building corner of Forty-second street and Lexington avenue and in nine minutes the entire Lexington-avenue front was in flames.

The moment the firemen arrived Second Assistant Chief McCabe sent out the "three-six" alarm, bringing to the scene 21 engine companies, eight hook and ladder companies and the water tower. About 250 policemen soon arrived, and were kept busy keeping back the crowds that filled the streets.

In twenty-eight minutes from the time the fire was discovered, the walls on that side fell in. Messrs. Howell, Winningman & Smith's cigar factory adjoined it on the Forty-second street side, while on the Forty-first street side was the old Pottier and Stymus building, which was partly occupied by the Herter Bros., also furniture manufacturers, W. H. Ertell, furniture manufacturer, and the Furniture Tube Co., D. B. Lockmann, a designer, and William Armstrong, a carpenter.

The flames from the girders of the elevated road conducted the fire to the Vanderbilt Hotel, on the northeast corner of Forty-second street and Lexington avenue, and the front of the hotel was soon in a blaze. The hotel was saved from burning, but was drenched with water and rendered uninhabitable. Three adjoining brownstone flats caught fire in a similar manner, but also were saved.

On the west side of Lexington avenue, between Forty-first and Forty-second streets, is the Manhattan Storage Warehouse, containing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of valuables. The walls cracked and blistered with the heat, and emitted clouds of steam as the water from dozens of hose was poured on them. The immense flagpole on top of the storehouse caught fire and blazed above it until the firemen's axes chopped it down and it fell to the street with a crash. On the northwest corner of Forty-second street and Lexington avenue is the hospital for the Ruptured and crippled, in which are 100 or more crippled children. Streams of water saved it. Assistant Foreman Samuel Reed of engine 2 was struck on the right shoulder, and his collarbone broken. Patrolman Malone was struck in the face by a burning brand, and badly burned and bruised. As far as is known, these were the only persons injured, but the firemen performed many brave deeds, and had many narrow escapes.

The roof of the Roman Catholic church of St. Agnes on Forty-third street, a block away from the fire, was in a blaze at one time, but a detachment of firemen put it out. After three hours of hard fighting the great fire was under control. To-day there remains of the entire block only the row of houses on Third avenue and a mass of blackened, jagged walls. Assistant Chief McCabe, who sent out the "Three-six" alarm, was dismissed from the fire department once for sending out the same alarm at what he deemed a dangerous fire in Harlem. He was recently reinstated by the courts and received his full salary for the entire time, nearly two years, that he was suspended.

The following is a partial list of the losses and insurance: Pottier & Stymus Company, building and stock, $200,000; insured $100,000; W. H. Ertell, furniture, stock, $30,000; insured, $5000; Powell, Weningman & Smith, cigars, loss $150,000; insurance unknown; Theis & Tuey, marble cutters, who occupied the basement beneath the cigar factory, loss, $26,000; insurance unknown. The building south of the Pottier & Stymus building on Forty-first street, owned by Robert and Ogden Goelet, loss, $300,000, covered by insurance. This building was occupied by Sargent & Co., manufacturers of folding chairs; William Armstrong, carpenter and builder, and John Lockner, designer. Their losses and insurance are unknown. The four-story brick building, Nos. 148 and 150 Forty-second street, loss $20,000, insurance unknown. The three upper floors of this building were occupied by Alexander C. Sherman as a hotel. His loss is $15,000, insurance unknown. The store on the ground floor of 148 Forty-second street was occupied by George Foster, cigars. His loss is unknown. The building 152 and 154 Forty-second street, loss $20,000; insurance unknown. The ground floor of this building was occupied by Benard Schwartz, liquors, and the upper floors as a dwelling by several families. The amount of their losses, and the insurance, are unknown, but all the occupants lost all they had there; No. 156 Forty-second street, loss $10,000, insurance unknown; J. D. O'Connell, liquors, occupided the lower floor; loss $2500, insured; the upper floors were occupied by several families, who lost all their furniture; No. 158 Forty-second street, loss $8000. William Eagan, steam printer, occupied the lower part, and three families the upper floors, loss $5000. Vanderbilt Hotel, loss mainly by water, $15,000; fully insured. The building is owned by the Peter Cooper estate. The three flats adjoining, owned by Mayor Hewitt, were damaged about $2000, and the loss to tenants by water is about the same amount. James Renwick owned the buildings 148, 150, 152 and 154 Forty-second street, loss $35,000; insured. J. Corcoran, paints and oils, 141 Forty-second street, loss $10,000; insured.

Death of Dr. Hall.

Dr. Jeremiah F. Hall, one of the oldest practising physicians in the state, died at his home, No. 71 State street, this city, shortly before nine o'clock Thursday evening, March 1st.

He was born at Northfield on the 2d of December, 1816, and received his degree from Dartmouth medical college in 1837. He at once commenced practice in Wolfeboro', and on the 2d of December, 1837, was married to Miss Annetta A. Livy of that town, by whom he had three children, two sons and a daughter, all of whom are now living. The daughter is the wife of Prof. Blount of Fort Collins, Colorado; one son, Dr. Henry F. Hall, is a practising physician, and the other, Edward H. Hall, is a real estate dealer, both also living in Fort Collins. Oct. 2th, 1872, several years after the death of his first wife, Dr. Hall married Miss Frances E. Laighton, daughter of the late Charles E. Laighton, Esq., of this city, who survives him. The deceased, accompanied by Mrs. Hall, went to Fort Collins in the fall of 1886, and passed the winter with his children, returning to this city in May of last year. His health has long been failing; his final illness, during which he was confined to his bed, was of about three weeks duration.

Oct. 28th, 1862, Dr. Hall was commissioned surgeon of the 15th Reg't N. H. Inf., and went with his regiment to Louisiana; early in 1863 he was mustered out, owing to severe lung trouble. May 6th, 1863, he was appointed surgeon of the board of enrollment for the first district of New Hampshire, and ordered to this city, where he has ever since resided; he was discharged Aug. 1st, 1865, the war having ended and the board being dissolved. A few years later he was appointed a member of the examining board for pensions, and was president of the board at the time of his death.

Dr. Hall was a member and past president of the New Hampshire and Carroll County medical societies, and an honorary member of the Strafford County medical society. He was for eleven years a director of the Lake national bank of Wolfeboro'; served as director and president of the Five Cents savings bank of that town, and as president of the board of trustees of Wolfeboro academy; and was a director, vice president and president of the Portsmouth Trust & Guarantee Co., having held the latter office ten years. He served two terms as alderman in this city, and was state senator from this district in 1874 and '75. He served three terms of four years each as a trustee of the New Hampshire asylum for the insane, and was recently re-appointed for a fourth term.

A Successful Son Honors the Place of His Birth.

By the will of the late William H. Hill, made on the 18th ult., the deceased millionaire gives a legacy of $1000 to the Faith Home of this city. Also to Mrs. Rebecca C. Hill, wife of Aaron H. Hill, a like sum of $1000. Mr. Hill was a relative and life-long friend of the deceased. Mrs. Annie M. Harvey is given $8000. Mr. R. Stuart Chase, son-in-law of the late John S. Harvey of this city, is one of the executors and trustees. Mr. Hill gives to his brother, Capt. James M. Hill, formerly of this city, and his wife, $500 yearly. Alice C. Hitchings of Brookline, Mass., formerly a resident of this city, is bequeathed $20,000.

The Swatara's Roster.

The following is the roster of the U. S. S. Swatara, just put in commission at this navy yard:

Comdr. John McGowan, Jr., commander;

Lieut. Comdr. E. W. Watson, executive officer:

Lieut. Wm. C. Strong, navigator;

Lieutenants, A. Reynolds, H. W. Schaefer, Charles P. Perkins;

Lieutenant (junior grade,) E. E. Wright;

Ensigns, J. H. Shipley, V. O. Chase;

Surgeon, Henry W. Martin;

Asst. Surgeon, James G. Field;

Paymaster, Edward Bellows;

Chief Engr., John L. D. Borthwick;

Passed Asst. Engr., Arthur Price;

Asst. Engr., J. H. Baker;

W. P. Biddle, 1st Lieut. U. S. M. C.;

T. B. Watkins, gunner;

D. M. W. Nash, carpenter;

Y. H. Jarman, pay clerk;

J. F. Pomeroy, paymaster's yeoman.

Boatswain, to be ordered.

The U. S. S. Leyden left the Charlestown navy yard Friday afternoon with the crew of the U. S. S. Swatara, which went into commission at this yard at three o'clock Thursday afternoon. The Leyden was expected to arrive at this yard about nine o'clock Friday night.

Boatswain Thomas Drew, who was detached from duty on the receiving ship Wabash at the Boston navy yard, and ordered to the Swatara, now nearly ready for sea at the Portsmouth yard, has been ordered to resume his former duties.

Keep Your Doors Locked.

The police were on the alert Thursday afternoon, in search of a couple of Arab peddlers who were going about the city, peddling cheap jewelry and nick-nacks, i. e., they hold themselves out to be legitimate peddlers, but in reality they belong to a systematic horde of thieves that arrived in New York a few weeks ago, and were sent out through New England, under the management of a Padrone in New York, ostensibly for the purpose of selling their wares, but who make it a point to pilfer, steal, and extort money from ladies who happen to be left alone in a house, by effecting an entrance and then refusing to depart until they are given a sum of money. They make weekly returns to headquarters, and when arrested the address of their headquarters is found on each man.

About a dozen of these Arabs were arrested in Providence a few days ago, and given the fullest extent of the law. In view of the fact that several hundred of these Arabs are traveling through New England, it would be advisable for the female portion of our citizens when left alone in their houses to keep all doors locked, and refuse admittance to all strangers.

"Two Old Cronies."

When the curtain rose on the stage at Havlin's theatre at the matinee yesterday it was handsomely set for the first act of the "Two Old Cronies." Hardly had the music of the overture died away when the members of the cast came on and commenced one of the most comical and entertaining productions that has been given in this house for a long time. The piece is all that has been claimed for it—full of laughter and healthy humor, fairly loaded down with the sweetest morsels of the comedy stage, and the entire performance fairly bristles with the new and novel things that have been introduced, all of which please the eye and fancy. An honest summing up of the entertainment would be to say that it is one of the most popular and artistic and musical burlesque extravaganzas on the stage.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Found Dead.

Dennis Harrington, a coal handler aged about thirty-five years, employed on the Concord railroad wharf, having been absent from his work more than a week, Mr. John E. Locke, the wharfinger, on Friday at noon went to his house, No. 10 McDonough street, where he lived alone, and failing to rouse any one, forced an entrance and found Harrington dead on his bed, the body being much decomposed and partially frozen. There was a hole about two feet across burned in the floor near the bed, and in the charred spot the remains of a waistcoat, and a clay pipe. Coroner Whittier was called, but considered an inquest unnecessary, the deceased having no doubt been suffocated by smoke from the fire, which was probably caused by his putting the pipe in his vest pocket while lighted, before throwing the vest on the floor. About a year and a half ago Harrington's mother was found dead in the cellar of the same house. Harrington's body was given into the charge of Mr. Fletcher, the undertaker.

Presentation.

Mr. Fred J. Haddock was called upon by a number of his friends, at his home on Ladd street last Thursday evening, and presented with a fine easy chair and a writing desk. The affair was a surprise to Mr. Haddock, but the visitors were treated to a collation.

The steam yacht Sagamore, of about 300 tons, owned by John W. Slater of Providence, was launched Thursday afternoon by the New England Ship Building company at Bath, Me., and was towed to the New England iron works to receive machinery. The engines are triple expansion, and of 500 horse power. The yacht will be ready for sea June 1st. She cost $75,000.

Mr. Warren M. Batchelder of Hampton has been appointed mail agent on the Boston & Maine railroad, vice Horace Godfrey, resigned.

It is reported that the Concord railroad proposes to lay rails over the old road-bed from Candia to Suncook, in order to utilize the line for throught freight.

The Flying Yankee train will be started on the Boston and Bangor route, April 2d. The Boston and Mt. Desert vestibule train will commence running May 20th, going down in the morning and back at night.

Mr. R. E. Fleming, local agent for the Singer sewing machine, lost a valuable horse last Thursday, the animal dying of pneumonia. This was the third horse lost by Mr. Fleming within a year.

IF YOU WANT

Horsford's

BREAD PREPARATION.

The acid phosphate in this preparation supplies the vital phosphates essential to the system, and assists digestion. No other baking powder does his.

Dr. J. E. L. Kimball, of Saco, says:

"I think Horsford's Bread Preparation is adapted to the wants of the system, and for domestic purposes stands unrivalled."

Dr. John Lord, of Biddeford, says:

"I give Horseford's Bread Prepartion my hearty endorsement, believing that it imparts to food, material necessary for the nutrition of the brain, preventing mental exhaustion, and acting as a nerve food and tonic."

Dr. J. A. LaPoint, of Biddeford, says:

"Horsford's Bread Preparation has been used in my family for a long time, with most satisfactory results. I think it superior to all other baking powders, because it restores the phosphates, those life-giving elements which are contained in the grains of wheat, but not in fine wheat flour."

Dr. L. E. Grant, of Great Falls, says:

"Horsford's Bread Preparation is far superior to cream of tarter in cooking flour. Phosphates enter largely into the composition of animal tissues. This preparation, being rich in phosphates, supplies the system with those valuable elements."

Dr. J. W. Preston, of Great Falls, says:

"It is beyond question that some of the essential elements of wheat are lost in milling, and they can only be restored by the use of such elements in making bread. Horsford's Bread Preparation furnishes just what is needed."

Dr. H. V. Noyes, of Berwick, says:

"I have tested Horsford's Bread Preparation, and believe it healthful, inasmuch as it restores to the flour those properties which are removed in milling. We made good bread with it."

Dr. F. E. Wilcox, of Rochester, says:

"The process of manufacturing wheaten flour, removes with the bran nearly all the phosphates, which are positively necessary to the growth and repair of the tissues of the body. These salts must in some way be supplied to the system, or the result will appear in some form of disease of the osseous or nervous systems. Horsford's Bread Preparation I believe to be free from alum and other deleterious ingredients, and contains a sufficiency of these vital salts to restore to bread the health-giving phosphates lost by the bolting process."

Dr. E. T. Hubbard, of Rochester, says:

"I recommend Horsford's Bread Preparation as an admirable adjunct to economical housekeeping. In my opinion it contains nothing detrimental to health, and it supplies to fine flour those phosphatic elements removed by milling."

Dr. Levi G. Hill, of Dover, says:

"The phosphates are the essential and vital constituent of all grains, and are declared to be the principal ingredient in Horsford's Bread Preparation. I endorse the correctness of the scientific principles claimed for this preparation, in restoring to the flour the nutritive phosphates lost in milling.

Dr. Albert G. Fenner, of Dover, says:

"My test of Horsford's Bread Preparation fully shows it to be all that it claimed for it, and amply proves the correctness and truth of the scientific principles upon which it is founded."

An Awful Act.

A despatch from Barsco, eighty miles from Havana, states that a mother murdered her four children there in cold blood. She chopped off the heads of two of them with a hatchet, and the other two she held in a tub of water until they were drowned and then she cut them up. She said when arrested that the devil tempted her to do it.

The police of London have been endeavoring to prevent the fight between Sullivan and Mitchell, and keeping a close watch on Sullivan's quarters at Windsor. They are astounded to find that Sullivan has disappeared. It is not known where he has gone, and the police are completely baffled.

A New York anarchist lodge is about to prosecute its president, who embezzled its funds. It seems that after all, under certain circumstances, anarchists do believe in law.

Coukling has written a letter saying that he does not aspire to the presidency.

The best etiquette for a man is not to boast of his virtues. It is also exceedingly inelegant to annoy society with his coughs and colds, when he can find relief in a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

King John of Abyssinia says he hopes after exterminating the Italians to annihilate the Soudanese.

What you need is a medicine which is pure, efficient, reliable. Such is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It posesses peculiar powers.

Capt. William R. Neize, Twentieth Infantry, has been ordered before the army retiring board at Governor's island, N. Y., for examination.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, etc., should try them.

The British steamer Excellent, from Messina for Philadelphia, was sunk by a collision near Gibraltar. The crew was saved.

Persons prematurely gray can have their hair restored to its youthful beauty by using Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer, the best article in the market.

It is said that the Pacific railroad committee will accept Mr. Adams' plan for the settlement of the Union Pacific government debt.

A great many people have used no other kind for years. Hop Plasters give satisfaction.

Lord Wolseley thinks that there should be greather liberality in expenditures for the British navy.

A purgative medicine should possess tonic and curative, as well as catharic properties. This combination of ingredients may be found in Ayer's Pills. They strengthen and stimulate the bowels, causing natural action.

From W. M. Sterling, pastor Methodist church, Waterville, Me.: Dear Sir—I have used Adamson's Balsam in my family for several years and have found it a very pleasant remedy to take, and most satisfactory indeed in relieving coughs and colds. I am glad to recommend it to others.

Michael Gorman, aged seventy-two years, of Lowell, Mass., attempted suicide Thursday, March 1st, by cutting his throat with a razor. His condition is precarious. He has been suffering from illness which has confined him to his home for some time, and this, together with recent deaths in his family and other household afflictions, had shattered his reason.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills, aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

The press room and composing room of the Hartford Evening Post were burned early Thursday morning, March 1st. Loss estimated at $20,000; insured for $16,000. The Connecticut Catholic, which has an office in the same building, was damaged somewhat by water. On the ground floor of the main building is the Globe clothing store. Here a large amount of goods, insured for $17,000, was wet down very thoroughly.

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast it to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empirics of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostores of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an ascertained specific for and preventative of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

An article relative to the charming domestic life of President Jefferson in the White House and at Monticello, among his grandchildren, appears in the March "Wide Awake," with portraits from paintings, autograph letters, and other illustrations. An antiquarian article, of interest to young and old, will be given in the April Wide Awake, entitled "All Around an Old Meeting House;" it is by Mrs. Frances A. Humphrey, and has the ancient church in Halifax as a centre. It describes the religious, military and social life in the early days of the old colony.

Lost.—"I don't know where, I can't tell where, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

Found.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

The widow of Mayne Reid, the novelist, is performing a labor of love by writing the life of her husband. Reid was an interesting man in private life, and Mrs. Reid has much that is worth hearing to tell about him.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

The duchess of Hamilton, like Mayor Hewitt of New York, sends butter to the market for sale, but her grace only receives thirty-nine cents a pound for it, while Mr. Hewitt gets $1.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

A man fell from the gallery into the orchestra of a New York theatre Saturday night. They carried him out to a drug store, but in passing the gate he revived consciousness long enough to ask "Where's my return check?" Such a man is hard to kill.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Salpner Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

The decline in coal freights last week was very marked, the lowest quotations from New York to Boston being ninety cents per ton; from Baltimore or Norfolk to Boston, $1.15; and from Philadelphia to Boston, $1.20.

You need them for cold weather pains and aches—Hop Plasters are successful every time.

OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Athlophoros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 3, 1887.

Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and trying almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After taking one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure.

CHAUNCEY B. REDDICK.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec 26, 1887.

I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its fangs fastened upon me for the past 8 years I know whereof I speak. MRS. JULIA CHILTON.

Neapolitan Respect for the Dead.

In Naples All Souls' day is regarded as a holiday, and the visit of the families to the churchyard for the purpose of decorating the graves degenerates into a pleasure party. Metal garlands are chiefly used for the purpose, and, though they are more durable, they hardly possess the charm of real leaves and flowers. They may, however, be regarded as symbolic of the behavior, if not always of the feelings, of those who offer them. On the way to the cemetery a decent sobriety is observed, and the various families usually remain separate; but on the return general sociability and mirth are the rule. The roadside is lined with inns, which are better filled on this than any other day in the year, and from all of them the sound of singing and dancing may be heard. Indeed, it is by no means uncommon for a young Neapolitan to say to a friend: "We are going to visit our mother's grave to-morrow, and on our way back we shall stop at such or such an inn;" which means, if you like to come there you can dance with my sister. To an Englishman the celebration of the day seems a better thing. If we forget our dead we do not make their memory the excuse for a jollification.

It is not, however, in this point alone that a difference of sentiment exists. The whole way in which the Neapolitans treat the bodies of the dead fills us with disgust. To exhume a corpse a year or two after it has been buried, to have the skeleton taken to pieces and the bones carefully cleaned, would seem to us a wanton outrage; the wealthy Neapolitan who neglects to have this done for his kindred is regarded as heartless. To carry about the prepared bones of a pet child, and to place them in a sealed casket on the drawing room mantelpiece, seems to us simply shocking; in southern Italy it has been regarded as a most pathetic expression of sorrow. But the height of what appears to us grotesque horror has been reached by a widower, who has the embalmed corpse of his wife dressed anew once a year in fresh and gorgeous apparel, and seizes the opportunity to present it with a new ring or bracelet.—Saturday Review.

Tolstoi's Physiology of War.

"At the battle of Borodino Napoleon did not attack anybody or kill anybody. That duty was performed by his soldiers. He did not do any killing himself. The soldiers of the French army, in going to the battle of Borodino to kill Russian soldiers, were obeying not Napoleon's orders, but their own impulses. The whole army of French, Italians, Germans, Poles, famished and in rags, worn out by the campaign, felt at sight of the Russian army barring the road to Moscow that the wine was uncorked and they had only to rush in and drink. If at this Napoleon had forbidden them to fight the Russians, they would have killed him and given battle; for to them a battle was necessary. When they heard the proclamations of Napoleon, which, in exchange for wounds and death, offered them as a consolation the homage of posterity, and proclaimed as heroes those who showed fight through the Muscovite campaign, they cried, 'Vive l'Empereur!' as they cried 'Vive l'Empereur' at sight of the child holding the terrestrial globe at the end of a bilboquet stick; and they would have responded with the same vivat to any nonsense proffered to them. There was nothing better for them to do than to cry 'Vive l'Empereur!' and fight in order to reach Moscow, food, repose and victory. It was not at Napoleon's order that they undertook to kill their fellow men,"—Tolstoi's "Napoleon and the Russian Campaign."

Who Is a Professional?

I was singing at an afternoon party, and I was the only "professional" there. A little boy played the violin. I remarked to my hostess that the boy showed signs of great promise. "Is he a professional?" I asked. "Oh! no," said my hostess; "he's the son of a gentleman!" The dear lady meant no offense, she only meant that the father was a man of means; but that she should have put it in the way she did and made the remark to the only professional in the room was, perhaps, unfortunate. Nervousness sometimes causes people to blurt out most inconvenient truths. I arrived once at a house to sing at an "At Home." My host was a very nervous, shy man. I remarked: "You have two grand pianos in your drawing rooms, I see." Oh!—oh!—ye—yes!" said my host. "We hired the one that's open for this afternoon. My wife said, 'We can't let Corney Grain play on our best piano.' Ha! ha! ha!" I laughed a hollow "ha! ha! ha!" and went meekly to my hired companion for the afternoon. Sometimes ladies side up and say in an undertone: "Be merciful, Mr. Grain, our piano is a new one." "Oh! pray don't apologize," I reply, "it'll do well enough for my work."—Murray's Magazine.

Stamps the People Never See.

A woman who has the craze for stamp collecting called at the Bangor postoffice recently and said she wanted to buy "some of the stamps which are canceled when postage is paid on regular publications." It is against the rule to sell these stamps, and the woman's request led to an investigation by an inspector. According to a rule of the department, mail matter prepaid is receipted in a book, which is sent to Washington when filled. Stamps of a particular sort were placed on the receipts and canceled. As they were never allowed to go from the office they were of course of great value to collectors. The inspector found that the book had been taken by an employe, who believed it to be of no value. He sold them and found eager customers for them. Whatever he had on hand he gave to the inspector who called on him.—Springfield Republican.

Murder in the Second Degree.

The jury in the case of David L. Stain and Oliver Cromwell, tried at Bangor, Me., on a charge of murdering Cashier Barron of the Dexter savings bank, at 11:45 o'clock Saturday night, after being out eleven hours, brought in a verdict against both defendants, finding them guilty of murder in the second degree. Really the strongest witnesses for the defence were the officers of the bank, who endeavored to show that Barron, whose personal and business reputation in Dexter was so high that he could have borrowed any reasonable sum of money without trouble, and whose estate settled up at ten thousand dollars or so, committed suicide to cover up an alleged shortage of $700 in his accounts with the bank! The jury evidently took even less stock in this story than the public have.

Leading the World in Steel.

The bulletin of the American Iron & Steel Association, issued last week, gives for the first time the official statistics of the production of all kinds of steel made in the United States during 1887. The aggregate amounts to the enormous quantity of 3,739,750 net tons, which exceeds by thirty per cent our production of all kinds of steel in 1886, in which year we for the first time produced more steel than Great Britain, which country had hitherto led the world in this branch of manufacture

A Much Married Man.

John W. Dawson, a prominent farmer of Indianapolis, Ind., last week married Miss Emma Messersmith, who became his seventh wife. The bridegroom is now in his 76th year, and of his seven wives not one has been over thirty years of age at the time of marriage. The present wife is but twenty-one years old, and is a sister of his last previous one, who three years ago eloped with his son, and shortly afterward committed suicide. Dawson's first marriage took place in 1831, when he was in his 19th year; four of his wives are dead, and two have been divorced.

The Centreboard.

A special despatch of March 1st from London to the New York Herald says: "The advance in yachting favor which the centreboard has lately made is a constant topic in the yacht clubs. Last evening's St. James' Gazette seems to express the general sentiment when it says:

The Glasgow yachtsmen have yielded to the centreboard, which won the international yacht race in America last autumn. At a meeting held in Glasgow of Clyde yacht clubs it has been agreed to use centreboards in small yachts built for racing purposes. The Royal Clyde Yacht Club, moreover, it is announced, meditates throwing its summer races open to yachts of all nations, whether keel or centreboard. The two announcements taken together seem to mean that the centreboard will soon be adopted by Clyde yachts, whether large or small, if the object of their being is to win prizes. This is an admission of the superiority of the centreboard which will probably not be made yet awhile on the Thames.

The contract for the new high school building at Biddeford, for which a large number of bids have been received from Maine and Massachusetts contractors, will not be awarded till a larger appropriation is obtained from the school district. Thirty thousand dollars has been appropriated, but $15,000 more is needed to complete the work. Dearborn Brothers, of Lynn, were the lowest bidders. A meeting of the school district will be called immediately to increase the appropriation.

The Boston & Albany railroad will have to hand over to Stillman B. Allen, Esq., twenty-seven thousand dollars with costs, for the sum a Suffolk jury has decided shall be received by a youth of nine years for injuries incurred through a rotten post falling on him in Springfield, Mass. Of all places on the line it would seem that this great corporation would see to it that in Main street, Springfield, its property was kept in decent repair. The company admitted it was in fault, and its counsel was heard only on the question of damages.

The committee on commerce of the national house of representatives last week voted to report favorably on a bill for the establishing of life-saving stations at Wallis sands, Rye, and at Plum Island, near Newburyport, Mass. C. O. D. Kelley, an octogenarian Mexican war veteran, now living in San Francisco, has just heard that he is entitled to 640 acres of good land in Texas, as a veteran of the two wars of 1835 and 1846. In a recent interview he gave graphic details of his adventures as bearer of the tidings of the Alamo massacre to New Orleans and New York. He also claimed to be the sole survivor of General Sam Houston's spy company that served in the war of 1835. The interview was copied into several papers in Texas, and caught the eye of John L. Croom of Wharton, Texas, who wrote and informed Kelley he was entitled to a section of land as a veteran.

The election of Col. Fellows as chief prosecuting officer in New York—an election in which President Cleveland, the great civil service reformer, so ostentatiously took part by writing a letter letting it be known that Fellows was the "administration" candidate—is turning out to have just the effect which was predicted. Fellows was the close friend of the New York boodlers; and as a consequence of his election, two important boodle cases have already been dropped. The case against Rollin M. Squire and Maurice B. Flynn was abandoned by Fellows last week; his election was a big victory for Cleveland and the boodlers.

Labor Matters.

Chicago, March 2.—In connection with the compact with the Engineers and Firemen Brotherhood and Knights of Labor looking to a co-operation, so far as the Burlington strike is concerned, the following telegrams were forwarded last night:

HENRY WALTON, Chairman Executive board of locomotive firemen of Philadelphia:

See all members of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen on Philadelphia and Reading road who have taken the places of the men who went out Dec. 24th, 1887, and request them to sever their connection with the company, and I will pay them until they can find employment elsewhere, and allow the men now out to return to work. By doing this the bad feeling now existing will be obliterated, and this will assist us to win our struggle with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy.

(signed) F. P. SARGENT
Chief of Firemen's Brotherhood.

Go to Philadelphia at once and use all your influence to get all brotherhood engineers who took the places of the Reading strikers to leave the service of the company, furnishing them with financial support of the brotherhood. Chicago, Burlington & Quincy are using strikers to beat us in the conflict; we must checkmate them.

(signed) P. M. ARTHUR,
Chief Engineer.

Chicago, March 2.—At the Brotherhood headquarters it was learned that unless the North Western, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Chicago & Alton, and Chicago & Illinois roads cease aiding the Burlington in their passenger business as it is claimed they have been doing, a strike will be ordered on all these lines tomorrow afternoon. A conference of the officials of the lines mentioned is to be held here tomorrow.

CHICAGO, MARCH 2.—The following despatch has just been sent out by the management of the Burlington road to all the division superintendents and master mechanics upon the system:

Everything looks splendid this morning. The press reports to the effect that an understanding has been arrived at between the chief of the Brotherhood and the leaders of the Knights of Labor, by which the former abandon the Reading road and the latter call off the men who have engaged with us, appear to be true. There does not seem, however, to be any possibility of its being carried out. The Reading men that we have engaged want nothing to do with the Brotherhood, and 160 of them went west last night to the Burlington & Missouri system after they had been made acquainted with the alleged deal. They seem to be a great deal more anxious as to how to get their families west than how to get back into Pennsylvania. There is no probability whatever of their going back to the Reading, even if Mr. Corbin would take them, which he will not. One hundred and fifty engineers and firemen from that district arrived this morning and are being examined. They will be sent west and south to-day. We are running enough passenger trains to accommodate the public and do all our business. We are going to run our road our own way, and we are not going to compromise the present trouble in any manner.

The New York Times presents the list of "trusts" in all their naked deformity. There are fifteen in all, and make altogether a combined capital of hundreds of millions, and include sugar, castor oil, school slates, linseed oil, steel rails, iron ore, Bessemer steel, steel and iron beams, nails, wrought iron pipe, iron nuts, stoves, paper bags, honey, and oil cloth. Prices have been forced up on all these articles entering into the consumption of daily necessities. It seems to be a collusion of capital to defraud the people of competition, and if the country does not act in this matter, the country will suffer disaster. Nothing more dangerous to the public welfare has been known in the history of the world.

March April May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier. At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

Were all wise enough to heed this advice in season, a world of suffering would be avoided. If you suffer from impure blood, scrofula, dyspepsia, biliousness, headache, take

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action, an hour's delay waiting for a doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

Good News.

Owing to the decline in coal freights, J. Albert Walker, proprietor of the Portsmouth coal pockets, Concord railroad wharf, has reduced the price of coal to $6 per ton on the wharf, $6.50 per ton delivered, the reduced prices going into effect this day. On Saturday the price of stove coal in Boston was $7.25 per ton, and in Salem it was $8.

"Two Old Cronies."

Of the "Two Old Cronies," which is to be presented in Music hall to-morrow evening, the Cincinnati Enquirer says: "In the first act, where the spectator is introduced to the inmates of a female seminary, the plot is unfolded, and when the curtain falls the fun is in full career. In the second the frolic reaches its full height, and from then on to the end the laughter whirl of merriment goes with a breezy and delightful swing and a rapidity of action that must be seen to be perfectly enjoyed and understood. The principal figures were Wills and Henshaw. The moment these gentlemen came on the stage until they left it the audience was kept in a roar of laughter. They are ably assisted by Miss May Ten Broeck, who is quite a clever artist in her way, and contributes no small part to the pleasure of the auditors. The other members of the company, including Norma Wills and Lizzie Hight, were entirely good."

Cruelty To Animals.

The president of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals investigated a case of cruelty at Enfield, Wednesday, Feb. 29th, which clearly demonstrated the need of enforcing the law for the protection of helpless animals from the cruelty of miserly men. On the premises visited, Col. Marvin found three yearling calves dead and rotting in the barn where they died of neglect, in close proxunity to a dozen other suffering animals all showing unmistakable signs of starvation and abuse. The owner would have been arrested and brought to justice, but he could not be found. The cattle, horse and fowls in the barn were put into custody of a keeper, to care for them until the owner can be brought to trial.

The trial of George H. Randall, superintendent of the Ruggles Mica Mine at Canaan, on a charge of cruelty to animals, was resumed Tuesday of last week before Judge Tickner of the police court of Lebanon. Col. Marvin was assisted by J. L. Spring, Esq., in the prosecution; C. W. Murray of Canaan, and Hon. Frank Currier, president of the New Hampshire senate, were counsel for the defence. After a dozen witnesses had testified the prosecuting officer rested his case. The court granted the respondent another continuance, that he might have an opportunity to procure the expert testimony of a professor of the Harvard College Vetrinary school. The trial will be resumed Friday, March 9th.

The Rye Beach Improvement Association gave two entertainments in Rye town hall, Thursday and Friday evenings of last week; the gross receipts were about $225, and this amount, less expenses, will be used in laying plank walks along the beaches.

Col. John H. Kent

Warden of New Hampshire State Prison,

Passed Away at Concord at 7 o'clock, Sunday Morning.

John Horace Kent was born in Barnstead on Oct. 10th, 1828, and was the only child of John and Ruhamah (Dearborn) Kent; he was educated in the district school of Pittsfield, Strafford academy, and the Portsmouth high school, then taught by John T. Tasker. In 1845 he went to New York, and in 1849 he went to California with the first rush of gold seekers, arriving at San Francisco in October of that year, at the age of twenty-one. His first vote was cast in California, for the constitution prohibiting slavery; and he was an active member of the first Vilgance Committee of San Francisco, which did such excellent work in ridding the city and state of criminals.

While on a trip from California to the east, in December, 1852, he was married to Adeline Penniman of New Bedford, Mass., who went back to California with him, and who with one son, Horace Penniman Kent, survives him, their first-born child, John H. Kent, Jr., having died in San Francisco.

Mr. Kent returned to the Atlantic states for a permanent residence in 1860; and two years later enlisted in a Massachusetts regiment and went to the front. In 1863 he was discharged, and appointed a special agent of the provost marshal department for the district of New Hampshire, and later to a clerkship at the Portsmouth navy yard. In 1867 he was elected city marshal of Portsmouth, and while holding that position was appointed to a position in the secret service of the United States treasury department; he was again elected city marshal in 1871. In 1874 he was made chief of the New England division of the secret service, and held that office until his appointment as sheriff of Rockingham county in 1876, to which position he was afterward several times re-elected. At the election in 1886 he was defeated for re-election, and a few months since was appointed warden of the New Hampshire state prison, which position he filled at the time of his death.

Mr. Kent during his early life was a free-soil democrat, but from the time of his entering the army he was an ardent republican; he represented his ward in this city as a republican in 1873 and '74, and his title of colonel came from his appointment on the staff of Gov. Cheney. He filled other offices besides those previously mentioned, among them that of deputy United States marshal, special officer and claim agent of the Eastern railroad, and special inspector of customs. He was long a member of the republican committee of Rockingham county, and of the republican state central committee.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Masonic Lodge, Washington Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, Davenport Council of Royal and Select Masters, and De Witt Clinton Commandery of Knights Templar, of this city; also of Osgood Lodge, I. O. O. F., Sagamore Lodge, Knights of Honor, and the Washington Temperance Association; also of the Trimount Temple of Honor of Boston, the New England Reformed Men's Association, and the New Hampshire State Temperance Association. He was largely instrumental in forwarding the reform club movement which swept over the state twelve or fifteen years ago.

One prominent and heartfelt trait of Col. Kent's character was his ever unstinted generosity. No appeal for the unfortunate, no request for patriotic or public purposes was ever unheeded. He gave liberally, perhaps in proportion to his means more liberally than any one of our citizens, and this always with an unselfish motive. His offerings came from the heart, and were given with a generous hand and with a degree of spontaneity which in itself enriched the recipient as much as did the donation itself.

Death of "Charley" Wilkinson.

Charles DeWitt Clinton Wilkinson, for many years past a widely known comedian, died in Worcester, Mass., last Friday, at the age of fifty-eight years; for six seasons past he has been manager of the Worcester theatre. "Charley" Wilkinson and his wife, Lillie (Marden) Wilkinson, with the late Charles E. Bidwell and his wife, Dollie Bidwell, during the war played repeatedly engagements of four or five weeks each at the old Temple in this city, when regiments bound for the front were being organized here, or naval vessels were being commissioned or paid off. After the war the Wilkinson's, with the Bidwell's and "Yankee" Locke, repeatedly visited this city, but none of them have been here for the past seven or eight years. Wilkinson was a good performer of farcical and low comedy characters.

AROUND HOME.

W. I. Haywood of Newcastle has been appointed a store helper at the navy yard.

It is reported that Col. D. J. Vaughan has sold his house on Merrimac street to Mr. Thomas K. Locke.

Mr. James L. Parker and family, of Middle street, left for Boston on Saturday, for a visit of several months.

Mr. Charles L. Damrell of Boston passed Sunday in this city as the guest of Hon. John Leighton of Richards avenue.

Sheriff Coffin went to Augusta, Me., on Saturday, to hunt up a former wife of Bert W. Richards, the alleged bigamist and burglar.

The Mechanic Fire Society had their quarterly supper last Friday evening at the Rockingham house, Sheriff Coffin being the host on this occasion.

Rev. John A. Goss of Haverhill, Mass., formerly pastor of the Court street Christian church in this city, was in town last Saturday.

Rockingham Lodge of Good Templars are preparing to give a fair two evenings the latter part of this month, and will publish a paper in connection therewith.

The schooner Charles H. Trickey has been chartered for the season to take coal from the coal shipping ports to Dover, on private terms.

Mr. Edward H. Hall arrived in this city Saturday forenoon from Fort Collins, Col., called here by the death of his father, the late Dr. J. F. Hall.

It was reported on Sunday that Mr. Joseph R. Holmes, ex-commissioner of streets, and Mr. Thomas Freeman of Gates street, were both dangerously ill with pneumonia.

A special assembly of Davenport Council, No. 5, R. & S. M., will be held this (Monday) evening at 7:30 o'clock, to receive and act upon the reports of the treasurer and the recorder, and elect officers for the ensuing year.

The U. S. S. Leyden, Comdr. Frank Wildes commanding, arrived at this navy yard about nine o'clock Friday night, from Boston, with 140 men from the receiving ship Wabash for the U. S. S. Swatara. The Leyden had a rough trip around Cape Ann, but came along all right.

The work of driving piles at the Dover point bridge is about finished, but there is much other work to be done before trains can run over it; and it will not be ready for team travel until several days after it is open for trains. It will be a week or more yet before travel across the bridge can be fully resumed.

Robert C. Peirce, Esq., treasurer of the Piscataqua savings bank, leaves today for New York, whence he will sail on Wednesday in the steamship Barracouta for St. Kitt's and other ports in the Windward islands, to be absent about five weeks. John Sise, Esq., leaves on Tuesday to make the same trip, and escape the rigors of the March winds in this region.

Mr. Thomas C. Leckey, formerly the efficient and obliging manager of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Co.'s office in this city, up to the time that corporation was swallowed by Jay Gould, and recently appointed operator for the Boston & Maine railroad at Conway Junction, has been appointed to take charge of the central office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. in Hartford, Conn., and left this city for that place last Saturday forenoon.

Dr. Weed in a Bad Position.

Dr. George F. Weed of Newport, Me., formerly of this city, was arraigned in the police court at Bangor on Saturday afternoon on a charge of complicity with Clarence Whitney and James Anson Foster in the robbery of Peter Bennett of East Newport. Bennett was the first witness for the government, and testified that Weed was his family physician, and a day or two before the robbery left him some medicine to take Friday night and Sunday, the robbery being committed on the night of the latter day. He took it the first time, as directed, and did not awake until far into the day on Saturday; but having no suspicions, he took another dose on Sunday, as prescribed. The morning after the robbery his suspicions were aroused, first by Weed's absence from home when sent for to attend him after the assault, and then from the disappearance of the medicine bottle from the mantel after Weed did call.

Foster, one of the confessed thieves, then took the stand; he said his name was not Foster, but positively refused to give his true name. He told about meeting Whitney in New York on Friday, Dec. 2d, learning from him of the chance to rob Bennett, and agreeing to join in the crime. The two men started for Newport that night, and arrived at Newport Saturday evening at five o'clock, and passed the night in Dr. Weed's office. On Sunday the doctor went out to see Bennett, to make sure that he took the opiate as directed; and Sunday afternoon the details of the robbery were planned in Weed's office, the doctor drawing a plan of the house, showing the location of every door and of the trunk containing the money, and the conspirators making masks out of an old coat lining, getting revolvers ready, etc. At nine o'clock Sunday evening Foster and Dr. Weed left the office, and met Whitney half a mile away. The subsequent proceedings were described by Foster as follows:

When we reached Bennett's orchard we put on our masks, and then entered the barn and proceeded into the house, not a door being locked. Whitney was to dispose of the old man and his wife; the doctor was to care for Frank Patten, the grandson, and his wife; while I was to drag out the money trunk. I carried the dark lantern, and accidentally threw the rays full into old Bennett's face. He awoke and sprang up. Whitney grappled with him. In the struggle Whitney fired his revolver so close to me that the powder blinded my eyes, and I dropped the lantern. The doctor became scared and bolted, leaving us in the room alone. I took the trunk out of the house. Whitney and the doctor joined me, and we rifled it and ran. Whitney and I kept together, although we knew that the doctor had nearly all the money.

We travelled until the morning commenced to break, and then we plunged into the woods and concealed ourselves. A cold rain commenced falling, and we crept under some logs for protection, but these afforded but little. All day we lay in that chilling place, and at night arose and tramped on. We counted the money during the day, and found that together we had $4000, thus leaving about $30,000 in the hands of the doctor. All we had to eat the first day was a piece of bread Whitney had in his pocket. The second morning we called at a farmhouse and got something to eat, and then we entered a piece of wood near the country schoolhouse and slept through the daylight hours. We rode the most of the distance from that point until we reached Rumford, where we were arrested.

When Dr. Weed was brought into the court room, manacled, his wife and daughter, who were present, burst into a fit of weeping. The doctor is described by a reporter as "a well dressed man, wearing a tall silk hat. He is a man of about fifty-fine years, with a long, flowing brown beard sprinkled with gray, and with hair slightly thin on the top of his head. He wears gold-bowed spectacles, and presents a very classical appearance." He was very cool, and pleaded "not guilty" in a firm tone. Without hearing further evidence for the government, or any testimony being offered in defence, Dr. Weed was held without bail for the August term of the criminal court, and was committed to jail. On hearing this decision Mrs. Weed threw her arms around her husband's neck and wept as if her heart was broken, while the young daughter tried to console the mother.

When children gather in delight
To fill the air with bubbles bright,
Of this let parents all be sure—
The soap they use is good and pure,
For, common grease in some we find
With evil mixtures well combined
That soon with burning sores will tell
On lips and tongue, and gums as well.

Let Ivory Soap, that's made with care
Of purest oils and essence rare,
Be used by those who bubbles blow
And greatest pleasure will they know,
For brighter bubbles will be seen
Where soap is pure and fresh and clean
While not a fear need cross the mind
Of bad results of any kind.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

The best etiquette for a man is not to boast of his virtues. It is also exceedingly inelegant to annoy society with his coughs and colds, when he can find relief in a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Bad man—"Well, I'm here to say I'm dead against this Lent business, tooth and toenail." Good lady, horrified—"You must be a heathen!" Bad man—"No, I'm not; I'm a butcher."

What you need is a medicine which is pure, efficient, reliable. Such is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It posesses peculiar powers.

Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson, once the bright particular and popular star of the White House, is still stately and attractive. She resides at Wheatland, Pa., the home of the late President Buchanan, and dresses for company always in black.

Accidents

And how to deal with them, and other valuable medical information, will be found in Dr. Kaufman's great Medical Work; elegant colored plates. Send three two-cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

Medical circles are much interested in the case of Abel Willard of Meenah, Wis., aged eighty-nine, who after being without a single tooth for several years is now sprouting a full set of fine new upper teeth, and enduring all the agonies of an infant in teething. This is said to be the first case of the kind on record.

Weary washerwomen have been made glad by the introduction of James Pyle's Pearline, a peerless compound for the laundry. It cleanses the most delicate fabric without injury. Sold by grocers.

Mrs. Margaret Dutton of Shelbyville, Ind., was a great smoker until she reached the age of 100 years; then, fearing that the practice might shorten her life, she give it up. She is now 102, and holds fair to live many years.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

Mrs. G. Clang of Stockholm, Sweden, is ninety-seven years of age. Having relatives in New London, Conn., she decided to visit them, and is now on the ocean en route to this country. She is travelling alone, and her courage in undertaking such a journey at her age is considered remarkable.

A true balsam.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

Clara Neally, aged fifteen years, an inmate of the House of Refuge for females at Baltimore, is under arrest for twice setting fire to the building.

A terrible blizzard prevailed in northern Minnesota on the 2d inst. All railroad travel was stopped; in Duluth the street cars ceased running, and people were afraid to leave their houses.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Mrs. William J. Miller, aged twenty-one years, was assaulted while alone in her house in Reading, Pa., Feb. 29th, by a man who cut off her hair close to the head, and carried it away. Her hair was very long and beautiful.

The Homliest Man in Portsmouth,

As well as the handsomest, and others are invited to call on any druggist and get free a trial bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, a remedy that is selling entirely upon its merits and is guaranteed to relieve and cure all chronic and acute Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Large bottles 50c. and $1.

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the success-ful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists. mo25

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon.wed.fri.eod1

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester N.Y. eowjanyr

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast it to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empirics of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an ascertained specific for and preventative of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

An article relative to the charming domestic life of President Jefferson in the White House and at Monticello, among his grandchildren, appears in the March "Wide Awake," with portraits from paintings, autograph letters, and other illustrations. An antiquarian article, of interest to young and old, will be given in the April Wide Awake, entitled "All Around an Old Meeting House;" it is by Mrs. Frances A. Humphrey, and has the ancient church in Halifax as a centre. It describes the religious, military and social life in the early days of the old colony.

Lost.—"I don't know where, I can't tell where, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

Found.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

The widow of Mayne Reid, the novelist, is performing a labor of love by writing the life of her husband. Reid was an interesting man in private life, and Mrs. Reid has much that is worth hearing to tell about him.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

The duchess of Hamilton, like Mayor Hewitt of New York, sends butter to the market for sale, but her grace only receives thirty-nine cents a pound for it, while Mr. Hewitt gets $1.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

A man fell from the gallery into the orchestra of a New York theatre Saturday night. They carried him out to a drug store, but in passing the gate he revived consciousness long enough to ask "Where's my return check?" Such a man is hard to kill.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulpher Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

The decline in coal freights last week was very marked, the lowest quotations from New York to Boston being ninety cents per ton; from Baltimore or Norfolk to Boston, $1.15; and from Philadelphia to Boston, $1.20.

You need them for cold weather pains and soreness—Hop Plasters are successful every time.

At Glen Ridge, N. J., a boy nine years old has been made insane by fright, some larger boys "playing Indian" having caught him and made believe he was to be scalped and burned alive.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

IF YOU Suffer Any Pain Have Any Soreness Have a Lame Back Feel Any Weakness Just go or send straight as you can to the drug store and insist on having THE FAMOUS HOP PLASTER. IT WILL cure and never fails to give instant relief. Prepared from fresh Hops, Hemlock and Pine Balsam. Sold everywhere. 25 cents, five for $1.00 or mailed free on receipt of price. OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Athlophoros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 2, 1887. Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and trying almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After taking one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure. CHAUNCEY B. REDDICK.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec. 26, 1887. I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its fame fastened upon me for the past 30 years I know whereof I speak. MRS. JULIA CHILTON.

FLOWERS OF THE SNOW.

What Schwatka Found Blooming in the Arctic Regions.

An English botanist estimates that the tropics have from 40,000 to 50,000 species of plants, the north temperature zone about 20,000 species, and the Arctic gives about or less than 1,000, with some 2,000 among the Alpine flora, or about 3,000 species enjoying (?) an Arctic climate. Small as this cold weather class is, it amounts to more than most people give it credit for having, the popular opinion being that the polar regions and snow clad mountain tops are practically devoid of vegetation. It is singular, too, that while there are 762 kinds of flowers in the Arctic regions, within the Antarctic circle a flowering plant has never yet been found. Everything is against plant life at that end of the earth's axletree. The weather is more severe throughout the year, and there are few tracts of land of great extent on which plant life can flourish; and we have already seen that it is well inland on large land areas where such life flourishes the best in the Arctic, where it can absorb some of the little heat that is coming down, without being chilled to death by contiguous ice fields.

But of these 762 kinds of flowering plants in the Arctic, only some 50 of them, as far as we know, or about one-fifteenth, are wholly residents of that zone. Thus it is seen that a rival or Alpine flora, as compared with that of the Arctic, is a much more distinctive one, or has more species wholly its own in proportion to the total number found. The polar flowers seldom have any perfume, and the few that exhibit this delightful quality, however feeble, are, I think, from that class that have crept over the cold border marked by the Arctic Circle; or, in short, none of the fifty mentioned—Esquimau flowers, we might call them, in a popular way—have any appreciable odor.

The color of these boreal blossoms are generally of the cold tints, as if in harmony with the chilly surroundings, instead of the warm hues that would break in upon the desolation with double effect by sheer contrast where so few cheering sights are to be seen. White and light yellow predominate, and these colors seem associated with frosts and cold weather, for it appears that those flowers we call "everlastings," and which are the longest to defy the nippings of the coming winter weather, are mostly tinted like the northern snows and yellow northern lights. It is in the depths of Old Ocean that we find some of the largest expressions of plant life in the polar zone. Here, within a short distance of shore, are colossal kelps and other life that grow throughout the year; of course, vegetating the most in the short summer months.

Land plants, as already said, are pigmies compared with those of the sea, or even the corresponding class in the lower latitudes, and this dwarfed condition, a naturalist tells us, is not due so much to the intense cold in the Arctic winter as to the fact they do not get enough warmth in summer to develop them perfectly. Dr. Joseph Hooper mentions it as a rare property of one of the gramineæ (the grasses), Trisetum Subspicatum, that it is the only polar species known which is equally an inhabitant of the Arctic and Antarctic regions.

Nearly all of the plants of these cold countries are of the biennial or perennial sorts, as the season is too short to give annuals the whole length of time they demand for the maturing of their fruit to insure the next season's growth. These perennials act like our hardy spring flora, by rapidly pushing their growth before the snow is all off the ground and with the very first cessation of the vernal cold. I have seen flowers in bloom so close to the snow on King William's land that I think the foot could be put down and leave an impression on the edge of the snow and crush the flower at the same step; while Middendorf, a Siberian traveler of note, says that he has seen a rhododendron in that country in full flower.

It is hardly to be expected that any useful or cultivated plants should be found within the limits of the frigid zones, and yet both are known in this unexpected locality. There is the scurvy grass, a rough cruciferous plant that is famous for the good it has done among explorers in that rough clime in contending with the terrible disease which has given it its distinctive name. Barley is grown in good crops as high as Alten, in Norway, in latitude 70 degs. north, or about 250 miles above the Arctic circle. It is June, July and August in growing, and the rapidity of this polar growth under a never setting sun may be plainly shown by stating that these barley stalks have been known to grow two and a half inches in twenty-four hours. Where the heat is held by little valleys this Norwegian barley may, in favorable seasons, be ready to cut in about two months after sowing; and thus two crops secured in one summer; just as California brags of its two crops of certain growths in one season. But what would California think of bleak Norway as a competitor in raising three crops on the same piece of ground in one year? There is a tradition in the province of Thelemarken—the place from whence comes the celebrated snowshoe men of Norway—that a certain farm known as the Triset gets the first syllable, tri (three), from the three crops once reaped on the land in one season. Rye, which is not so hardy, is cultivated in Norway for 150 to 200 miles above the Arctic circle, and even in Sweden it is carried up to that line. Barley was raised in Iceland from 870 to 1400, and then abandoned for more profitable cattle raising, but is again being cultivated to avoid famines which are sweeping that land.—Lieut. Schwatka in Woman.

The Fisheries Treaty.

The Montreal Gazette, speaking of Mr. Bayard's treaty, says: "We secure every right for which we have contended in the correspondence of the last two years. The Americans are debarred from the 'touch and trade' and transhipping privileges. We have obtained everything we ever claimed—exclusive right of fishing within the three miles of the shore and within all the bays on the coasts, with a single exception, where the Americans may approach within ten miles of the shore; the right to deny trading privileges to American fishing vessels, to prohibit the purchase of bait, ice, seines, lines, tackle and other fishing outfit, the transhipment of cargo and the shipping of seamen." This of course is pleasant reading for the American fishermen who so largely voted for Cleveland and reform.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

March April May

At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

Are the first months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

Were all wise enough to heed this advice in season, a world of suffering would be avoided. If you suffer from impure blood, scrofula, dyspepsia, biliousness, headache, take Burial of the Deceased Commodore.

The remains of the late Commodore Charles W. Pickering, U. S. N., reached this city by the train arriving from the south at 2:45 P. M., on Monday. Funeral services were held at four o'clock at the commodore's late residence in Austin street. The pall bearers were Messrs. Alexander H. Ladd, James P. Bartlett, James B. Parrott and T. Salter Tredick. The interment was in the family lot at the south cemetery.

They Know Him.

Sheriff Coffin has arrived back from Maine, where he learned that in 1881, at Augusta, Bainbridge W. Richards (now in jail under the name of Burt W. Richards, on a charge of burglary and larceny,) was married to Miss Annie G. Brann, with whom he lived about three years, and who bore him two children, a boy and girl, of whom the former is still living, with the mother. Richards deserted this woman, and in the fall of 1884 married Sarah Jane Hurd at Harland, Me., whom he also deserted in January, 1886. His first wife has never been divorced, making his subsequent marriages clearly illegal. On leaving his second wife, Richards took $25 of her money, borrowed $15 of her brother, and omitted to pay Mrs. Hurd, the girl's mother, about $20 he owed her for board. Before marrying Miss Hurd he exhibited a bill of divorce from the woman he first married, but this Mrs. Hurd says was afterward found to be a forgery. All this, taken in connection with Richards' career in this city and his alleged performances in Newburyport, indicate that he is no better than he should be.

"An Express "Trust."

The Advertiser says that the local express companies running from Boston to the east are preparing to consolidate, and that at a meeting of representatives of nearly all the companies a few days ago the proposition to form a trust was considered and practically adopted, although the details are not yet fully agreed upon. According to the statement of a gentleman prominently connected with the movement, about forty-five companies will be included in the proposed trust, with an estimated capital of at least $200,000. Great saving, he said, could be made in expenses by consolidation, and the public be served exactly as well. Should the plan prove successful, as applied to the eastern companies, the trust would eventually be extended so as to include companies running from Boston in other directions.

The Advertiser mentions the fact that "Portsmouth is entered by three express companies," and says "the business could be done as well if their were but one." This is on the theory of saving the fares of additional messengers, costs of offices, wagons, horses, and similar outlays.

What are These Impurities.

The report of the Ohio State Dairy and Food Commission on baking powders shows a large amount of residuum or impurity to exist in many of these articles. The figures given by the Commission are as follows:

NAME.	IMPURITIES OR RESIDUUM.
Cleveland's	10.18 pr. ct.
Zipp's Crystal	11.96 "
Sterling	12.63 "
Dr. Price's	12.66 "
Forest City	24.04 "
Silver Star	31.28 "
De Laun's	32.52 "
Horsford's	36.49 "

The question natuallry arises in the minds of thoughtful customers. Of what does this impurity or residuum consist? In the case of the first named powder there has been recently given the resultof analysis made by Prof. C. F. Chandler, of Columbia College, late member of the New York State Board of Health, which partially supplies the missing information, and as the manufacturers of this particular powder are continuously calling for the publication of all the ingredients used in baking powders, there can be no objection to its statement here. Among the impurities Prof. Chandler found Cleveland's powder to contain a large amount of Rochelle Salts, 5.49 per cent. of lime, with alumina, starch and water, in quantities not stated. Alum is a substance declared by the highest authorities to be hurtful. If the balance of this residuum in all the powders named is made up largely of alum, as it is known to be in some, the public would like to know it. Another official test that shall go quite to the bottom of the matter seems to be demanded.

Dr. Hall's Funeral.

The funeral services of the late Dr. J. F. Hall will take place this afternoon at two o'clock, in the Unitarian church.

By request, Storer Post, G. A. R., will not parade as an organization, but will furnish a detail to act as pall bearers; and all members of the post are invited to attend the obsequies of their late comrade, as individuals.

Col. J. Horace Kent.

In our brief and hurried obituary notice of the late Col. J. Horace Kent, in Monday's Chronicle, we omitted mention of one organization of which he was an active and earnest member, and a most generously liberal one—the Grand Army of the Republic. The walls of G. A. R. hall are adorned with a number of large and valuable pictures, gifts of Col. Kent, and his hand and purse were ever open to the extent of his means in aid of the order and of its members.

Col. Kent's funeral will be held in the Unitarian church in this city at noon on Wednesday, the 7th inst., under the management of DeWitt Clinton Commandery of Knight Templar, in accordance with an often-expressed wish of the deceased. A preliminary service will be held in Concord on Tuesday by Mt. Horeb Commandery of that place. A special delegation of Sir Knights of DeWitt Clinton Commandery will accompy the remains from Concord to this city, and the full service of the Knights Templar will be performed in the church.

Masonic Election.

At the special meeting of Davenport Council, No. 5, Royal and Select Masters, held Monday evening, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

John Hatch, T. I. M.;
Albert R. Junkins, D. M.;
William G. Billings, P. C. W.;
Benjamin F. Webster, treasurer;
Richard I. Walden, recorder;
Charles W. Norton, C. of C.;
Thomas R. Martin, C. of G.;
John Christie, chaplain.

Boston & Maine and Eastern.

The American Wool Reporter states that the following basis of consolidation of the Boston & Maine and Eastern would be satisfactory to Boston & Maine people, the plan being:—

"The present stock of the Boston & Maine will be made preferred, and will be given a ten per cent preference.

The present Eastern preferred will be exchanged for Boston & Maine preferred on the basis of 1 2-3 shares of the former for one share of the latter.

The present Eastern railroad common will be exchanged for Boston & Maine common on the basis of share for share.

If the interests of Boston & Maine stockholders are to be consulted, one change might be suggested. In place of issuing a ten per cent preferred stock for the present Boston & Maine stock, share for share, two shares of new preferred stock might be given, with the preference limited to five per cent. No official consideration of the details of consolidation has as yet been had, but nobody supposes that Messrs. Olney, Jones and Lawrence have introduced the consolidation bill without having satisfied themselves in a rough way that certain terms could be made.

It is easy to see why Boston & Maine stockholders should desire a consolidation when their debt for improvements is piling up at the rate of a half million or more every year. In other words, if Boston & Maine interests alone were consulted, the stock would probably pay eight per cent, and improvements could be made out of current income. The whole arrangement is, in brief, that the Maine borrows money to pay dividends to Eastern common stock. Boston & Maine stockholders may well wish to close such an arrangement. But how about Eastern common stockholders? Are they not better off under the lease for a few more years?"

Storer Post, G. A. R., will hold a very important special meeting this (Tuesday) evening. A full attendance is earnestly requested.

A horse belonging to George A. Jackson ran away from Market square up Congress street, Monday evening, owing to the breaking of the breeching; for a short time there appeared a strong likelihood of a bad accident, but the horse was reined into Fleet street without the pung being capsized, and the runaway was stopped in front of Beckam's stable without any harm being done.

Mr. F. A. Miles, chief train despatcher on the Boston & Maine railroad, eastern division, died in Somerville, Mass., March 4th, after a long and painful illness. He was formerly stationed in this city, as train despatcher of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad.

Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., pastor of the Middle street Baptist church, has announced his resignation, to take effect Aug. 1st.

Messrs. Ellis & Sons, proprietors of the Ocean house, York, have published a fine lithograph giving a bird's-eye view of York beach from the Garrison house and Hotel Bartlett to Evanston, and from the Nubble to Mt. Agamenticus, showing at a glance the numerous hotels and boarding houses, the railroad station, private residences and summer cottages, etc.

Carrie A. Gilmore, well remembered as a very pretty and graceful professional roller skater who, as a young miss of fourteen, made several appearances in this city during the roller skating craze, has applied for a divorce from her husband, William E. Livesey, also a well known trick skater and polo player, on the grounds of intoxication and neglecting to provide suitable maintenance. She was married to Livesey in Worcester, Mass., Dec. 24, 1884, and since that time they have resided there. At the present time Livesey is in Blackburn, England.

The Army and Navy Register of March 3d says: "Chief Naval Constructor Wilson has been in bad health for several weeks, and during the past few days has been unable to attend to his duties. Naval Constructor Hichborn is acting chief of the bureau of construction during his absence."

The regular monthly test of the steam fire engines of the Portsmouth fire department was held on Monday evening.

WOMAN'S WORK AND PAY.

How Production Is Produced at the Expense of Human Flesh and Blood.

"It is not true," said a well known woman engaged in the amelioration of the condition of women, "that steam power applied to sewing machines lessens the labor of the operatives. It merely increases production. When foot power was used the operator could rest, in a measure, by working at a slower pace. With steam power no such latitude is possible. It is a continual drive to keep up. A half hour is allowed for lunch. Occasionally three or four minutes are allowed absence by permission from the room, but a minute over this time brings its fine. The contractors for cheap work give out the finishing of coats by the dozen for four cents each. The finishing of a coat is understood to mean everything but the machine work. A mother and daughter, coat finishers, by working fourteen hours a day were able to finish a dozen each. That is to say, twenty-eight hours' labor earned ninety-six cents. This is a good record for such work.

"Coat finishers," continued the reformer, "for such goods as are sold by the larger Broadway houses, receive eighteen to thirty-five cents. How neatly and carefully such work is done the wearers of these coats know. It would be a very expert worker that could finish more than two of these coats in an ordinary day's labor.

"Coat finishing is done under contract. It is perhaps fair to the larger well established houses to believe that they do not know the conditions under which it is done nor the prices paid. The contractor is indeed employed to spare them thought and annoyance in the matter. Here is a specimen case—seventeen men and women are huddled in a small room. There is a roaring fire for the irons. The room reeks with heat and the steaming odors from the workers. These, on account of the heat, are scarcely decently clad. The opportunities for breeding disease and infecting the garments are limitless. It is not only the cheap shops who endanger the public health.

"A woman, for making a pair of cheap trousers, receives nine cents a piece, the usual price. By working all day and into the night she can make two pairs. On the eighteen cents a day she earns she supports herself and four little children, for she is a widow. Fully one-third of the working women of this city are out of employment. From day to day they watch and follow the weary trail of the advertisements in the newspapers. Such are the changing conditions of labor that women who used to earn from $15 to $18 a week as feather curlers can now make but from $10 to $12 a week. The same rate of decrease is seen in other trades." —New York Evening Sun.

An English chemist has shown that the brittleness of the bones of the aged is not due, as is generally supposed, to an increase of the proportion of mineral salts with advancing years. From a section of the femur of fifty subjects of different ages, no difference in the proportion of ash could be determined.—Boston Budget.

A woman's college has been established at Tokio, in Japan, the teachers being procured from England.

Herbert Spencer the great philosopher while in America said: "The Yankees live too fast, work too much, and catch cold too often." What a chance for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Bad man—"Well, I'm here to say I'm dead against this Lent business, tooth and toenail." Good lady, horrified—"You must be a heathen!" Bad man—"No, I'm not; I'm a butcher."

"Can't eat a thing." Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful medicine for creating an appetite, regulating digestion, and giving strength.

Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson, once the bright particular and popular star of the White House, is still stately and attractive. She resides at Wheatland, Pa., the home of the late President Buchanan, and dresses for company always in black.

Weary washerwomen have been made glad by the introduction of James Pyle's Pearline, a peerless compound for the laundry. It cleanses the most delicate fabric without injury. Sold by grocers.

Mrs. Margaret Dutton of Shelbyville, Ind., was a great smoker until she reached the age of 100 years; then, fearing that the practice might shorten her life, she give it up. She is now 102, and bids fair to live many years.

Mrs. G. Clang of Stockholm, Sweden, is ninety-seven years of age. Having relatives in New London, Conn., she decided to visit them, and is now on the ocean en route to this country. She is travelling alone, and her courage in undertaking such a journey at her age is considered remarkable.

A true balsam.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

Clara Neally, aged fifteen years, an inmate of the House of Refuge for females at Baltimore, is under arrest for twice setting fire to the building.

For any cause of nervousness, sleeplessness, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, try Carter's Little Nerve Pill. Relief is sure. The only nerve medicine for the price in the market.

A terrible blizzard prevailed in northern Minnesota on the 2d inst. All railroad travel was stopped; in Duluth the street cars ceased running, and people were afraid to leave their houses.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Major George L. Wentworth of Dover had the flesh of his right arm badly mangled at Salmon Falls last Saturday by the accidental discharge of his gun as he was returning from a shooting excursion. It was a close call for the major, but the doctors think they can save the arm.

Lost.—"I don't know where, I can't tell where, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

Found.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

Miss Louisa May Alcott, the widely known writer of books for the young, whose father, A. Bronson Alcott, died March 4th, herself passed away in Boston on the 6th, at the age of fifty-six years.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

The Southern Wire company of St. Louis, Mo., has been sued for $271,000 by the Washburn-Moen Manufacturing company of Massachusetts.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

A deficiency of $100,000 has been discovered at Montreal in the Benjamin Hall trust estate. The trustee has also disappeared.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulphur Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

Prof. Ernest Young, assistant professer of ancient and modern history in Harvard college since 1883, shot himself dead in Boston on the 3d inst. He was thirty years old, and was married a year ago to a daughter of Gen. Sutton.

A Mexican lieutenant and three soldiers, while attempting on the 3d inst. to arrest on American soil at Eagle Pass, Texas, a deserter from the Mexican army, had a fight with a sheriff's posse, in which one American was killed, and three of the Mexicans, only the lieutenant escaping across the river to Mexico.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

—Blobson, who never goes out or comes in without falling over an antique jar or piece of bronze, persists in calling his wife's collection "break-your back."

—A shabby coat is no disgrace, but it is a great impediment to the successful negotiation of a small loan.

A Serviceable Scrap Book.

A correspondent of an educational newspaper believes he has found a good thing in the way of a serviceable scrap book. Instead of leaves on which to paste the scraps, it has pockets or envelopes, into which he drops his cuttings from newspapers or magazines. By this simple method he is saved the time and trouble of pasting. These cuttings are classified according to subjects; all the scraps on a given subject, or class of subjects, are put into the same envelope. The title of the subject is written on the envelope containing it, and the name is also entered in the index in front of the book. When information is wanted upon any subject, all the scraps will be found in one place, and can be easily removed, consulted and replaced at pleasure.

Besides printed scraps, notes, one's own thoughts reduced to writing, lectures or addresses can thus be filed, and a record of the time and place of delivery written on the outside of the envelope. Busy, practical men, literary men, teachers or clergymen can in this way keep their scraps of information in readiness for future consultation. An ingenious student of natural history has perhaps an improvement upon this method. Instead of a scrap book with pockets or envelopes, he utilizes a row of pasteboard boxes made to resemble books, upon the backs of which the contents, "Biography," "Natural History," etc., are inscribed. Both of the foregoing methods of scrap keeping have been tested and found practically useful, and by either of them an article, when useless or finally disposed of, can be withdrawn and destroyed.—Chambers' Journal.

He Didn't Care to "Progie."

The first railroad that penetrates a jackwoods community in the south calls the negroes for miles to shake hands, as they term it, "wid de engine." The old darkey, who is a great respecter of persons and things, does not at first regard the locomotive as a machine, but looks upon it as a monstrous creature of life.

"Wall, sah, I neber 'spected ter see sich er sight ez dis," said an old negro who had cautiously approached a railroad engine, and who stood watching the engineer rub the brass cylinders.

"Why so, old man?" the engineer asked.

"Caze, sah, I thought de Lawd gwine sho'ly put out my light 'fo' dis day come ter pass. Mussyful hebens, dat thing is monstus! Jes' lissun at him, how he chuggin' hisso'f. Bet he wouldn' git outen de way fur nobody. Bet you ef I wunter meet 'im in de road I'd step cr-side mighty soon. Whar he raised, mister?"

"New Hampshire."

"Wall, I better b'lebe you. Look at de man climbin' right up in de thing! Greshes erlive!" he exclaimed, as the engine began to puff, "ef he ain't dun gone!"

"How would you like to ride on it?" some one asked.

"I mout er lost a good deal o' rense in my time, but I ain't lost it all. W'en I wuz er young man I could ride anything dat come erlaung, but now dat I'se old I ain't gwine progie, sah; I jes' nachully ain't gwine progie."—Arkansaw Traveler.

Praying for Fine Weather.

In these countries where, unlike California, they have to pray for fine weather, it needs sometimes a great deal of faith to stick to the church. In Scotland, for instance, one of the few really religious countries in the world, a large proportion of the minister's duty is to pray for fine weather. There was a quiet Scotch village where the farmers were all in the dumps. The Scotch mist kept coming down all the time, and it alternated with a frequent very heavy storm. The minister had prayed every Sabbath for fine weather without avail for four weeks. He met an old farmer one day.

"John," he said, "this fearfu' weather's nathing but a judgment o' God on this parish. Ye're sich a wicked lot that the Lord's jist gaun to punish ye."

"Deed, minister, we dinna tak' the same view of it. We think that there's somethin' the matter wi' the minister. He hasna got sufficient influence up there; an' I'm tellin' ye, minister, if ye dinna succeed wi' your prayer next Sabbath we'll be maist unfortunately compelled to discharge ye an' ca' somebody else."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Russo-German Boundary Line.

There is a very strong contrast between the appearance of things on the two sides of the boundary between Germany and Russia. On the German side the landscape is dotted with beautiful, cozy homes, with every evidence of prosperity and thrift, with well cultivated fields, vine-clad stables, neat looking kine, hedges tastefully trimmed and patches of flowers, while in the towns and villages were handsome railway stations, tempting cafes, large factories, handsome schoolhouses, and every symbol of a higher civilization and prosperity. On the east side of the line there are none of these, and the change takes place instantly. Thrift and comfort are replaced by distress and degradation. The fields are uncultivated, except in patches here and there—spots where it was the easiest to plow—the cattle are lean and hungry, the homes of the people are log or mud huts, and there is not a schoolhouse to be seen from the boundary line to the capital.—William Eleroy Curtis in Chicago News.

The temperature necessary to melt wrought iron lies between 4,000 and 5,000 degs. Fahrenheit, and even at that tremendous heat wrought iron is only rendered fluid by the addition of a small amount of aluminum.—Chicago Times.

"IT WAS INHERITED."

The Fearful Effect of Heredity Upon the Lives of Men and Women—A Striking Case.

"The man or woman does not live who is free from hereditary influences." This remark was made by the celebrated Dr. Vanderville, of New York, to the Rev. Dr. Brooks, at a recent convention of scientists. "I agree with you, doctor," said the divine.

"Pure blood," continued the doctor, "is the great cause of health; impaired blood the source of most diseases. It may even go back to the grand or great grand parents."

"I have in mind a prominent man," said the reverend gentleman, "General Alfred C. Monroe, of No. 1 Pemberton Square, Boston. He inherited kidney troubles from both parents, one of whom died with it. He suffered terribly from pains in the back and head, and at times when walking the dizziness became so bad that he was compelled to lay hold of some convenient post for support. He was in a most desperate condition."

"And is he so still?" asked the doctor.

"No, he is in perfect health. Dr. McGregor, I believe of Maine, who had amputated an arm for the general, cured him."

"Do you know what medicine he used?"

"I understand it was Hunt's Remedy."

"Oh, Hunt's Remedy. I know it very well," said Dr. Vanderville. "I consider it the best remedy for kidney, liver, heart troubles, and female difficulties in the world. It is in no sense a patent medicine, but a standard remedy, which deserves to be used by all intelligent people. The fact is, no blood-taint can exist when the kidneys are in perfect order, and there is where Hunt's Remedy shows its marvelous superiority."

"I only wish," said Rev. Dr. Brooks, "that all people who inherit a tendency to disease could know of this remedy of which you speak so highly and use it. I am positive it would greatly lessen suffering and death."

The Portland Election.

The farce of the democratic managers in Portland going on the record of voting for an octogenarian candidate for mayor because he was a prohibitionist, was enacted on Monday. Of course the democrats did not want to send abroad to the country the announcement that they had chosen a prohibitionist when their campaign funds are paid by the liquor dealers. Mr. Commissioner Putnam and General Anderson were too shrewd for such a blunder, and Dow was of course defeated when he was nominated. The republicans carry every ward, electing their mayor by a majority of 1537. They elect every alderman, and sixteen out of nineteen councilmen. The only trouble with the election is, it is too unanimous. As an expression of the people of Portland upon the impracticable theory of enforcement of the prohibitory law in a commercial city, it is of course significant.

Municipal Elections in Maine.

Municipal elections in the cities of Hallowell, Gardiner, Bath, Rockland, Portland, Lewiston, Auburn, Saco and Ellsworth, Me., on Monday, March 5th, resulted in large republican majorities in each, Ellsworth and Lewiston, the homes of Senators Hale and Frye, being redeemed from democratic rule.

In Portland the republican candidate for mayor had 1537 majority over the prohibition and free liquor candidate; the republicans also elected every alderman, and three-fourths of the councilmen.

In Lewiston the republican candidate for mayor had a majority of 183; in Auburn the republican mayor was elected by 355 majority over the democratic, independent, and prohibition candidates; both cities have republican majorities in their city councils.

In Gardiner the democrats made no contest for mayor, and little contest over any other office.

In Bath the mayor, and all the aldermen and councilmen elected, are republicans; one alderman and four councilmen are to be elected.

At Ellsworth the republicans elected the mayor, and carried three of the five wards,—a heavy republican gain from last year.

Cleveland, Higgins and reform, and Bayard and the fishery surrender, are not sweeping over Maine to any noticeable extent this year.

The Great Railroad Strike.

The strike on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad is not yet settled. Chief Arthur of the engineers' brotherhood says the engineers are bound to win; the railroad officials say they are getting a large number of good non-union engineers and firemen; passenger trains are being run nearly on schedule time, and notice was sent out by the road to shippers, on the 5th, that freight would on the 6th be received in lots of a carload or less, at and to all points on its lines—this notice being characterized by the strikers as "bounce." The engineers and firemen on the Chicago, Burlington & Northern railroad were ordered out by Chief Arthur on the 5th, that road having, as was alleged, been aiding the "Q" road during the strike.

Delegates from fifteen divisions of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers met in New York on the 4th, to discuss the Burlington strike. Resolutions were unanimously adopted denouncing the action of certain railroad managers who are said to be secretly aiding the Burlington, and recommending that if the trouble is not settled within a reasonable time that all the brotherhood men on the roads connecting with the C., B. & Q. resign March 15th; also proposing that if this does not bring the latter road to terms, that all the members of the organization throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico join the issue March 30th, thereby virtually stopping all railroad traffic in North America until the Burlington road submit to the strikers' demands.

A despatch of March 5th from Gibraltar says: "The United States war ship Enterprise is at this port. She will proceed to Tangier to support the demand of the American consul at that place for reparation for [illegible] or who is under American protection, and who is imprisoned at Rabat."

The New York Tribune says: "There is a good deal of criticism at the navy yard that so little progress is being made with the new 3,000-ton armored vessel, to be known as the Maine. The lines of the ship have been laid off in the mould-loft at the navy yard, the keel blocks and platforms have been placed for building her, the machine shop and store-house are nearly completed, a few moulds are being made, and the tools for doing the work are contracted for. But there is a strange delay in begining the work, and this is said to be due to laxity at the navy department, and with the evident purpose to make it an electioneering job by beginning the work and putting on a large force of men just before election. The advertisements for the machinery were put into shape several weeks ago, but they are languishing in Washington waiting for the secretary's approval." Well, what of it? What is the Tribune growling about? Is not this a reform administration, with Whitney and Gorman, and Higgins, and Dickinson, as high priests?

The Winslow Packing Co. of Portland, which for several years past has had corn-canning factories in several places in York county, supended March 5th, compelling Charles P. Mattocks, who is president and indorser on a large amount of its paper, to assign. He conveyed all his real and personal estate to Hiram Knowlton and Charles Dunn, Jr. Nothing was stated as to the liabilities and assets, but the failure is a heavy one. Farmers who furnished corn to the company have all been paid, as well as the help employed by the company.

Virginia has given her answer to the Mills tariff bill. On Monday the state senate passed a resolution to appoint a committee to visit Washington immediately and insist on the passage of the Blair education bill, the repeal of the internal revenue tax on tobacco and fruit brandies, and to oppose the reduction of the tariff duty on ores and wool. There was only one vote against the reshlution.

William Perry Moulton died in Exeter on the 5th inst. He was bore in 1820, and spent his entire life in Exeter; and it is said he probably has made more deeds and written more wills than any other man in Rockingham county. He was president of the Five Cents savings bank.

Capt. Jonathan P. Dustin of Barrington, a deputy sheriff of Strafford county, died March 5th, aged sixty years. He was a captain in the 13th N. H. Reg't, and served four years during the war.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

Be Sure to Get Hood's

Sarsaparilla, my child. See that they do not give you anything else. You remember it is the medicine which did mama so much good a year ago—so reliable, beneficial, pleasant to take—my favorite spring medicine.

Spring Medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most popular and successful Spring Medicine.

Nearly every body needs a reliable spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel the impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the winter, to keep up strength as the warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring and you will be convinced that it does possess superior and peculiar merit.

A Good Appetite

"When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was dizzy in the morning, had a headache, and no appetite; but now I can hardly get enough cooked to eat." EMMA SHEPARD, 1 Coral Street, Worcester, Mass.

"Last spring my whole family took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The result is that all have been cured of scrofula, my little boy being entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy as possibly can be. I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla good for catarrh." WM. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

State Honors.

Dover has a candidate for warden of the state prison. What with the governor, a candidate for Congress and warden of the state prison, Dover will manage to obtain a share of honors from the republican party. We confess it becomes us to touch lightly upon this subject, as Portsmouth has about all there is to the democratic party in the state.

More of the Weed Case.

Inspector Byrnes of the New York detective force says the testimony given by "James Anson Foster" in the case against Dr. George F. Weed, in the Peter Bennett robbery affair at East Newport, Me., is false, in one part at least. The inspector says that Foster comes from a family of thieves, and that he and Whitney were in East Newport a year ago to rob old Bennett, but failed to accomplish it at that time. It was claimed for them that Dr. Weed was then the prime mover in the business, and carefully laid out the plan, which at that time miscarried.

Prizes for the Patriarchs Militant.

Col. Loren S. Richardson of the First Regiment, Patriarchs Militant, I. O. O. F., of New Hampshire, has offered prizes to the best drilled canton in the regiment, also to the canton most proficient in the working of the Patriarch Militant degree, as follows: To the best drilled cantons, $45 to the first, $35 to the second, and $25 to the third. For proficiency in the degree work, $45 to the first, and $25 to the second. The competition will take place at the rink in Manchester on April 26th, the anniversary of the order. There will be a grand street parade between the hours of eleven and two o'clock. In the afternoon the cantons will contest in the degree work. In the evening the drill contest will take place, the citizens being invited. After this a grand ball will be held under the auspices the regimental officers.

Mr. Editor: I was pleased to see, in the obituary notices of Col. J. H. Kent in the local papers, that his liberal-handed generosity was so particularized. It might have been supposed that a man a large part of whose life had been spent in the detection of crime would become hard and unsympathetic toward criminals; but such was not the case with Col. Kent. When but little more than a boy in years, he was an active member of that famous organization, the first Vigilance Committee of San Francisco, which defied the letter of the law in enforcing justice in the spirit of the law; and from that time up to the close of his life, a large part of his energy, his time and his keen detective skill, was employed in hunting down and ruling the dangerous classes. But he never forgot that the criminal was a human being. During his long service as jailer in this city, the hundreds of unhappy beings who came under his control found in him a friend. Wholesome and proper rules they had to obey, and their offences found in him no apologist; but their food was ever of the best and generous in quantity, and prepared with the same care and cleanliness as that for his own table; and many a one of them, on being discharged after serving his term, wore away a new coat or a whole new suit of clothes, and rode to his home on a ticket, paid for by the sheriff, whose last word would be, as he slipped a five or a ten dollar bill into the hand of the ex-prisoner, "Now don't let me hear of your getting in trouble again, and don't you come back to this jail any more!" You can get an honest living, and now go do it." There was no display in his generosity—it was purely from kindness of heart. M.

Miss Lilian Caldwell had a progressive whist party at her home on Kent street, last Friday night, there being five full tables. The playing was continued until a late hour, when the prizes were awarded. Two Amesbury gentlemen secured two prizes—Mr. Fred Gale winning a first prize, and Mr. James Higgins bearing away a booby trophy. The other two prizes went to two young ladies of this city. A dainty lunch was served before the company broke up.—Newburyport Herald.

Miss Caldwell passed a considerable part of last summer in this city, on a visit to relatives here, and made many friends among the young people.

Mr. Dole Wadley and wife of Islington street are to close their residence the present week for a few months, the former going to Georgia on business, and Mrs. Wadley going on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Capehart, at Annapolis, Maryland.

Rev. James Rand of Dover will hereafter officiate in the Pearl street church in this city, until the arrival of Mr. Harrington, the new pastor.

Members of Storer Post, G. A. R., are requested to meet at the hall this forenoon at eleven o'clock in uniform, to attend the funeral of Comrade J. Horace Kent.

Wentworth Lodge, No. 22, K. of P., of Newcastle, will give a grand ball in Newcastle town hall on Tuesday evening, March 20th.

Carpenter John A. Dixon, U. S. N., retired, who fell dead in the Boston & Lowell railroad station in Boston a few days ago, was a member of St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 56, A. F. & A. M., of this city. He entered the service in 1857, took part in the capture of New Orleans and of Vicksburg, and was retired in 1884 for disabilities contracted in the line of duty. His funeral took place in West Medford, Mass., where he had for some years resided.

Funeral services consisting of reading of scriptures by Rev. J. Bradley Gilman, and a prayer and brief address by Chaplain E. R. Wilkins, were held over the body of Warden J. Horace Kent at the state prison in Concord on Tuesday at noon. The governor and council, and other state officers, were present. The body was brought to this city in the afternoon.

"The Two Old Cronies" had a very good audience at Music hall on Tuesday evening, and gave an extremely amusing entertainment, including some really good singing. The company will be at Music hall again on Wednesday evening, the 14th inst.

The board of instruction held its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, but no business of importance was transacted outside of the regular routine. The superintendent reported the attendance of pupils to have fallen off very greatly during the previous month, particularly in district two, on account of sickness.

Mr. Freeman F. Sanborn has entered the service of Jackson & Co.'s express as messenger.

The funeral services of Dr. J. F. Hall were held on Tuesday afternoon in the Unitarian church, Rev. Alfred Gooding, the pastor, officiating. The spacious edifice was nearly filled, a large proportion of the prominent men of the city being present, including nearly all of the physicians. The bearers, representing the Grand Army, were M. M. Collis, John H. Locke, Daniel J. Vaughan and Meshach H. Bell.

Mrs. Kate E. Miller and Mrs. E. P. Seavey, of Lincoln Hill cottage, who are passing the winter in Newtonville, Mass., on a visit to their sister, Mrs. John G. Tompson, arrived in this city on Monday to attend the obsequies of Dr. J. F. Hall. They returned to Newtonville on Tuesday afternoon, after the funeral.

Mr. M. W. Tobin, representing the Dockstader's Minstrels, was in this city on Tuesday arranging for the appearance of the company in Music hall next Tuesday evening, the 13th inst.

The New York Clipper says of Arizona Joe: "The drama was 'Black Hawks,' with Arizona Joe in the leading role. The piece is of the border order, and abounds in thrilling situations. The rifle shooting by Arizona Joe is made a feature, and donkeys, dogs, horses and ponies are introduced. The piece was a decided go." In Music hall next Saturday evening; see advertisement.

Affairs in Kittery.

KITTERY, ME., March 6th.

Morrill Lodge, I. O. G. T., had a pound party last Friday evening; there was a good attendance, and all enjoyed the entertainment much. Mrs. William F. Bartlett joined the lodge on a card from Pepperrell Lodge at Kittery Point.

Rev. W. S. Jones, presiding elder of the Portland district, will lecture in the 2d Methodist church on Friday evening, the 9th inst.: subject, "Wales, and Welsh life."

Mr. Clarence Prince is fitting up the old store building on the Traipe lot, near the navy yard bridge, formerly owned and occupied by the late J. H. Sanborn; it is a first-class location, and ought to bring him much trade.

Quarterly meeting will be held next Saturday and Sunday at the 1st and 2d Methodist churches; preaching by Presiding Elder W. S. Jones.

Whipple Lodge of Good Templars, at the village, cleared about $50 from the proceeds of their sale and fair last Thursday evening; the entertainment furnished was excellent.

D. Ed. Hill has just taken his young Patchen colt home from Greenland, N. H., where he has had her this winter in the care of L. D. Duntley.

Hard sleighing. Anyone finding a sleighbell in the vicinity of Butler's crossing will receive our everlasting commendation on handing it to your humble servant, SUB ROSA.

Eliot Items.

ELIOT, ME., March 6th.

The population of this town is increasing. On Saturday, Feb. 25th, Mrs. Oliver Staples presented her husband with a daughter; and on the 26th a daughter was born to Mr. Alden F. Foster.

Rev. Kinsman Atkinson has met with quite a loss in the death of a horse valued at $250. The animal was very handsome and stylish, and an extra fine roadster; and was raised, broken, and handled from the time it was a very small colt, by Mr. Atkinson, who naturally was very fond of it.

The presiding elder of the Methodist conference will preach in the Methodist church at South Eliot on Sunday next.

Aaron B. Cole is at home for a vacation of two weeks, after which he will return to Kent's Hill. Edward H. Adams and his sister will also return to Kent's Hill.

Henry B. Spinney and H. C. Spinney are home for a short time from Lynn, Mass., where they have been employed in the manufacture of type writers; they have a very fine type writer with them. The shop has shut down for a short time, there being a large stock of machines on hand.

The interest in the meetings at the Advent chapel increases with each week, and they will be continued as long as the interest is maintained; last week seven more started to lead a new life.

Mrs. Lade, wife of Rev. James Lade, is in Nova Scotia on a brief visit to her brother.

Walter Shapleigh and John Kennard were at home on Sunday last; also J. Frank York, from South Newmarket.

Howard E. Spinney is in Chelsea, Mass., at work for his brother-in-law, Melville L. Spinney, building a house, which will be about a two months job.

Mrs. George W. Brown is in Manchester, N. H., visiting her niece, Mrs. F. Rogers.

Mr. Moses Goodwin has purchased another woodlot, near Alexander Junkins', which he will strip this winter; he is doing a large amount of work this season.

This is a good winter for the clam diggers, and one in want of nice clams, or anything else in that line, can get their money's worth on applying to Joseph W. Staples, South Eliot, near the coal sheds. HARRY.

The young ladies of Kittery Point will give a leap year party in Patch's hall at the Point next Wednesday evening, March 14th.

A projected prize fight between two roughs, McCabe of Dover and Steve Traverse of Biddeford, arranged to come off in a barn near Ferry beach, Saco, on the night of March 5th, was stopped by the Saco police, who appeared on the grounds before any fighting was done, and followed the roughs about the streets till three o'clock next morning.

Investigation has shown that the consumers of Ivory Soap are almost entirely of the most intelligent class of the people; this, with the fact that over twenty millions of cakes of Ivory Soap have been used the past year, confirms what Prof. Silliman, of Yale College, said: "The Ivory Soap is of remarkable purity and superior excellence."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

New Hampshire Fire Underwriters.

At the annual meeting of the New New Hampshire Fire Underwriters' Association, held in Concord on March 6th, the following officers were elected:

President, S. B. Stearns of Manchester; vice president, S. C. Eastman; secretary, R. P. Stanlels; treasurer, Lyman Jackman; executive committee, A. F. Howard of Portsmouth, W. H. Berry of Manchester, A. W. Baker of Lebanon, W. H. Elliott of Keene, R. P. Staniels of Concord.

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast it to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empirics of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an ascertained specific for and preventative of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

A true balsam.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

THE PARKS OF HAVANA.

The Whole City is a Fairyland by Night. A Great Outdoor Parlor.

All Havana is in the parks or cafes or on the housetops at night. As the sun goes down it seems as though from every quarter come thousands for the nightly outing. The streets, plazas and cafes dazzle with light flaring from the quaintest of burners and frames, and the brilliant colored glass, so universally and richly used in decoration, adds a beauty and charm to countless pleasing scenes.

There is music everywhere. Here in a half lighted, richly decorated balcony is a group of men and women chatting in low, musical tones, or listening to sweet notes of the guitar. In this entrada, with a court filled with rich lights, plants, flowers, and quaint corridors behind, in an almost oriental background, are perhaps several families seated half out upon the street, and among them somewhere is music. Here, there and everywhere upon the housetops, among luxuriant gardens, are merry crowds singing, playing or dancing. The half lights of the night hide and reveal. Sound and light and shadow mingle until the ear and sight are ravished by what is heard and seen, and what is listened for and heard in thought. Melody in word, laugh and song, and from musical instruments of every nature and in every place—nothing loud and sonorous, but everything soft and dreamful—pulses in harmonious chords above and over and through the streets.

The whole city is as a fairyland by night. It is the more bewildering to the beholder, because there are in it one-mindedness and oneheartedness that make melody and gayety not only with the well conditioned, but as truly within the grimy walls of the charcoal man's little stall; down at the waterside among the swarthy boteros; over there in Regla with the toil scourged stevedores and lancheros; up Balquarte, way among the labor bent lavenderas; and in every odd and moldy corner where human life lasts in layers, it lights up all with a face as free of care as if ever unknown. All this comes to you, and you know the fact. You leave those who like to quarrel over the involved ethics. But all this time, when an entire great city has suddenly resolved itself into a vast pleasure garden, so completely that its influence seems even to have touched and transformed, without exception, the direct conditions, the geyser and more restless elements swarm the paseos and plazas, and no European city presents more brilliant scenes. But in this one city of the world, this single rich blossom of the tropics, all its people, in these hours, are pleasure givers and pleasure receivers, and that, too, whatever the individual condition. There is none so high and haughty, or low and listless, as to think, or dare, refusal of this individual concession, or gift of word and way, to this universal something, we would be quick to call among our good selves true evidence of true lightheartedness and joy. I do not believe the world has elsewhere such a condition and study.

In these nightly carnivals fully 10,000 equipages, filled with richly attired and merry occupants, may be seen. During the early evening the favorite drive is along Calle Ancha del Norte, by the sea. Later the Calzado de la Reina and the Paseo del Tacon are sought. As the night advances the great center of this brilliant life and luxurious activity is in the vicinity of the larger city parks, to which the paseos and the Prado lead, where military bands discourse the lively or sensuous airs of Spain. Here throng hosts of pedestrians; but, instead of the rudeness and clamor usual in such concourses in other cities, every frequenter of the locality only intensifies the everywhere manifest chivalrous courtesy and charming consideration that so distinguish them. It is as though here were a mammoth reception of the courtliest of men and women. Indeed, it is the great outdoor parlor of a great city, where every city is a noble guest. In the pauses of the music promenading is continuous. It would not then be uncommon for you to see at one time, and in the one place on the globe where that is possible, 10,000 women of surpassing beauty, of wonderful winsomeness of marvelous grace. It is not until some time after midnight that the crowds seem to diminish: for at some hour of the evening every gentleman and every senora and senorita in the city makes it a social obligation or pleasure to be present. But from midnight until morning, by an unwritten law, the parks and paseos are in possession of less dense gatherings, though an intenser, and far more questionable character of pleasure seekers.—Edgar L. Wakeman in New York Mail and Express.

Cloth Made Non-Inflammable.

The usefulness of tungstate of soda in imparting the quality of non-inflammability to various materials is now largely utilized. Cloth, when soaked in a solution of this kind, say of 20 per cent., and allowed to dry, will not burst into a flame when brought into contact with the fire, the simple effect of the latter being to cause the cloth to slowly carbonize or smolder. In preparing linen and light muslin garments in this manner the solution is usually mixed with the starch, and the addition of about 5 per cent. of phosphate of soda to the tungstate is also said to be an improvement. Wood can be treated in a similar manner, but it is rather an expensive process when undertaken on a considerable scale, and as it does not render the wood really incombustible, is not important.—New York Sun.

Items for Coal Dealers.

Taking into consideration the gradually diminishing radiating surface, the conclusion has been arrived at that the sun cannot give out sufficient heat to support life on the earth after the lapse of 10,000,000 years.—Globe-Democrat.

"IT WAS INHERITED."

The Fearful Effect of Heredity Upon the Lives of Men and Women—A Striking Case.

"The man or woman does not live who is free from hereditary influences." This remark was made by the celebrated Dr. Vanderville, of New York, to the Rev. Dr. Brooks, at a recent convention of scientists. "I agree with you, doctor," said the divine.

"Pure blood," continued the doctor, "is the great cause of health; impaired blood the source of most diseases. It may even go back to the grand or great grand parents."

"I have in mind a prominent man," said the reverend gentleman, "General Alfred C. Monroe, of No. 1 Pemberton Square, Boston. He inherited kidney troubles from both parents, one of whom died with it. He suffered terribly from pains in the back and head, and at times when walking the dizziness became so bad that he was compelled to lay hold of some convenient post for support. He was in a most desperate condition."

"And is he so still?" asked the doctor.

"No, he is in perfect health. Dr. McGregor, I believe of Maine, who had amputated an arm for the general, cured him."

"Do you know what medicine he used?"

"I understand it was Hunt's Remedy."

"Oh, Hunt's Remedy. I know it very well," said Dr. Vanderville. "I consider it the best remedy for kidney, liver, heart troubles, and female difficulties in the world. It is in no sense a patent medicine, but a standard remedy, which deserves to be used by all intelligent people. The fact is, no blood-taint can exist when the kidneys are in perfect order, and there is where Hunt's Remedy shows its marvelous superiority."

"I only wish," said Rev. Dr. Brooks, "that all people who inherit a tendency to disease could know of this remedy of which you speak so highly and use it. I am positive it would greatly lessen suffering and death."

An Imperative Necessity.

What pure air is to an unhealthy locality, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla to everybody, at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed. Scrofula, salt rheum, and all other blood disorders are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

The engineers on all the railroads in the country will be directed to cease work and live upon each other, if the demands of the engineers of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad are not complied with. Let us see how far these demands are consistent with the rights of labor. The engineers of the Burlington road want pay governed solely by miles run. They insist that there shall be no classification according to experience and duration or excellence of service, and no examination as to fitness, except such as the Brotherhood of Engineers approve, and also for other restraints upon the employer. Now, are all the old and experienced men in the country to quit their engines, because some new and young man just designated as capable of handling a locomotive upon a side track or line of but little consequence, is not paid as high wages as the older and abler men with their years of experience? Is it in the interest of labor to demand that inexperienced men, or those having the less important service to perform, shall be paid just the same rate of wages as the veteran engineer receives, after his years of successful service? We take it that, putting aside for a moment the proposition that a railway manager who has passed through every grade of service is not the proper person to designate what his corporation should pay his subordinates, the true interest of the railway engineers is to have ability, continual service and efficiency considered and preferred. The strike is a movement of the inefficient and inexperienced men against those who have ability superior to theirs.

The position is not only opposed to the rights of the railway owners, and the public served by the railways, but it is hostile to the true interests of the railway engineers themselves. Yet these men, like the naturalized Irishman who proclaims his hostility to England, and votes for free trade and English fishery treaties with his democratic ballot, will if they recognize the right of a leader to order them to quit work, even if they starve first, sooner or later discover that the men who "engineered" the strike had some other motive, or at least achieved a different result, from one benefitting the men who from long service, superior mechanical ability and correct habits had a quality of labor to sell to the railroads far in excess of that of the raw recruits at whose behests they may give up a lifelong job.

It is a blunder which soon will discover itself.

The Melbourne International Exhibition.

Australia celebrates the centenary of her settlement by a grand International Exhibition at Melbourne, commencing August 1st next, and continuing for six months. Congress has appropriated $50,000, will appoint commissioners to represent the United States, and it is hoped that very many private firms will make exhibits. The government of Victoria controls the exhibition and gives space and steam for motive power free. The exhibition building and annexes will cover twenty-four acres of ground, and the display, both local and from foreign countries, will be the largest ever seen in the southern hemisphere. Goods for exhibition are admitted duty free. Australia is a rich and growing country. American goods sell well there, and the comparative closness of Australia to America should inspire our business men to control her markets. Mr. John M. Ives, who for the past three years has been in the antipodes as manager for the well known Sole Cure House of H. H. Warner & Co., has just returned with letters from the chief secretary and commissioners; also blank applications for space, which he will be pleased to send free on application to him at Rochester, N. Y. Applications should be made at once, as goods must be in position not later than July first next.

At a meeting of the officers and committee of the New Hampshire Tenth Regiment Veterans' Association, in Concord on the 6th inst., it was voted to hold the annual reunion at Bedford on June 21st. Measures were also taken towards publishing a history of the organization.

A Bath in Washington.

Probably Washington is the only civilized place in the world where it comes within the limits of etiquette to ask a visitor to take a bath; yet many a congressman crowns his politeness to a constituent by offering him a ticket of admittance to the marble pools in the basement of the Capitol. Of course, when an immersion would, for obvious reasons, be of the most benefit, the statesman wisely refrains from an invitation partaking too much of the suggestive. As a rule, the curiosity of the visitor impels him to take advantage of an opportunity to see the luxurious appointments that keep our national politics clean.—New York Press "Every Day Talk."

A Shoe Dealer.

The western and southern shoe trade demands a wider last than is used in the east. This is not altogether due to differences in the pedal structure. There are notions that prevail among dealers as to how a shoe should be fitted, which are peculiar to sections. The eastern retailer prevails on a lady to wear a shoe that is often a full size longer than her foot. Have plenty of room in that direction, the foot can then be fitted with a narrower shoe, with a slimmer and more elegant appearance. On the other hand, western and southern dealers make the fit snug as to length, and often after the shoe is worn a few days the great toe protrudes over the sole. Being crowded longitudinally, the foot must have room some way, and the wider last is therefore used. The eastern is the correct method of fitting, being less injurious to the feet, and the shoes will wear better and look better after a fortnight's wear.—"Dealer" in Globe-Democrat.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

Spring Medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most popular and successful Spring Medicine. Nearly every body needs a reliable spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel the impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the winter, to keep up strength as the warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring and you will be convinced that it does possess superior and peculiar merit.

Be Sure to Get Hood's Sarsaparilla, my child. See that they do not give you anything else. You remember it is the medicine which did mama so much good a year ago—so reliable, beneficial, pleasant to take—my favorite spring medicine.

A Good Appetite

"When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was dizzy in the morning, had a headache, and no appetite; but now I can hardly get enough cooked to eat." EMMA SHEPARD, 1 Coral Street, Worcester, Mass.

"Last spring my whole family took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The result is that all have been cured of scrofula, my little boy being entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy as possibly can be. I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla good for catarrh." WM. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

Parish Meeting.

The annual meeting of the North Parish was held on Tuesday evening of this week, and the following officers elected: Edward C. Matthews, clerk; Charles E. Myers, John S. Rand, Fred W. Moses, Edward A. Ferguson, Samuel H. Kingsbury, wardens. The usual appropriations were made; the weekly offering system, which has proved so successful for the past ten years, was voted to be continued; and other matters for the interest of the parish were considered and acted on.

The Base-Ball Meeting.

In accordance with the published call for a meeting of people interested in the formation of a base-ball association in this city, to put in the field the coming season a salaried club to contest for the championship of the state, a considerable number of persons assembled in Franklin hall on the evening of the 6th inst. The meeting was called to order by Joseph R. Curtis; James G. Ward, president of the Portsmouth Athletic club, was chosen chairman, and Daniel N. Pickering secretary. Mr. F. J. Leonard addressed the meeting in regard to forming an association, saying he thought the weekly expenses of a good club would not be over $900, whereas the clubs of the New England league cost from $1800 to $2000 a week to run. It was decided that the price of shares should be fixed at $5, and Charles Smith, Edgar D. Stoddard, Daniel Casey, Gay Smart, Timothy Cronin, Myers Dempsey and F. J. Leonard were appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions, after which the meeting adjourned to Saturday evening, the 10th inst.

"Two Old Cronies."

The "Two Old Cronies" Co. gave a most enjoyable entertainment at Music hall on Tuesday evening of this week, the excellence of the performance all through being an agreeable surprise to the audience, although a good show was anticipated, from the favorable press notices received by the company. Handsome and tasteful costumes, bright and sparkling music, (lots of it, and all pleasingly sung,) capital dancing, and any amount of fun, (all clean,) characterized the performance, and the hearty and often uproarious applause showed that the audience fully appreciated it. The "two old cronies" themselves were simply immense in their specialties, and must be seen to be understood. The name of this delightfully comical musical extravagaraza, "Two Old Cronies," to us does not seem a fortunate selection; it has a flavor of something below the plane of the performance, which is as unexceptional as it is amusing and entertaining.

The "Two Old Cronies" will play a return engagement in Music hall next Wednesday evening, March 14th.

The obsequies of Col. J. Horace Kent took place in the Unitarian church at noon on Wednesday, the 7th inst., and were very largely attended by citizens of Portsmouth, and distinguished men from other parts of the state, the centre section being occupied by the orders of which deceased was a member, Osgood Lodge of Odd Fellows, St. Andrew's Lodge of Masons, Storer Post, G. A. R., and De Witt Clinton Commandery of Knights Templar. The floral tributes, from the several orders and from personal friends, were numerous. The bearers were Past Department Commanders O. C. Wyatt, M. M. Collis and Daniel J. Vaughan, and Comrades George E. Hodgdon, John H. Locke and Charles W. Tracy of Storer Post. Rev. Alfred Gooding, pastor of the church, and Rev. James DeNormandie, former pastor, officiated, appropriate selections being sung by the choir; following this was the full burial service of the Knights Templar, performed by De Witt Clinton Commandery. Interment was in the South cemetery. Among those from other cities in attendance at the funeral were Gov. Sawyer, Ex-Governor B. F. Prescott, Hon. Daniel Hall, and State Councillors Nathaniel H. Clarke of Plaistow and John C. Linehan of Penacook.

The ladies of the Court street Christian church give a supper and entertainment in G. A. R. hall this evening. Supper from five to seven; entertainment at eight. Public patronage solicited.

A despatch was received in this city on Wednesday afternoon, the 7th inst., announcing the dangerous illness of Dr. Willis W. French of New York, son of Mr. John T. French of this city, with a sudden and severe attack of pneumonia.

It is reported that Mr. Willis G. Myers has leased the Henry F. Gerrish house on Middle street, and will immediately refit it for his own occupancy.

The national flag was hoisted at half-mast on the Liberty bridge liberty pole, Wednesday, the 7th inst., as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Col. J. Horace Kent.

Workmen have for several days been engaged in putting up new naphtha street lights about the city, wherever the old ones were worn out.

Dr. Charles Delaney, formerly in successful business as a dentist in this city, but for years past practicing in the British provinces, was in Portsmouth on Wednesday.

We received on the 7th inst., from Japan, a cabinet photograph of Mr. Thomas J. Brooks, formerly for years a trusty and trustworthy employe of this office, now one of the crew of the U. S. S. Brooklyn, flagship of the Asiatic station. The likeness is an excellent one, and represents "Tommy" in mufti, and sporting a cane and formidable moustache. On the back of the card is the imprint "Photographer, Hiogo, Japan, S. Ichida," with a representation of a Japanese umbrella and a very Japanese tree, and some tea-chest characters which we are unable to translate, our early education in that branch of linguistic learning having been confined to the hieroglyphics on the outside of fire-cracker packages. Mr. Brooks is on his second three-years term of service in the navy, his first cruise having been made as ship's printer; what his rating is on the Brooklyn we do not know, but wherever he is he is a good man, and every duty devolving on him faithfully performed.

Rev. S. Wakely preached his farewell discourse at Strafford on Sunday, the 4th inst., and moves his family this week to Kittery, where he has been engaged to supply the pulpit of the Freewill Baptist church.

The official report of the inspection board, of which Rear Adm. Jouett is president, showing the result of the survey of the U. S. S. Pensacola, pays a high compliment to Capt. George Dewey, her commander, and his subordinate officers. It says: "This vessel was, after a thorough and careful inspection, found to be in a perfectly clean condition throughout, showing close care and attention on the part of the several departments. The crew are all well drilled, quiet and prompt, full of zeal and energy, displaying the deepest interest in their drills, a spirit which could only come from kindness on the part of their officers, who, from the captain down, deserve the warmest commendation. The various drills were performed with silence, thoroughness and despatch. The board has not examined this vessel with a view to repair her, but is of the opinion that her hull and engine are in sufficiently good condition for another year's cruise should the department desire to keep her in commission for that time."

Inspector Byrnes, of New York, says that "James Anson Foster," the confessed robber of old Bennett at East Newport, Me., and who so resolutely refused to give his true name "that he might not disgrace his respectable family," is a notorious thief and burglar named Tommy Kelly, and comes from a race of thieves. Byrnes says further that Dr. Weed planned the robbery of Bennett over a year ago, and wrote to Whitney in New York, whom he knew, Whitney being the son of a respectable Baptist minister in Maine, to visit East Newport with two other men, and rob the miser. One of the men who went with Whitney at that time was "Wreck" Donovan, now serving five years in a New York penitentiary. For some reason not stated, the job fell through at that time. According to the inspector, Dr. Weed wrote to Whitney just before the robbery in December to come on to Newport with one other man; Whitney did not then know Kelly, alias Foster, but was introduced to him by Phil Hardgraves, a noted forger, and the two went to Maine together.

Meaning of the Word "Kongo."

It has been generally accepted that the translation of the name "Kongo" is "the country of leopards," the root ko meaning "the country," and ngo "leopard." J. Janko, in Petermann's Mitteilungen, shows that this translation is not satisfactory, as according to the rules of the Bantu language, these two words cannot be combined into the word "Kongo." He discusses the various forms of this word as found among the tribes of the Lower Kongo—the Bakongo, who live on the river, from its mouth to Stanley Pool; the Bateke, who occupy the regions between the Kuango and Kongo, and the Kongo and Alima; the Babuma, northwest of the last tribe; and the Bayanzi, between Leopold lake and the Kongo. The Bakongo name of the river is "Kongo," that used by the Bateke is "Songo," and the Bayanzi say "Rongo."

All these names are dialectic variations of the same word, the k of one dialect becoming r and s in the others. The meaning of the word in the Bayanzi dialect is "spear," and, accordingly, Janko explains the name of Bakongo as "the man with the spear;" the name of the river, as "fast as a spear." If this translation should be correct, it seems more probable that the name of the river was derived from that of the tribe. Janko remarks incidentally that the root ku infers a motion, and that it is contained in the names of numerous rivers, such as Kuilu, Kunene, Kuango, Kuanza, which therefore must not be spelled Kuilu, Kwango, etc. It seems probable that the same root may be contained in the word "Kongo," and that the meaning "spear," which is, according to Janko, confined to the Bayanzi, is also derived from this root.—Science.

He Figured on It.

"Got a pencil?" asked a farmer on the market the other day of a citizen. "Now, then, let's figure a bit."

"What on?"

"Well, I come in most every day with something, and generally start for home about dusk. One boy in particular up Grand River avenue has bothered me a great deal by 'hitching on.' The other night I thought I'd give him a lesson. When he got on I grabbed his cap."

"And the boy?"

"He sat down on some bags of oats I hadn't sold and was taking back home, and didn't seem to care much about it. He rode about a mile and then got off without his cap."

"But what about the figgers?"

"I'm coming to them. He threw out six empty bags worth thirty-five cents each. He slashed into three bags full of oats with his knife and let 'em run out. He threw away a new tea kettle which cost me eighty cents, and he dropped overboard a horse blanket for which I paid $1. Add up these sums, subtract a two shilling cap and see how much I came out ahead.—Detroit Free Press.

Inclosed in Cocoanut Fiber.

Admiral Pallu de la Barrierre has had one of the ships recently built by the French government inclosed in cocoanut fiber, which he claims has more power of resistance than steel.—Chicago Herald

Lieut. Col. John Lloyd Broome, of the United States marine corps, goes on the retired list to-day (Thursday,) having reached the age of sixty-four years, he having been born March 8th, 1824. Col. Broome's record is a most honorable one, he having been promoted and officially thanked for brave and meritorious service on several occasions during the Mexican and secession wars, and twice brevetted for gallant conduct in action. He entered the service Jan. 12th, 1848. While on duty at the Portsmouth navy yard he made many friends, both in and out of the service. For several years past he has commanded the marine barracks at the Charlestown yard, from which duty he was relieved on the 1st inst., preparatory to going on the retired list.

The latest freak in the way of masquerades, is a costume that is intended to represent an oyster. What next? Why, the furture masquerades will have a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup moving among them.

Charles B. Oliver died in Norfolk, Va., Feb. 26th. He was a gunner in the navy prior to the war of secession. He went into the confederate service, and was gunner of the Merrimac during her fight with the Union fleet in Hampton roads.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulpner Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

Capt. George W. Harrison died recently at Hoboken, N. J. He was an officer in the navy for many years, but served in the confederate navy during the war.

Allan McDonald, one of the Gloucester fishermen who recently went to the Pacific coast, has written home a very discouraging letter relative to the fishing prospects in Puget sound.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

Justice Miller of the United States supreme court will make the commencement address this year at the Iowa state university.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

Justin McCarty has declined to become a deputy speaker of the British house of commons, giving as his reason that he is near-sighted.

Weary washerwomen have been made glad by the introduction of James Pyle's Pearline, a peerless compound for the laundry. It cleanses the most delicate fabric without injury. Sold by grocers.

On account of irregularity in the payment of $1800 to Frederick Douglass, two treasury officials are likely to lose their places.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

The oldest son of Governor Ames of Massachusetts has had to pay $1000 for ducking a small boy in a trough.

That tired feeling and loss of appetite are entirely overcome by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the peculiar medicine. Try it and see.

Commodore Samuel Barron died in Essex county, Va., a few days ago, aged eighty years. He was commissioned a midshipman in the navy when only three years old—the only case of the kind on record—and made his first cruise when eight years old. He was a brave and dashing officer, and on the breaking out of the civil war was a post captain, resigning to enter the confederate service. He was captured at Hatteras inlet, with his command, and passed a year in Fort Warren; after being exchanged he went to Europe, and remained there during the rest of the war, in charge of the fitting out of cruisers for the confederacy. His life was a remarkably eventful one, full of romance and adventure.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,fri,0ju11

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester N.Y. deowjanad

The Emperor William Dead.

One of the greatest monarchs of modern times, Emperor William of Germany, died in Berlin at 6:12 P. M. on the 8th inst. The intelligence was received in this country early in the afternoon, the difference of time between Berlin and the Atlantic coast of the United States being about six hours.

The crown prince of Germany is reported to be still improving in health, but is greatly affected by the death of his father.

Hon. Increase Sumner Kimball, now in his 90th year and one of the oldest members of the York county bar, is reported as being seriously ill at his home in Sanford.

George Emmons, an aged citizen of Kennebunk, was thrown from a sleigh a few days ago, and had both bones of one leg broken.

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast it to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empirics of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an ascertained specific for and preventative of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

A man and his son were eaten by a pack of famished wolves at Port Grove, Dakota, close by their house.

You need them for cold weather pains and soreness—Hop Plasters are successful every time.

Dr. Alexander Fulton, an aged physician of Ellsworth, Me., died March 7th.

A true balsam.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

The Mississippi house of representatives has rejected the senate bill appropriating $10,000 for a monument to confederate soldiers.

John Bruno of West Boyleston, Mass., missing several days, has been found dead in the woods at Holden.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Ten Thousand Dollars Paid S. W. Graybill.

S. W. Graybill, wholesale cigar dealer of this city, at a late drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery, drew one tenth of the second capital prize of $100,000, amounting to $10,000. He received the money on Monday last through the First National Bank of Columbia. He has been a resident of this city for a few years only, and came here from Sacroville.—*Lancaster (Pa.) honestly admit that they can't cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Others say they can but—don't. Athlophoros says nothing but—cures. That's the secret of its success. Years of trial have proved it to be a quick, safe, sure cure.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 3, 1887.

In my own family Athlophoros was used as a last resort, the user having suffered from rheumatism for years and having been treated for the disease by different physicians in this State and Massachusetts without even temporary relief. Upon my recommendation scores of people have used this remedy with the same results claimed for it. C. H. WILSON.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

How to Photograph Birds.

Dr. R. W. Shufeldt suggests to ornithologists that they may find portable photographic outfits of advantage in their studies. He finds that by the use of the instantaneous shutter birds may be photographed in nearly all of their positions. "Out here on the prairies we will often find an old stump or stalk upon which a dozen or fifteen species of birds will alight during seven or eight hours on almost any day suitable to use the camera upon them. Now, all we have to do is to properly set our instrument near this point, conceal it in such a way as not to alarm the birds, focus it sharply upon the perch where they alight, place on your 'snap shutter,' and fix it with a string, and then remove yourself far enough away to pull it when you have a subject sitting to your liking. Birds that you have wounded but slightly may be photographed under the most favorable circumstances; they may also be taken sitting on their nests; in actual flight, however swift; in pursuit of their food; in leading about their young; indeed, the list is almost an endless one. Rookeries also offer admirable subjects, and a splendid field is open at those wonderful resorts of water birds in such places as the Bahamas or the Alaskan coast."—Chicago News.

A Story of Meissonier.

The enterprising manager of a Paris theatre once called upon Meissonier and asked him to paint a drop scene for a certain theatre and name his own terms. "You have seen my pictures, then?" asked Meissonier. "Oh, yes," exclaimed the manager; "but it is your name—your name I want; it will draw crowds to my theatre." "And how large is it you wish this curtain to be?" inquired the artist. "Ah, well, we will say fifteen meters by eighteen." Meissonier took up a pencil and proceeded to make a calculation. At last he looked up and said with imperturbable gravity: "I have calculated and find that my pictures are valued at 80,000 francs per meter. Your curtain, therefore, will cost you just 21,600,000 francs. But that is not all. It takes me twelve months to paint twenty-five centimeters of canvas. It will, therefore, take me just 190 years to finish your curtain. You should have come to me earlier, monsieur; I am too old for the undertaking now. Good morning."—Art Amateur.

An "Anti-Fat" Treatment.

A theory of obesity, proposed by M. Leven recently, and described before the Societe de Biologie, is that it is a nervous disorder, and to be treated by avoidance of mental and physical fatigue and a diet of eggs, soup, milk, rice and potatoes.—Scientific American.

The Next Census.

Already plans are in outline for the collection of the eleventh national census. Many of the shortcomings of the methods of 1880 are to be remedied. That census was more complete than any previous one, but the work was so much greater than the sum available to pay for it that its day of greatest use was over before it was put in a shape to be available. Gen. Francis A. Walker, who was superintendent of the last census, advocates the collection of the statistics two years hence by the national bureau of statistics, which has Carroll D. Wright at its head. He also suggests that the statistics of population be taken by one set of enumerators and published as early as possible. There is a disposition to make the census of 1890 even more complete than that of 1880.—Philadelphia Times.

Cemetery in Tangier.

Not far from the market place, upon the hillside, is the public cemetery—a forlorn and dreary place full of sprawling cacti and brambles. Some of the graves are inclosed with rude low walls, a few have stones of turban shape, but all look crude and cheerless. We saw two or three women sitting among the graves, enveloped in their white haiks, and looking like the risen ghosts of those who slept below. True to the tenderness of their sex the world over, they had gone to the graves of their friends "to weep there." Near by, and also close to the old citadel, we saw tombs of former shereefs—low, square structures, surmounted with domes, all of dazzling whiteness from frequent whitewashing.—G. P. Gates in Boston Transcript.

Depth of Wave Action.

The depth to which wave action extends has been differently estimated, but it varies from seventy feet to 150 feet, as shellfish which are known only to live at these depths are thrown upon the shore during heavy gales, and it has been ascertained that shingle is moved in a depth of fifty feet. For all practical purposes, however, so far as harbor works are concerned, it is found that there is little movement of materials under eighteen to twenty feet below water, the foundations of breakwaters hitherto constructed not having been disturbed below these levels.—The Scotsman.

Safe advice to stock speculators, proverbially expressed: "If at first you do succeed, don't try again!"—Boston Record.

Hard Study Not Unhealthy.

Hard study is by no means the unhealthy factor in college life which it is popularly supposed to be. Professor Pierce, of Harvard, publishes some tables in the last triennial catalogue which clearly establish the fact that the excess of deaths during the first ten years after graduation is found in the class of students whose scholastic work and attainments were below the average. Even ignoramuses are not necessarily the healthiest or the longest lived.—Chicago Times.

How a Dying Child Was Saved!

CICERO, HAMILTON CO., IND., Sept. 19, 1887.—The following is a true account of what your S. S. S. has done for our little daughter, Hazel, now four years old. When 12 months old a lump appeared on her heel, which slowly grew larger. The family physician thought it was caused by a piece of broken glass or needle, but failed to bring anything to light. The child became feebler all the time, seeming to lose the use of her leg, and finally quit walking entirely. The middle finger and thumb of either hand became enlarged, the flesh becoming hard. The hip joints became involved, so that when seventeen months old she could not stand, having lost the use of leg and arm. Partial curvature of the spine also followed. The nervous system was wrecked, muscles contracted, and there was general wasting of flesh and muscle. At eighteen months of age she was placed under the treatment of a prominent physician of Boston, Mass., but at the end of ten months she had declined to such a degree that she was in a dying condition. This was in April, 1886. We took the child away not knowing what to do. In this dreadful dilemma we were over-persuaded by friends to try "one bottle" of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC, which we did, and before it had all been taken we saw a change for the better in her symptoms. We kept it up, and have done so to this day, and will keep it up, if the Lord wills, for many days to come, for it has brought our dying Hazel to life, to vigor, to strength and health again. The ashen hue of her cheeks has changed to a rosy tint. She is able to walk anywhere, her languor and melancholy have passed away, and she is now a blithe, cheerful, happy romping child. Should you wish to increase your testimonials of proof of the virtue of S. S. S., our names and what we have said is but a portion of what we owe to you, should you wish to use them.

Kindly yours,

An Imperative Necessity.

What pure air is to an unhealthy locality, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla to everybody, at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed. Scrofula, salt rheum, and all other blood disorders are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

They Will Get More Information Soon.

The ways and means committee of the house of representatives had a long and bitter contest on the 7th inst., over the tariff bill. The republican members, led by Mr. Reed, made numerous propositions to the democrats, all of which were voted down by the majority. Mr. Reed asked that the cement and marble men be heard, and Mr. Burrows wanted the steel manufacturers to have a hearing, but both of these propositions were rejected by the democrats.

Then Mr. McKinley asked that the laboring men be invited to present their views to the committee as to the effect of the Mills bill upon the industries in which they are employed, but even this was voted down.

Mr. Kelley then requested permission for the manufacturers and laborers to file briefs with the committee, which was accepted, with a provise that such documents should not be read by the clerk, as Chairman Mills airily observed that the majority had all the information they desired upon the general subject of tariff.

There is some talk about bringing the unprecedented bulldozing tactics of Mr. Mills and his colleagues to the attention of the house before the tariff bill is reported.

Terrible Disaster in Springfield, Mass.

The office of the Springfield Union was burned about four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 7th, with a terrible loss of life. The fire was first discovered in the mailing room, and clouds of smoke were pouring out of the lower story windows before the fifty souls on the upper floor were aware of their danger. The flames shot up an old elevator in the rear, cutting off escape by the stairway, and most of the employes who escaped found their way to the ground by way of a roof in the rear. The unfortunate men and women who crowded into the editorial rooms met a horrible fate; they were cut off from the escape in the rear, and had to face the alternative of burning to death or a jump to the sidewalk below. The fire department responded promptly, but it seemed an age before it reached the windows on the fifth story. A ladder was put to the fourth story, and the sight of rescue so near seemed to madden the suffering group at the two windows, who dropped in succession to the sidewalk below. Six fell in this way, some were forced off, and some leaped.

Henry I. Goulding, foreman of the composing room, and Miss Gertie Thompson, proof-reader, were burned to death; Mrs. Hattie E. Farley, of the editorial department, fell from a window and was killed; J. Lauzor, W. E. Hovey and C. L. Brown, compositors, fell or jumped, and were killed. F. E. Ensworth, clerk, and Thomas Donaghue, compositor, were injured, the latter fatally, and the other dangerously. Three or four others were badly but not fatally hurt, by the flames or by the fall; and it was feared that the full list of deaths was not known. The were many wonderful escapes, and many acts of heroism performed, in the few minutes which elapsed from the discovery of the fire to the time it had full control of the building.

The total loss is estimated at $50,000, of which the Union loses $12,000, the rest falling on the owners of the building and the occupants of the lower stories. Total insurance, $20,750.

In Collision With the United States.

The engineers and firemen on the western railroads connecting with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, having notified the managers not to haul freight for the road named on penalty of having their own roads tied up by a strike, and some of the managers having illegally acceded to the illegal demand, the C., B. & Q. road has secured a temporary order from the United States circuit court at Chicago compelling the receiver of the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific road to move freight for the boycotted road.

Vice President Kimball of the Union Pacific has addressed a circular to the road's employes calling their attention to the interstate commerce laws prohibiting discriminations against persons, localities or corporations, and with regard to conspiracies against the United States. The circular appeals to engineers not to render themselves and the company liable under these laws by refusing to handle freight of connecting lines. The circular contains a despatch from President Adams, dated Boston, March 5th, in which he says, "We cannot lay ourselves open to the penalties of the interstate law and possibility of forfeiture of our charter by refusing to inter-change business with all connecting lines in the usual way. We point this out to our men, and show them that it would be no more illegal for them to call upon us to burn the Burlington freight house or murder its officials than to make the present demand."

In 1860, under free trade, salt along the great lakes was selling at $2.35 a barrel. Under protection the Michigan salt industry developed to such magnitude that in 1866 the price of salt was $1.80; in 1871 it had fallen further to $1.46; in 1876, $1.05; in 1881, ninety-five cents; in 1886, sixty-five cents; and in 1887, fifty-eight cents.

The political fight between the papers of Biddeford waxes warm. The Times and the Journal show that the democratic ring which has ruled the city for the past five years, during its first four years increased the city debt more than $92,000; the increase for the 5th year, 1887, is not given, as no official statement has been made, and the democratic city treasurer refuses to make the figures public. The Standard, the new democratic organ, is having an uphill job to convince the tax-payers that it is for their interest to keep the ring in control. The election takes place on Monday, March 12th.

Hon. George E. Jenks of Concord, who left his home nearly two months ago, and was seen in Boston the following day, has not been heard from since.

The republican papers of Biddeford are asking conundrums about the increase of the pauper expenses of the city from about $9,000 a year under republican management, to $25,000 a year under democratic management.

Boston has thirteen vacant pulpits. The number of vacant pews at the hub is not given.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

"The Black Hawks."

To-morrow evening, in Music hall, the small boy and the lover of border drama will be present in force, to enjoy the feast provided for them by Arizona Joe, formerly a noted scout, and his company. Of the play the Cleveland Herald says: "The scenes are laid in New Mexico and Arizona, and they consist of plots and counter-plots by a lot of uncouth looking thieves called the Black Hawks on one side, and Arizona Joe, otherwise the Shooting Star, his followers, and three trained dogs on the other. There is enough of the unprotected female in the play to keep up the interest. During the progress of the performance, the small boy in the gallery was filled with the wildest enthusiasm at times, and this was especially true when at the close of the first act, the stage coach, with its treasure, was captured by the Black Hawks, and the Shooting Star comes to the rescue on horseback, and aided by his trusty rifle and his dogs, puts the robbers to flight. The tableax at the close of each act were applauded to the echo."

Tickets now on sale at Goodrich's; see advertisement.

Ought to Pass..

Crogressman Tarnsey, of Michigan, on the 7th inst. reported to the house, from the committee on commerce, the bill to establish new life-saving stations at Wallis' sands, Rye beach, and at Plum island, near Newburyport, with a recommendation that it be passed.

Dockstader's Minstrels.

In Music hall next Tuesday evening, Dockstader's Minstrels, direct from Dockstader's theatre, New York city, will give an entertainment. Of a performance by them in the Providence Opera house, Feb. 27th, the Telegraph of that city next day said: "It was the most finished, refined and enjoyable of its kind ever given in this city. It is many years since the cry was raised that black-faced minstreisy had seen its day. When Christie, Cotton, Sharpley, Morris, and others delighted thousands by their delineations of negro life and character, minstrelsy was in the ascendant, but in these latter days it requires more talent, larger companies, and greater resources to please the fastidious taste of the public. It is, therefore, paying a high compliment to the worth and merit of Dockstader's Minstrels to say that they fully met the requirements of the critical task that has developed during the last ten years. Years ago horse play, grotesque antics, cheap wit, and cheaper puns made the stock-in-trade of the average minstrel company, but all that has passed. Something more refined, more delicate, and at the same time novel is demanded. All these requisites the Dockstader company met fully, and the crowded house which greeted them shows how well their efforts were appreciated."

Tickets go on sale at Goodrich's, Saturday morning; see advertisement.

Charles E. Batchelder, Esq., left the city Thursday forenoon for Boston, on the way to Washington by the Raymond excursion leaving Boston Friday forenoon. He will be absent about two weeks.

Union Rebekah Degree Lodge of Odd Fellows will hold a special meeting on Saturday evening, March 10th, at 7:30 o'clock.

The family of the late Col. J. Horace Kent will not return to Concord, but will take up their residence in this city, at No. 9 Islington street, in the house lately purchased and fitted up by the deceased.

A despatch of the 7th inst. from Washington to the Boston Traveller says: "The administration has received certain information lately that New Hampshire's vote in the coming democratic convention is quite uncertain, and unusual efforts are being made to drive it into line. Accordingly, Frank Jones has been notified that he can have the appointment of a man to succeed Solicitor Chestney of the internal revenue bureau, a position which pays $4500 per year. Mr. Jones is now looking over the list of Granite State eligibles with a view of placing the appointment where it will do the most good."

The annual meeting of the St. John's Guild, connected with St. John's Episcopal church, was held in the chapel on State street, Feb. 22d. This guild is divided into eight departments or chapters, each chapter having its own head, and devoting its efforts to its own special department of work. The chapters are: Church and chancel, chapel, Sunday school, choir, missionary, Children's Home, hospital and relief club, and earnest worker's, the duties devolving on each being indicated by the titles, excepting in the case of the last-named, the "earnest workers," whose work lies in any direction not included in the objects of the other chapters. Since the organization of the guild, in Lent, 1883, over $4000 has been collected and disbursed by the various chapters.

Fred McKean, the newsboy who was hurt in the Bradford, Mass., accident of Jan. 10th, has been paid $3,000 by the Boston & Maine railroad for the injury he received.

Temperance meeting in the Pearl street church this evening; all invited; an accomplished lady lecturer will speak.

The statement is made that no less than six species of North American birds have become extinct during the last ten years, and it is claimed that English sparrows were the main cause.

Rev. L. W. Phillips of Rye was thrown from his sleigh on Wednesday evening of this week near Rye Centre, dragged a considerable distance, and somewhat bruised, but not seriously injured.

Says the Times: "An old gentleman with a horse attached to a sled upon which was piled all his worldly goods, drove through the city at two o'clock Thursday afternoon on his way from Nova Scotia to Newburyport. The old fellow started from Nova Scotia on the first day of January, and has been on the road ever since. He seemed in good spirits, and could not restrain a smile when he learned that he was within twenty miles of his destination. He appeared to be about sixty years of age."

At the regular meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., held on Wednesday evening, March 7th, Commander D. J. Vaughan, in view of the fact that he is shortly to remove from this city, tendered his resignation as commander of the post. A new commander and chaplain will be elected at the next regular meeting of the organization.

A team passing over the Vaughan street crossing about 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night of this week, had a narrow escape from being smashed by a freight train arriving from the east, there not being more than a foot to spare between the hind wheel of the vehicle and the pilot of the engine. The driver of the team heard neither whistle nor bell till the engine was close on him.

A handsome gold watch, disposed of by lot at Mr. John S. Whidden's store on Congress street, Thursday evening, fell to the ownership of E. B. Goodall, Jr., who held ticket No. 45.

Says the Lewiston Journal: "The Newport, Me., robbery case, since the arrest of Dr. Weed, is only less interesting than the Dexter murder case. Dr. Weed has been a respectable citizen and physician. Two robbers accuse him of being one of their gang. It is a remarkable situation. Wilkie Collins could make it the basis of a thrilling novel. Dr. Weed's friends declare that he is the victim of a conspiracy."

Owing to a railroad accident between Boston and New York on Wednesday afternoon, the 7th inst., J. W. Young's 1200 customers in this city had to go without their Vienna pressed yeast until Thursday forenoon.

EXAMINE BEFORE YOU BUY.

When in the grocer's store you stand
And cakes of IVORY SOAP demand,
Be careful not to be misled
And imitations take instead,
For dealers oft will praises sing
Of that which may more profit bring.
Let not your senses clouded be Because a snowy cake you see,
For villainy is not confined
To darkest colors, bear in mind,
And oft the sham is not remote
From fairest face or whitest coat.
Examine well with careful eye
The cake until the name you spy,
And always thus be well assured
That IVORY SOAP you have procured;
And should a lingering doubt remain,
'Twill vanish, like the darkest stain,
When in the tub on washing day
That cake of soap is brought in play.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Chinese Gamblers' Superstitions.

Chinese gamblers are more superstitious than the mass of their countrymen. All colors, save white, are carefully avoided by the owners in the walls and decorations of their gambling rooms. White, the color of mourning and of the robes worn by the spirits of the dead, always considered inauspicious, is associated with the idea of losing money, and is believed to bring bad fortune to their patrons, with corresponding gains to themselves. Even the inscriptions to the tutelary gods are always written upon white paper, and white candles are burned before his shrine instead of the red ones ordinarily used. Gamblers on their way to play fan tan will turn back if any one jostles them or they happen to come in contact with any obstruction. If a player's hand encounters another's as he lays his stake on the table he will not put his money on the number toward which he was reaching.

Gamblers refrain from reading books before playing, and books are not regarded with favor in gambling houses from the word "she" (book) sounding like "she" (to lose money). All inauspicious words are avoided. Thus the almanac, "Hung she," is always called "Gut sing" through unwillingness to utter the ominous "she." This book is of daily use among gamblers, for in its calendar of lucky and unlucky days there is special mention of the days favorable for playing and, besides, it always contains a dream book, and they attach much importance to the interpretation of dreams.—New York Times.

A Play in Prison.

"Of all the experiences I ever had," remarked Annie Russell, "the most singular was when I was a child playing in a juvenile 'Pinafore' company. We were to give a performance on Christmas day in Auburn penitentiary before the convicts. I shall never forget the feeling that came over me as I passed through those frowning gates. We dressed behind screens on an improvised stage, and while we were so occupied we heard the wardens speaking to and arranging the prisoners. I had never before heard human beings spoken to so roughly. When I came out upon the stage and saw that sea of faces, many of the most repulsive type, and knew that nearly every crime had its representative there, I could scarcely go on. At first their laughter was terrifying. It was so coarse it seemed bestial rather than human. But little by little the charm of the music and the sight of the fresh young faces softened them. They quieted down, till from their behavior one could scarcely have told them from an ordinary audience. And at last I saw many weeping and some sobbing almost convulsively. It was a wonderful experience, and I do not regret having known it, but I do not think anything could tempt me to go through it again."—New York Tribune.

A French writer states that not one of the sovereigns of Europe is a native of the country over which he rules, or at least he belongs to a family that did not have its origin in that country.—Foreign Letter.

The liquor men claim to be able to defeat high license in the New York legislature.

"I was most ready to return a blow and would not brook at all this sort of thing," for I knew I could cure all damages with Salvation Oil.

The sloop yacht Mayflower will not go across the Atlantic this season.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulpner Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

Gov. Ames of Massachusetts has appointed April 5th as Fast day.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

Hon. John P. Newell, an ex-mayor of Manchester, is supplying the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Litchfield, which has a parsonage and a fund of $20,000 bequeathed by James Parker.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

Three men living in Indian territory, Julius Quinn, Wm. Antwerp and Joseph George, were burned out of their log cabin Sunday night, March 4th, and shot dead by a mob of cow boys. The murdered men recently squatted upon land in the range of a cattle man named Delaney, who tried in every way to get the squatters to leave the country.

Everything which belongs to pure, healthy blood is improved by Hood's Sarsaparilla. A trial will convice you of its merit.

The prohibition national convention is to be held at Indianapalis May 6th.

Weary washerwomen have been made glad by the introduction of James Pyle's Pearline, a peerless compound for the laundry. It cleanses the most delicate fabric without injury. Sold by grocers.

The Baptist society of Littleton has recived a gift of $500 from a friend whose name is withheld.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he won't use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well."

The Emperor William Dead.

The report of the death of Emperor William on the evening of the 8th inst. was premature, as he rallied from the deathly stupor into which he fell at six o'clock, and lived until 8:30 o'clock on the 9th, when he ceased to breathe.

His son, late the Crown Prince Frederick William, succeeds to the throne under the title of Frederick III.

All the monarchies of Europe, and the president of the United States, sent messages of condolence to the court of Berlin on the 9th.

At Evansville, Ind., March 8th, Louis Richter, aged nineteen, shot his cousin, Louisa Smith, aged seventeen, and then himself; both are dead. The murderer wanted to marry the girl, but she had too much sense to listen to him.

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast it to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empirics of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an ascertained specific for and preventative of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

A river steamer blew up at Cartagena, Colombia, Feb. 22d, killing forty persons.

The Newfoundland government has sent the steamers Hercules and Lady Glover to Fortune bay, to prevent the sale of bait to French fishermen.

A true balsam.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

The British barque Lanoma, from Launceston for London, has been wrecked near Weymouth with the loss of twelve men, including the captain.

Carroll L. Brown of Farmington, Franklin county, Me., was one of the killed in the fire at Springfield, Mass. He leaves a young wife and infant child.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Rev. Russell Jennings of Deep River, Conn., who has during his life given at least $200,000 to aid in building and supporting Baptist churches, died March 8th.

"A GREEN OLD AGE."

Few Men or Women Reach It, But Nearly All Might—The Remarkable Experience of an Octogenarian.

"There is only one thing I dread," said the late Charles Sumner, "and that is the coming on of old age."

Mr. Sumner was a brave man, and could face danger unflinchingly but to watch the hairs whiten, the lines of pain and care grow deep in the face, to feel the strength and activity going and death coming on, and hale and hearty as in youth that you could bear. Alas! how many others feel the same today. Pains, loss of sleep, weakness, poor appetite, and feebleness, all break the spirit. Have you never heard of Mr. Nathan Chase, of New Bedford, Mass.? A man nearly four-score years old, and hale and hearty as in youth that you could wish, and yet he was supposed to be dying of heart trouble less than two years ago. Here is what he says:

"A year ago or more I began to lose flesh and strength. I sent for my physician to know the cause. He examined me, and said it was my heart; that the old machinery was wearing out, and I must be careful. Still I grew worse. Finally I got so bad I could scarcely breathe; I could not lie in bed but had to sit up all night with possibly one hour's sleep out of twenty-four. And yet to-day, I am in fine condition; can go up three flights of stairs without inconvenience, and feel as well and about as young as ever in my life before. What accomplished this? Hunt's Remedy—nothing else. It has made a new man of me, and I bless God for it every day."

Such an experience should be a valuable lesson to all readers, both old and young. It shows that a long and happy life is possible. It shows that men or women need not despond. It shows that by care and the use of the right remedy health, happiness and long life may be secured by all.

ADAMSON'S BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM

More than twenty years ago Adamson's Botanic Balsam was introduced generally throughout New England as a remedy for Coughs, Colds and Pulmonary complaints. Since its introduction it has constantly won its way into public favor, until now it is the universal decision that ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is the best remedy for curing Coughs, Colds and Asthma.

Swiss and French Soldiers.

There is very little contrast between the Swiss and French soldier. Both are below the stature of the German, English and American soldier; inferior intellectually and physically. The Swiss warrior wears a cap helmet, which makes him look at once like a member of a rural band in America. It is of black cloth, with deep blue trimmings and with black silk braid about the edges. The front is cocked and the rear slopes and has the helmet brim. He wears a navy blue cutaway coat, dark gray pantaloons, and each is decked with a very narrow red cord. At his side is a short, heavy sword always. His side arms are completed by a five-shot 42-calibre revolver, heavy enough to be used as a bludgeon in close quarters. Also, like the French soldier, the Swiss is armed with a magazine needle gun, and is given so much active training that he is invariably a fair marksman. In this, as nearly all continental armies, there is by government authority an inducement for soldiers to become fine marksmen. But the pay of the continental soldier is so low and generally his service so nearly menial that he takes little interest in what he does. The pay is about one-fourth that of the American soldier and less than half of that paid the English.—Cor. Philadelphia Times.

Artificial Ageing of Whisky.

A way has been found of ageing whisky artificially. A dealer showed the writer two samples of what he called the "straight" article; one was made in 1885, the other in July, 1887. They were equally good, he said, in color, bouquet, taste and every other quality, and yet the 1887 sample was sold at $10 less a barrel than the other. In other words, the whisky makers can now furnish a three months' article equal in every respect to that which is three years old.

By this process they save the three years' storage, interest and evaporation. The purchaser generally gets the benefit of this. The new process consists briefly of rocking the barrels day and night on patented "cradles." Charred barrels are used, as is customary—that is to say, the barrel is burned out before the whisky is put in, thus converting the inner surface into charcoal. The constant motion for three months dissipates the fusel oil and imparts the rich color which new whisky has hitherto never had legitimately.—Philadelphia Times.

Sending Unsealed Letters.

The "point of etiquetty," in regard to not sealing letters sent by the hand of a friend, is to be considered, undoubtedly, as settled by the usage of polite society. And yet there are two sides to the question. To intrust to a friend an unsealed letter to a third person is a compliment to the friend; but why should it be thought necessarily uncomplimentary if the letter be sealed? On the other hand, the sealing of a letter may be deemed always advisable, for one good reason at least. The contents of an unsealed letter are never safe. They are safe so far as the honorable friend is concerned, but not safe in any other sense. They may be lost from the envelope easily and innocently. They may be abstracted and read by the servant to whom the note is delivered at the door, or by any prying individual who may find the missive lying on the hall table and awaiting the owner's arrival. Especially unsafe is it to place in an unsealed package articles of large money value. Would any sane man send a $50 bill in an unsealed envelope by the hand of a friend or anybody whomsoever? The friend himself, if he knew the nature of the inclosure, would be very apt to protest against this sacrifice of common sense at the shrine of etiquette.—"C. S. E." in New York Commercial Advertiser.

Early Inhabitants of America.

A glance at the geologies of the present day shows that workers in this department of natural history are enabled to map out the continents and seas of ages ago almost as correctly as they can those of today—so distinctly are the old shores and landmarks outlined. Today we ride in cars across the American continent; yet not so long ago, geologically speaking, a vast inland sea extended westward from the Gulf of Mexico—finding its boundaries, in all probability, on some shore now submerged beneath the waters of the Pacific.

This was during what is known as the age of chalk, or the cretaceous period—and millions of years ago, if our geological estimates are correct. The question as to whether man existed then is an interesting one. Evidence of human life has not been found; yet there were vast areas of land, with animals and plants of great variety, and as there was no physical barrier to human existence, in the opinion of many the cretaceous continents and islands were populated by man.

Knowing the actual conditions of life at this early time, the strange animals that lived during it, it is a comparatively easy matter to understand or appreciate the daily life of our ancestors. It is evident that they were much more primitive than even the bushman of today, and undoubtedly were what we would term wild men, living in rocks and caves as the lower animals do. They were essentially hunters and fishermen, depending upon game for their sustenance. The small continent of America at this time had in all probability low, marshy coasts, and the great ocean or gulf, whose coast line can be traced from Arkansas to near Fort Riley, on the Kansas river, up to Minnesota to Canada, near the head of Lake Superior, was a vast shallow sea. On its borders we may imagine cliffs of sandstone worn out into caves and quarries, in which these early fishermen made their homes.—Philadelphia Times.

SAVED HIS LEG!

SCROFULA OF THE BONE CURED!

LITHONIA, Ga., August 11, 1887.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—I have been afflicted with ulceration of the leg ever since I was a child, the disease undoubtedly being hereditary, as my mother suffered from scrofulous symptoms. As I advanced to manhood my affliction increased until the malady became harrassing and painful beyond the power of words to describe. My right leg particularly became painfully swollen, the left leg being less painfully affected. Finally, about fourteen years ago, the ulcers on my right leg had eaten through the flesh into the bone. In order to save my life the doctors determined to amputate my leg below the knee. The operation was successfully performed by Dr. H. V. H. Miller, of Atlanta, and Dr. W. F. Bond, of Lithonia. But the loss of my leg gave me only temporary relief. The poison was still in my system and soon began to show itself again. In a short time after large ulcers appeared on my left leg, covering it from the knee to the instep. Frequently while at work I could be tracked by the blood which oozed from the huge ulcers, and the sores and rotting bones were so offensive that my fellow-workmen could not stand the stench and would move away from me.

Last winter I was persuaded to try S. S. S. As a last effort I consented to do so, and about seven months ago I began taking the Specific. I soon began to feel the good effects of the medicine, the offensive running began to grow less and less and finally ceased, the ulcers healed, my flesh became firm and solid, and to-day, after using twenty-one bottles, I am as sade and stout a man of my age as there is in Georgia. I am seventy-one years old, but feel now younger and stronger than I did when I was twenty-five. I weigh about 170 pounds. Nothing is to be seen of the terrible disease, or to remind me of the torture I suffered for so many years, except the scars of the perfectly healed ulcers.

I want the world to know of the almost miraculous cure effected on me by S. S. S., and I call upon those who wish to know the particulars directly from me to write, and I will consider it a pleasure as well as a duty to answer their letters. I refer to Dr. W. F. Bond, of Lithonia, as to the truth of my statement. Very gratefully yours,

Municipal Affairs.

In board of mayor and aldermen, Mayor Hodgdon in the chair; present, full board.

Records of last meeting read and approved.

Petition for naphtha light on Mark street was referred to the committee on street lights to report.

Alderman Wendall reported a verbal petition of Rev. Father O'Callahan for an electric light on Chatham street near the Catholic church. Referred to committee on street lights to report.

The reports of committees were then called and Alderman Littlefield, on behalf of the committee on accounts, reported itemized bills to the amount of $1672.15, which was accepted and ordered paid.

Alderman Conlon reported a bill of $400 from the Portsmouth Machine Company for balance due on bill for steam heating apparatus in Haven school-house. Owing to the inadequacy of the heating apparatus the bill caused considerable discussion, and it was finally left to the committee on school-houses to settle; and the committee was also instructed to inquire into the cost of putting in additional pipes.

Mr. Scott, treasurer of the Portsmouth Brewing Company, then came before the board and was heard relative to the steam fire gong on the brewery. He said that the company could not furnish steam for the gong for less than $300 per year, as they had to carry 30 lbs. extra steam at night and that $300 was little enough for the expense and trouble.

A petition from Dr. H. F. Clark, to be allowed to open a drain leading from his house into the adjoining sewer, was then read, and the privilege granted with the usual restrictions.

A second paper from Dr. Clark was then read, asking the board to pass an order directing the board of health to remove the alleged nuisance at the Jones school, and after a brief debate upon it, it was voted to lay the matter on the table.

The board then met the councilmen in convention for the purpose of electing weighers, measurers of wood, and fish and game wardens, after which the convention rose.

In board of aldermen resumed:

The request of Dr. Clark was taken from the table and ordered to a second reading, and after a brief debate, which proved anything but favorable to the petitioner, the matter was referred to committee on school-houses to report.

The subject of the fire alarm gong was then resumed, and it was voted to refer the whole matter to the committee on fire department to report at next meeting, and also to look up some other suitable locality for the gong.

A resolution was then passed authorizing the city clerk to communicate with ex-Mayor Eldredge, requesting him to furnish a portrait of himself to be placed in the aldermen's room with portraits of other ex-mayors.

The claim of Dr. W. O. Junkins of Greenland of $3.00 for damage received to sleigh and harness, Feb. 25, through a defect in the highway near the Plains, was referred to committee on claims with power, which committee presently ordered the bill to be paid, as they considered it a legitimate one.

A recess of 10 minutes was then taken in hopes the councilmen would be ready to submit for concurrence, the schedule of the annual appropriation, but the limit of the recess having arrived and nothing having been submitted by the lower branch, it was voted to adjourn for two weeks, subject, however, to the call of mayor for a special meeting to act upon the annual appropriation bill.

Adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL CHAMBER.

The common council met according to adjournment, President Page in the chair. Absent, Councilman Lindley, Sullivan, J. H. Grover, Ryan, Harraden, Mahoney and Pinder.

The record of last meeting read and approved.

The report of the committee appointed to confer with the aldermanic committee on the annual appropriation bill was read and accepted.

The Board of Mayor and Aldermen was notified to meet the common council in convention for the purpose of electing a weigher, measurer of lumber, and fish and game warden.

In convention President Page was authorized to cast one vote for Daniel C. Church for weigher, and having attended to that duty Daniel C. Church was declared elected.

Alderman Littlefield was authorized to cast one vote for Abram S. Waldron for weigher, and having attended to that duty, Abram S. Waldron was declared elected.

A. H. Seely,	2
C. E. Grover,	3
True W. Priest,	7
A. B. Sherburne,	8

and there was no choice.

A. B. Sherburne,	2
C. E. Grover,	4
True W. Priest,	14

and True W. Priest was declared elected.

Voted that councilman Priest be empowered to cast one vote for C. E. Grover for fish and game warden, and having attended to that duty C. E. Grover was declared elected.

Voted that alderman Seymour be empowered to cast one vote for A. B. Sherburne for fish and game commissioner, and having attended to that duty A. B. Sherburne was declared elected.

The convention then arose.

COUNCIL RESUMED.

An ordinance making appropriations for the year 18 8:

Be it ordained by the city councils of the city of Portsmouth as follows:

There shall be raised and is hereby ordered to be raised on the polls and estates of the inhabitants of this city and non-residents to pay the current expenses of the city of Portsmouth for the year ending Dec. 31, 1888, and to pay such debts of the city as are required to be paid, the sum of $100,000 which, with the sum to be received from the railroad and saving bank taxes and other income of the city shall be appropriated as follows:

Dedicating Soldiers and Sailors Monument	2,500 00
Payment of temporary loan in accordance with chapter 44, compiled ordinances	1,000 00
Total	$128,204 86

Voted that the appropriation bill be referred to committee on bills on their second reading, and report at the next meeting.

Voted that the committee meet and be allowed to report to-night. A motion to adjourn was lost by a yea and nay vote 4 to 6.

An amendment to the appropriation bill was made as follows:

That the sum of $300.00 be added for repairs on burying grounds. Voted the amendment be passed. Voted to allow committee on bills on their second reading five minutes to report on the appropriation bill. Voted to take a recess of five minutes. Convened.

The committee offered the following report:

The appropriation for schools, in their opinion, is not large enough, and they would recommend that the sum of $3000 be added to the item providing for the support of schools, and would also recommend the appropriation of $300 for the care and improvement of burying grounds. With these changes they would recommend the bill.

N. W. LEAR,
D. N. COX.

A yea and nay vote was called by those in favor of the item of $15,000 for the support of schols, which resulted in 6 yeas and 5 nays, and with the amount of $300 for the care of burying grounds, was passed and sent up the aldermen for concurrence.

Voted to adjourn for two weeks.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Slightly warmer, fair weather, northwesterly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 30 degrees above zero.

Clear

"The Black Hawks."

This evening, in Music hall, Arizona Joe and his rifle, his trained dogs and his followers will circumvent the objectionable "Black Hawks" in the most effective and sensational manner. The interest of the piece commences with the start, and increases all the way through. The press notices say there is a very wide and entertaining streak of humor running all through it, too. Tickets at Goodrich's, and at the door.

A New Directory.

Mr. W. F. Davis, representing W. A. Greenough & Co. of Boston, compilers and publishers of directories, arrived in this city on Friday, and is domiciled at the popular State street club house of Mr. Charles P. Garvin. The work of making corrections in the Portsmouth Directory, as published by Greenough & Co. in 1886, will be prosecuted with energy and care, and it is hoped the additions and emendations can be completed in five or six weeks.

Fun Enough Next Week.

Three entertainments at Music hall next week, and each unsurpassed in its line, namely: Dockstader's minstrels, on Tuesday evening; the "Two Old Cronies," a delightful musical extravaganza—the best thing of the kind ever seen here—on Wednesday evening; and "The Little Tycoon" comic opera, on Saturday evening.

A Friend's Tribute.

EVANSVILLE, IND., March 6th.

The unexpected decease of Col. J. Horace Kent will carry sadness to the hearts of many friends beyond the limits of his native state. His kindness of heart and faithfulness in the discharge of the duties which devolved upon him in various official capacities, made him a companion worthy of the high esteem in which he was generally held. It is not every citizen who willingly aids his associates through the unselfish wish to do kindly acts. Col. Kent's life was crowded with just such performances, and his career in connection with the press furnished ample evidences of his heartiness, his overflowing good will and his rare generosity of soul. Acquaintances grew to be strong friends with him, and the passing years only riveted the chains of such friendship more strongly. His counsels in public affairs were always judicious, his methods frank and free from unscrupulousness. A natural leader among men, he wielded authority gently. The oft-repeated elections to positions which necessitated shrewdness, decision and integrity, gave proof of the confidence of his fellow men. He could be firm without severity, positive without rudeness—ruling without violence and with such gentleness that unfortunate violators of the law who fell to his care could claim him as their friend, and view him in the light of a friend more than willing to make their punishment lighter through kind actions. His friends were legion; his opponents were never enemies, for his kind disposition conquered them. And the regret will be general that in the prime of life his career of usefulness comes to an end all too soon. G. W. M.

Dockstader's Minstrels at Music hall next Tuesday evening—the leading company in modern, refined minstrelsy. Tickets can be secured at Goodrich's today.

Mr. John T. French on Friday afternoon received a telegram from New York announcing that his son, Dr. Willis W. French, was very low, and expected to survive but a short time. Mr. French left on the next train for New York, where his daughter, Miss Clara L. French, had been since the first of the week.

Mr. W. S. Reeves, business manager of Spenser's Little Tycoon Opera Co., was in this city on Saturday, arranging for the production of this popular American comic opera in Music hall on Saturday evening, March 17th.

Capt. Samuel Pray, late master of the barque Harvard, is to take command of the ship Gov. Goodwin on her next trip, Capt. Lester, who has commanded her on several recent voyages, remaining at home on account of his health. The ship is now in Philadelphia loading for a trip to the China seas.

Mr. Emil C. Pfeiffer has resigned the captaincy of the Harvard university boat crew, and E. C. Storrow has been appointed to the position.

The Little Tycoon Opera Co., which is to appear in Music hall next Saturday evening, is the largest opera company that ever exhibited in this city, including sixty people, of whom fourteen are in the orchestra.

Ten shipwrights employed in repairing the dry dock at the navy yard were discharged last Thursday evening.

William B. Merrill, editor and proprietor of the Exeter News-Letter, died suddenly on the night of the 8th inst., of heart disease, at the age of about sixty-eight years. He had at different times held many county and state offices, and served as member of the Exeter board of selectmen twenty years. He was collector of the port of Exeter for several years, up to the time the office was abolished as unnecessary.

Joseph S. Towne of Berwick, for breaking and entering a store in Dover and stealing therefrom, has been sentenced to four years in the New Hampshire state prison.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,600 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

The work of driving piles on the railroad side of the Dover point bridge was finished on Wednesday evening, the 7th inst., and the work of laying the stringers was begun; it was then thought the running of trains over the bridge would be commenced Monday, the 12th, although the bridge would not be open for team travel until some days later.

Much anxiety is felt in Saco concerning the safety of the schooner Delhi, of which Charles F. Green of Saco is master. She sailed from the West Indies for Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 1st, and has not since been reported.

Rev. Francis Tiffany will preach in the Unitarian church on Sunday, morning and evening. The third lecture in Rev. Mr. Gooding's series on "The Rhineland" will be given Sunday evening, March 18th.

Spiritualist meetings in Rechabite hall, Market street, at 2:30 and 7:30 P. M. on Sunday. Mrs. Ida P. A. Whitlock of Boston will lecture and give psychometric tests. All are invited; admission ten cents.

Powers, a Halifax detective, has been in Saco to demand the reward of $7500 offered by the Saco & Biddeford Savings Institution for the arrest of Frank C. McNeally and the recovery of the securities stolen by him. The bank will not pay Powers a cent unless compelled to by the courts; and as the arrest by Powers was illegal, and therefore no arrest at all under the law, and he did not recover the securities, it is not easy to see just where his claim is grounded.

ADVANTAGES

— OF —

BREAD PREPARATION

OVER THE USE OF YEAST.

Yeast raises the Flour by fermentation, whereby the nutritious elements of the flour are, in part, or wholly lost, and the product is a fruitful source of dyspepsia, especially if eaten while fresh.

Among the advantages resulting from the use of Horsford's Bread Preparation are the following:

The saving of time; the phosphatic bread bein prepared in a few minutes, while ordinary fermented bread involves preparation over night.

The bread retains its moisture much longer than fermented bread.

The bread, biscuit, gems, etc., made from it may be eaten warm with impunity.

It requires little or no shortening.

The results are uniformly excellent.

Were all wise enough to heed this advice in season, a world-of suffering would be avoided. If you suffer from impure blood, scrofula, dyspepsia, biliousness, headache, take

March April May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier. At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

Ten Thousand Dollars Paid S. W. Graybill.

S. W. Graybill, wholesale cigar dealer of this city, at a late drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery, drew one tenth of the second capital prize of $100,000, amounting to $10,000. He received the money on Monday last through the First National Bank of Columbia. He has been a resident of this city for a few years only, and came here from Hanville.—Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer, Jan. 9th.

Three handed people are becoming quite numerous, they have a right hand, a left hand, and are always behind hand in taking Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup when they catch a cold.

The Knights of Labor have ordered a strike at the shoe factory of George H. Burt & Co., of Randolph, Mass., and work has practically ceased.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulpner Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

A girl named Annie Willis was recently found dying in a hovel in Amesbury, Mass., with a dead infant by her side. Hunger and cold did the work.

A son of Dr. Edward Malone has been expelled from the New York city Catholic club, for standing by Rev. Dr. McGlynn.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

The Chicago Times has come down to three cents a copy.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

The Indiana Union Labor party have rejected the George land-tax principles.

Everything which belongs to pure, healthy blood is improved by Hood's Sarsaparilla. A trial will convice you of its merit.

A San Francisean was fined in Chicago for throwing a Chinaman out of a street car because he did not give up his seat to a lady.

Weary washerwomen have been made glad by the introduction of James Pyle's Pearline, a peerless compound for the laundry. It cleanses the most delicate fabric without injury. Sold by grocers.

Washington ladies have determined to put through the proposition to present a statue of Washington to the city of Paris.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

There was a panic in the New York coffee market on the 8th inst.

Saturday, April 28th, has been designated as Arbor day by the governor and council.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,fri,qijall

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester N. Y. eowjan29

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists. mc29

An Unsatisfactory Prize Fight.

John L. Sullivan and Charles Mitchell met in the prize ring at Apremont, near Chantilly, France, shortly before one o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mitchell was knocked down repeatedly by Sullivan, but most of the fighting consisted in Mitchell's skillful dodging of the Boston slugger's blows. Thirty-nine rounds were fought, lasting three hours and eleven minutes, and the referee then pronounced the contest a draw, and Mitchell and Sullivan shook hands. Sullivan was unquestionably the superior in strength and aggressiveness all through, but Mitchell was the quicker in movement, and nearly won him out in racing around the ring and dodging his blows.

Prudence! Prudence!

In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thousands cast it to the winds. Every new nostrum finds its patrons, the medical empirics of every false school have their gulls. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, indorsed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an ascertained specific for and preventative of malarial diseases, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of rheumatism and neuralgia, is a peerless invigorant and useful diuretic. Nervous people benefit by it.

Philip A. Cottelle, aged forty-three years, a fish dealer of Dennisport, Mass., on the 8th inst. met Miss Minnie Chapman, aged fifteen, on her way to school, and fired at her with a revolver. She fled into a house, but he followed and fired at her again, inflicting a dangerous wound. He then walked out of the house, and fired twice at his own head, the second shot making a serious but not necessarily fatal wound. The act is said to have been due to Cottelle's infatuation with the girl, who rejected his addresses.

You need them for cold weather pains and soreness—Hop Plasters are successful every time.

Charles R. Corning of Concord and Hon. Henry H. Huse of Manchester, both lawyers, are candidates for the appointment of state insurance commissioner.

The fourth annual conference of the general secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Associations of New England will be held at Concord this week, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Capt. Charles F. Green of Saco, master of the schooner Delhi, reported missing, was accompanied by his wife on this voyage. The Delhi was built in Saco in 1872, and registered about 250 tons.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY.

A Prominent Physician Reveals Some New and Startling Secrets.

"Do you know," said Dr. Boditch, of Boston, at the club, one evening recently, "what the starting point of most physical troubles is?"

"No, indeed," replied a circle of anxious enquirers, as they crowded about the doctor.

"Tea and coffee," answered the eminent physician.

"Men, and women even more, drink tea and coffee constantly, and wonder why they feel dull and stupid, have headaches, a bad taste in the mouth, pains in the limbs and about the body and irregularity of the secretions. Nine cases out of ten these things are caused by too free a use of tea and coffee. These drinks clog the system, weaken the tissues and destroy the most important organs. Few men or women who indulge in tea and coffee regularly have clear urine, but on the contrary, sediment, scum and brick dust, all of which invariably mean coming disease or death."

"But what are we to do, Doctor? Shall we give up tea and coffee altogether?"

"No. I do not advise that, but regulate it. Keep the kidneys clear and active. There is nothing in the world so good for this as the well known and popular Hunt's Remedy. Any one who uses this medicine regularly can drink tea and coffee moderately without fear. The reason is that Hunt's Remedy flushes or washes out the kidneys, and keeps them free and healthy. Any number of prominent men and women can confirm what I say, among the number scores of doctors and ministers, Gen. Butler, Gen. Monroe and Miss Alcot."

It was plain that the warning and advice of the doctor had made a deep impression on his listeners, as it also should upon the millions of men and women who are shortening their lives by the use of these drinks.

TWO.

I.

Silently, swiftly, riding with me,
Stirrup to stirrup, and stride for stride,
If I stretch out my hand in the night, by my side,
I touch him, steadily, sullenly,
With his withered face and his misery,
By the firmest and bitterest bond allied,
That never a love nor a hate can divide,
Riding with me.

Across the land, and from sea to sea,
Plashing and plunging through many rivers,
Recklessly, wearily, desperately,
Ban nor blessing, nor thing that severs,
Can sever the tie 'twixt him and me.
Out of the night and into the day,
From season to season, from year to year,
What does it matter where leads the way?
There is nothing further to heed nor fear;
There is nothing to hope in the time to be;
As I gallop in silence to-night, by my side,
Stirrup to stirrup, and stride for stride,
He rides with me.

II.

As I ride with thee, shall I ride with thee,
With my withered face, and my misery,
Stirrup to stirrup, and stride for stride,
The cross, and the book and the priest defied.
Through time, and death, and eternity,
No days that breed, nor years that kill;
Nor prayer, nor tear of souls that be
Past the swift river of good or ill,
Shall sever the bonds that hold me, tied
By deed and by will of thy own to thy side,
Stirrup to stirrup, and stride for stride,
Steadily, sternly, silently,
I shall ride with thee.

Good Horses in Bad Hands.

A Boston writer tells a nice story about how he found among the wretched, bedraggled horses of the fish peddlers a faultless saddle mare. It is possible for the most excellent and most lovable animals to fall into the hands of brutal masters, and die "unhonored and unsung." But good care and skillful handling would restore many such. If the story puts hundreds of kindly people on the watch to rescue possible pets from the crowds of animals that drudge about our city streets, with all the spirit of a noble horse beaten out by beetle headed owners, it will fulfill the evident object of the writer.—Globe-Democrat.

Railway Station in Russia.

The tracks of all the roads leading from the country palaces to the capital, over which the czar may travel, are patroled by soldiers, and one can see tents all along the line at intervals of a few hundred yards. This precaution is made necessary by the many attempts that have been made to wreck trains on which members of the imperial family have been or have been supposed to be passengers. There was one terrible danger from this source which will never be forgotten, as well as several escapes from lesser peril.—William Eleroy Curtis in Chicago News.

The Strength of Wood.

In a paper on the strength of different kinds of wood for building purposes, Professor Johnson calls attention to the fact, as now demonstrated, that many cheaper kinds of timber may prove more valuable for structures than more expensive varieties, which have been supposed to be stronger, and, therefore, more desirable. Thus, pine supports or pillars have been found stronger than oak ones, when tested in large samples. —New York Sun.

Hint to Contributors.

The Century is very nice in its methods with its contributors, both active and would be. It notifies them immediately of the receipt of their manuscript, giving it a number to be used in future communications pertaining thereto. This is done nowhere else in this country. Then, in about six weeks a decision is reached, and if accepted the article is paid for. All the monthlies and weeklies of standing pay for their matter on acceptance. New York Graphic.

A Bad Dream.

"What can be more depressing than a terrible dream?"

"I will tell you what is more depressing; it is to have a pleasant, delightful dream and wake up to find that it is nothing but a dream."

"Have you ever been there?"

"Just the other night. I'll never forget the anguish I felt when I woke."

"What did you dream?"

"That my room rent was paid a month in advance.—Nebraska State Journal.

Cleared Money on It.

A Missouri farmer recently learned that the grand jury was about to indict him for working on Sunday. He didn't try to evade the charge, but, on the contrary, had his four sons summoned as witnesses against him. He was fined $1 and costs, a total of $5. But as the mileage and witness fees of his sons amounted to $10.40, the family cleared $5.40 on the transaction.—New York Tribune.

Scorpions as Food.

An English traveler told a Balize (Honduras) newspaper man that he had eaten a "scorpion pie" while in Mexico, and that he liked it. The natives told him that young scorpions were frequently utilized for food for the lower classes, who dig them from their nests in hundreds, remove the sting and make omelets of them.—New York Evening World.

An Able Pulpit Effort.

Country Minister (to deacon)—So you think, Brother Jones, that my sermon this morning was an abler effort than that of last Sabbath?

Deacon—Yes, I do, dominie. Ye see, I timed 'em both, an' today's was nigh on to fifteen minutes shorter.—Philip H. Welch in The Epoch.

Magnifying Glasses.

Magnifying glasses seem to have been known in the time of Confucius, the great Chinese philosopher, who died 478 B. C., for he wrote: "As we use a glass to examine the forms of things, so must we study antiquity to understand the present."—Arkansaw Traveler.

She Tried and Knows.

A leading chemist of New York says: "No plasters of such merit as the Ath-lo-pho-ros Plasters have ever before been produced." They are a novelty because they are not made simply to sell cheap, they are the best that science, skill and money can produce, and will do what is claimed for them. For sprains, aches, weakness, lameness, etc., they are unequaled.

404 Fulton St., Sandusky, O., Nov. 21, '87. The Athlophoros Plaster acted like magic. It is the best I ever tried and I have used many kinds. Our druggist said "plasters are all about the same" but I don't think so now. I sprained my arm and shoulder in July, and it has been painful since, but it does not pain me at all now. MRS. WILLIS MACNZ.

Cured her Cough.

MRS. JEREMIAH CLARK, Lowell, Mass., says: "Twelve years ago I first took a bottle of your Throat and Lung Specific. I had been troubled with a very bad Cough for months. A 50-cent bottle cured my Cough. Since then I have not been without it. I can heartily recommend it to any one who has a bad cough."

Saved his Life.

CHAS. A. WAITT, says: "No language can express the value I attach to your Specific. I believe it saved my life."

An Imperative Necessity.

What pure air is to an unhealthy locality, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla to everybody, at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed. Scrofula, salt rheum, and all other blood disorders are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

Dockstader's Minstrels.

To-morrow evening, in Music hall, Dockstader's Minstrels will give one of the entertainments which have so delighted large audiences everywhere they have appeared. The large orchestra is under the leadership of Mr. Mullaly, which is a positive guarantee of its excellence. The New York Sun says that "In the first part singing the Dockstader troupe are yet unapproachable. Jose's alto, Rieger's tenor and D'Alton's bariton, and Fillman's bass contribute to a skillfully-arranged bout of excellent vocalism, and Carl Rankin's witty work on the end gives this portion of the entertainment positive hilarity." Another New York paper says "Nothing but words of praise can be said for the vocal part of the performance," and that the specialties are first-class and the fun great. Tickets at Goodrich's; now on sale.

"Two Old Cronies."

This "laughable operatic extravaganza," as it is truthfully but modestly styled in the advertisement, will be repeated at Music hall on Wednesday evening, with several new features, added since the company played here before. The comedians, Wills, Henshaw and Ten Broeck, are real comedians, and provoke a continual storm of mirth; the costumes are very handsome, the singing excellent all the way through, and the entertainment as a whole one of the most amusing and enjoyable ever given here, and without coarseness or indelicacy from first to last. Tickets at Goodrich's.

A despatch of March 9th from Minneapolis, Minn., announced that on that day Dr Bradford Dearborn brought suit for divorce from his wife, Lizzie A. Dearborn, on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment, the wife bringing a cross-suit on the same grounds. Dr. Dearborn was formerly in successful practice in this city, and married the daughter of one of our respected citizens. Some time in 1880 or '81 his name was coupled in a derogatory manner with that of Miss Lizzie A. Clark, better known among her friends as Miss Belle Clark, a young woman who had previously borne a good reputation, and within a short time they left the city. On 14th, 1885, Dr. Dearborn and Miss Clark were married in Minneapolis, Dr. Dearborn's first wife having been divorced from him in the meantime, and he, it is alleged, having secured some kind of a divorce from her in Dakota.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

The Sullivan-Mitchell Fight.

The brutal contest between two pugilists, Sullivan and Mitchell, seems to have been a fight with no other result than the punishment of the bruisers, the loss of time by the spectators, and a change of money among the men who had wagers upon the result. Whether the outcome was quietly arranged between the contestants, and the men who had made bets, whether these honorable men of the ring created a "fighting trust" and by a concerted movement caused the foreign lambs to be shorn of their golden fleece, the cable dispatches as yet do not inform us. The fact only remains patent, that in this enlightened age there can be found in Europe men enough who are interested in brutality of this kind to encourage by their presence and the stake of their money encounters of this revolting nature.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." L. BARRINGTON, 120 Bank Street, New York City.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." P. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
100 Doses One Dollar.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

The death record for the month is a remarkable one. Of the twenty-four decedents, but one was under twenty-one years of age; nine were over eighty years old, and two over ninety; and the average age was about sixty-five years.

'Bout Ship, Gentlemen.

The annual appropriation bill, as drawn up by a joint committee of the city councils, and introduced into and passed by the lower board last week, appropriates $15,000 (in addition to the literary fund) for the support of the public schools. This amount is many thousand dollars too small. The tax-payers are always willing to pay all reasonable bills; they demand that the police and fire department be kept up to a high state of efficiency, and bills for streets and roads, though they may be heavy, are paid willingly, provided the streets and roads are kept in good condition; but the one item in which the people will absolutely not allow of niggardliness, is the expenditure for schools. If there must be a sharp economizing, let it take any shape but this. There is nothing political involved in this question; but the city councils are just now unanimously democratic, and for any retrograde movement in the management of our schools, caused by insufficient appropriations, the democratic party will be and should be held responsible. Gentlemen of the board of aldermen, we advise you not to pass that bill without increasing the appropriation for schools to the proper figure.

Mr. Thomas Freeman was on Sunday reported to be improving in health, and in a fair way to recovery.

Death of Dr. French.

Willis Barnabee French, M. D., died in New York city at about half-past three o'clock Sunday afternoon, March 11th.

Dr. French was a native of this city, and son of Mr. John T. French. He was a graduate of the Portsmouth schools, of Bowdoin college, and of the College of Physicians and Surgeons and of Bellevue Hospital, New York city. After being graduated from Bowdoin he studied medicine in this city for two years with Dr. F. E. Potter, during which time he was also a teacher of mathematics in Smith's academy. On his graduation from the College of Physicians and Surgeons he stood first in the class of candidates who were examined for admission to Bellevue hospital. On leaving the hospital he went west for a time, then returning to New York, where at the time of his death he possessed a good and increasing practice, and had several students.

He was of irreproachable character, pleasant and kindly disposition, honorable in all his dealings, and made warm friends of those with whom he associated; and his decease must be a sad blow to his parents and sister, by whom he was deeply beloved and who were with him in his last hours. His age was about thirty years.

One Objects.

Mr. Editor: What is the meaning of the action of the city fathers, as reported in the account of the meeting of the city councils on the evening of March 8th? We read with astonishment that $15,000 was recommended for the support of schools. Now if this means anything, it is a step backward. No person at all familiar with the magnitude of the work of carrying on schools in a place the size of our city, could entertain for one moment such as absurd idea. To run the schools of Portsmouth for $15,000 a year, is to run them at about three-quarters the expense of other cities and towns with a population equal to ours. The salary list alone in Dover is over $18,000, and the number of pupils attending school in that city does not vary one hundred from the number in this city. The city of Nashua, with an attendance of 1460 pupils, about the same as in this city, spent $36,600 in 1886, which was an increase of $386 over the previous year, thus showing that they annually spend double the sum that our city fathers think is enough for our city! If we are to have schools to equal those in other cities, it will be necessary to spend at least $25,000 per annum. A sum less than this would be a detriment to the success in which we all should take an honest pride. If any paring is necessary, of which I have doubts, let it take place elsewhere.

The policy pursued by our city governments for the past few years has been of the most liberal kind. We have them to thank for improved roads in the surburban districts, electric lights, and the new sewer; and it is with astonishment that we look upon this step, which is likely to thoroughly demoralize our school system, which is being carried on so successfully under the guidance of a superintendent. It has always been a difficult matter to retain our best teachers on the meagre salaries paid by the city, and they have remained simply because this is their home. With a reduction of salaries, which must necessarily follow the passage of the item allowing $15,000 for support of the schools, we would certainly lose the services of tried and faithful servants. M*

Another One Objects---Decidedly Displeased.

Editor of the Chronicle: I read with some surprise—with a very great deal of surprise, in fact—last week, that the common council had passed the annual appropriation bill with an item appropriating $15,000 for the support of the schools of the city during the current year, a sum less by five or six thousand dollars than was asked for by the board of instruction. I looked to see a strong remonstrance against this in the press of the city, but the Chronicle and Times contented themselves with presenting the bare record of facts, while the Penny Post seemingly endorsed the cut down, in an editorial in which it said:

The appropriation for schools has been very materially decreased, owing, it is said, to the unsatisfactory management of the schools, and the apparent useless expenditure of a part of last year's appropriation. But more than all this, the present obnoxious rule of the board of instruction, by which the children of taxpayers have been forbidden admission to the public schools. Many of the aldermen have received grevious complaints from our citizens because their children have thus been refused. The matter has been up in the aldermanic board, and has been repeatedly brought to the attention of the school board, but although the aldermen have been unanimously opposed to the continuation of a rule that is causing much complaint and unrest among the citizens, still under existing law they have no power to debate it, except to cut the appropriations and thus call the attention of the whole people to the situation as they have been forced to leave it.

Mr. Editor, I am a father, and a taxpayer. I do not know just what "unsatisfactory management," "useless expenditures" and "the present obnoxious rule of the board of instruction," in the above extract, mean; but I consider the condition of our schools superior now to what it ever has been, my children have never been refused admission to them, and I know that the appropriation made for their support is not sufficient to keep them up to their present standard of excellence. If, as is asserted, the cutting down of the appropriation is due to the personal work of one member of the city government who "has aspirations," I would suggest to him that in no other way can he more surely make himself "a dead duck in the puddle" than by monkeying with school affairs for petty, personal reasons.

A DEMOCRATIC FATHER.

*The Times of Saturday evening contained, in "A Word to the Board of Aldermen," a temperately expressed but very plain intimation that the people of the city will not consent to the crippling of the schools through any motive of petty jealousy or personal ambition; the Chronicle's views can be found in another place in this paper.—Ed. Chronicle.

The grand officers of the New Hampshire Masonic Grand Lodge will visit St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 56, of this city, this evening.

Miss Ida C. Clothier, national lecturer and organizer of the Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will give a lecture this evening in the Baptist chapel on State street, and organize a branch of the union. All young women of the city are invited to be present.

Arizona Joe's play, "the Black Hawks," was attended by a very small audience at Music hall on Saturday evening. The performance was not of marked merit; but such an audience should consider themselves lucky to get off without being assaulted.

MUCH of the chafing of children under the joints where the skin lies in folds is due to the use of Soap containing too much alkali. In the IVORY SOAP there is no excess of alkali, so it can be used in the nursery with the most satisfactory results. When applying it, rub a wet cloth upon the Soap, then wash tenderly, but thoroughly, and rinse perfectly, especially the folds of flesh, with clear water, and dry with equal care. Prof. Leeds, of the Stevens' Institute of Technology, says: "The IVORY SOAP, while strongly cleansing, leaves the skin soft and pleasant to the touch."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

THIS PAPER may be found in Philadelphia at the Newspaper Advertising Agency of Messrs. N. W. AYER & SON, our authorized agents

The miners' strike in the Lehigh coal region has been officially declared "off" by the Knights of Labor.

Two Italians who were playing draw poker in New York on Sunday got mad on the appearance of seven queens at one show, and fatally stabbed each other with knives.

Sullivan and Mitchell, and the spectators of their alleged great fight, were arrested by the French police, but were shortly released and returned to London.

The emperor of Germany arrived in Berlin from San Remo on Monday, and took the oath of fidelity to the constitution.

Which Was It? Bacon or Shakespeare.

The authorship of the dramatic productions attributed to the last of the above named is agitating literary circles to the very centre, but affects the practical masses far less than the momentous question, how to regain or preserve health, that essential of bodily and mental activity, business success and the "pursuit of happiness." We can throw far more light on this latter subject than the profound Shakespearian can on the question first propounded. If the system is depleted, the nerves shaky; if indigestion or constipation bothers one at times, or constantly; if the skin is yellow and and congestion ensues in billiousness; if there are phenomenon twinges of oncoming rheumatism or neuralgia; if the kidneys are inactive—use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The finest recuperant of an age prolific in beneficial and successful remedies. Remember, if malaria threatens or afflicts, that it neutralizes the poison and fortifies the system.

It appears that the bold builder of the big raft which is now floating about in the shape of detached logs all over the briny deep, does not give up his enterprise. He is building in the same yard at Joggins, Nova Scotia, a timber ship a hundred feet longer than his raft, or 650 feet, which is to have six masts, and is to be made of the biggest timber ever cut in the province. A large crew are driving the work on, and it is said to be nearly half done, the launching to take place about July.

You need them for cold weather pains and soreness—Hop Plasters are successful every time.

Excitement is caused at Ottawa over the proposition to admit Newfoundland into the Dominion confederation.

The reported differences among the republicans in Congress on the tariff question, are said to be unfounded.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Waterbury, Conn., wants a new post-office building.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

A New York street railroad has ordered ten electric cars.

Dropping out of the hair, with itching of the scalp, prevented, and the scalp made cool and healthy by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

Two British tramp steamers, the Guy Mannering, 2842 tons, from China and Japan for New York with tea, and the Japanese, 1838 tons, from Palermo for New York with fruits, are nearly two weeks overdue; they are iron vessels, and neither carried any passengers.

And how to deal with them, and other valuable medical information, will be found in Dr. Kaufman's great Medical Work; elegant colored plates. Send three two-cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

THE INCURABLE CURED!

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Feb. 24, 1887.

Gentlemen—Seven years ago a sore developed on my nose from a filbert nut scratch. I tried a few simple remedies, but the sore would not yield. I grew worse every year for seven years. Many thought I had a cancer. Over a year ago I commenced taking S. S. S., and two dozen bottles entirely cured me. When I began with Swift's Specific I was in very poor health, and could hardly drag about. After I had finished the course of S. S. S. I was strong and hearty, and had a good appetite. I record it as a most valuable medicine for ladies in weak, delicate health. It is a household medicine with me. Yours respectfully,

MRS. R. W. WILSON.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 2, 1887.

Gentlemen—For twenty years I have had a sore on my left cheek. It had gradually been growing worse. The many physicians whom I had consulted were unable to do me any good. Last fall a year ago I began using S. S. S. At first it inflamed the sore, and it became more virulent than ever; so much so, indeed, that my family insisted that I should leave off the medicine. I persisted in using the S. S. S. At the end of two months the sore was entirely healed. Thinking that the trouble was in my constitution, I left off the medicine; but in November, too soon, after a very slight breaking out appeared, I at once began again on S. S. S., and now that is also disappearing. I have every faith in S. S. S. It has done me more good than all the doctors and other medicines I ever took. Yours truly,

A. R. SHADDS.

WINSTON, N. C., April 12, 1887.

Gentlemen—Three or four years ago a cancer came on my face. It soon grew to be quite large. It were on the mend my general health was very poor. Last September I began a course of S. S. S., which I have continued to the present time with the happiest result. The cancer has entirely disappeared, there being no evidence of any symptom of a cancerous character left. My general health is good now, and my appetite better than it has been in years. I am 52 years old, and to-day I am working in the field, planting corn. Yours truly, JOSIAS LINDSAY.

Gentlemen—I had a sore on my upper lip for eight years. Seven different doctors attempted in vain to heal it. One gave me a small vial for five dollars, which was "certain cure." It is needless to say that it did not do good. About two years ago I became quite uneasy, as people thought I had a cancer, and I took a course of eighteen bottles of S. S. S. The result has been a complete cure. The ulcer or cancer healed beautifully, leaving scarcely a perceptible scar. From that day I have been in excellent health, the Special having purified my blood thoroughly, increased my appetite and perfected my digestion. In a word, I feel like a new woman, and head of all, the first year alone is gone entirely. Yours sincerely,

MRS. W. P. CANNON.

ENTRE-ACTE REVERIES.

I.

Between the acts, while the orchestra played
That sweet old waltz with the lilting measure,
I drifted away to a dear dead day,
When the dance for me was the sum of all pleasure.
When my veins were rife with the fever of life,
When hope ran high as an unswept ocean,
And my heart's great gladness was almost madness,
As I floated off to the music's motion.

II.

How little I cared for the world outside,
How little I cared for the dull day after.
The thought of trouble went up like a bubble,
And burst in a sparkle of mirthful laughter.
Oh! and the beat of it, oh, and the sweet of it,
Melody, motion and young blood melted.
The dancers swayed, the players played,
The air song deluged and music pelted.

III.

I knew no weariness, no, not I;
My step was as light as the waving grasses
That flutter with ease on the strong armed breeze
As it waltzes over the wild morasses.
Life was all sound and swing, youth was a perfect thing,
Night was the goddess of satisfaction.
Oh! how I tripped away, down to the edge of day!
Joy lay in motion and rest in action.

IV.

I dance no more on the music's wave,
I yield no more to its bewildering power.
That time has flown like a rose that is blown,
Yet life is a garden forever in flower.
Though storms of tears have watered the years
Between to-day and that day departed,
Though trials have met me and grief's waves wet me,
And I have been tired and trouble hearted.

V.

Though under the sod of a wee green grave
A great sweet hope in darkness perished,
Yet life, to my thinking, is a cup worth drinking,
A gift to be glad of, and loved and cherished.
There is deeper pleasure in the slower measure
That Time's grand orchestra now is giving.
Its mellowed minor is sadder but finer,

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Gods of the Esquimaux.

The Esquimaux pantheon is pretty well occupied, there being gods to preside over the different natural phenomena, such as the rain, snow, ice, tides and so forth, and others controlling human destiny in the chase, at home and elsewhere. Their explanation of the tides is very naive. The genius of the waters, it seems, wishing to cross the straits dryshod, caused the water that filled them to heap itself up at one side, and then, when he had passed over, to fall back into its place again, which it did with such momentum as to go on oscillating to and fro ever since. They have no lack of priests, and under their direction make various offerings to propitiate the deities, particularly when the season is bad, and seals are scarce.—J. Macdonald Oxley in American Magazine.

Chinese Shoes and Shoemaking.

Shoemaking, shoe mending and shoe selling are distinct branches of business in China. Chinese shoes exhibit great variety of shape. Except in the hob nailed shoe for wet weather, there is little leather used—the materials being principally calico, silk, satin, velvet and felt. Children's summer shoes are made of fine open rush work, with bright lining. Ladies' shoes are made and mended by their wearers. From childhood the girls of the upper classes have their feet tightly bound, and they are thus, at the cost of years of suffering, enabled to wear shoes about three inches long. The Chinese cobbler goes from house to house, and announces his presence with a peculiar rattle.—Philadelphia Times.

Something About "Zante Currants."

The word currant is said to be a corruption of Corinth, a city from which once came all the Greek currants. The currants, commonly called zante, are really raisins, produced from a grape that grows no larger than peas, like the American wild or fox grapes, and hangs in bunches only three inches long. These grapes are dried in the sun, and then stored in bulk, where the sugar that exudes from them makes them into masses so compact that they have to be dug apart by force when wanted. They are prepared for shipment by being put into casks and packed into a solid mass by being trodden by the feet of the natives.—New York Sun.

Duration of Infection Stages.

The duration of the infection stages of various diseases is thus given by Dr. T. F. Pearse, an English physician. Measles from the second day of the disease, for three weeks; smallpox from the first day, for four weeks; scarlet fever from the fourth day, for seven weeks; mumps from the second day, for three weeks; diphtheria from the first day, for three weeks. The incubation periods, or intervals occurring between exposure to infection and the first symptoms, are as follows: Whooping cough, fourteen days; mumps, eighteen days; measles, ten days; smallpox, twelve days; scarlet fever, three days; diphtheria, fourteen days.—Herald of Health.

Made Her Feel at Home.

A lady from Nebraska was the guest of a Pittsburg family. As the thermometer only touched zero once during the winter the fair stranger would have been homesick but for the thoughtfulness of her host. By an ingenious arrangement a powerful fan drove snow dust in her face every time she opened the front door. The snow was banked against the windows of her room and her meals let down the chimney with a string. Another device imitated the roar of a blizzard, and so soothed her to gentle slumber—wherein she dreamed of her native state. These little attentions deeply touched the fair guest.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

Florida's Opium Industry.

Florida promises to become a large producer of opium. The poppy grows there very readily, and larger than anywhere else in the United States. Sixteen plants will produce an ounce of opium, and an acre should give a profit of $1,000. As the plants will thrive among trees, the land on which are young and non-bearing orange orchards can be utilized while the trees are reaching maturity.

OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Ath-lo-pho-ros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 9, 1887.

Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and tried almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After taking one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure.

CHAUNCEY B. REDDICK.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec. 28, 1887.

I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its fangs fastened upon me for the past 20 years I know whereof I speak. MRS. JULIA CHILTON.

JOHN LAIGHTON,

NO. 1 MARKET SQUARE.

Oscar Wilde's new book, "Impressions of America," will be eagerly read by all who assisted to make the poet's trip so decidedly pleasant. His impression of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a matter of little consequence, as the public has already pronounced it the remedy for coughs and colds par excellence.

The friends and neighbors of Hiram Corson of Rollinsford, whose house was recently burned, raised $400 to help him rebuild, and hauled all his lumber from Rochester free.

Lost.—"I don't know where, I can't tell where, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

Found.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

William P. Endicott, father of the secretary of war, died at his home in Salem, Mass., March 11th, aged eighty-five years.

March! April! May!
In these months all humors slay.
Lest your blood become impure,
And diseases hard to cure
Your feeble system shall attack,
And pains severe your body rack.
You long, you sigh for rest and ease
These fearful sufferings to appease.
I'll tell you where it can be found,
In Ingalls' pure Mandrake Compound.

In General Debility, Emaciation, Consumption and wasting in children, Scott's Emulsion is a most valuable food and medicine. It creates an appetite, strengthens the nervous system and build up the body. "Have been highly pleased with it in consumption, scrofula and wasting diseases, bronchitis and throat troubles.—A. Civil Service Sham.

A Washington despatch to a mugwump paper says: "The forthcoming report of the civil service commission will show that a steady progress has been made in the direction of reform. The commission will recommend a very large extension of the classified service. The new rule will probably include all copyists and messengers who are now employed in clerical labor. These, at present, receive a compensation of $60 and $50 per month. By this extension of the civil service rules, at least 2000 places will be withdrawn from political manipulation in Washington. There will be left to the politicians, if this rule is adopted, nothing but charwomen and laborers. The field for the spoils hunter is getting very small."

What rot. In face of the fact that all over the country, competent and experienced clerks and officials are daily being removed to give place to men whose only qualification is that their democratic influence may aid Mr. Cleveland's renomination, or at least their being given a place may induce them to keep quiet instead of continually criticising the administration, this seems the acme of cold lying.

The civil service commission complains that it is hampered by the small appropriation for its maintenance. Perhaps when the utility of its aid as a sop to the mugwumps is explained to the democratic leaders in the house of representatives, there may be a more liberal appropriation voted for its sustenance. The democrats at last have discovered that Mr. Cleveland has all along borrowed the livery of civil service in which to serve his own purposes, and there will hereafter be less fault found with their leader, by the spoilsmen, now that his true purposes are comprehended.

Randall's Tariff Bill.

Mr. Randall's tariff bill is completed. He proposes a reduction of $95,000,000, of which $70,000,000 would come from internal revenue. He would abolish the taxes on tobacco, fruit brandies, and alcohol used in manufactures and arts, reduce the tax on distilled spirits to fifty cents a gallon from ninety, and abolish the special tax on liquor and tobacco dealers. The remainder of the reduction he would get by placing on the free light a large number of articles now paying duty, and revising the duty on other articles.

An Excellent Investment.

The majority of men in middle life remember when Illinois or Wisconsin lands were thought dear at $2.50 per acre. Present value, $25.00 to $50.00 per acre. Careful examination of the records has discovered a number of scattered pieces of the very choicest land in Minnesota included in original land grants lying near railroads recently built, and adjacent to market. These will be sold cheap, and in five or ten years will unquestionably be worth several times present price. A profitable investment. For further particulars, state quantity desired and address J. Bro kwalter, Land Comr. St. P., M. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

NEW YORK FASHION LETTER.

THE CHANGEABLE—SHADED EFFECTS—BORDERING AND BRAIDING—PLAIN GOODS AND VELVETS.

The female mind dotes without change on changeableness. Changeable goods reappear therefore, and the entire outfit, from loops of changeable ribbons on a particolored hat or bonnet to the lower edge of the skirt, may reflect lights and shadows of perpetual inconstancy. Not only so-called plain goods are thus robbed of plainness, but the whole family of figured materials are permeated with ever-recurring alternations of contrasting colors. In silks especially are such ideas conspicuous, and even moire, which with rippled surface, would seem sufficiently given to mutation, is rendered yet more so by antagonism of one hue against another. With opening spring, also, an additional element comes forward—that of ombre, or

SHADED EFFECTS.

Stripes are frequently without clear outline, and shade into each other; plaids and bars melt into indistinctness, and at times four stylish elements are combined — the shaded, changeable, moire and figured, by which last is meant stripes, plaids, checks, floral or spotted patterns,—and such is the pell-mell style in which some silks are now devised, that all these various peculiarities appear in combination, showing as many differences of color as of pattern. Bengalines, India and foulard silks are the especial exponents of conspicuous designs, some floral, and others queer Japanese or Chinese figures, while thin China silks stamped in large, peculiar flowers, contribute their quota to a summer's gayety. It will be a season moreover, of

BORDERING AND BRAIDING.

Lord & Taylor bring out cotton goods, wool, and even silks, with borders on the edges which will take the place of trimmings, and a great run may be expected on a border around the lower skirt with the same finish on draperies, corsage and sleeves. Braid serves the same purpose, and dress patterns of fine French serge in stylish colors are shown with a border of handsomely contrasting braid placed ready for making up after an approved model. Pretty evening dresses in this style are of fine white or pale colored serge, with gray contrasting border of braid work. Dress patterns of albatross cloth are cheaper, and come with braided border of less richness, while all styles are of course provided with braided pattern to match, for corsage and sleeves. The cloth composing jackets or wraps is often scarce visible beneath close tracceries of braid; a furor for braid has begun, and like all furors, will die out proportionately sooner.

WOOLS

With silken stripes and plain material for combination, are shown in great numbers, and rival plaids; while as a favorite idea may be noticed small bias plaids set in stripes, with plain goods to match the plain part of such fabric. Velvet will be in favor. It appears conspicuously in millinery, where it is the principal fabric used for lining; it is used in combination with thin summer goods, and at the watering places on cool days will, as formerly, compose entire costumes. An admirable substitute is also found in Velutina, which is so carefully manufactured as to be scarcely distinguishable from velvet, and furthermore, has the advantage of wearing better, as it will not crease, spot or mars, as silk velvet does with even a slight pressure. Plain cloth comes in acceptably as a change from fanciful materials, and pinking is a favorite finish on such goods.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time restablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go th ough the summer."

THE WEATHER.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 25 degrees above zero.

Snowing.

The Storm.

The heaviest storm for months set in on Monday, and by noon the wind was blowing a furious gale from the northeast, while the air was thick with snow; only those who were obliged to be out were to be seen on the streets in the afternoon, though the mild temperature prevented the storm from being so uncomfortable as some preceding ones this season. Most of the stores closed at dark, and the others might as well have done so.

All out of doors work on the navy yard ceased at noon, and the workmen were dismissed for the day.

The storm soon put a stop to all telegraph business, Manager Hatch of the Western Union office in this city reporting long before night that all the seventeen wires from here toward Boston were either down, or so crossed by other wires as to be useless. The telephone wires in some instances were still in working order in some directions, and the reports from all quarters reached, announced the storm as a howler.

Railroad travel was but little delayed during the day, trains from the east and west, and from the interior of the state, arriving very nearly on time up to seven o'clock at night. The first fall of snow was too moist to drift badly, and though that which fell along in the afternoon was more "mealy," the trains found little difficulty in getting along. But the night trains were late; the Flying Yankee, due in this city from the eastward at 7:30 o'clock, arrived about nine; and the east bound Pullman from Boston, due here at nine o'clock, and the last train from Dover, due at 6:45, had not arrived at midnight.

Some of the electric street lights did good work throughout the time they were required to show, but from the post-office to Mason's hill, and along Middle street and to the southward, they were all out.

Westward of Boston the storm was even more severe than in this section. In New York the worst storm in twenty years set in shortly after midnight Sunday night, with the wind from the north; all traffic by horse cars and elevated railroads ceased before eleven o'clock Monday forenoon, and many teams were abandoned on the streets; all telegraph lines to the west and south were down soon after the storm commenced, and no trains arrived from those quarters after the morning. The last wire between New York and Boston gave out about one o'clock in the afternoon.

Along the Hudson river districts of New York state, and in Vermont and Connecticut wherever heard from, the storm was terrible, and railroad travel was wholly stopped west of Springfield, Mass.

Dockstader's Minstrels.

The School Appropriation.

Mr. Editor: It pleased me to read in Monday's Chronicle the communications in regard to our schools. It shows that the public are getting aroused in regard to the niggardly course of the committee on appropriations in reducing the school fund some $6000. It has been intimated that this action was taken to satisfy the personal ends of one of the committee, but I cannot believe that any man would let our public schools suffer to satisfy his own grievance. Be that as it may, I hope the board of aldermen will sit down on this scheme, and thereby help to maintain the high standard which our schools have reached. By the way, Mr. Editor, I would like to ask how the common council voted on this subject?

SOUTH ENDER.

*In the common council, on the motion to increase the school appropriation from $15,000 to $18,000, there was a tie, without the vote of the president; and the president, Mr. Walter H. Page, voted in the negative. There were several absentees on the evening the vote was taken.—Editor.

Kittery Public Library.

The treasurer's report showed that the income for the year 1887 was.....$2,224.61
Expenditures.....578.63

Net income.....$1,645.96

Present fund, including cost of lot, $43,750.38.

The officers of last year were re-elected, namely: Moses A. Safford, president; Ephraim C. Spinney, treasurer; and William H. Hackett, secretary.

Four hundred and forty-nine persons visited the library room for the purpose of reference in 1887, and 2496 visited the reading room.

Mrs. L. W. Titcomb has given the library full numbers of "All the Year Round" for fifteen years.

"Two Old Cronies."

To-morrow evening, in Music hall, the repetition of "Two Old Cronies," the musical extravaganza which so charmed and amused an audience in the same hall a couple of weeks ago. Best thing of the kind ever presented here. Excellent singing, irresistibly entertaining absurdities. Tickets at Goodrich's.

Personal.

Mr. Henri L. Bates and wife started Monday on a trip to New York.

Mr. A. L. Parsons of Philadelphia started for home Monday forenoon, after a short visit to friends in this city.

F. B. Jenness, leader of the Music hall orchestra, who has been very ill, is reported to be making gratifying improvement at his home in Rye.

Capt. Herman A. Tarlton, bookkeeper for the Portsmouth Brewing Co., will start on a trip to New York and Baltimore the latter part of this week, to be absent several weeks. Mr. Henry H. Ham, Jr., will take his place in the brewing company's office until he returns.

George H. Randall, proprietor of the Grafton mica mine, was on Friday last found guilty by the police judge at Lebanon, of using at the mine oxen that were sick, underfed, overworked and abused. He appealed, and gave bonds in $200 to appear before the supreme court at Haverhill. Col. T. E. O. Marvin, assisted by J. L. Spring, Esq., of Lebanon, prosecuted the case on behalf of the N. H. S. P. C. A., and G. W. Murray and Frank D. Currier of Canaan were counsel for Randall. The hearing lasted three days.

How Baking Powders are Made.

"While rival companies are disputing as to what ingredients are to be found in the "best baking powder," the public will be interested in the following definition of these now indispensable articles as given by Appleton's Cyclopedia, the acknowledged American authority:

"The best baking powders are composed of bitartrate of potash (cream of tartar,) tartaric acid, carbonate of ammonia, and soda bi-carbonate, bound together by a little starch."

The tides were very high on Monday.

The no-school signal was sonded on the fire alarm at half-past one o'clock Monday afternoon, on account of the heavy north-east snow storm prevailing.

Elder Mark Stevens, of Ossipee, will conduct revival meetings at the Advent church in this city every evening this week, services commencing at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited.

We are willing to accept the storm of Monday as the "line gale." Old Probs need not trouble himself to try again, so far as we are concerned.

An oil painting of Hampton Court, England, painted by Mr. Washington Stott, has attracted much attention in one of the show windows of Montgomery's music and art store.

The use of mileage books on the Boston & Maine railroad system has become so general that it is said not half the regular tickets which used to be sold are disposed of now.

The stockholders of the Biddeford & Saco horse railroad company organized last Saturday, and elected officers.

Dana Clark, the nine-years-old boy who shot himself while playing with a revolver at his home in South Berwick on the 9th inst., has died from the wound.

At the republican caucus holden in the town of York on Thursday evening of last week, the following named gentlemen were nominated as candidates for town officers for the ensuing year: For selectmen, assessors of taxes and overseers of the poor, George W. S. Putnam, Charles Junkins, C. B. Hildreth; for moderator, G. W. S. Putnam; clerk, Joseph Bragdon; treasurer, S. W. Junkins; agent, E. E. Marshall; collector of taxes, Rufus A. Moody; superintending school committee, Rev. William Creelman; auditor, George Currier.

The steamer Williamsport, from Philadelphia on the 9th inst. for this port with 1623 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker, arrived on the 12th.

The small schooner Ella Frances, wrecked at Rye harbor some time ago, and afterward floated off and towed into this port, is being repaired as she lies at the foot of Gardner street. Her rigging, which was sold at Rye to a Boston junk dealer, was bought back by Mr. Charles S. Drowne after he purchased the dismasted and stripped hulk, for which he paid $15.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,600 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

March, April, May,
Are the months in which to purify the blood, as the system is now most susceptible to benefit from medicine. Hence now is the time to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, a medicine peculiarly adapted for the purpose, possessing peculiar curative powers. It expels every impurity from the blood, and also gives it vitality and richness. It creates an appetite, tones the digestion, invigorates the liver, and gives new life and energy to every function of the body. The testimony of thousands, as to the great benefit derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, should convince everybody that it is peculiarly the best blood purifier and spring medicine.

The fishing schooner Brunhilde, at Gloucester from Grand banks, reports the loss of two men on the banks by the capsizing of their dory while they were tending trawls.

The schooner Lizzie J. Call, Call master, sailed from Wiscasset for Bridgeport, Conn., on the 9th inst.

Water Changed to Blood.

There is an animalcule, sometimes called the englena sanguinea, or the blood red englena, which multiplies so rapidly in some places that the surface of the pool soon resembles a great clot of blood, to the wonder of those who see it for the first time, and do not suspect the cause. The little creature seems to be abundant all over the known world, and Ehrenberg, a German naturalist, who discovered and named it, suggested that the first plague of Egypt, when the water was apparently changed into blood, as narrated in the Bible, may have been caused by a prodigious and miraculous increase of this little blood red infusorian.

Within very recent times an apparent change of water into blood has come to the writer's notice in the White mountains, in northern New York, and in several places in New Jersey. The phenomenon is not very rare. The creature that causes this change has itself a peculiar color habit according to its age. In early youth and middle life its color is a vivid green; in maturity and old age it assumes the crimson hue referred to, and often the same individual may be both green and red as either color reaches the surface during the body's movement, each coming and going in a wave that flows across the little creature, or a minute spot may be rosy red in the general green, or an emeral island may appear in this miniature sea of crimson.—Alfred C. Stokes, M. D., in Harper's Young People.

Cause of Decay in Steel.

It has recently been discovered by a board of naval experts at the United States navy yard, Mare's Island, Cal., that the cause of the sudden deterioration in the steel used in building the new cruisers for the government is not due to the ravages of a worm, as was supposed, but is caused by the fungus peronosporus infestans, so well known as the cause of potato rot.

With the delicate apparatus procured by the government for testing the qualities and detecting fraud in metals intended for government uses, it has been ascertained that the minute spore or suds, which float in the air, are introduced into the metallic body while in the molten state during the process of carbonization. They also find that this form of steel rot is alarmingly epidemic in much of the government material.

A large and profitable field is open to inventors and scientific men who will devise means to arrest the spores of this fungus as they are drawn into the carbonizing furnaces, or who can prevent their growth and spread either in the ingot or manufactured forms of steel.—Detroit Free Press.

M. Paul Leroy-Beaulieu gives figures showing the quantity of tobacco consumed in the different countries of Europe. The rate per 100 inhabitants is, according to him, as follows: Spain, 110 pounds; Italy, 128 pounds; Great Britain, 138 pounds; Russia, 182 pounds; Denmark, 224 pounds; Norway, 229 pounds; Austria, 273 pounds.—Chicago News.

The schooner King Philip, Coombs master, which sailed from Newport News, Va., for this port, on the 8th inst., went ashore on Willoughby spit the next morning, but got off late in the afternoon of the 9th without assistance, and proceeded.

A life of indolent ease and sensuality, the use of highly seasoned animal food, and alcoholic drinks are the predisposing causes of gout. When aware of its presence in the system lose no time in procuring Salvation Oil. It kills pain. Price twenty-five cents a bottle.

Daniel Golden of Andover, Mass., was killed by a horse car in Boston last week, while intoxicated.

A true balsam.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

A fashion item states that sealskin sacques are now made so that they cannot be distinguished from real plush.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

The entire mail from San Francisco on Feb. 21st for New York was destroyed by a railroad collision.

Everything which belongs to pure, healthy blood is improved by Hood's Sarsaparilla. A trial will convice you of its merit.

The Reading railroad strike is to be declared off. It has been dead from the start.

Levi Ross of Tamworth, aged seventy-five years, was instantly killed on the 5th inst. by his loaded team running over him.

THIS PAPER is on file in Philadelphia at the Newspaper Advertising Agency of Messrs. N. W. AYER & SON, our authorized agents.

Which Was It? Bacon or Shakespeare.

The authorship of the dramatic productions attributed to the last of the above named is agitating literary circles to the very centre, but affects the practical masses far less than the momentous question, how to regain or preserve health, that essential of bodily and mental activity, business success and the "pursuit of happiness." We can throw far more light on this latter subject than the most profound Shakespearian can on the question first propounded. If the system is depleted, the nerves shaky; if indigestion or constipation bothers one at times, or constantly; if the skin is yellow and and tongue furred as in billiousness; if there are premonitory twinges of oncoming rheumatism or neuralgia; if the kidneys are inactive—use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest recuperant of an age prolific in beneficial and successful remedies. Remember, if malaria threatens or afflicts, that it neutralizes the poisons and fortifies the system.

Lieut. J. M. Miller is ordered from the naval academy to the Omaha.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

Lieut. C. A. Foster is ordered from the Minnesota to the Omaha.

You need them for cold weather chapped hands and soreness—Hop Plasters are successful every time.

Carpenter J. G. Tilden is ordered from the Pensacola to the Omaha.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

Lieutenants J. B. Murdock, James M. Bowyer and Henry Minnett are ordered to the Wabash.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

Lieut. A. C. Baker is ordered from the Pensacola to the Omaha.

Dropping out of the hair, with itching of the scalp, prevented, and the scalp made cool and healthy by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

Surgeon George R. Brush is ordered to the Omaha.

The Mardi Gras Day Was Anticipated.

On February 7th, 1888, Tuesday (always Tuesday,) at noon, the 21 th Grand Monthly Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery took place at New Orleans. The event had been anticipated, as the 14th, the second Tuesday in February, was Mardi Gras day, a legal holiday, strictly observed. It was under the sole management of Gen'ls G. T. Beauregard, of La., and Jubal A. Early of Va. No. 71,575 drew the First Capital Prize of $150,000. It was sold in fractional tenths at $1 each, sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., held, one by Robt. Poutz, Frankfort, Mich., thro' First Nat'l Bank of Manistee, Mich.; one by Mrs. V. Gilly, No. 206 St. Philip St., New Orleans, La.; one by John C. Pohl, Michigan City, Ind., thro' First Nat'l Bank there; one by Geo. J. Johnson, Paraga, Mich., thro' Wm. Coach, of Baraga; three-tenths to correspondents in San Francisco, Cal., paid through Louisiana Nat'l Bank of New Orleans; one by the Anglo-Californian Bank, Limited, of San Francisco, Cal.; one by Matthew Steffens, Harrison St. Police Station, Chicago, Ill., etc., etc. Ticket No. 42,412 drew the Second Capital Prize of $50,000. Ticket No. 61,533 drew the Third Capital Prize of $20,000, also sold in tenths. One held by L. Carter, Santa Clara, Cal.; one by John E. Truitt, Winchester, Ill.; one by A. G. Drobish, Lincoln, Ill.; one by L. F. Cooper, Cleveland, O.; one by Joe Leclue, Bonne Terre, Mo.; one by C. H. Sandley, Abbeville, S. C.; one to the S.-W. Nat'l Bank of Phila., Pa.; the rest went elsewhere. Tickets Nos. 13,648 and 25,477 each drew one of the Fourth two prizes of $10,000, sold in fractions, also scattered everywhere. Any information may be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, about the 215th Grand Drawing on Tuesday, April 10th.

A SCIENTIST'S WARNING.

"We are startled constantly by the sudden death of some man who seemed the picture of health. He thought he was well. He had felt strange pains shooting through his body, but as they did not remain, he forgot them. His head pained him periodically, he was somewhat paler than common and unaccountably tired, but he felt comparatively well and vigorous. And yet, he suddenly died! It is a shame to our boasted civilization."

"Look at the list of women who die in childbirth, and why is it? Simply because their maternal organs have been so weakened by the most terrible of diseases that they cannot withstand the fearful, sudden strain that is brought to bear upon them. How many women escape monthly agonies? And yet nature never intended that pain or inconvenience should attend the operation of her natural laws. The solemn and terrible fact is, that men and women drag along, die, and are buried, and their friends and the doctors say heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, congestion, convulsions, when the cause lay far back of all these things. The truth is that weakened kidneys are the cause of most of our troubles. The great question, therefore, is: 'How shall I preserve my kidneys, or, if diseased, how can they be restored?' I have seen numbers of cases and learned from unquestionable sources of many others, where the preparation, Hunt's Remedy, has been almost remarkable in its results. Use it freely among my patients, and shall continue to do so. It is a wonderful and invaluable remedy."

The remarks of the learned doctor should be carefully considered, and acted upon by all who desire long life, and freedom from pain and the danger of sudden death.

Count D'Orsay and the Tailor.

It is recounted that one day, being caught in his private dressing room by a tailor who raged, and said he would not leave till he had been paid his bill, Count D'Orsay listened thoughtfully for a time, fixing his eyes upon a package that the irate tailor had deposited upon a chair. This package was enveloped in a coarse sort of canvas.

"Have you much of that stuff in your shop?" said Count D'Orsay.

"What kind—that ugly canvas? If I wanted it I could to-morrow have enough to wrap up all the merchandise in the London docks."

"London docks!" said the count; "don't talk nonsense. Come to me tomorrow at 4 o'clock and take my measure for a pair of trousers cut from this canvas."

In vain the tailor endeavored to dissuade the count, stating that the canvas was not suitable for a garment, and in a short time Count D'Orsay was supplied with the canvas trousers.

At 5 o'clock one afternoon he climbed the vast staircase of Crockford's, then one of the fashionable clubs of London, and the first person whom he met was Lord Chesterfield.

"Upon my word," said the noble lord, "you have a singular garment there—something rare, without doubt. Always the same original and charming D'Orsay!"

"It is perhaps not exactly elegant," he said, "but it is very handy and fresh, especially suited to riding on horseback."

In a few moments a group of dandies had surrounded the clever Frenchman, Lord Chesterfield in the main parlor was expatiating on the originality of D'Orsay's taste, and a few days afterward the tailor found himself overrun with orders for the canvas trousers. Lord Chesterfield himself ordered a dozen pairs. Count D'Orsay had accomplished his purpose, and the delighted tailor came no more with his troublesome bill. —Edward King in Cosmopolitan.

When Attacked by Pneumonia.

"What is the first symptom of pneumonia?" was asked a Brooklyn physician the other day.

"A severe chill," was the reply.

"What ought a man to do who is seized with such a chill?"

"He should get into a bath tub containing hot water—so hot that it would redden the skin—and stay there as long as he can."

"What is the philosophy of such treatment?"

"A severe chill, which always precedes pneumonia, indicates that the blood has gorged the lungs, liver or kidneys. Now, the first remedial step is to dissipate this blood. The hot bath does this. It draws the blood to the surface, and dissipates it over a greater area. After having lain in the bath until relief is experienced, the patient should step out of it and wrap himself in a woolen blanket. Don't stop to dry yourself with a towel, but wrap the warm wool around you and tumble into bed.

"The consensus of opinion among the leading physicians of the day is that pneumonia is an infectious disease. That is, the disease germ is in the air, and when the right physical condition is presented the disease takes root and fructifies. The popular idea that pneumonia is confined to cold weather is an erroneous one. There is no pneumonia in the Arctic regions. It is mainly due to the sudden changes in our temperature. By consulting the health reports of New York city it will be found that the highest death rate occurs in December and February, but that there are a good many cases in August.—New York Sun.

A Lost Opportunity.

In the memoirs of the Count de Falloux, now publishing in Le Correspondent, the following passage, referring to the coup d'etat of Napoleon III, occurs: "Among the prisoners detained at Mont Valerien Dec. 2, 1851, was one Anthony Chomet. He gave to a lady visitor a number of letters to take to Paris, and said: 'Tell my family I am in no danger, but that I feel inconsolable to have held the destiny of France in my hand and to have let it slip!' Nobody understood the phrase, but the fact was this: In the constituent assembly preceding the election of Louis Napoleon to the presidency, Chomet had introduced an amendment excluding the members of families that had reigned in France from the office of president. Louis Napoleon ascended the rostrum and spoke against the amendment so awkwardly, so incoherently, and with an accent so foreign and strange that he was all the time interrupted by the noisy laughter and raileries, and finally compelled to desist ignominiously. Then Chomet arose and said: 'After the assembly has heard that harangue, and all France will have read it to-morrow, there is no further need of my amendment. I withdraw it.'" He that makes himself ridiculous makes himself impossible, is the French saying, and Chomet was guided by it. But Louis Napoleon outlived the ridicule and became master of France, which would not have been possible if Chomet's amendment had become law.—Paris Letter.

Moles Removed by Electricity.

The fair sex owes still another debt to the scientist. A lady who had a mole on her shoulder and who, from this reason, was unable to display her otherwise fair and attractive corporal possessions, has had an electrical operation performed with perfect success. The mole was perforated with electric needles in every direction. After a week the mole, which had been burned to a black mass, fell off and left the skin in good condition. The new skin shows hardly a trace of discoloration, and she now wears the most fashionable ball dresses with impunity and success.—New York Mail and Express.

JOHN LAIGHTON,

NO. 1 MARKET SQUARE.

Oscar Wilde's new book, "Impressions of America," will be eagerly read by all who assisted to make the poet's trip so decidedly pleasant. His impression of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a matter of little consequence, as the public has already pronounced it the remedy for coughs and colds par excellence.

The Unitarian church at Dover had a new organ arrive last week.

Lost.—"I don't know where, I can't tell where, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

Found.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

—It is evidently a perpetual motion at last. It is stated that whiskey can be made of rags and it is certain whiskey furnishes an abundance of rags.

March! April! May!
In these months all humors stay,
Lest your blood be so impure,
And diseases hard to cure
Your feeble system shall attack,
And naught severe your body rack.
You long, you sigh for rest and ease
These fearful sufferings to appease.
I'll tell you where it can be found,
In Ingalls' pure Mandrake Compound.

—An Albany man fell dead while cleaning the snow off his sidewalk. It is supposed he suddenly discovered that he had got over the line, and removed the snow from nearly six inches of his neighbor's territory.

The Boodlers All Right.

President Cleveland, the friend of good order and reform, as will be remembered wrote a letter recommending Mr. Spoilsman Fellows to be voted for as a candidate for prosecuting attorney in New York, against another man of far greater ability, who was supported by those who knew the danger of choosing Fellows. The latter was elected, and at once put into office a set of incompetent assistants, at an increased amount of salary, far above what these men could by any possibility have derived from the practice of law. The first trial showed that the bribers and boodle men were solid with the Fellow's administration, and New York now has a chief prosecuting officer endorsed by the president and the boodlers, to each of whom his election was a gratifying result.

Cause of Decay in Steel.

It has recently been discovered by a board of naval experts at the United States navy yard, Mare's Island, Cal., that the cause of the sudden deterioration in the steel used in building the new cruisers for the government is not due to the ravages of a worm, as was supposed, but is caused by the fungus peronosporus infestans, so well known as the cause of potato rot.

With the delicate apparatus procured by the government for testing the qualities and detecting fraud in metals intended for government uses, it has been ascertained that the minute spons or suds, which float in the air, are introduced into the metallic body while in the molten state during the process of carbonization. They also find that this form of steel rot is alarmingly epidemic in much of the government material.

A large and profitable field is open to inventors and scientific men who will devise means to arrest the spores of this fungus as they are drawn into the carbonizing furnaces, or who can prevent their growth and spread either in the ingot or manufactured forms of steel.—Detroit Free Press.

It will be interesting to ascertain whether this fungus peronosporus infestans which causes a dry rot in the steel at the Mare island navy yard, is not a new element which has come in with this administration of naval affairs. It is stated that Secretary Whitney has been for a long time noted for his inertia in office, and it may be this is some difficulty under which he is "laboring."

A Row Brewing Among Brewers.

The New York Herald says: "Trouble is looming up between beer brewers and their employes. The contracts made between them will expire April 1st, and it is not likely that they will be renewed. The brewers claim that they cannot stand the tryanny of the union, and that while they are satisfied to pay the wages and grant the hours demanded, they must be allowed to conduct their business in their own way. The talk of the United Brewers making a general war on the Knights of Labor is nonsense, as there are but a few if any Knights of Labor employed in the beer breweries. The employes of ale and porter breweries are mostly knights, but there is no trouble in this branch of the business. The boss brewers of Milwaukee are in open war with the union, and their beer is being boycotted. The disposition of the eastern brewers is to help the Milwaukee firms, and to prevent the union having full sway. United action is talked of, and if the brewers decide to act together there will be a lively fight."

Hampton Jottings.

HAMPTON, March 12th.

As the time for town meeting approaches the weather grows more rough, and indicates a storm for Tuesday, as usual.

Rev. R. A. Tourjee has been quite ill from kidney trouble, and suffered intensely; yesterday he was more comfortable.

Many people from surrounding towns are visiting friends for the purpose of attending Rev. Sam Small's lecture this evening; over four hundred tickets were sold last week. Rev. J. B. Merrill drew a plan of the church, and the number of the pew and seat is on each ticket, and Saturday evening the tickets were all sold. Those not having an opportunity to go here, will hear him at Exeter.

Cheap help is being hired at the shoe factory; the Knights of Labor are leaving; some do not make wages sufficient to pay their board; the best jobs are given to favorites.

The lecture by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore was the best of the course; the subject, "A Dream of To-morrow." She held the audience for two hours. She is a rapid and distinct speaker, and everyone who can, should hear her on this subject; this lecture alone was well worth the price of the whole course. She predicted a brilliant future for women who work, and advanced ideas concerning the co-operative principle of living, and many other helps, which are yet only in their infancy. ——.

Dartmouth Notes.

HANOVER, March 12th.

The Glee Club met with excellent success at Franklin, Tuesday, Feb. 28th, and at Tilton, Wednesday, Feb. 29th. They have an engagement for Tuesday, March 13th, at St. Johnsbury, Vt., and intend to give an entertainment Tuesday, March 20th, in the College church. Judging from reports of those who have had the opportunity of listening to their entertainments, they deserve good patronage wherever they exhibit. Manager Kelley expects to make arrangements to have the club visit Portsmouth and Dover during the spring vacation.

The Dartmouth Telegraph Association has been reorganized, the members belonging mostly to the sophomore and freshman classes. There will be fifteen instruments in the circuit when completed, the contemplated route requiring about four thousand feet of wire.

A brass band has been organized among the students, and the aspirants for honors in the same have made themselves and their habitations known without calling in the aid of the Tel. Asso.

There has been considerable sickness here lately, but so far there have been no serious cases reported. Chicken pox and the German measles seem to be the two diseases most prevalent.

There have been several chest machines of improved pattern recently added to the gymnasium.

C. E Bolton will give a lecture this evening in the College church, it being one in the regular lecture course.

Although the calendar shows that spring is fast approaching, there are very few other signs of its close proximity. B.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

THE WEATHER.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 30 degrees above zero.

Snowing.

Notes of the Great Storm.

The no-school signal was struck on the fire alarm at eight and 11:30 o'clock A. M. on Tuesday, the condition of the travelling being such that the superintendent of schools very sensibly decided that it would be useless to attempt to hold session either forenoon or afternoon.

A thriving fir tree about thirty feet high, in the front yard of the Unitarian church, had about ten feet of its top broken squarely off on Monday night, by the great weight of moist snow which clung to the limbs.

A large gang of extra men were at work under the street commissioner's direction on Tuesday, on account of the snow blockade.

There was no removing of ashes and rubbish by the city teams on Tuesday, for two reasons, namely: First, the entire force of the street commissioner, teams and men, and extras, was engaged in an endeavor to make the streets passable for teams and pedestrians; second, everybody's back yard was full of snow, and nobody could get a barrel of ashes from the shed to the street.

The snow storm did not distribute its attentions with any sort of impartiality. On the easterly side of Market street, from Daniel street to Bow, the abutters had to shovel through drifts four or five feet deep to enable people to use the sidewalks; on the opposite side of the street there were no drifts at all, and hardly any shovelling to do.

The out-of-town milkmen had a tough job making their rounds Tuesday morning, getting into the city anywhere from eleven o'clock in the forenoon to three in the afternoon.

The Gravelly Ridge snow-plow was hauled into town on Tuesday by a string team of sixteen horses, a strong gang of shovel men also being in attendance. The small boys of the Ridge had a hilarious time that day—no school, and a ride on the snow plow.

The mail from Newcastle to this city was brought on a man's shoulders, Tuesday forenoon. The grocers of the city, during the first part of the day, also had to fill their orders by carrier, the use of terms being impracticable.

The Pullman train of Monday evening, from Boston, arrived in Portland at seven o'clock Tuesday morning, eight hours behind time. A freight train from Boston got off the track at Hayes' cut, near the Plains, early Tuesday morning, and was still there at last accounts, all traffic having to pass over the other track. A freight train left the track at Butler's crossing in Kittery about 10:30 o'clock Monday night; the wrecking train started from this city at two o'clock Tuesday morning, but got stuck itself at Kittery, and did not reach the derailed train until ten o'clock in the forenoon; and the track was not cleared until afternoon, three passenger trains from Boston, bound east, being detained here until that time. The reason the evening train from Dover on Monday did not get here was, that the last train from this city for Dover got stuck at Folsom's crossing, where it remained up to a late hour on Tuesday, blocking all passage. The train due here at 10:10 A. M. Tuesday over the C. & Portsmouth road did not arrive nearly noon, and was hauled by engines; the train which arrived here for Concord at 7:55 A. M. to the schedule, did not arrive noon.

The derangement of the mail service by the [illegible] very great—worse than for many years; and [illegible] received from points with which we are usually in close connection.

Work on the Boston & Maine railroad bridge at Newburyport was suspended early in the day on Monday, on account of the storm. During the afternoon a chimney twenty-five feet high and six feet square, at the bakery of John Pearson & Son, was blown down, making a hole ten feet by twelve through the roof, but injuring no person. The electric lights of Newburyport and Amesbury wholly refused to shine, Monday night. The Flying Yankee train, which left here for Boston about an hour and a half behind time, was an hour and three-quarters behind on its arrival at Newburyport.

Dangerous Sport.

Mr Editor: Permit me to ask if coasting is allowed in the city proper? To be specific, is it allowed on Tanner street, and crossing Hanover street?

On Saturday evening I was struck by a "double runner" at the place above named, thrown to the ground, and badly bruised. I consider it a piece of good luck that I did not have a leg or my neck broken.

While our city marshal is so anxiously watching certain sidewalks, would it not be well for him to turn his attention to nuisances which are being continually perpetrated in the thickly settled portion of the city, and in danger to life and limb?

A higher official conception of his duties, and less regard of the opportunity he has to satisfy personal animosity, will enable our marshal to hoe his row a little straighter and with more credit to himself as well as satisfaction to the citizens.

"Two Old Cronies."

This evening, in Music hall, the "Two Old Cronies" will repeat the delightful entertainment they gave there last week, with some new features added. Excellent singing and instrumental music, beautiful costumes, and clean, mirth-provoking humor combine to furnish such an evening's amusement as all can enjoy. Nothing better of the kind has ever been presented here. Tickets at Goodrich's.

Maritime Notes.

The ship South American, Capt. Geo. Wallace Tucker, arrived in New York on the 9th inst. from Hong Kong.

The schooner Uncle Sam arrived at Gloucester, Mass., on Monday, the 12th inst., from Pubnico, Nova Scotia, with about 100 men to join fishing schooners at Gloucester.

The Guy Mannering, one of the British tramp steamers reported missing on the trip to New York, has arrived at that port with a valuable cargo of tea from Japan and China.

The barque Antioch, Hemingway master, reported some two weeks ago as having been spoken about 200 miles east of Sanday Hook, on the passage from Singapore for Boston, arrived at Boston on the 10th inst. from Provincetown, in tow. The barque reports having sighted the South Shoal lightship on Feb. 27th, and expected to reach her destination next day, but since that time has experienced a succession of heavy gales and squalls; she sighted Nauset twice, but both times was blown back again to Georges, sustaining no damage, however. July 9th of last year, while on the passage from New York to Batavia, the carpenter, a Swede, jumped overboard while insane, and was drowned.

"The Little Tycoon."

"The Little Tycoon," the greatest of all comic opera successes, now in its 3d year of representation, will be produced in Music hall next Saturday evening under the personal supervision of the author, by his own company and with all the rich costumes and stage effects used in New York and Boston. It has had the largest continuous run of any comic opera ever put on the stage in America.

There was a large audience and an excellent entertainment at Music hall on Tuesday evening, when Dockstader's Minstrels were there.

Mr. Will Fernald of York village, late in the employment of W. M. Walker of that place, has entered the employ of the Globe Grocery Co. of Portsmouth.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,000 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

Elder Mark Stevens, of Ossipee, will conduct revival meetings at the Advent church in this city every evening this week, services commencing at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited.

We have received No. 3 of the "Seaside Methodist," a little sheet published monthly in this city at twenty-five cents a year, under the editorial management of Rev. O. S. Baketel, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. It is full of local and church matters of especial interest to members of that church and congregation.

The democratic caucus at Rye on Saturday evening nominated candidates as follows: David Jenness, moderator; Erven W. Marden, clerk; Charles D. Garland, treasurer; Emery Woodman, John O. Drake, J. Arthur Brown, selectmen; John E. Trefethen, Levi D. Locke, Moses Dalton, fish and game wardens; Oren S. Green, William F. Seavey, auditors. A democratic nomination in Rye is of course equivalent to an election. The town meeting was held on Tuesday.

People who think we have had a tough storm for March are reminded that last year on the second day of April we had a severe snow storm, with a northeast gale lasting from half-past eight in the morning to seven o'clock in the evening; about a foot of snow fell during the day.

Last fall Herbert Lord of Lebanon, Me., struck William Davis of the same town, a playmate, with an apple on the temple. Davis died twenty-four hours later, it is said as the result of this blow. After several months' inaction, Lord has been arrested and arraigned for homicide before a police justice, and held for his appearance before the grand jury at the next term of the supreme court for York county. Lord gave bonds.

Gen. David Hunter Strother died in Charlestown, W. Va., March 8th. He was a native of Martinsburg, W. Va., (then Virginia,) and in 1853 began contributing articles on the south to Harper's magazine over the signature of "Porte Crayon," illustrating them with sketches by himself. These papers were extremely interesting and amusing, and they, as well as the illustrations, exhibited much refined humor. On the breaking out of the civil war he was enlisted in the Third Virginia Cavalry, United States volunteer army, and rose to be brevet-brigadier general. In 1879 he was appointed consul-general to Mexico, and held that post six years. His age was seventy-two years.

You may have observed how in time the effectiveness of paintings seems to fade, and the colors lose their brilliancy and tone. It is mainly the gradual accumulation of dust, so it is a very simple matter to restore them, with IVORY SOAP, clear water, just as it runs from the faucet, and a soft brush; scrub carefully, rub off first with a wet flannel and then with a dry one, and the colors will show up in all their original beauty. Never experiment with ordinary soap on a painting of value; you may destroy it. IVORY SOAP may be used with safety, for, as Prof. Cornwall, of Princeton says, "The IVORY SOAP is very well made, no greasy fats being left in it, while the alkali is thoroughly combined, so that it will not injure the most delicate article."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory'!" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

The New York aqueduct board recently let a $1,300,000 contract to John O'Brien, the ex-chairman of the democratic state committee, although there was a bid nearly $100,000 lower. An injunction has been placed upon the board.

Which Was It? Bacon or Shakespeare.

The authorship of the dramatic productions attributed to the last of the above named is agitating literary circles to the very centre, but affects the practical masses far less than the momentous question, how to regain or preserve health, that essential of bodily and mental activity, business success and the "pursuit of happiness." We can throw far more light on this latter subject than the most profound Shakespearian can on the question first propounded. If the system is depleted, the nerves shaky; if indigestion or constipation bothers one at times, or constantly; if the skin is yellow and and tongue furred as in billiousness; if there are premonitory twinges of oncoming rheumatism or neuralgia; if the kidneys are inactive—use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest recuperant of an age prolific in beneficial and successful remedies. Remember, if malaria threatens or afflicts, that it neutralizes the poison and fortifies the system.

Mr. Chamberlain thinks the United States senate will postpone the Canadian treaty until after the presidential election.

Dropping out of the hair, with itching of the scalp, prevented, and the scalp made cool and healthy by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

Sir Charles Tupper is to retire from the finance ministry of Canada, to go to London as high commissioner.

Everything which belongs to pure, healthy blood is improved by Hood's Sarsaparilla. A trial will convice you of its merit.

Southern Vermont is troubled by an epidemic of measles, which in some places has caused the closing of schools.

Gen. Robert H. Chamberlain has been offered the position of master of the house of correction at Worcester, Mass., and it is understood that he will accept.

Weary washerwomen have been made glad by the introduction of James Pyle's Pearline, a peerless compound for the laundry. It cleanses the most delicate fabric without injury. Sold by grocers.

The strike is still on at the shoe factory of Geo. H. Burt & Co., at Randolph, Mass. Last week a number of new men were employed and all departments were running.

A life of indolent ease and sensuality, the use of highly seasoned animal food, and alcoholic drinks are the predisposing causes of gout. When aware of its presence in the system lose no time in procuring Salvation Oil. It kills pain. Price twenty-five cents a bottle.

It is queer how time and usage change the meaning of words. When the governor appoints a day for public "fasting, humiliation and prayer," the practical meaning nowadays is that the people are to prepare for an extra good dinner, and a day of rest and recreation.

A true balsam.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

W. F. Oatman went to Boston recently from Bangor, Me. When he stepped from the train, at the Boston & Maine depot, he looked around for a convenient saloon. Seeing one near by, he gave his overcoat containing $75 to a stranger to hold while he went into the saloon to get a drink. When he came out the stranger was gone, so was the coat, so was the $75. He is still looking for the stranger.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proved itself the very best specific for coughs, colds, and pulmonary complaints.

"A GREEN OLD AGE."

Few Men or Women Reach It, But Nearly All Might—The Remarkable Experience of an Octogenarian.

"There is only one thing I dread," said the late Charles Sumner, "and that is the coming on of old age."

Mr. Sumner was a brave man, and could face danger unflinchingly but to watch the hairs whiten, the lines of pain and care grow deep in the face, to feel the strength and activity going and death coming on, were more than he could bear. Alas! how many others feel the same today. Pains, loss of sleep, weakness, poor appetite, and feebleness, all break the spirit. Have you never heard of Mr. Nathan Chase, of New Bedford, Mass.? A man nearly four-score years old, and hale and hearty as in youth. And yet he was supposed to be dying of heart trouble less than two years ago. Here is what he says:

"A year ago or more I began to lose flesh and strength. I sent for my physician to know the cause. He examined me, and said it was my heart; that the old machinery was wearing out, and I must be careful. Still I grew worse. Finally I got so bad I could scarcely breathe; I could not lie in bed but had to sit up all night with possibly one hour's sleep out of twenty-four. And yet to-day, I am in fine condition; can go up three flights of stairs without inconvenience, and feel as well and about as young as ever in my life before. What accomplished this? Hunt's Remedy—nothing else. It has made a new man of me, and I bless God for it every day."

Such an experience should be a valuable lesson to all readers, both old and young. It shows that a long and happy life is possible. It shows that men or women need not despond. It shows that by care and the use of the right remedy health, happiness and long life may be secured by all.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK HEADACHE, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD ACHE Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

IMPRESSIONS OF NASSAU.

An Island of Unending Summer Not Far Away—The Lazy Inhabitants.

Nassau is one of the smallest of the Bahama islands, covering a length of twenty miles by an average of five miles in width. The city is built, facing the north, upon the slope of a ridge, running west to east, and nearly 100 feet at its highest. The soil is thin, the island consisting of an old coral reef, elevated gradually from the ocean, and during that period subjected to the action of the waves, leaving it honeycombed and pocketed. This rock is compact, of sand made from disintegrated corals, yellowish creamy in color and soft in texture, so that it is quarried by sawing and chiseling, becoming considerably harder by exposure. The surface of the rock is covered with loose pieces, exceedingly irregular in form. Over this is a very little soil.

The streets are graded through this natural rock, with natural gutters and walks. The streets at right angles to the water front cross the ridge generally through deep cuts in the natural rock in order to lessen the grade. The dwellings of the better sort are square or oblong square, seldom more than two stories high, with low ceilings and low pyramidical roofs. These houses are always surrounded on at least two sides with broad verandas, closed in with slats to keep out the light. For this reason the houses appear larger than they are. Dormer windows abound. The house colors are stone, light yellow, cream; the blinds are brown or green. High stone walls, with broken glass bottles cemented into the ridges, inclose the houses and gardens; ornamented openwork gateways afford a glimpse within.

The cocoanut, the royal the palmetto and the silver leaf palms abound. The giant Cuba, or silk cotton tree, oleanders of large size, enormous amaryllids, with the many species of the citrus family, hang up their yellow fruit against the sun. The russet japodilla just coming into fullness adds a special charm to its background of dark green waxy leaves. The vegetation seems rather sub-tropical than thoroughly tropical. This results not from want of heat, may be, but need of soil.

The city of Nassau is extremely picturesque with the quaint narrow streets, white, deep gutters cut from living rock, large dwellings, with the lower or street story, for warehouse or shop, the outside stairways and balconies? Every building has some special individuality about it which adds much to the sum total of the charm one finds in quietly roaming round the streets.

Here it is literally always afternoon. No one works. Ask a question and it will be answered the day after to-morrow. The few shops open about breakfast time, and are then shut up during that meal, and breakfast time is not early. I went into a wholesale store at noon time. The one clerk was fast asleep in his chair, and I left him undisturbed. The blacks, seemingly twenty to one of the whites, sit lounging, gabbling, chaffing, talking loud and laughing, but I have not seen one at work.

The English majesty of law is thoroughly respected here. The principal crimes—profanity, jawing and slander—are among the colored races, and they enjoy defending themselves at law. Shops close at 5 p. m. Saturday is a half holiday and Sunday a Puritanical one.

Back of Nassau proper, over the ridge and down on to lower levels swarm the colored people. Their small garden pieces are walled in with the loose pieces of coral rock. Their cabins are small, with one or may be two rooms, of rock or coral, palmetto thatched. The gardens are bare, honeycombed coral rock, where with a crowbar the banana, the cocoanut or maize is planted. They are unkempt, unthrifty, dirty; but everywhere kind mother nature covers the garden walls with lichens and the convolvulus, and the great lobed leaves of the bread fruit, the alumna and the palms give to the eye an ever varying, an ever entirely satisfying picture.

These cabins of the colored people (our inheritance from Spanish cruelty) literally swarm with children. The traditional stair of from five to twelve little pickaninnies is found in every cabin. "Massa, gib me copper for bread!" They are inveterate beggars. They say they can't get to work, or if they do get any but little is paid—twenty-five to fifty cents a day. The truth is, there is no desire, perhaps no incentive, to work, no ambition to satisfy. Hunger is easily satisfied by fruit, sweet potato, yams and fish. But little fruit is exported, and that from the outlying islands, not from here. Sponge fishing is the one industry which here is active.

For the climate, I would judge we had in the United States no spot equal to this for unending summer. For people advanced in life who desire to avoid our winters, for tired brain workers, for cases of low vitality, for the beginning of throat and lung troubles, I should say Nassau is the place.—Fred Stearns in Detroit Free Press.

Wild Silkworms of India.

For a number of years the deficiency in the production of mulberry silk has drawn the attention of sericulturists to the rearing of the wild silkworms of India, China, Japan, America and other parts, and a great many reports have been published on these wild silkworms, some of which are already bred in a state of domesticity or semi-domesticity. Many of these wild silkworms produce silk of great strength and beauty, and could all be profitably utilized if bred in their native lands on a large scale. Specimen cocoons and carded and reeled silks of about twenty different species have been sent to the Society d'Acclimatation, and they will be exhibited in the Paris International exhibition of 1889, together with the specimens of the moths and prepared larvæ of the various species.—Public Opinion.

SOME DOCTORS honestly admit that they can't cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Others say they can but—don't. Athlophoros says nothing but—cures. That's the secret of its success. Years of trial have proved it to be a quick, safe, sure cure.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 2, 1885. In my own family Athlophoros was used as a last resort, the user having suffered from rheumatism for years and having been treated for the disease by different physicians in this State and Massachusetts without even temporary relief. Upon my recommendation a cake of people here used the remedy with the same results claimed for it. C. H. WILSON.

Dubuque, Iowa, Jan. 3, 1886. Athlophoros has completely cured me of nervous headache, and I feel thankful for it. The cure is permanent. LIZZIE OBERLY.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

Affairs in Kittery.

KITTERY, ME., March 13th.

Rev. W. S. Jones, presiding elder of the Portland district, preached in the 1st Methodist church, North Kittery, in the morning, and in the 2d Methodist church at the Foreside in the afternoon, last Sunday.

The annual town meeting will be held on Monday, the 26th inst.

A party of friends of Mr. Wm. F. Bartlett and wife, from Kittery Point, visited them last Thursday evening at their residence in North Kittery; an oyster supper was served, and the evening was passed in a pleasant social manner. This was the first visit of some of the party, but we hope they may enjoy many more such.

Monday's storm has again almost made our roads impassable, and much difficulty will be had in travelling over them this week. We venture to say that never were our roads in a worse condition on the whole than they have been during the past year: we have some of the worst, if not the worst, in the county, and there seems to be no interest manifest to make them better; and we only wonder that some of them have not been indicted before this.

Oscar Marr, chief engineer of the ocean tug Ice King, running between Boston and Philadelphia, has been called home by the sudden illness of his wife.

Daniel P. Weeks, one of the oldest residents in town, who has lived for more than a quarter of a century alone in his little old one-story house on one of the back roads in North Kittery, was on Sunday reported to be in a critical condition, but by the timely aid of several kind neighbors his sufferings were somewhat relieved, and at last accounts he was on the mending hand.

We are again forcibly reminded that advertising pays. The next day after the last issue of the Gazette a gentleman in Eliot announced to us that he had found the sleigh bell we were looking for. Moral: Advertise in the N. H. Gazette.

Mr. Joshua Moore, the efficient flagman at Butler's crossing, deserves the gratitude of both man and beast who have had occasion to pass his way for his persistent effort to keep the crossing covered with snow during the late bad travelling; and it was not until the supply of snow in the neighborhood was exhausted that the task was given up.

SUB ROSA.

Matters in York.

YORK CORNER, ME., March 12th.

Town meeting to-day. The following are the nominations as made at the democratic caucus Saturday afternoon—and who will probably be elected: For moderator, Clifton B. Hildreth; town clerk, Joseph Bragdon; selectmen, etc., George W. S. Putnam, Almon H. Merrow, Charles W. Junkins; treasurer, James A. Bragdon; agent, Allen C. Moulton; superintending school committee, Walter B. Flanders; collector, Rufus A. Moody; auditor, George W. Currier. This is the republican nomination, with only small changes. There are fifteen articles in the warrant, and considerable excitement may be looked for.

Mrs. Edward D. Young comes to the rescue to help keep up the prolific record of Cider hill. She increased the population on Thursday, by introducing a daughter. It is hard to prognosticate the political complexion of so very young a female, but her papa is an all-wool and dyed-in-the-wool yard-wide democrat.

It is good walking across the bridges; rest of the travelling is mixed—and we saw Mr. Wilbur go by on Saturday with a wagon on a sleigh, evidently prepared for any emergency.

By particular request of Mrs. Hutchins, Dr. Hazen reports to us the birth on Saturday, March 10th, of twin daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hutchins, at Cape Neddick; they weigh 7 3-4 and 8 1-4 pounds, respectively—but we don't know which one is the most "respectively." Mrs. Hutchins feels justly proud of her record in obeying the divine injunction to multiply and replenish the earth. She is the happy mamma of six children at three births, within about six years. Her first effort toward "replenishing" was triplets; the next effort, one poor lonely one; this, the third, bringing forth twain.

P.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have published in their usual neat and attractive form another of Bret Harte's works, "A Phyllis of the Sierra, and a Drift From Redwood Camp," two pleasant and romantic sketches of Pacific coast life in Bret Harte's well known style. The is book 18mo, 215 pp., printed in large, clear type on good paper, and is for sale by M. Goodrich at $1.00. "A Phyllis of the Sierra" is an especially pleasing love story.

In a profusely illustrated article on "Bull Fighting in Mexico," in "The Cosmopolitan" for March, William Henry Bishop, the well known novelist and author of "The House of a Merchant Prince," relates the curious fact that this brutal form of sport is fairly ravaging our sister republic. All classes, from the very wealthiest people down to the servant girl, are absorbed in it to a degree never before known. So demoralizing is it to the latter that they steal from their mistresses and run away, in order to attend the fights.

The court of claims now has before it a case of much importance to the navy. Lieut. Asher C. Baker is the claimant. The point at issue is whether service in the naval academy as a cadet should be reckoned in computing the longevity pay of an officer of the navy. Service at the military academy was decided some time ago by the supreme court as actual army service, and therefore to be considered in computing an army officer's longevity pay. In view of this decision navy officers hope to have their cadet service credited to them. It will not affect the present pay of any officer above the grade of ensign.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go through the summer."

March April May Are the best months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier.

At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

Were all wise enough to heed this advice in season, a world of suffering would be avoided. If you suffer from impure blood, scrofula, dyspepsia, biliousness, headache, take

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 30 degrees above zero.

Clear

Notes of the Great Storm.

The derangement to railroad and telegraph business by this week's storm was the greatest ever known. From Monday noon to the next night the only communication between New York and Boston was a despatch on Tuesday, sent to a Boston bank by way of London, crossing the Atlantic twice.

The Pullman train which should have left Portland for Boston at two o'clock Tuesday morning, the 13th, did not start until nearly seven, and arrived in this city about one o'clock Wednesday morning, twenty-one hours behind time. On Wednesday the trains were all getting through between Boston and Portland, though somewhat off the schedule time.

Passenger train No. 9, which left Boston for Portland at 7:15 a. m., Tuesday, the 13th inst., and was detained at this station until about three o'clock in the afternoon by a derailed freight train at Butler's crossing in Kittery, on arriving at North Berwick got off the track itself, and blocked the way for two other passenger trains. The wrecking train went out from this city, and on arriving at North Berwick the men had to carry their blocking, jacks and other gear on their shoulders through the fields around the three trains, to get at the derailed cars. The wrecking train arrived back at two o'clock Wednesday morning, and the passenger trains reached Portland between six and seven.

The train men on the freight which got stuck in Hayes' cut on the 13th inst. were bound to get into this station with the engine at all events. When several of the rear cars got off the track, they "pulled a pin" and left them there. On arriving at the overhead bridge at the Plains several more cars were left, the engine not being able to get along with them all; and at the curve above the Peter Emery place the remainder of the train was abandoned, and the locomotive alone ran into town.

The whistling buoy and the outer can buoy at Newburyport harbor were cast ashore on Plum island during the gale.

The schooner Golden Gate, lying at Stover's wharf, Kittery Point, filled on the night of the 13th inst., and sank in shoal water.

It is reported that the circular pier on which the first Whale's-back lighthouse stood, was knocked to pieces by the sea during the late storm, and a boat carried away. Also that the steamboat pier at Pocahontas point was badly damaged.

Reports from New York on Wednesday evening show that the storm was worse there and further south, than this way,—more snow, wind and cold. Marine disasters were numerous all along the coast, seven pilot boats being wrecked near New York, and 25 lives lost at Delaware breakwater.

Police Court.

WEDNESDAY, Mch. 14th; Bufford J.

Fred Harssay and August Drager, charged with breaking and entering the saloon of Thomas Laughlin and stealing therefrom, pleaded guilty, and were held in $500 each for the supreme court. In default of sureties they were committed to jail.

Jeremiah Murphy, for being drunk and disorderly in his own house, was fined $10, costs $5.76; county farm in default of payment.

Charles Ryan, for rescuing a prisoner from the custody of an officer, was held in $200 for the supreme court.

Town Elections.

From the reports of town elections held on the 13th inst., as furnished to the Times, we take the following:

NEWCASTLE.—Moderator, Herman White; town clerk, H. M. Curtis r; selectmen, Thaddeus Tarlton d, Wm. F. Meloon r, Moses M. Curtis r; treasurer, H. M. Curtis r; total names upon check-list, 180.

GREENLAND.—Moderator, John Hatch d; town clerk, Lorenzo D. Huntley d; selectmen, Joseph W. Chapman d, Denis Mahony d, Chas. W. Marden d; treasurer, Edwin A. Peterson d.

NEWINGTON.—Moderator, Frederick Pickering; town clerk, William L. Furber; selectmen, assessors, and overseers of the poor, Clark M. Coleman, Charles A. Badger, William C. Pickering; treasurer, and collector of taxes, James W Coleman; member of board of education, Joseph Stopford; janitor of town hall, Luther C. Pickering; superintendent of burying ground, Enoch Coleman, auditors, John Furber, Henry Bean; highway surveyors, dist. No. 1, John Greenough, No. 2, Thomas F. Pickering, No. 3, Benj. S. Hoyt, No. 4, Joseph W. Whidden, No. 5, Edward F. Brown, No. 6, Jackson M. Hoyt, No, 7, Charles H. Allard.

STRATHAM.—Moderator, Richard M. Scammon d; town clerk, John J. Smart d; selectmen, James W. Rollins r, George E. Gowen r, Chas. W. Scott r; treasurer, John J. Smart d; total names upon check-list, 167.

NEWMARKET.—Moderator, Henry H. Smith d. Adjourned to March 20, 1888, at 10 o'clock a. m. Total names upon check-list, 572.

EPPING.—Moderator, Charles E. Folsom, d; town clerk, Frank P. Fisk d; selectmen, John Liddy d, Geo. W. Tilton r, Caleb F. Edgerly d; treasurer, Alvin R. Thompson d. Total names upon check-list, 472.

The voting everywhere was very light, in some towns less than half the average vote being cast, this of course being due to the very bad condition of the roads.

Burglary.

Thomas Laughlin's saloon on Market street was entered on the night of March 12th by August Drager, a seaman of the steamer Harrisburg, and Fred Harssay, a seaman of the steamer Williamsport, who stole cigars, whiskey, brandy and wine to the alleged value of $125, and hid the plunder in their bunks, where it was found next day. The thieves were taken before Judge Bufford on the 14th, pleaded guilty, and were held for the grand jury.

North Hampton Town Election.

Not half of the voters were present owing to the impassable roads—the like never known before in March.

Officers elected — Jonathan Rollins, town clerk and treasurer; Eben L. Dalton, Levi W. Fogg and James W. Barton, selectmen.

George A. Boynton was chosen member of the board of education for three years.

Expense of schools the past year, $1402,—including $176 spent under the free text book plan, adopted one year ago. The plan works to the advantage of the schools, and the expense, $1.27 per scholar, has been less than it was in most Massachusetts towns for the first year after it was adopted there by state law.

Newcastle.

The citizens of Newcastle appear to have acted upon their usual custom of ignoring politics in town affairs, and selected their town officers regardless of political views. Howard M. Curtis, the efficient town clerk, who has so acceptably served as postmaster, was re-elected, as was Inspector of Customs Thaddeus Tarlton as first selectman; and the auditors of last year were again elected to that office. The affairs of the town under the late board of selectmen have been eminently satisfactory. The town, like the nation, has a surplus in the treasury, and wishes to buy its bonds, if any one will consent to part with such an excellent security.

The "Two Old Cronies" had a full house, and delighted everybody, at Music hall on Wednesday evening.

Tickets for the American comic opera, "The Little Tycoon," go on sale at Goodrich's to-day. See adv't.

No team had passed through Russell, Hill or Ladd streets up to Wednesday night, the 14th, since the big storm. Quite a number of other streets in various parts of the city also remained in an impassable condition.

About fifty feet of the roof of the old foundry building on Mechanic street fell in on Monday night of this week, owing to the weight of snow on it. This was the third cave-in of that roof, which is now about half down.

A horse attached to one of Hett's job teams ran away on Wednesday of this week, and after racing about the city until he was reeking with sweat and almost exhausted, was caught on Market Square without having done much harm by his escapade.

Mr. Edward H. Hall leaves this morning for his home in Colorado, and will be accompanied as far as Cambridgeport, Mass., by Mrs. J. F. Hall, who is to make an extended visit to her sisters in that city, closing her residence on State street.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,000 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

It is reported that Russell's grocery store on Water street was broken into on the night of the 12th inst., and $15 stolen.

The Concord railroad is said to have ordered seven new engines from the Manchester Locomotive Works.

The Boston & Maine managers are to add greatly to their rolling stock this summer. Twenty new passenger cars are to be built outside of their shops. The Laconia Car Co. are making a new passenger car, No. 403, to take the place of the one smashed up in the Bradford accident. Conductor Wyatt expects it on his train in about six weeks.

The workmen on the Dover point bridge have seen several seals lying around on the ice lately.

A Bangor despatch says: "It is possible that Judge Peters will recall the grand jury to find an indictment against Dr. George F. Weed, who is charged with complicity in the robbery of Peter Bennett's thousands. If the prisoner's case is not brought to the attention of the grand jury before the present term of court adjourns, which will be in two or three weeks, the case will not be presented to the grand jury until the August term of court. Whitney and Foster, with their consent, will not receive their sentence until after Weed has been tried. It is understood that Dr. Weed is preparing to make a stout defence. Many of his neighbors, it is said, are ready to swear to an alibi. There are rumors that he is entangled by telegrams sent and received between him and Whitney under fictitious names. Meanwhile, the search goes on for the bulk of Bennett's money, which Dr. Weed is supposed to have taken. The growing impression is that if Dr. Weed was one of the robbers, he has placed the 'boodle' in the hands of another party for safe keeping."

Mr. Stedman's cottage at Newcastle will not be the summer home of the poet the coming season, as he proposes journeying into a far country if he can escape from the claim of book making. Mr. Edmund Roberts of Beacon street, Boston, has taken a lease of "Kelp Rock" for the summer season.

Charles E. Wiggin, for many years a successful merchant in Boston, and well known throughout his life as a practical philanthropist, died on the 12th inst. at his home in Roxbury, in the 75th year of his age. He was born in South Newmarket, in this county, and came from a family which was prominent in the revolutionary annals of New Hampshire, his grandfather on either side having fought in the continental ranks, while he was also directly connected by descent with Governor Bradford. In early life Mr. Wiggin went to Boston and opened a crockery store, and in that business he continued for fifty-three years, up to the time of his death.

Betsy R. Lang of Massachusetts has bequeathed to Dartmouth college five thousand dollars to establish a scholarship to be named for her. When Betsy executed her will it was a "Lang-syne" that will long be remembered by the future boys of Dartmouth.

—It is evidently a perpetual motion at last. It is stated that whiskey can be made of rags and it is certain whiskey furnishes an abundance of rags.

SAFEGUARDS AGAINST THIEVES.

A Reformed Burglar Tells Householders How to Protect Their Property.

First of all, I may say that the householder, especially if his house is situated in the suburbs, should count as next to nothing the protection afforded by the night policeman on his beat. I don't mean to insinuate that the night policeman neglects his duty. I believe that, as a rule, he performs it as well as he is able to, and it may be pretty safely relied on that at each time he passes a row of villas he will cast the light of his bull's eye over the front garden, if there is one, and over the house front, and the lower windows and street door. If there is no front garden, he will see that all is right and tight in the area as well. But his beat is a long one, and it is probable he will not pass that way again for an hour, or perhaps longer. So that if there is a job afoot all that those engaged in it have to do is to hide and see the policeman off, and they then know exactly how much time they have to get through their work before he can make his appearance again.

Speaking from my experience, and from that of others with whom I have been acquainted, I should say that at least a fourth part of the number of private house burglaries that are successfully committed are assisted by servants. But speaking of ordinary work it is the female servants who are made useful, and that quite innocently on their part. Masters and mistresses have no idea what easy simpletons many girls in service are, or how easily they are induced to betray the secrets of the house. And not only girls, but women, cooks and housemaids, who are old enough to know better. A smart chap, with plenty to say and with money to spend, has but to scrape acquaintance with the kind of servants I am alluding to when they are out for church on Sunday and meet them a few times afterward, and he can learn all he wants to know respecting the valuable staff in the house and where it is kept, and the ways and habits of their employers and when they are at home and when away.

It is not often the burglar himself who in this way goes a-fishing for useful information. Generally speaking, he is not what may be called a "ladies' man." He is very well in his own line, but he hasn't got the good looks or the insinuating ways that go down with the fair sex. That part of the programme is intrusted to the "sweetstuff man." He is an affable, well spoken young fellow, very respectably dressed, and so respectable in his manner that even if he was caught in the kitchen with the servants at houses where followers are strictly prohibited his appearance would disarm suspicion.

It should not be forgotten that the burglar has no particular desire in the pursuit of his calling to run his head into more danger than is necessary, and there is nothing that is so much to his liking as parapet work—getting in at attic windows that are screened by the roof parapet. Not one householder in a score gives a thought as to the security of the attic window. He will have his street door iron plated, with a patent lock on it, and a chain strong enough to hold an elephant, but a catch that can be put back with a bradawl is good enough for the attic window, and all the time it is quite as easy to enter by one way as the other—if the houses stand in a row and one of them happens to be empty. This is one of the opportunities the fraternity are always on the lookout for. Nothing can be easier than to enter an unoccupied house at the basement, and once within all a man has to do is to walk upstairs and get out on to the parapet, and there, well screened from view by the coping, he can creep on his hands and knees, and by means of the attic windows get into any house he has a fancy for. If it is winter time, and after dark, he will have no difficulty in taking stock of the front windows before he makes the ascent, and so ascertaining which of the front rooms are occupied or if the family are at dinner. If the latter he can be pretty sure that the servants are all down stairs, and he can explore the upper rooms without much fear of interruption. This wouldn't be called in the profession tip top work, but it is a means by which householders lose a considerable amount of portable property, and it very rarely happens that the robber is caught in the act.

As regards house fastenings there is, in my opinion, nothing safer for windows than a long thumb screw in a socket, going right through the frame and deep into the sash on both sides of the window. I don't know if there have been any wonderful inventions in that way since I took an interest in such things, but I never saw a door fastener except the thumb screw that should give a workman a minute's trouble. For the street door there is nothing so good as a flat bar fastened to a pivot to the center, so that it will extend across the jambs and drop into slots made on the plan of a watch and chain swivel. For window shutters the cheapest and best protection is a lightly hung bell on a coil spring. But better than locks, bolts and bars is a wiry little dog that, roaming loose, will open his pipes and let all the house know it the moment he hears a suspicious noise at door or window.—London Telegraph.

The Evil of Chewing Cloves.

When I smell cloves on a man's breath my first thought is, "That man is a fool." He thinks he is concealing the smell of whisky or some other vile smell, and he is only advertising it. There is another reason also why he is a fool. The oil of cloves, which is expressed from them by chewing them, is an active solvent of the enamel of the teeth. Any one who chews cloves will soon notice that it makes the teeth tender. That means that their enamel is disappearing, and the next step is a mouthful of decayed teeth, which all the colors of Araby the blest can never sweeten. When will people learn that the sweetest and rarest smell of all is no smell at all?—Chicago Journal.

Will Run for a Year.

A new thing out is a clock with ordinary works that will run for a year without attention. An electric battery concealed in the case winds up the clock from day to day, or week to week, as the need may be. Once in a great while the battery must be renewed, but that is all the care the clock calls for.—Chicago Times.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Best and Purest Medicine EVER MADE.

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Boils? Why let the Humor fester in your veins? Why let your blood become poisoned? Why suffer with Headache? Why let your liver become torpid? Why let your kidneys become sluggish? "One fire burns out another's burning," and most pains suffer more to be cured, but Salvation Oil is painless and certain. It costs only twenty-five cents.

Amelie Rivers will contribute her first novel to "Lippincott's Magazine" for April. It is entitled "The Quick or the Dead?" and is described as full of passion and interest. A portrait of the beautiful authoress, and a biographical sketch by an intimate friend, form other attractions of the number.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

Ground coffee digested in cod liver oil quite overcomes the fishy taste of the latter, it is all digested.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulpher Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

An Ypsilanti man has a queer craze—that of collecting axes. He has ninety-two different kinds, and yet his wife complains of a scarcity of kindling wood.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

The dreadful blizzards are made up of many soft and balmy breezes. It is the combination, organized into a trust, as it were, that is terrible when let loose.

You need them for cold weather pains and soreness—Hop Plasters are successful every time.

A republican conspiracy has been discovered in Valencia, Spain. Several persons have been arrested.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

The New England Shipbuilding company of Bath, Me., has yielded to the demand of its striking joiners for higher pay.

A reduced gentlewoman in New York earns her living by superintending novices' dinner parties.

Palpitation of the heart, nervousness, trembling, nervous headache, cold hands and feet, pain in the back, and other forms of weakness are relieved by Carter's Iron Pills, made specially for the blood, nerves and complexion.

The Homliest Man in Portsmouth,

As well as the handsomest, and others are invited to call at any druggists and get free a trial bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, a remedy that is selling entirely upon its merits and is guaranteed to relieve and cure all chronic and acute Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Large bottles 50c. and $1.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incomparable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Dysentery and Diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives one not only rest but health to the child. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eow,ow,ed,tf,o(jal1

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists. mc29

The Mardi Gras Day Was Anticipated.

On February 7th, 1888, Tuesday (always Tuesday,) at noon, the 21st Grand Monthly Drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery took place at New Orleans. The event had been anticipated, as the 14th, the second Tuesday in February, was Mardi Gras day, a legal holiday, strictly observed. It was under the sole management of Generals G. T. Beauregard, of La., and Jubal A. Early of Va. No. 71,575 drew the First Capital Prize of $150,000. It was sold in fractional tenths at $1 each, sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., held, one by Robt. Pouiz, Frankfort, Mich., thro' First Nat'l Bank, Frankfort, Mich.; one by Mrs. V. Gilly, No. 206 St. Philip St., New Orleans, La.; one by John C. Pohl, Michigan City, Ind., thro' First Nat'l Bank, Michigan City; one by Geo. J. Johnson, Paraga, Mich., thro' Wm. Coach, of Baraga; three-tenths to correspondents in San Francisco, Cal., paid through Louisiana Nat'l Bank of New Orleans; one by the Anglo-Californian Bank, Limited, of San Francisco, Cal.; one by Matthew Steffens, Harrison St. Police Station, Chicago, Ill., etc., etc. Ticket No. 43,412 drew the Second Capital Prize of $50,000. Tickets No. 61,338 drew the Third Capital Prize of $20,000, also sold in tenths. One held by L. Carter, Santa Clara, Cal.; one by John B. Trulls, Winchester, Ill.; one by A. G. Drobish, Lincoln, Ill.; one by L. F. Cooper, Cleveland, O.; one by Joe Leube, Home Terre, Mo.; one by C. H. Scandley, Abbeville, S. C.; one to the S. W. Nat'l Bank of Phila., Pa.; the rest went elsewhere. Tickets No. 13,648 and 25,477 each drew one of the Fourth two prizes of $10,000, sold in fractions, also scattered everywhere. Any information may be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, about the 215th Grand Drawing on Tuesday, April 10th.

Beauty Without Paint.

"What makes my skin so dark and muddy? My cheeks were once so smooth and ruddy! I use the best cosmetics made!"
Is what a lovely maiden said.
"That's not the cure, my charming Miss,"
The doctor said—"remember this:
If you your skin would keep from taint,
Discard the powder and the paint.
"The proper thing for all such ills
Is this," remarked the man of pills
"Purify the blood and make it pure—
In this you'll find the only cure."

Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do this without fail. It has no equal. All druggists.

By its mild, soothing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of nasal catarrh, also "cold in the head," coryza, and catarrhal headaches. Fifty cents, by druggists.

Seabrook School Meeting.

The school meeting in Seabrook was held March 15th; moderator, Wm. D. Eaton; clerk, James M. S. Tucker.

Two new members of the school board were elected, John Weare for three years, and William H. Walton for one year. Rev. William A. Rand having two years longer to serve.

Voted to appropriate $2500 to build a two-story schoolhouse in district No. 2, this sum to cover the cost of lot, outbuildings, and furnishing of schoolhouse.

Edward L. Gove, Charles H. Sanborn and George A. Weare were chosen a building committee, and were authorized to purchase a lot for the new schoolhouse, and to sell the old one. The school board were instructed to select the location for the new building.

Which Was It? Bacon or Shakespeare.

The authorship of the dramatic productions attributed to the last of the above named is agitating literary circles to the very centre, but affects the practical masses far less than the momentous question, how to regain or preserve health, that essential of bodily and mental activity, business success and the "pursuit of happiness." We can throw far more light on this latter subject than the most profound Shakespearian can on the question first propounded. If the system is depleted, the nerves shaky; if indigestion or constipation bothers one at times, or constantly; if the skin is yellow and and tongue furred as in billiousness; if there are premonitory twinges of oncoming rheumatism or neuralgia; if the kidneys are inactive—use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest recuperant of an age prolific in beneficial and successful remedies. Remember, if malaria threatens or afflicts, that it neutralizes the poison and fortifies the system.

Henry Bull, Jr., hotel keeper of Newport, R. I., has been denied a new trial, and must pay Mme. Janauschek $10,000 for falling down stairs in his house.

Dropping out of the hair, with itching of the scalp, prevented, and the scalp made cool and healthy by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad is reported to be doing about fifty per cent of its regular business. The railroad managers and the striking engineers are both firm.

Everything which belongs to pure, healthy blood is improved by Hood's Sarsaparilla. A trial will convice you of its merit.

The freight engineers on the Union Pacific railroad struck on the 15th, as the road is handling Burlington freight.

Mr. F. J. Leonard has declined the position of umpire in the New England League, to which he was recently elected.

Weary washerwomen have been made glad by the introduction of James Pyle's Pearline, a peerless compound for the laundry. It cleanses the most delicate fabric without injury. Sold by grocers.

Nothing which labor has produced is "raw material."

A life of indolent ease and sensuality, the use of highly seasoned animal food, and alcoholic drinks are the predisposing causes of gout. When aware of its presence in the system lose no time in procuring Salvation Oil. It kills pain. Price twenty-five cents a bottle.

The industrial interests of a country should never be affected by a change in administration of government.

A true balsam.—Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

The American people have never yet attained the best results of protection nor the worst results of free foreign trade.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by all classes of people for over forty years. It has proven itself the very best specific for colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

STARTLING STATISTICS.

What a High Official Has to Say About the Condition of the People—Some Serious Facts and Figures.

[Herald.]

"It is wonderful what figures will show." Such was the remark of a high official in the State Department to a representative of this paper. "How many really rich men do you suppose there are in New England? Very few. But how many do you think there would be if people were physically and mentally sound and vigorous? New England people are active, restless and ambitious, and therefore neglect themselves. Not one man or woman in ten is in perfect health."

"Official figures show this, do they?"

"Precisely. There seems to be a New England disease. People do not seem to think that headaches, or tired feeling or "blues," or loss of appetite, or nervousness mean anything. Then, the first thing they know they are in bed and on therous d to death.

"Do many die of this disease?"

"Thousands. Henry Wilson, Charles Sumner, Wendell Phillips and Governor Bodwell are among the number. James G. Blaine is also on the road, and his trip abroad is in the hope of recovering health."

"But what do you find to counteract it?"

"Very little. The only reliable medicine so far discovered is Hunt's Remedy. The faculty of one of our leading medical colleges, knowing the composition of this medicine, have been recommending it for some time, and the results have been wonderful. I know three ladies and one gentleman (one of the latter a State officer), who have been entirely cured by its use. I wish everybody might know more about it and use it."

Such facts and figures, and from so high a source, should prove invaluable to thousands whose success in life would be much greater were they physically and metally sound and vigorous.

People Susceptible to Hypnotism.

Persons of a nervous constitution, and in particular those subject to hysteria, are most apt to fall into artificial sleep. There is then produced in them a peculiar neurosis, hypnotism, having psychical and physical characters of its own—a genuine disease presenting a diversity of symptoms. Hence hypnotic phenomena ought not to be called forth rashly nor without the precautions suggested by medical science. Women are specially susceptible to hypnotic manipulation, particularly during the period between the 18th and the 30th year, when the nervous system is in full activity. Young men may be hypnotized, but it is very difficult to produce hypnotic sleep in old men or in children. Persons who in early life are subject to natural somnambulism or sleep walking are later in life good hypnotic subjects, just as they are also likely to be victims of hysteria and other nervous complaints.

Many are the processes employed for producing hypnosis. One that is very frequently used consists in fixing the gaze upon some bright object placed a little above the eyes and in front of the median line of the forehead, so that visual fatigue may ensue quickly, the eyeballs being directed upward and inward. This process, or others of a like kind, may be employed in the case of persons who have never before been hypnotized. But after awhile, when the subject has, so to speak, been educated, various more expeditious methods may be employed. Thus a jet of electric light or a violent blow struck on a gong near the ear of the subject will quickly induce sleep. Again, in hypnotizable persons, the surface of the body often presents special points, "hypnogenic zones," as they are called, analagous to the "hysterogenic zones." Simple pressure upon these produces hypnosis. Even in the case of the most susceptible individuals rarely does sleep appear when they, for the first time, undergo the hypnotizing manipulations, however skilled the operator may be. There is needed a complete surrender of one's will and absence of all mental preoccupation, and on the part of the company present absolute silence. In most cases exhibitions of hypnotization develop, at first, only vague phenomena not easily classified, foreshadowing, so to speak, what will follow later.—North American Review.

A Plucky Frontier Woman.

On the plains, in Assiniboin, I found a little lady in the larger of the only two stores in the place, who told me that the Indians on a reservation close by had begun to grow restless, and were manifesting the fact by unusual insolence. Only the day before a dozen of the braves had come into the store, when she was stark alone in it, and had demanded whisky, a commodity they were not allowed to touch and no one was permitted to sell. She told them she had none, and they sat, as Indians will, for a long time, as if to show her they would not go away until they got it. Curiously enough, no one came to the store from the settlement. By and by the Indians proposed to search for the whisky. She laughed at them and told them they could search. They did so, peeping and poking everywhere that they could think of. When they offered to go up stairs to her living apartments, she stood in the doorway and told them they must not venture there. She flattened her back against the door and defied them.

She was less than the ordinary height, and did not weigh over 100 pounds, but she quailed them with the eye of a brave and determined woman, and when, presently, some white men came to make purchases the Indians took themselves off. Only a few nights before that this same woman had seen a wolf in her back yard, and had gone out and "shooed" it away with her apron and scolding, just as one of our girls might do to a cat. I never saw a man that I thought more plucky than she. Perhaps, though, what no Indian or wolf could do might be done by a mouse. But it is beyond all reason to expect the bravest not to fear a mouse.—Albany Fair Journal.

Self Massage for Dyspepsia.

This treatment requires much perseverance and practice, otherwise it may to some extent prove a failure; but renewed vigor will always be in proportion to the practice. Be not discouraged. First thing in the morning and last thing at night rub the abdomen down the left side and up the right in a round circle, also rub down the breast; now pace across the room once or twice, and then snap the lower limbs, like a whip lash, for exercise. Now twist the lower limbs, first on one side, then on the other, and rock up on the toes. Now for the lungs and abdomen; first, take in a half breath, then exhale all the air possible, then fill the lungs to their full capacity, walk across the room and back, at the same time throwing the arms back. Now in a half breath send out every particle of air till you see the abdomen working like a bellows, and you will soon become a deep breather. For more extended practice in deep breathing the morning before rising is a good time, provided there is full ventilation and that the air inside is as pure and fresh as that on the outside. Before a good fire wash the hands and face, wet the back of the neck, arms and lower limbs slightly, and rub down with a coarse towel. This is sufficient for a beginner, but entirely inadequate for the old, chronic dyspeptic.—J. N. Semple in Herald of Health.

A Hint to Smokers.

It seems to me that ordinary politeness, the honest dictates of courtesy, would suggest to smokers that public conveyances, public audience rooms, public eating places, public drinking places, are for the enjoyment of the whole public and not for a selfish majority. Men frequently come into my office with lighted cigarettes and leave behind them traces of their offense, which annoy me for hours thereafter.

By what right do they do so?—Joe Howard in New York Graphic.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he won't use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued to use and am now well."

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. Death of Henry Bergh.

Henry Bergh, the noted philanthropist and friend of dumb creatures, founder and president of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, died in New York on the 12th inst., at the age of sixty-five years. From the formation of the society in 1865 up to the time of his death, he gave it almost his entire time and service, without salary or reward of any kind, except the consciousness of doing good.

Mr. Martin V. Hoyt, who went to California in the early part of last summer for a look around, is expected home the latter part of this month or the first of next, the glorious climate of California not agreeing with his health.

Mr. James B. Trefethen, for some time foreman blacksmith at the Portsmouth Machine Shop, has gone west with a view of locating permanently. He has no particular point in view, but will spend a reasonable period in prospecting.

Mr. John Albee, the well-known poet and philosophic thinker, is the author of the excellent paper on Mr. Alcott which appeared in the New York Tribune. A correspondent, in a private letter to the literary editor of the Traveller says; "I take the liberty of asking if you will find it convenient to make a brief mention of the fact that the article on Mr. Alcott in the New York Tribune was written by Mr. John Albee, the Newcastle poet and author, who has also lectured several times before the Concord school. I notice that the article is being widely copied, and no credit given to Mr. Albee. As it is one of the best characterizations of Mr. Alcott I think Mr. Albee should be known as the writer."

York Election.

The town election in York, Me., this week, resulted as follows:

George W. S. Putnam, for moderator, had 101 votes, and Joseph Bragdon, for town clerk, had 395, there being no opposition.

Selectmen, assessors, and overseers of the poor: G. W. S. Putnam 387, Charles W. Junkins 254, Almon H. Merrow 216, Clifton B. Hildreth 167, Charles Junkins 130.

Treasurer: Samuel W. Junkins 245, James A. Bragdon 144.

Superintending school committee: William Creelman 2[illegible], Walter B. Flanders 156.

Auditor: George W. Currier 393—no opposition.

Some of the successful candidates were on both tickets; the agent, treasurer, and superintending school committee, were nominated by the republican caucus, and two of the selectmen chosen were nominated by democratic caucus.

Did Not Get There.

There was no town meeting in New Durham on the 13th. A few voters managed to reach the town house, but the selectmen and town clerk could not get there with the warrant, so no meeting could be holden. They are now in a quandary as to what can legally be done.

They Got There.

The voters of Alton village stole a march on the suburban voters at the late town meeting. For some years the villagers have been trying to get a new town house, but the farmers would not have it; this year the farmers could not get into the village to vote, and the villagers rallied in force, voted to build a town house, and appropriated $8000 for the purpose. The farmers are as mad as wet hens.

Frederick Bryton will appear in Music hall on Friday evening, March 23d, in "Forgiven."

John H. Childs, while holding a drill Thursday morning at the Jones brewery, had his left forearm broken by a misdirected blow of the sledge.

The roads in Eliot were opened to travel on Wednesday evening, the 14th, after a blockade of three days. Shovels had to be used nearly everwhere, and drifts from three to six feet deep cut through. During the blockade the residents of Eliot neck were completely shut out from the use of teams, and could only reach this city by water.

Hon. Increase S. Kimball of Sanford, although in his 88th year and in feeble health, went to town meeting on Monday, March 12th, and deposited his vote, as has been his custom with scarcely an omission for sixty-seven years.

We have received No. 14 of the Standard, Biddeford's new democratic daily. It is a good looking and well arranged sheet, bright and sparkling, but of most abominable politics. That's what it's for.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

Clear

Burned to Death.

The alarm of fire about half past eleven o'clock Thursday night was caused by the burning of the two-story house No. 11 Atkinson street, occupied in the upper story by Mrs. Margaret Harrington, widow of Patrick Harrington, aged sixty-five or seventy years.

Mr. George Stover and Mr. Samuel Blatchford were among the first to arrive at the fire, but when they got there the flames were bursting out, and Mrs. Harrington was standing at an upper window, screaming for aid. A ladder was procured and placed against the house, but by this time the heat was too intense to be faced by any human being, and the poor woman was shortly seen to throw up her hands and fall back into the room.

The building, which was old, out of repair and of little value, was soon burned to a shell. Steamers two and three, and one of the fire extinguishers, answered the alarm, four horses having a hard pull on the engines. The house of Michael Welch, on Mast street, caught fire on the roof several times, but was saved; and the pecuniary loss by the fire is not many hundred dollars. The building was owned by John Kelly and others. After the fire had burned down the body of Mrs. Harrington was found in the ruins. The cause of the fire is said to have been the breaking of a kerosene lamp.

Municipal Affairs.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, special meeting, Thursday evening, March 15th, Mayor Hodgdon in the chair; present the full board.

The annual appropriation bill, as passed by the common council, being taken up for consideration, was read and referred to the committee on bills on their second reading, who submitted two reports.

The majority report recommended that the appropriation for schools be increased from $15,000 to $16,500. The minority report recommended that the appropriation for the dedication of the soldiers' monument be $1,000 instead of $2,500. Both reports were accepted, and the committee excused from further consideration of the bill.

The board voted to amend the majority report by inserting $18,000 for the support of schools instead of $16,500, and by inserting for dedication of the monument $1,000 instead of $2,500. The board further amended the bill by making the appropriation for school houses $2,000 instead of $1,500. As amended, the bill was read a second time, and laid on the table.

Adjourned for one week.

"The Cadets' Picnic."

Rarely has been seen on our local stage an entertainment that gave more general satisfaction than the Cadets' Picnic in Franklin theatre some weeks since. We are pleased to announce that the "picnic" will be repeated at the same place, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 4th and 5th, and that the net proceeds are to be divided among local charities.

Many new features have been added; the Cadets, under the instruction of Capt. Frank Williams, have become very proficient; the Owls will be funnier than before; and the children promise to give a great entertainment.

"The Little Tycoon."

The sale of tickets for "The Little Tycoon," the distinctively American comic opera which has had the most extended and prosperous run ever known in this country, and which is to be presented in Music hall to-morrow evening under the author's personal management, commenced at Goodrich's on Thursday morning, and a look at the plan at noon would have convinced any person desiring a good seat Saturday evening, that a prompt selection would be wise. During the time this opera has been on the stage nearly fifty comic operas have been brought here from abroad, had their day and departed, but the Little Tycoon is still as popular as ever.

The performance to-morrow evening will be an ideal one. There are forty-six people in the cast, including Miss Lillie Post, late prima donna of the New York Casino, Misses Hattie Arnold and Laura White, Fred Lennox, E. Gervaise and Joseph Mealey; there is a large chorus, the costumes are rich and elegant, and the special scenery is beautiful and artistic.

Get your tickets to-day.

Notes of the Great Storm.

New York newspapers of the 12th, 13th and 14th reached this city in time for distribution on the morning of the 15th—an agreeable assurance that the great snow blockade between New York and Boston was at an end. The New York Sun on the evening of the 12th issued a "Blizzard Edition—Extra," filled with matter relative to the great storm in that city. The stock exchange, for the first time in its existence, agreed that all deliveries for that day (the 12th) should go over to the next, and all dealings be suspended; and the banks were so crippled by the enforced absence of many of their clerks and officers, that all the large business houses allowed their loans to stand.

One of the operators of the Direct Cable Co's station at Rye beach came to this city Thursday afternoon with a large number of cable despatches, and went to Boston by the three o'clock train to deliver them.

A small package of letters arrived at the Portsmouth postoffice by the three o'clock mail Thursday afternoon, being the first received since Monday. A few New York papers arrived at the office Thursday morning.

Trains on the Boston & Maine railroad were on Thursday reported to be running all right, on schedule time.

The steamer Rhode Island arrived at Stonington, Conn., at four o'clock P. M. on the 14th, and was the first arrival from New York since the morning of the 12th. She had a pleasant passage through the sound.

The loss of life by the blizzard in and around New York, in New Jersey, and on the coast from New York to the capes of Virginia, is very great, but cannot be yet estimated. Nearly forty persons have been found dead, or are missing, in a small part of New Jersey alone, and fourteen vessels are ashore on the Jersey coast, and probably many more. All the vessels which passed out by the capes of Delaware on the 12th are believed to be lost. Tug Turley went down with all hands, off Delaware breakwater; tug Thomas Crawford went down, losing two men; several schooners went on the breakwater, one losing three men and having the rest badly frozen; and a tug and barge went down near Hen and Chickens shoal. A sloop capsized off Hampton bar, Va., and went down. Three vessels were capsized, and many driven ashore, in trying to enter the river at Queen Anne, Md. Nine vessels were wrecked in the Wicomo river at Mt. Vernon.

A despatch of the 14th from Manitoba says the great bridge at North Bay went down during the cyclone, with a Canadian Pacific passenger train, great loss of life resulting. No particulars.

Great quantities of ice came down the river on the ebb tide Thursday afternoon, and went out to sea. The steamboats were considerably bothered by it on their evening trips.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO. 106 Wall Street, New York.

Base Ball.

The adjourned meeting of citizens interested in the formation of a base ball club here, appointed for last evening, will be held this evening instead, in Franklin hall. Mr. Leonard has written to a gentleman in this city that Lawrence and Haverhill, Mass., will quite likely put clubs similar to the one proposed for Portsmouth, in the field as members of the New Hampshire League should one be formed. All lovers of the national game should attend the meeting this evening, and start the local club right along. It would bring many people into the city during the summer.

Runaway.

A horse belonging to J. W. Weeks, of Greenland, while standing in front of Russell's store on State street, Thursday morning, took fright and started off on the run. He pitched into a snow bank a man who attempted to stop him, turned into Pleasant street, leaving the sleigh on the corner, and raced up Pleasant street and across Market square to John Laighton's store, where he took the sidewalk up Congress street. There were but few people on the sidewalk at the time, and those few quickly sought the seclusion which a store door grants when they saw the horse coming. When near Middle street a man got in his way and stopped him, and he was led back and again hitched to the sleigh, the whole team—horse, harness and sleigh—being in a considerably demoralized condition.

Hayes' milk team, standing on Pleasant street, was struck by the runaway, and the hinder part of the pung was smashed and a number of milk cans tossed into the street, their contents being lost.

See advertisement of Insurance Co's sale of men's and boys' clothing, to commence this afternoon in the former N. E. P. Union store on Market street.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,600 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

Miss Maud Banks is booked to appear at Music hall on Tuesday evening, March 20th, in "Joan of Arc."

Masonic Installation.

At a regular meeting of Davenport Council, No. 5, Royal & Select Masters, held Thursday evening, the following officers were installed for the ensuing year by W. Freeman, P. T. I:

John Hatch, T. I. M.;
Albert R. Junkins, D. M.;
William G. Billings, P. C. W.;
Benjamin F. Webster, treasurer;
Richard I. Walden, recorder;
Charles W. Norton, C. of C.;
Thomas R. Martin, C. of G;
John Christie, chaplain.

One of O. F. Philbrick & Co.'s coal teams backed overboard off the wharf, Thursday morning, but was gotten out without much harm being done.

Mr. Edwin H. Leslie, engineer of the Portsmouth brewery, had one of his feet severely hurt on Wednesday of this week by a grate bar falling on it. He is insured in the Employers' Liability Assurance Co.

The new editor of the Times favors his readers with a typographical sketch of the only democratic editor in Concord. As a rule, in this state, democratic editors do not dwell in "concord."

"LIKE AS IT WERE A MOTH THAT FRETTETH A GARMENT," so will the free alkali, to which many powerful soaps owe their strength destroy your clothing. Professor Silliman, of Yale College, says, "The IVORY SOAP is of remarkable purity . . . . . as a laundry soap it has no superior."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Some Foolish People
Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists. mc29

No More a Mystery.

The murder of Mr. Snell in Chicago recalls the murder of Mr. Nathan in New York. Both were men of solitary habits, large real and larger reputed wealth, and both were believed to keep great sums in their houses. Mr. Snell is known to have been killed by burglars, whom first he tried to kill. Mr. Nathan was found dead at the foot of his opened safe. He had been brained by the ugly short and heavy iron weapon, which police and thieves' slang calls a "dog." The character of the Snell murder is known. The Nathan crime remained for a long time a mystery and bred cruel and false suspicions against Washington Nathan, a son of the murdered man, at odds with his father and benefited by his death. The son proved an alibi which identified him with a violation of the seventh commandment and acquitted him of the charge of infracting the eighth.

Probably the murderers of Mr. Snell will be found. Putting the criminal classes in a sieve and shaking them through will very likely secure the guilty in this case. It is not generally known by the public that the police and law authorities have long been aware who killed Mr. Nathan. Billy Forrester killed him. He entered the house by the basement, made a noise on purpose to bring the old man down stairs late at night to where he was, killed him with a "dog" to get the keys to open the safe, found nothing in it worth speaking of, and left the premises by the front door, which was found open at 5 o'clock in the morning. He was observed by an Irish woman next door, who was being served by a milkman.

The authorities learned these facts in a queer way. The "dog" was described in the newspapers. It had singular scratches on it. A convict in Sing Sing knew it was Forrester's "dog." He offered, for a pardon, to identify it among any number of "dogs" the police might lay out on a table, and to describe Forrester as well. The police painted a large number of "dogs" red so as to make them all look alike. The convict at once picked out Forrester's "dog." The country was scoured for the criminal. He gave himself up in New Orleans in the hope of being taken to Joliet prison, Illinois, from which he had escaped, and of not being brought to New York. He was brought there, however, but he had grown thin; had cut off his hair and beard; had dyed his skin and the woman, though she said that he looked very much like the man she saw, could not positively identify him. The charge was dismissed for want of evidence. He went to Joliet and died there of consumption, but to his counsel in New York he confessed the facts herein stated to make their defense of him more intelligent, and these facts have never before been published.

Darius M. Warren of Benton, Me., was held March 14th for beating his wife to death. He asked to see his two daughters, aged three and eight years, and shot them both fatally, then killing himself.

It was a wise one that said: "Every man is occasionally what he ought to be perpetually." That must be when he is honest enough to acknowledge the merits of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the only sure cure for coughs and colds.

You need them for cold weather pains and soreness—Hop Plasters are successful every time.

Why throw away so much hard-earned money trying worthless medicines, when for thirty-five cents a remedy can be procured that will cure coughs, colds, sore lungs and croup? Give it a trial. Adamson's Cough Balsam will do it.

A man's interest is not merely in the price of what he buys, but in the relation of that to the price of what he has to sell. Nothing is cheap to you if you can't get the means to buy it.

Bull Fight in New Jersey.

One of a dozen bulls in a freight car standing in Newark, N. J., recently, started a fight at two o'clock in the morning, and in a few minutes every animal on the car was involved in the row. The fight lasted four hours, and then all but two of the bulls were huddled in one end of the car, while blood was dripping from the edges of the floor. Dr. Runge of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, arrived at six o'clock, and managed to secure the most frantic bull by fastening a hooked pole in a ring in his nose. When the animal was secured with a rope the other one was treated in the same manner, and order was restored in the car. When the bulls were unloaded by the butcher to whom they were consigned, two were found dead in the corner of the car, and two others were dying, while all were more or less injured by hoofs and horns. The bulls were crazed by hungerjann thirst.

Which Was It? Bacon or Shakespeare.

The authorship of the dramatic productions attributed to the last of the above named is agitating literary circles to the very centre, but affects the practical masses far less than the momentous question, how to regain or preserve health, that essential of bodily and mental activity, business sucess and the "pursuit of happiness." We can throw far more light on this latter subject than the most profound Shakespearian can on the question first propounded. If the system is depleted, the nerves shaky; if indigestion or constipation bothers one at times, or constantly; if the skin is yellow and and tongue furred as in billiousness; if there are premonitory twinges of oncoming rheumatism or neuralgia; if the kidneys are inactive—use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest recuperant of an age prolific in beneficial and successful remedies. Remember, if malaria threatens or afflicts, that it neutralizes the poison and fortifies the system.

The ship mechanics of Bath, Me., on the 16th demanded an increase of fifty cents a day, threatening to strike.

Dropping out of the hair, with itching of the scalp, prevented, and the scalp made cool and healthy by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

Five hundred engineers and firemen on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad struck on March 15th, stopping freight traffic on 3200 miles of road.

A true balsam.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, colds, sore throats, bronchitis, and consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

The Only Remedy FOR Contagious Blood Poison.

Mr. D. B. Adams, Union, South Carolina, writes: "I was afflicted with a terrible case of blood poison for about thirteen months. I was treated by the best physicians, and used various kinds of remedies, but received no substantial relief. I finally tried the Swift Specific, and about four bottles cured me sound and well."

Col. B. H. Kieser, editor and proprietor of the Opelika, Ala., Times, under date of August 3, 1885, writes: "When I was a young man, through indiscretion, I contracted a disease which has stuck to me for years. Some five or six years since I was troubled with pains, so as to make it difficult for me to walk. Having advertised the S. S. S. in my paper for several years, I concluded I would try it to see if there was any efficacy in the medicine. I commenced using it according to directions and used half dozen bottles. I was cured in a way station, and getting left, I walked the seven miles and have never felt any return of the old malady. After experiencing the good effects I must say I am delighted with the result. I am sixty-eight years of age and I feel now like a young man and can go to the case when necessary and set up from six to eight thousand cns without any inconvenience. I send you this without solicitation."

Mr. F. Woehl, 211 North Avenue, Chicago, under date of June 12, 1886, writes: "I deem it my duty to thank you for the cure I received from your excellent medicine. I contracted a very severe case of blood poisoning about two years ago. Hearing of your medicine, I went to a drug store, the proprietor of which persuaded me to buy a preparation of his own, which he said was a sure cure. I used six bottles of his stuff and grew worse all the time. At last I got disgusted and despaired of a cure. I met a friend who told me that your medicine had cured him. I went to the same druggist again and demanded your medicine. He reluctantly sold me twelve bottles, and I am now perfectly cured. I write this for the benefit of sufferers, to prevent their being deceived by false representations. I thank you again for the benefit derived from your medicine."

Dr. J. N. Cheney, a prominent physician, residing in Ellaville, Schley County, Georgia, in a letter recounting the infallible success he has in curing contagious blood poison cases in his extensive practice, writes: "Those who know the almost inevitable, permanently dangerous effects of mercury will welcome your discovery of S. S. S. as a boon to humanity. The medical profession, always wary of proprietary medicines, is coming slowly, and in some cases secretly, to the use of S. S. S. in cases of blood disorder. Of course a medicine that cures poisoning in its worst form must purify the blood of every disorder."

A New Preservative Art.

M. Truy, the French consul at this port, has in his parlor a huge decorative piece, seemingly of roses, rosebuds, violets, smilax and other flowers and foliage, apparently carved with most exquisite delicacy in bronze. The most minute curves and veinings of the smallest petals and leaves are preserved with infinite exactitude, so that it would seem as if the piece represented years of patient application of the highest skill in this difficult branch of art. In point of fact, however, the whole thing was produced in a few hours, and at small expense, by the new process of plating, the invention of a Frenchman. Each bronze flower and leaf incloses the real original, upon which the metal has been deposited by electric action, and it is affirmed that the roses so encased retain indefinitely their perfume, and, even in their deepest interiors, their natural colors. The same process is applied in the making of silver flies, beetles and other insects, and even in the coating of lizards and small snakes for the ornamentation of parasol handles and cane heads. The dead insect or reptile is hermetically sealed up in its metal coat, and, it is said, will never decay, at least until the metal is worn through, and, as the deposit may be put on as thick as is deemed advisable, they may be made to last as long as people's liking for them as a novelty endures. The fidelity to nature in these reproductions is wonderful.

Heretofore something has been done in the direction of plating non-conducting surfaces by giving them a primary coating of plumbago, but that always was a necessary imperfect process. The French electrician substitutes for that a bath—the composition of which is a secret—into which the objects to be plated are plunged for a few seconds. When they are withdrawn they dry off almost immediately and seem to have upon them a faintly discernable coating like the bloom upon a plum. They are then plunged into an electric bath, and any metal desired is deposited upon them.—New York Sun.

Brain Photographic Revelations.

A writer in The New York Tribune tells the story of the appearance of a man's brain under a strong microscope that is both interesting and suggestive. In the brain matter, he says, were noticed curious markings, some geometrical, some sinuous, and many others that proved to be characters in the Ethiopic, Syriac and Phœnician languages, which the possessor of the brain, when alive, had made a special study. Now for the suggestive part. Perhaps some day when a man dies we can take out his brain, spread it on a microscopic slide, and, in a peep, behold him as he really was, not as he pretended to be. Everything his mind ever took cognizance of and formed an opinion about will be open before us like the page of a book.

No doubt the traceries will take peculiar shapes sometimes. Perhaps the brains of some young men, who died young because they were good, will show markings closely resembling champagne bottles, night keys and fast horses. The tracings in the brain of more than one good bald headed deacon may assume the graceful forms of ballet girls, the sight of which made such an impression on him when alive and in the front row of the theatre. Shapes that closely resemble beautiful entrain and decollete dresses may be expected in the craniums of society belles called hence in the midst of their triumphs. In the brains of reporters will be noticed many ghastly family and public secrets which, out of reportorial goodness of heart, never were given out to the world. And so we might continue ad infinitum, but we refrain. This scientific investigation must not be pushed further. A key that opens a man's secrets after he is dead might not be such a hilarious discovery after all.—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

Astrologers' Magical Rings.

The ring among astrologers was a favorite means of divining the future. It was suspended by a hair in the middle of a cup known as the draining cup. Questions were asked and the ring tapped the sides of the goblet in answer, but as the hand of the astrologer held the hair to which the ring was fastened, perhaps there was not so much divining in this as the credulous supposed. All astrologers, however, had at least seven magic rings; one for the sun, a diamond set in gold; another for the moon, a crystal in silver; a third for Mercury, a loadstone in silver; a fourth for Venus, an amethyst in copper; a fifth for Mars, an emerald in iron; a sixth for Jupiter, a cornelian in tin; a seventh for Saturn, a turquoise in lead. Many astrologers had a zodiac ring, or ring exhibiting in its setting all the signs of the zodiac, the general effect being that of a calendar or old fashioned almanac. Charm rings are also very common even in later times. Henry VIII had so much confidence in a ring which belonged to Thomas a Becket that he had it set as a thumb ring and wore it all his life.—Globe-Democrat.

Informed on Each Other.

Here is a story told by a New Jersey justice of the peace: "A man from Pennsylvania was arrested in Gloucester for having a dead deer in his possession. He was fined $50, which he paid, and went back to Pennsylvania. About the same time another Pennsylvanian was caught in the same way and fined the same amount. He also paid up. In both cases the whole fine, under the law, went to the informant against them. I knew them, and it always puzzled me how they came to seem so contented to pay their fines. Well, sir, I have just found out. Do you know that these measly Pennsylvanians had put up a job to come over here to kill our deer, and then each inform on the other, so that the fine each paid went right back into the pocket of the other, and their deer didn't cost them a cent!"—Chicago News.

She Tried and Knows.

A leading chemist of New York says: "No plasters of such merit as the Ath-lo-pho-ros Plasters have ever before been produced." They are a novelty because they are not made simply to sell cheap, they are the best that science, skill and money can produce, and will do what is claimed for them. For sprains, aches, weakness, lameness, etc., they are unequaled.

Affairs in Kittery.

KITTERY POINT, ME., March 13th.

Our village is half buried in an old-fashioned snow storm. The roads have not been so badly drifted before this winter. It is still snowing, and the wind blows hard.

The Kittery Fish Co. were shipping fish all yesterday afternoon. Some over eighteen hundred boxes of fish have been shipped by that company this winter.

The sunset Friday night was the most beautiful of the season. The village was all in shadow, but the islands just beyond us and the very tip top of Tenney's hill were flooded with sunshine, while a rainbow appeared in the north-east, beyond the pines. It is seldom that such a beautiful picture is spread before us, and then only for a few minutes, but when they do come they make a lasting impression on those who are so fortunate as to be able to enjoy them.

Mrs. Solon Frisbee and her son Frankie are taking a little vacation.

Miss Miriam Tobey, who has been sick all winter, is thought to be improving.

The Stickney cottage, now being erected on what used to be the Seawards place, Gerrish's island, is progressing rapidly in size and appearance. There are to be wings, odd windows, projections and piazzas in every imaginable and unexpected place. It is situated in a beautiful spot, and it is said that when completed it will be the most beautiful summer residence in the vicinity.

Mrs. Eunice Seawards died suddenly Thursday morning at the Pepperell, where she has resided with her daughter since the death of her husband a few years ago. Her general health has been good all winter, and Thursday morning she came out to breakfast as usual. Her sickness seemed to be a gastric trouble, and her sufferings were great. She retained her conciousness until the end, and said to those around her "It is better to go than to stay here and suffer." She celebrated her eighty-fifth birthday on the fourteenth of last November. Those who knew her in her girlhood speak of her as a bright, energetic maiden, full of life and fun. In her early married life she went to live on Gerrish's island, on the spot where the Stickney cottage is now being erected. She had thirteen children, but only one is now living. Several of her children died when quite small, and she felt her losses deeply, for she was a devoted mother and wife. She was a member of the Free Will Baptist church of this place, and as long as she was able, attended services regularly with her family. She was an earnest worker in church affairs. For many years one of the weekly prayer meetings was held at her house. She was fond of flowers, and we have heard those who, as children, used to play with her children, tell of the beautiful bright flowers growing around her home, and of the pleasure they felt when, as they came away, she used to give each a little bouquet. One of her own brothers is now living, and two half brothers. Services at the Pepperell on Monday afternoon; interment in the Free Will Baptist cemetery.

As you cross the Goodwin bridge to Gerrish's island you see a long, low, cosy, comfortable looking house, with a stone wall surrounding the field. Everything is in keeping with the house; the barn and outbuildings, the fruit and shade trees, the pretty slope to the creek, all speak plainly of peace and comfort. In that house live a couple who began their married life there fifty-five years ago, and there they have lived ever since. When they settled there, ninety persons lived on the island, and a school and two prayer meetings a week were sustained by the inhabitants. The old schoolhouse stood near the bridge, and used to be filled with children. The chairman of our S. S. Committee taught her first school in that house. The landlady of the Pepperell attended school there, and also taught in the same house. Capt. Edwin A. Gerrish attended school there; and Prof. Ivory F. Frisbee, and Oliver L. Frisbee of the Oceanic, Isles of Shoals, learned their first lesson there. It seems sad that a house around which so many interesting memories cling could not remain, but the old house was hauled away some years ago, and is now — I dislike to tell its fate, it is such an unromantic ending, but it is now the blacksmith's shop at the point! But to return to our starting place. Every person who lived there fifty-five years ago, excepting the couple mentioned, has died or moved away; they alone are left. In the pleasant sunny kitchen where the young bride prepared her first dinner in the new home, she now invites her grandchildren and great-grandchildren to dine with them; and nothing is so nice as the tea sipped from the pretty china cup with the tiny silver spoon, and the spicy cookies no one else can make just right, while we sit in a chair that would make a collector of antiquities crazy to possess it, and listen to charming stories and anecdotes of long ago, if we are lucky enough to take tea there. Of quite a family of children some are dead, and the others are all settled in homes of their own. Two grandchildren have lived there since they were very young, and still make it their home; but to all, —children, grandchildren, and great-grand children it is always Home when they reach the island. AUNT MOLLY.

March 14th.

The storm, which has hardly yet cleared off, has been the hardest one of all the winter. The schooner Josie Johnson broke adrift yesterday morning, and came down across the bow of a three masted vessel.

Part of the foundation of the old tower at Whales-back was washed away, and the corner of the abutment in front of Daniel Frisbee's boarding house.

No mails have been received since Monday, the snow being from ten to twelve feet deep along the track in many places. The snow plow came through to-day, and the trains will get through to-night. AUNT MOLLY.

Doubtless the new treaty with China will be ratified without trouble. The treaty prohibits the entrance of Chinese laborers to this country for a period of twenty years. This, together with the anti-immigration law, the hostility of the people of the Pacific slope, and the Chinese government's declared policy of opposition to the emigration of its subjects, will probably be enough to keep the coolies out of the country entirely.

"Did n't know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel freshest and stronger to go through the summer."

Spring Medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most popular and successful Spring Medicine.

Nearly every body needs a reliable spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel the impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the winter, to keep up strength as the warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring and you will be convinced that it does possess superior and peculiar merit.

A Good Appetite

"When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was dizzy in the morning, had a headache, and no appetite; but now I can hardly get enough cooked to eat." EMMA SHEPARD, 1 Comal Street, Worcester, Mass.

"Last spring my whole family took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The result is that all have been cured of scrofula, my little boy being entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy as possibly can be. I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla good for catarrh." WM. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

"The Little Tycoon."

This evening, in Music hall, will be presented the genuinely American comic opera "The Little Tycoon," by the author's own splendid company and under his own supervision, with the same scenic accessories as in New York and Boston. The musical comedy entertainment of the season. See advertisement—and go to Goodrich's to-day for a ticket, if you want a seat- to-night.

Notes of the Great Storm.

About twenty feet of the outer end of Union wharf was carried away, or tumbled down of its own accord, during the high tides the first of this week. It was in a very dilapidated condition, and the high water merely furnished it an excuse for caving in.

Massachusetts railroads were on Thursday rapidly resuming business on schedule time, and telegraphic communication had been made with nearly all sections. New York and the other states were also recovering from the storm. Late reports indicate that Toronto and Montreal suffered severely. The blizzard was in Scotland on the 15th.

The first train over the Ashuelot railroad since the 12th arrived at Keene on the 15th. Not a road between Keene and neighboring towns was then open.

Advices of the 13th, from Philadelphia, say "the ship Gov. Goodwin, at the old navy yard, was nearly capsized during the prevalence of the storm. A crew of riggers were put to work, and straightened her up again with great difficulty."

Remembering the comparatively mild temperature that prevailed here during the great storm, it is almost with incredulity that a Portsmouth citizen reads of the East river freezing over from shore to shore, and of persons frozen to death in the streets of New York.

No Rebellion Probable.

The Boston Advertiser's special correspondent at the Quincy house, dating from Concord, entertains the readers of that paper with a query as to who will be chosen delegates to St. Louis by the democratic state convention of New Hampshire. The correspondent intimates that several of the Concord railroad retained men will oppose Messrs. Jones and Sulloway being chosen as delegates!

This of course is all bosh. There are several good democrats who were willing to serve Mr. Pearson's pet theories as to railway legislation during the heated term of '87, but when it comes to a pure question of politics these men, every one of them, know who is king. When the convention to choose delegates is about to assemble at Concord, Mr. Jones will have a parlor at the Phenix, and the first callers there will be Messrs. H. W. Parker, J. A. Fellowes, A. H. Chase, Chas. A. Stone, and others, of the Concord contingent, and the first question asked of Mr. Jones by all of them, after the preliminary enquiry as to the state of his health, will be, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?"

To say that the large and critical audience was peiectly satisfied with the production tells all that is nedeed, In "Joan of Arc" Miss Banks has found a part in which she will win a name among the tragediennes of the day.—Boston Advertiser.

Miss Maud Banks will appear in Music hall next Tuesday evening, in her own play, "Joan of Arc." see advertisement.

Maritime Notes.

The schooner Gertie Freeman, of Newburyport, seventeen tons register, eight years old, has been bought by Portsmouth parties, and is to be commanded by Capt. Charles O. Johnson, in the fishing business. She arrived at this port on Friday night.

The steamer Seguin, with the schooner S. C. Ballard in tow, sailed from this port on the 15th inst., bound for Boothbay.

The schooners M. L. Smith, from Philadelphia, and King Philip, from Norfolk, both for this port with coal, were at anchor outside of Hyannis on the 15th inst., waiting wind.

A large water tank and other portions of a wreck were washed ashore at Old Orchard in front of the Fiske house, Tuesday of this week. Several cords of wood from the timbers were secured by the residents for fuel, much of which seemed to be dry upon the inside, although some are inclined to the belief that the fragments came from the wreck that has been lying at Biddeford pool for some time, and which was broken up by Monday's storm.

To-day is St. Patrick's day.

Frank Jones assures President Cleveland that New Hampshire can be carried for the democracy next fall. Joshua Foster says that if Cleveland is nominated the democracy will be snowed under by a 5000 majority. Here is a difference in estimates. Some of the democrats have the hardihood to declare that Fosis only playing decoy to lull the republicans into a condition of innocuous desuetude. The coming campaign will be a closely fought battle. There will be a big stake. The parties will make careful selections as to candidates. It will be a fight where neither party can afford to carry a candidate who has any discount regarding his character or popularity.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,000 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

Testimony was taken in the suit of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad against the Boston & Lowell railroad on Thursday, when B. A. Kimball testified that he bought the large block of shares of stock in the B., C. & M. R. R. of S. N. Bell in order to protect the interests of the Concord road, and that afterwards a syndicate of wealthy men, including the directors of the Concord road, was formed to carry the stock.

Hon. John S. Treat was chosen president of the "Marble Trade of New England & the Provinces" association at its annual meeting on Thursday.

In Congress: First member—"I say, colonel, what did Senator Ingalls mean in that speech of his, when he said, 'Iterum iterumque?'" Second member—"Blamed if I know, but I guess he refered to some kind of temperance liquor or other they use in Kansas."

The Emperor William.

A newspaper man's reminiscences of majesty have been given to the world under the title. "Monarchs I Have Met," by W. Beatty-Kingston. Here is a bit about the Emperor William from the book:

"He really loves soldiering. Most men become ardently attached to any science with which they are profoundly acquainted, and the king has studied matters military until, in that branch of knowledge, there remains nothing for him to learn. He is so thoroughly imbued with the feeling that he is, avant tout, a soldier, that of a morning, when he is sitting in his pleasant corner room under the lindens, with his uniform coat thrown open, reading, or talking to one of his ministers, he will, hearing the band of one of the guard's regiments playing as the soldiers are marching by his place, always turn hastily to the window to look at the men; never forgetting, however, to button his tunic up to the throat and pull out the cross of the 'Ordre pour le Merite,' always hanging round his neck, so that his troops may see him parfaitement de rigueur.

Indian Conundrums.

In a speech to the Indian commission, Chief Arlee of the Flatheads asked the following conundrums: "The white men make cards and they make whisky. They gamble with the cards and they drink the whisky. If whisky and cards are bad why don't the white people quit making them? They tell us they are bad. Why do they make them and use them? If these things are good and not bad why will not the white man allow the Indian to have them? I wish you to tell me this."—Nevada Enterprise.

THIS PAPER may be found in Philadelphia at the Newspaper Advertising Agency of Messrs. N. W. AYER & SON, our authorized agents.

Mayor Hewitt of New York refused to allow the Irish flag to be hoisted on the city hall flag staff on Saturday last, St. Patrick's day, on the occasion of the parade of St. Patrick's societies. He said such organizations are foreign, and foreign flags cannot fly over New York's city hall while he is mayor.

The Meuse has overflowed its banks and inundated Heughem, Borgharen and Itteren, in Holland.

Peter Jacoby, snowed in on his way from Allentown to Emans, Penn., was overcome by the cold and perished.

John Henriman left Milltown, three miles south of New Brunswick, N. J., to walk to Raritan in the great storm. He has not been heard of since. Neighbors found his wife dead in bed, and his children starving.

Rev. Eugene Peck, pastor of the Eastern Presbyterian church of Washington, D. C., was struck by a locomotive while walking on the railroad track on the outskirts of the city, and instantly killed.

Death a Welcome Release.

Must it not be to those who endure life-long bodily suffering? From childhood to old age many persons are tormented with rheumatism and neuralgia. Ordinary medication and topical remedies are of slight, and always of temporary efficacy. To escape the extreme tortures of these agonizing complaints, they should be annihilated at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which expels from the system the acrid impurities that beget them. The evidences as to its efficacy as a blood depurent in this particular is very ample, and strongly concurrent and convincing. In violent forms of these diseases the nerves are terribly racked. A wineglassful or two of the Bitters before the hour of retiring usually brings a respite from pain, and enables the sufferer to secure much needed repose. For kidney troubles, malarial complaints, indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, the Bitters is likewise beneficial.

A report has been received from Barbaru, Mexico, that the houses of protestants are being set on fire on every favorable occasion by fanatics.

"IT WAS INHERITED."

The Fearful Effect of Heredity Upon the Lives of Men and Women—A Striking Case.

"The man or woman does not live who is free from hereditary influences." This remark was made by the celebrated Dr. Vanderville, of New York, to the Rev. Dr. Brooks, at a recent convention of scientists. "I agree with you, doctor," said the divine.

"Pure blood," continued the doctor, "is the great cause of health; impaired blood the source of most diseases. It may even go back to the grand or great grand parents."

"I have in mind a prominent man," said the reverend gentleman, "General Alfred C. Monroe, of No. 1 Pemberton Square, Boston. He inherited kidney troubles from both parents, one of whom died with it. He suffered terribly from pains in the back and head, and at times when walking the dizziness became so bad that he was compelled to lay hold of some convenient post for support. He was in a most desperate condition."

"And is he so still?" asked the doctor.

"No, he is in perfect health. Dr. McGregor, I believe of Maine, who had amputated an arm for the general, cured him."

"Do you know what medicine he used?"

"I understand it was Hunt's Remedy."

"Oh, Hunt's Remedy. I know it very well," said Dr. Vanderville. "I consider it the best remedy for kidney, liver, heart troubles, and female difficulties in the world. It is in no sense a patent medicine, but a standard remedy, which deserves to be used by all intelligent people. The fact is, no blood-taint can exist when the kidneys are in perfect order, and there is where Hunt's Remedy shows its marvelous superiority."

"I only wish," said Rev. Dr. Brooks, "that all people who inherit a tendency to disease could know of this remedy of which you speak so highly and use it. I am positive it would greatly lessen suffering and death."

Legends of Serpent Women.

In the early Egyptian hieroglyphics we find representations of snakes' bodies crowned by female heads; and, indeed, this class of serpents seems to have proved equally attractive to all nations, an evidence of which subtle fascination is that the legends of the "snake maidens" still live in the nursery tales of today, perennially young and beautiful as though their birth were not wrapped in the mysteries of a prehistoric age. Of this family came Larnia, the witch of Crete, whose woman's heart rendered her doubly sensitive to the degradation she suffered during her incarceration within her scaly prison; nor did she, on renewing the pristine glory of her human form, completely lose the essence of her serpent nature. Harmonia, the wife of Cadmus, to be a companion in her husband's misfortunes, also took upon herself the serpent's shape, but being devoid of evil intent, never, it is said, shunned, but rather sought man's presence.

Perhaps it is but another form of the classic Harmonia which has become familiar to us under the name of the fairy Gentilla, who, in an adder's shape, sought refuge with Prince Leander from the vengeance of the irate gardeners, but at the end of several days dropped her scaly mantle, and, arrayed in supernatural charms, munificently rewarded her protector. In some of the later accounts of Melusina she is cited as a member of this sisterhood. Jean D'Arras represents her as a serpent "enameled blue and white;" thus also did she present herself to the commander of Lusignan, a fortress which she erected in the early days of her wedded happiness. If there be any who wonder that this union of serpent and woman should have proved attractive to our ancestors, might not the sinuous grace and enigmatical character of our own Elsie Venner plead eloquently for the charms of her myth born sisters?—North American Review.

Colors of the Alpine Sky.

When the Alpine sun is setting, or, better still, some time after it has set, leaving the limbs and shoulders of the mountains in shadow, while their snowy crests are bathed by the retreating light, the snow glows with a beauty and solemnity hardly equaled by any other natural phenomenon. So, also, when first illumined by the rays of the unrisen sun, the mountain heads, under favorable atmospheric conditions, shine like rubies. And all this splendor is evoked by the simple mechanism of minute particles, themselves without color, suspended in the air. Those who referred the extraordinary succession of atmospheric glows, witnessed some years ago, to a vast and violent discharge of volcanic ashes, were dealing with "a true cause." The fine floating residue of such ashes would undoubtedly be able to produce the effects ascribed to it. Still the mechanism to produce the morning and evening red, though of variable efficiency, is always present in the atmosphere. I have seen displays, equal in magnificence to the finest of those above referred to, when when there was no special volcanic outburst to which they could be referred. It was the long continued repetition of the glows which rendered the volcanic theory highly probable.—Professor John Tyndall in The Forum.

The American Club in London.

Among the many burning questions which yet remain to be settled between the United States and Great Britain, none have caused more dissatisfaction in social circles on the other side of the Atlantic than the lack of reciprocity shown by us in the matter of club hospitality. To the English gentleman every club in New York is open; but the citizen of the United States, on arrival in London, finds the portals of the leading clubs in Pall Mall sealed doors. Distinguished men, it is true, are made honorary members of the Athenæum; but it is not every one who can find exuberant joviality within its walls. Our countrymen who have resided in America, struck by the very one sided nature of the club treaty existing between the two countries, have recently started a fresh addition to the many London clubs. The American club aims at affording a meeting place in London for all men interested in the western hemisphere. Here members of the Pacific club at San Francisco, of the Manitoba club at Winnipeg, of the Cercle des Etrangers at Rio, the Knickerbocker at New York and the Turf in Piccadilly meet on terms of perfect equality.—St. James' Gazette.

Preservation of Negatives.

The best way to hold a person or keep track of him is in the possession of a good negative. Or her would do better, as there are more illustrations of the truth of this remark in the case of women. I have had a great deal of experience in this line and have never known it to fail, and for that reason I am always very particular to preserve negatives. They are better than bail bonds. I have negatives of a number of people now who have left the city and who want their friends to forget them, and to that end have very carefully avoided allowing those friends to know where they are or which way they had gone. Yet I hear from them frequently by means of orders for pictures printed off of such and such a negative. I have know of people missing for months, and even for years, and whose friends had given up the search for them, to write to their photographers for pictures off of an old negative.—Photographer in Globe-Democrat.

Arizona's Seven Ancient Cities.

Scientists assert that the newly discovered cities of Arizona are the same as sought by Cortez and the early Spanish adventurers in their expeditions after gold. The cities are seven in number and show evidences of former civilization and wealth.—Chicago Herald.

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

Awful Railroad Accident.

The fast mail train from New York to Jacksonville, Fla., went through a trestle near Blackspeur, Ga., seventy-five miles south of Savannah, shortly before noon on Saturday, the entire train going down, except the engine. The loss of life was terrible, nineteen persons being killed, and thirty-four injured, some of them fatally. The private car of President E. P. Wilbur of the Lehigh Valley railroad was attached to the train, and went down with it. In this car was President Wilbur, two of his sons, George Gould and wife, and others; one of the sons was killed; Mr. Wilbur and the other son, and Mrs. Gould, were injured; Mr. Gould was unhurt. The cause of the disaster was not given in the first despatches. At least ten more of the wounded were expected to die.

The Railroad Strike.

The Central Iowa railroad freight engineers and firemen left work on the 16th inst., on account of "Q" freight being hauled. The C., B. & Q. road on the same date loaned twenty-five first-class engine-crews to the Santa Fe road, the "Q" having now all the force it needs, and more. A large defection from the Santa Fe strikers is reported to have taken place on the 17th, a considerable number of the engineers going back to work. On the other hand, the strikers claim to have the railroads on the hip, and that they must come to terms.

Grand Sight-Seeing Trips to the Pacific Coast.

For seven years past Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb's annual spring tours to California have been exceedingly popular. Four years ago a trip through Oregon, the Puget Sound Country, and other sections of the Pacific Northwest was added. Two excursions are announced for the approaching spring. One party will leave Boston April 26th, and journey through Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, and California, the return being via Salt Lake City, the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, Manitou Springs, and Denver. The second party, leaving May 3d, will follow the same route to and through California, then diverging northward over the newly opened Mount Shasta Route, with visits to Portland, Dalles City, Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria, etc. The return trip will be over the entire length of the Northern Pacific Railroad, with a side trip of a week through the Yellowstone National Park, and later visits to St. Paul and Minneapolis. Riverside, Santa Monica, and Santa Barbara have been added to the long list of places to be included in the California section of both tours. Both parties will travel in magnificent trains of vestibuled Pullman Palace cars, with a dining-car included in each train. In addition to these trips it will be seen that there is to be another excursion to Washington (March 30th.) Descriptive circulars may be obtained of W. Raymond, 296 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston. Persons sending by mail should designate the tour regarding which they desire information.

An unknown schooner was seen in an arm of Chesapeake bay on the 12 h, flying a signal of distress. A revenue cutter tried to reach her, but could not. On the 14th she was reached, but her six men were found frozen stiff.

Between 100 and 200 small vessels were driven ashore, capsized or foundered at their moorings, in and around Chesapeake bay during the great storm. Some forty of them were totally wrecked, and the loss of life is great. The schooner Eastern Light, at four men, and the pungie Mollie the same number; many others were frozen to death, or died from hunger and exposure.

Five men were taken from the rigging of a sunken schooner off Chrisfield, Md., on the 16th, after being exposed forty-eight hours. All were badly frozen, and one died soon after the rescue.

Fishermen from Biddeford Pool and Goose rocks report that pieces of wreck and barrels of flour are drifting ashore along there. It is thought some vessel was wrecked near that part of the coast during the recent great storm.

A large spar with a mass of tangled rigging attached drifted ashore on the 14th inst. at Cape Elizabeth, near Richmond's island, and is supposed to be from some wrecked three-masted schooner, as the spar was too large to have come from the schooner Nellie Bowers, recently lost near that place.

One Italian was killed and several seriously injured by an explosion while blasting in a cut near Burgettstown, Pa., on Thursday last.

Ten non-commissioned officers of the army have been selected for promotion, and their nominations to be second lieutenants are now before the senate. This is an excellent plan, and people have begun to ask why it would not work well in the navy also. Perhaps there would be less complaints about the scarcity of American men-of-wars men if the way to the quarter deck were not absolutely closed to young seamen of ambition and intelligence. The navy will never become what it ought to be until some of the contemptible spirit of caste and aristocracy is knocked out of it by Congress. —Boston Journal.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier.

Were all wise enough to heed this advice in season, a world of suffering would be avoided. If you suffer from impure blood, scrofula, dyspepsia, biliousness, headache, take

Miss Maud Banks in "Joan of Arc."

Tickets for Miss Maud Banks' performance of "Joan of Arc" in Music hall to-morrow evening can be secured at Goodrich's to-day. Of this historical tragedy the Boston Herald says: "The piece possesses many good points, and will prove a strong attraction. The situations are effective, and the lines which fall to the heroine are replete with pathos and beauty. Miss Banks achieved a gratifying success, acquitting herself beyond the expectation of her most sanguine friends. She evinced rare dramatic talent, and was greeted with outbursts of the most hearty applause."

Miss Banks made her first appearance as a professional actress on the Music hall stage, and the desire to see her in tragedy will be general.

Personal.

Mr. Harrie W. W. Jackson has taken rooms for himself and family at the Rockingham, while his residence on Islington street is being remodelled and put in thorough repair.

Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton held her last reception of the season at her home on Rutland square, Boston, last Friday afternoon, and from four o'clock to 6:30 the hall and parlors were crowded with friends who came to bid goodbye to the hostess, who leaves the first of this week for an extended visit to New York.

Mr. Edwin L. Berry arrived in this city on Saturday from Hillsborough, for a stop of a few days before proceeding to Boston.

Mr. Wallace Rand, the well known jeweller of Park street, Boston, was one of those who got snow bound in New York. He was intending to return to Boston on Monday, the 12th, but instead arrived home on Friday.

Messrs. Joseph W. Peirce and Joseph Sise, accompanied by thir wives, will shortly go on a vacation trip to some point not yet determined on, Mr. Sise's health being such that he feels the need of a rest.

The Boston Traveller of last Friday said: "Rev. James DeNormandie, pastor of the First Religious society of Roxbury, yesterday observed the fifth anniversary of his pastorate, and invited the members and attendants to his house, where an exceedingly enjoyable reception occurred between the hours of four and ten P. M. The attendance was very large, the house being crowded all through the evening hours."

Leland T. Powers will read "David Copperfield" in Music hall on Tuesday evening, April 3d.

Mr. Charles H. Rollins, Jr. will leave this city for Oregon the last of this month or the first of next.

Horace Sawyer of Rye reached this city on Saturday from a short visit to New York.

Police Court.

SATURDAY, March 17th.

Philip Fracher was brought before Judge Buffurd for drunkenness, and was fined $3, costs $6.90.

Eddie McCue, for a similar offence, received the same sentence.

Rt. Rev. Wm. W. Niles, D. D., Episcopal bishop of New Hampshire, has appointed Thursday, March 22d, as a day of intercession for the restoration of Christian unity among all the divisions of the church of Christ, and services in accordance therewith will be held in St. John's church in the forenoon of that day.

The funeral of Dr. Willis W. French, son of John T. French of this city, took place Saturday afternoon from the residence of his father, corner of Islington and Summer streets, and was largely attended by friends. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,600 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

Francis Manter of Londonderry died recently, at the age of ninety-one years. At the age of sixteen he was drafted for the war of 1812, and did garrison duty at the forts defending this harbor. He left a large estate.

Some one advertises a $500 city of Portsmouth railroad loan bond to be sold at auction in Boston. These bonds are rarely seen in the market.

The New York newspapers of Monday and Thursday mornings reached the postoffice in this city on Saturday morning. The papers of Tuesday and Wednesday came via Long Island sound, and reached here Thursday at three o'clock in the afternoon.

New England has been taught one lesson from the results of the late storm. The loss in business and general inconvenience occasioned by all the rail communication of the greater part of the New England states being confined to a single line of road between New York and New Haven, has been demonstrated. If a little robin snow storm in the early spring causes such an embargo on the line of the New York, New Haven & Hartford road, what might be the result of an old-fashioned winter snow storm?

Music hall was occupied by a very large and fashionable audience on Saturday evening, when "The Little Tycoon" comic opera was presented by the author's own company, under his personal supervision. There is not an inferior vocalist in the large company, and the leading artistes are excellent. The acting was first-class, the scenery very fine indeed, the costumes gorgeous, the orchestra fully up to all that was required, and the large chorus as fine as ever appeared on Music hall stage.

Charles G. Conner, Esq., of Exeter, was in town on Saturday, and heard as referee the case pending in the supreme court wherein Langdon M. Perkins seeks to recover judgement against T. E. O. Marvin upon an action of trespass for killing a horse owned by Perkins. Col. Marvin justified the act, as he acted as an officer of the S. P. C. A., Perkins contending that the horse was worth $200, and should not have been killed.

Five cars of a special freight train got off the track at Hampton, Sunday evening, and detained the east-bound Pullman train till a late hour. The wrecking train went out from this city to clear the track.

The great sale of cheap clothing advertised to commence in the former Union store on Market street at three o'clock last Friday afternoon, did not come off, the managers not being able to procure a license, for some cause unknown to us. They paid all their preliminary bills contracted here, so far as we know.

Union Rebekah Degree Lodge, I. O. O. F., of this city, will visit the lodge in Hampton on the evening of Tuesday, March 27th.

The governor and council of Maine have made the following assessments of taxes on railroads in or passing through that state: Boston & Maine, $44,260.38; York Harbor & Beach, $18.38; Old Orchard Beach, $13.96.

A Biddeford despatch of March 16th says: "An action is to be brought against the Boston & Maine railroad for violation of section thirty-five, chapter 124, revised statutes, relating to the transportation of cattle. Abijah Tarbox, the local agent of the prevention of cruelty to animals societies, charges that in one car of a train stuck at Saco on the eastern division of the Boston & Maine during the recent storm, oxen and cows were crowded in together, and calves were being trampled upon by other cattle. The statutes require that in transportation of cattle each kind must be kept separate. An attempt will be made to have the railroad indicted by the grand jury at the May term of court."

Maritime Notes.

The schooner Grace K. Green, of this port, Seaward master, was below at Boston on the 16th inst.

Among the charters last week was that of a schooner with 1200 tons of coal from Norfolk to this port, at $1.10 per ton.

The schooner B. C. French, from Baltimore with 1324 tons of coal to E. F. Sise & Co., arrived at this port on Saturday, and will discharge at the Concord railroad wharf.

The schooner Lucy H. Russell, from Baltimore with 1756 tons of coal, and the King Philip, from Newport News with 1843 tons, both to J. Albert Walker, arrived at this port on Saturday.

The schooner Estella, Capt. D. A. Barter, arrived in the lower harbor on Saturday, bound from Portland for Boston with a cargo of paving stones. The Estella has been lying in Boothbay, Me., from Jan. 29th until a few days ago, waiting a chance to recover her anchors and chains.

The schooner Clara E. Simpson, Hontvet master, on Wednesday of last week while in New York harbor drifted down on the barque Elva E. Pettengill, at anchor off Bedloe's Island, carrying away the barque's bowsprit and head gear, and having her own stern somewhat stove.

The floating stage used as a boat landing at Star island during last summer, and which was hauled up for the winter on the shore near the jetty, is reported to be on the beach at Hampton, badly stove up. It was probably carried off from Star island by the high tide and heavy sea during the big storm.

SOME CURIOUS TABLE MANNERS.

The Good Old Days When Knives and Forks Were Scarce—The Saltcellar.

It was late in the Fourteenth century when the first evidences of art in the shape of silver cups were noticeable on the buffet. The dishes were made of pewter or wood and spoons of bone, wood or silver. Knives were rare, and on that account guests invited to feasts carried their own knives. Forks came in general use still later, and for long years after their introduction they were considered ridiculous affectation and foppery, and not nearly so convenient as one's own fingers. The lord and his lady dipped their fingers into the same plate and sipped their wine from the same cup. Even the queenly Elizabeth, with all her elaborate ideas of etiquette, was content to carry her food to her mouth with her fingers, and at first despised the newly invented forks as unseemly and awkward.

Very gradually the dining hall grew in comfort and splendor. Dishes of gold and silver were made, and so eager were the nobles for them that they would sacrifice anything to possess them. The saltcellar was for a long time the article of highest importance on the board. It was a great affair, and it stood directly in the center of the table; it was the dividing line; the nobles were seated above the salt, the commoners below; hence grew the proverb, "Below the salt." The passing of salt was a ceremonious custom, the guest throwing a pinch over his left shoulder and murmuring a blessing.

The saltcellars were of the most curious device. Sometimes they represented huge animals, sometimes a great, full blown flower, or a long, slender stem, and again they were in shape of a chariot, mounted on four wheels, on which they were easily run down the table.

The first glass cups came from Venice during the Sixteenth century, and from that time on society began to lose many of its primitive ways, and became, in a sense, more refined.

Henry VIII was born with luxurious tastes. He had his banquet chairs supplied with velvet cushions, and about this time the parlor or "talking room," as it was called, was introduced, and here it was that the dames took refuge when the dinner had advanced beyond prudent limits, as it invariably did before the finish.

The cook that presided over the kitchen in those days was not the counterpart of our Nineteenth century Bridget, but he was an artist, and generally a man of quality. The ladies of the household, even those of noble birth, attended to many domestic duties, making the bread, preserving the fruits, while to understand the proper use of starch was considered a great accomplishment.—This May Forney in Woman.

The Fat Man Trick.

Stage tricks and illusions have an undying charm even when the veil of mystery is raised. It was the celebrated family of Ravels that invented the fat man trick, and now we have an exposition of the manner in which that seeming marvel was accomplished. One of the actors in the pantomime sits at a table and ravenously eats dish after dish of food that a servant brings on to him. Presently the man, who like most ravenous eaters was rather thin and scrawny, begins to grow plump. His clothes fit him snugly. His waistcoat steadily swells out under the very eyes of the audience.

All the while he is eating like a sausage machine. In a few minutes he has grown to be a giant eight or nine feet tall, and with the proportions of an inflated balloon. The food eaten is all "property food," made of tissue paper, that the actor chews up into little balls and takes out of his mouth when occasion offers. His clothes are all of rubber and made to fit air tight around the wrists and neck. In sitting down he puts the heel of one boot over a little trap in the stage. An assistant below immediately couples a tube running from a bellows to a hole in the boot heel. Then he blows him up. By the time that the suit has grown so big that the inhabitant has to have a lantern to move around in it, the wind supply is cut off and the boot heel is plugged up. Then, by an ingenious arrangement of springs under the actor's feet the height is acquired.—Detroit Free Press.

The Legion's Iron Discipline.

Many desertions continue to take place from the French army in Tonkin. All the deserters who are recaptured are shot without compunction. Lately eighteen soldiers of the Foreign legion ran away from Southay with a lot of arms and accouterments. They were caught in the mountain defiles after a chase which lasted a considerable time, and the eighteen were condemned to be shot at once. It is said that when the men were drawn up in single file in front of their graves the adjutant who was in charge of the firing party cried out with an oath, on seeing some of the doomed men fall slightly out of their alignment, "Can't you fellows keep your dressing better than that? Eyes right! Dress!" No sooner was the command given than the prisoners with parade like punctuality straightened themselves up and obeyed as if they were on the drill ground or at a review. Then the fatal command was given, and the eighteen men went down before the terrible volley. The adjutant's words—if they were ever uttered, and it is probable that they were—show that an iron discipline still prevails in the French Foreign legion.—London Telegraph.

Watering the Bivalves.

"Always have your oysters opened while you wait," said a Brooklyn dealer. "Why? Because, although you pay five cents a quart more for them, you will save money. It is the custom of oyster dealers who open oysters the night before they are sold to throw them into water. An oyster will absorb about one-third its weight in water, and so the purchaser pays one-third of his money for water, which he can add to the oysters himself if he wants his bivalves watered."—New York Evening Sun.

Utilizing Apple Pomace.

Apple pomace was once thrown away at all the great cider mills, as it was thought to possess no value as food or manure. It is now sold to be used for both purposes. Not a few dairymen pay good prices for it to feed to milk cows.—Chicago Times.

A DISTRESSING COUGH.

How many, especially during the Fall and Winter months, are troubled with a Cough, sometimes dry and hacking, sometimes loose causing the sufferer to raise a large amount of offensive matter; this can soon be cured by using Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific, which acts directly on the Throat and Lungs.

Cured her Cough.

Mrs. JEREMIAH CLARK, Lowell, Mass., says: "Twelve years ago I first took a bottle of your Throat and Lung Specific. I had been troubled with a very bad Cough for months. A 50-cent bottle cured my Cough. Since then I have not been without it. I can heartily recommend it to any one who has a bad cough."

Saved his Life.

CHAS. A. WAITT, says: "No language can express the value I attach to your Specific. I believe it saved my life."

We would cite other testimonials did we think it necessary, but a trial bottle will convince you that it is all we represent. Give it a trial.

Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific is sold by all Druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

The Elberon house in New York was burned March 19. Mrs. Frances Westlake, a widow, was killed by jumping from the fifth story, and seven other persons were badly hurt.

Mrs. Hooker, of Elkhart, Ind., has appeared before the Pension board and made formal claim to a pension, based on the fact that she was an enlisted soldier of the late war, served three years, and was twice wounded. At the beginning of the war Mr. Hooker was appointed first lieutenant, and his wife accompanied him to the front. She was able to do this by a very clever piece of strategy. A young man who bore some resemblance to her was induced to submit himself to the necessary examination, and, when an opportunity presented itself, the young woman, properly uniformed, exchanged places with him. With her husband she has lived at Elkhart several years, and is familiarly known as Col. Hooker.

"Spring, spring, beautiful spring!" Monday was the first day of it, according to the calendar. Well, it wasn't a bad day at all.

Death a Welcome Release.

Must it not be to those who endure life-long bodily suffering? From childhood to old age, many persons are tormented with rheumatism and neuralgia. Ordinary medication and topical remedies are of slight, and always of temporary efficacy. To escape the extreme tortures of these agonizing complaints, they should be annihilated at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which expels from the system the acrid impurities that beget them. The evidence as to its efficacy as a blood depurent in this particular is very ample, and strongly concurrent and convincing. In violent forms of these diseases the nerves are terribly racked. A wineglassful or two of the Bitters before the hour of retiring usually brings a respite from pain, and enables the sufferer to secure much needed repose. For kidney troubles, malarial complaints, indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, the Bitters is likewise beneficial.

Miss Royce and Miss Woebbrecke, two of the teachers made famous by their conduct in the late blizzard, have been presented with life scholarships in the North Nebraska Normal College. The certificates state that they have paid in heroism tuition from February 10th, to the end of their lives, and are entitled to full college instruction, art, music, commercial studies and stenography.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, and are satisfied that purging yourself till you are weak and sick is not good common-sense, then try Carter's Little Liver Pills and learn how easy it is to be free from Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, and all Liver troubles. The little pills are smaller, easier to take and give quicker relief than any pill in use. One a dose. Price 25 cents.

Joseph Chamberlain expects to have baron honors thrust upon him when he gets to London. If he is not made a baron he may be knighted.

A wonderful remedy is Adamson's Cough Balsam. It heals irritated parts, cures the cough and helps the throat and lungs to resist the influence of climate so severe at this time of year. Adamson's Cough Balsam has been used by the most prominent people with the best results.

At Chicopee, Mass., March 17th, William A. Hall, foreman of the Dwight Manufacturing Co.'s paint shop, was instantly killed by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge which he had in his pocket.

Stop that cough or it will terminate in consumption. After suffering for months from a cough which, after using many remedies without any relief, threatened to terminate seriously, we were entirely cured by the the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. "IT WAS INHERITED."

The Fearful Effect of Heredity Upon the Lives of Men and Women—A Striking Case.

"The man or woman does not live who is free from hereditary influences." This remark was made by the celebrated Dr. Vanderville, of New York, to the Rev. Dr. Brooks, at a recent convention of scientists. "I agree with you, doctor," said the divine.

"Pure blood," continued the doctor, "is the great cause of health; impaired blood the source of most diseases. It may even go back to the grand or great grand parents."

"I have in mind a prominent man," said the reverend gentleman, "General Alfred C. Monroe, of No. 1 Pemberton Square, Boston. He inherited kidney troubles from both parents, one of whom died with it. He suffered terribly from pains in the back and head, and at times when walking the distance seemed so bad that he was compelled to lay hold of some convenient post for support. He was in a most desperate condition."

"And is he so still?" asked the doctor.

"No, he is in perfect health. Dr. McGregor, I believe of Maine, who had amputated an arm for the general, cured him."

"Do you know what medicine he used?"

"I understand it was Hunt's Remedy."

"Oh, Hunt's Remedy. I know it very well," said Dr. Vanderville. "I consider it the best remedy for kidney, liver, heart troubles, and female difficulties in the world. It is in no sense a patent medicine, but a standard remedy, which deserves to be used by all intelligent people. The fact is, no blood-taint can exist when the kidneys are in perfect order, and there is where Hunt's Remedy shows its marvelous superiority."

"I only wish," said Rev. Dr. Brooks, "that all people who inherit a tendency to disease could know of this remedy of which you speak so highly and use it. I am positive it would greatly lessen suffering and death."

THE SENSES OF ANIMALS.

Sir John Lubbock's Black Poodle "Van." Bees' Sensibility to Sound.

Sir John Lubbock recently delivered a lecture to the members of the Edinburgh Philosophical institute on "The Sense and Senses of Animals," in the course of which he said that there had been so many important recent works published relating to his subject that he thought it would be more interesting were he to deal, for the most part, with his own observations. Different ideas prevailed regarding the question of the intelligence of animals. Some people regarded a dog as an animal almost as wise and clever as themselves; but, on asking them if they thought a dog could realize that two and two made four, he generally found a good deal of doubt on that point.

Sir John Lubbock then described the system which he had adopted in the training of his own black poodle dog, "Van." He had placed two pieces of cardboard, on one of which was printed in large letters the word "food," the other being blank, on two saucers. In one of the saucers was food, and the card with the word upon it. In the other, the blank card and no food. In about ten days the dog began to distinguish the card with the letters from the plain card, and would go at once to the printed one. The lecturer then related in some detail his successful efforts in inducing the dog to bring him the proper card when he wanted food, in teaching him to know other cards containing the words "out," "tea," "bone," "water." On bringing the card marked "out" he would rush to the door. The cards were not put in the same places, but in different positions; and in order that the dog might not be guided by scent, other cards with the same markings were used.

No one who saw him look down the row of cards, and pick out the one wanted, could doubt that he sought a particular card for a particular object. He had found, at the end of three months' experiments, that he could not get the dog to realize the difference of colors, and it was just possible that the dog might be color blind. He had also failed to get the dog to distinguish among one, two, three, or four broad bands upon the cards. In order to ascertain if bees were sensible to sounds, he had placed some honey on a musical box on his lawn. The box played for ten days without stopping, and then he removed it to a window sill on the first floor of his house. Not a bee came to it. He again placed it on the lawn, and they again returned to the honey. He next brought it into the drawing room on the ground floor, about ten yards from its former position, but they did not follow; but on his bringing two or three bees into the house and putting them on the honey, they began to feed, and, flying off, returned with their companions. It seemed as if they did not hear the tune.

Regarding the old idea that bees would not swarm unless they were "tanged" by the creation of sounds, he was under the impression that it was the "over tones" which the insects heard, and which were inaudible to our ears. The sounds were so low as to be beyond our range of hearing. Man, he said, had five senses, and fancied that no others were possible; but it was obvious that we could not measure the infinite by our own narrow limitations. Even within the penetration of our own senses there might be endless sounds which we could not hear, and colors of which we have no conception. There was also the other question still remaining for solution, that the familiar world which surrounded us might be a different place altogether for other animals, in which there was music we could not hear, colors we could not see, and sensations which we could not conceive. The pursuit of such studies gave a clew to senses and perceptions of which we had no conception.—Mechanical World.

Love by Candle Light.

The expense in light, fuel, etc., which courtship brings paterfamilias is a never worn out joke with our newspapers. Probably these long enduring fathers would welcome the introduction of a system of courtship pursued by the Boers, a thrifty race of Holland descent in South Africa. Here it is the practice for the young man to make known his intention to the lady of his choice by calling, armed with a long candle. If his suit is agreeable to the lady and her family, the mother lights the candle brought, sticks a pin in it to indicate how long a time the young people are allowed to devote to wooing this time, and leaves them alone. When the candle has burned down to the pin she returns and the young man must withdraw. The same candle is brought out at subsequent visits and burned by instalments, and when it is entirely consumed, the girl is expected to have her trousseau in readiness for the wedding.—Alta California.

Henry Bergh's Characteristics.

Mr. Bergh is slender, of medium height, and carries himself erect and with great dignity. His face would command attention in any assemblage. His most distinguishing characteristic is his forehead, which is massive in breadth and height and protrudes almost to the line of his resolute chin. In spite of his long years and busy life, his eyes retain their brightness and his voice its pleasant and cheery softness. It is a voice that is always under its owner's perfect control. Its tones are the same in their quality when he addresses a court to secure the conviction of some ignoble brute who has raised his hand against his more noble but less fortunate fellow, as when he comments upon the play to his companion between the acts at some notable theatrical first night.—Benjamin Northrop.

SOME DOCTORS

honestly admit that they can't cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Others say they can but—don't. Athlophoros says nothing but—cures. That's the secret of its success. Years of trial have proved it to be a quick, safe, sure cure.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 3, 1887.
In my own family Athlophoros was used as a last resort, the user having suffered from rheumatism for years and having been treated for the disease by different physicians in the State and Massachusetts without even temporary relief. Upon my recommendation several people have used this remedy with the same results claimed for it. C. H. WILSON, Diplomat, Iowa, Jan. 3, 1888.
Athlophoros has completely cured me of nervous headache, and I feel thankful for it. The seventh bottle cured me. Mrs. Laura Colcord.

Coughs, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, and every affection of the Throat, Lungs and Chest are speedily and permanently cured by the use of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, which does not dry up a cough and leave the cause behind, but loosens it, cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint. CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as proved by hundreds of testimonials. The genuine is signed "I. Butts" on the wrapper. SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, Proprs., Boston, Mass. Sold by dealers generally.

ADAMSON'S BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM

More than twenty years ago Adamson's Botanic Balsam was introduced generally throughout New England as a remedy for Coughs, Colds and Pulmonary complaints. Its introduction it has constantly met its way into public favor, until now it is the universal decision that ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is the best remedy for curing Coughs, Colds and Asthma.

March! April! May!
In these months all humors slay.
Lest your blood become impure,
And diseases hard to cure
Your feeble system shall attack,
And pains severe your body rack.
You long, you sigh for rest and ease
These fearful sufferings to appease.
I'll tell you where it can be found,
In Ingalls' pure Mandrake Compound.

The revenue cutter Levi Woodbury, Capt. Fengar, arrived at Bath, Me., March 18th, in a partially disabled condition, having twisted off her rudder head during the heavy weather of last week. She was steered into port with temporary gear.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

Twenty-three persons were killed and thirty-five wounded by the railroad disaster at Blacksbear, Ga., on the 17th. The trestle which fell was forty feet high and 800 feet long, and 400 feet of it went down. The baggage car took fire, but the engineer and the Pullman car porter put the fire out, thereby saving many lives.

The Nashua Newspaper Project.

Several gentlemen of Nashua, doubtless all of whom are neophytes in newspaper business, contemplate *establishing a new republican daily newspaper at Nashua. The ground is now occupied, though the projectors of the new enterprise maintain that it is not filled, by the Daily Telegraph. While, in public, the new candidates for initiation into the mode in which money is made by corporate owners of newspapers who conduct business by proxy, do not deny that Mr. O. C. Moore, who owns and edits the Telegraph, is a good republican politician, and publishes as good a paper as the region about Nashua can afford to sustain, still there appears an undercurrent of sentiment which asserts that Mr. Moore is not all there is to Nashua, and that his journal is more frequently used for the personal political advancement of its editor than for the interests of Nashua or the political fortunes of the party he claims to sustain.

Mr. Moore seems to believe that his course at Concord last summer in the investigation of the ways and means which caused the passage of the Hazen bill, (which he so violently opposed, as it is contended solely from his views achieved by a service as railroad commissioner,) is the reason for the new departure in republican newspaper literature in his town. The absurdity of this proposition goes without saying.

Whether Nashua, within forty miles of Boston, and situated as is Portsmouth, on a boundary line instead of near the centre, with Manchester as a powerful rival, can sustain three daily papers, is one of the propositions to be demonstrated. It is one thing to raise a company, collect a fund and start a paper. It is quite another affair to obtain a status as a self-sustaining journal, to have the paper edited and conducted to the satisfaction of the various owners, and to exhibit to the stockholders a balance sheet which can afford them anything more than the fun of having been for a time acquiring an experience in the newspaper business.

*Since the foregoing was written the new journal has been launched, the first number appearing on Saturday evening, an immense edition being sold. It is called the Standard.

A Strike Ended.

The strike of engineers and firemen on the Topeka, Atchison & Santa Fe railroad is ended, the chairman of their grievance committee on the evening of March 18th ordering them back to work.

No trouble occurred on the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf railroad, all trains leaving on time on the 18th.

On the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road all trains were running on time on the 18th, and the absolute failure of the strike on that road was apparent.

Death of Wm. W. Stickney.

Hon. William Weir Stickney of Exeter died on Monday, as that town. He was born at Enfield in 1801, graduated at Dartmouth college in 1822, and was admitted to the bar in 1823. He practiced law in Concord and Newmarket until 1847, when he moved to Exeter. He was a member of the legislature from Newmarket three years. In 1849 he was appointed by President Taylor to be United States district attorney for New Hampshire, serving until 1853. He was for a number of years judge of probate for Rockingham county, president of the Rockingham County Bar Association and the Exeter Machine Works, director of the National and Granite State banks of Exeter, and for one year a director of the Manchester & Lawrence railroad. He was made a Mason in 1829. He leaves a widow and daughter.

Mr. Frank W. Moses has disposed of his business and stock in trade at Stich Ban, Congress block, to two young men who will continue the business under the firm name of Hoyt & Dow. Mr. Hoyt has been in the store with Mr. Moses for a considerable time, and is thoroughly conversant with the details connected with the running of a first-class music and art store.

Hon. John H. Pearson, who had a leg amputated at Concord on Sunday, is the heaviest stockholder in the Concord railroad, and for years has been virtually its managing director.

Coal freights from Baltimore to this port and Bath, Me., were at the end of last week quoted at $1.15 per ton; to Boston and Portland, $1.10.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,600 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

The committee on railroads of the Massachusetts senate on the 19th inst. reported favorably a bill authorizing the Boston & Maine railroad to purchase the Eastern road, its property and franchises, also the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway road. The bill also authorizes the Boston & Maine to increase its capital to the amount necessary to consummate these purchases.

The Ball house on State street has been purchased by Mr. John J. Pickering, and will be fitted at once for the occupancy of two families.

Mr. Carl Zerrahn, the eminent Boston musician, thinks Josef Hofman is the most remarkable musical prodigy since Mozart.

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

March April May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier.

At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

Death of Comdr. Eastman.

Thomas Henderson Eastman, commander in the United States navy, on the retired list, died at his home on Fleet street in this city about ten o'clock Sunday evening, March 18th, after a long and weary illness, in the 51st year of his age, he having been born in August, 1837.

He was born in the state of New York, and was appointed to the navy from New Hampshire Jan. 31st, 1853. He was at the naval academy until 1856, when he was assigned to the steam-frigate Wabash, attached to the home squadron, and was in her until 1858. He was promoted to master in 1859, and in 1860 was commissioned lieutenant. In 1861 he was in command of the steamer Yankee, and afterwards of the steamer Thomas Freeborn, attached to the Potomac flotilla, and while in those vessels took part in numerous sharp engagements with rebel batteries and guerillas on the Potomac and Rappahannock rivers. In 1862 and '63 he commanded the steamer Keystone State, of the Atlantic blockading squadron, and took part in the engagements with Fort Hatteras and Fort Clark, and with the rebel ironclads Chicora and Palmetto off Charleston in 1863. He was commissioned lieutenant commander Sept. 30th, 1862, and served in the South Atlantic blockading squadron in '64 and '65, and was in the iron-clad Weehawken at the reduction of Fort Sumter and Charleston. In 1866 and '67 he was attached to the naval academy, and commanded the steamer Penobscot, of the North Atlantic squadron, in '68 and '69. He was commissioned commander on the 19th of June, 1871, and was assigned to equipment duty at the Washington navy yard in 1872. In 1873, '74 and '75 he was in charge of the equipment department at the Portsmouth navy yard, and in '76, '77 and '78 commanded the iron-clad Ajax, attached to the North Atlantic squadron; in '79 and '80 he was on waiting orders. He was placed on the retired list June 29th, 1883, on account of disability incurred in the line of duty.

Comdr. Eastman was a man of much more than ordinary intelligence, and had constantly improved his mind by extensive reading and close observation. He was a very pleasant companion, and few topics could be brought up on which his opinion, if asked—for he was not one to thrust in his opinion unsolicited—was not worth hearing. He was a thorough seaman, and earnestly devoted to the service in which his life was spent.

The Atkinson Street Fire.

There having arisen many rumors concerning the origin of the fire in the old wreck of a house No. 11 Atkinson street, in which Mrs. Margaret Harrington lost her life last Thursday night, County Solicitor Emery on Saturday directed Coroner Whittier to hold an inquest, and in accordance therewith the coroner summoned George E. Pendexter, Matthew E. Betten and Jeremiah Sanborn to act as jurors in the case, and they were sworn in on Saturday, and after viewing the remains of Mrs. Harrington, which had been placed in the tomb, adjourned to Monday morning.

The testimony of several witnesses was taken Monday, and resulted in showing to a certainty that the fire did not commence in Mrs. Harrington's room in the second story, but started on the lower floor in the ell of the house, at the rear, and that she was suffocated by the smoke. Mr. John Kelley, owner of one undivided half of the house, (the other undivided half having been owned by Mrs. Harrington,) was before the jury of inquest Monday afternoon. County Solicitory Emery conducted the examination of witnesses.

FOOD TESTS IN NEW YORK.

Official Analysis of Baking Powders. Adulterations in Cream of Tarter.

Under the direction of the New York State Board of Health, eighty-four different kinds of baking powders, embracing all the brands that could be found for sale in the State, were submitted to examination and analysis by Prof. C. F. Chandler, a member of the State Board and President of the New York City Board of Health, assisted by Prof. Edward G. Love, the well-known United States chemist.

The official report shows that a large number of the powders examined were found to contain alum or lime; many of them to such an extent as to render them seriously objectionable for use in the preparation of human food.

Alum was found in twenty-nine samples. This drug is employed in baking powders to cheapen their cost. The presence of lime is attributed to the impure cream of tarter of commerce used in their manufacture. Such cream of tartar was also analyzed and found to contain lime and other impurities; in some samples to the extent of 93 per cent. of their entire weight.

All the baking powders of the market, with the single exception of "Royal" (not including the alum and phosphate powders, which have not the virtue of even an impure cream of tartar), are made from the adulterated cream of tartar of commerce, and consequently contain lime to a corresponding extent.

The only baking powder yet found by chemical analysis to be entirely free from lime and absolutely pure is the "Royal." This perfect purity results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patient processes which totally remove the tartrate of lime and other impurities. The cost of these chemically pure cream of tartar is much greater than any other, and on account of this greater cost is used in no baking powder but the "Royal"

Prof. Love, who made the analysis of baking powders for the New York State Board of Health, as well as for the Government, says of the purity and wholesomeness of the "Royal":

"I find the Rayal Baking Powder composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates or other injurious substance. E. G. Love, Ph. D.

It is highly satisfactory to the housekeepers of this vicinity, where the Royal Baking Powder is in general use, that the investigations by the analysts in Massachusetts, New York, and Ohio, the only States that have thus far taken action upon this important subject, agree in classing it as the purest and most efficient baking powder in the market.

Memorial Resolutions.

At a meeting of the directors of the Portsmouth Trust & Guarantee Company, holden on Monday, the following resolutions were adopted:

When one, who, with honor to us, has for years been our associate and chief in the management of the trusts committed to our charge as directors of this institution, is called away into the unknown to be with us no more, it is fitting and proper that we give more than a passing notice to such an event, and show by some visible token that we realize our loss.

Resolved, therefore, that in the death of our President Jeremiah F. Hall, we have not only lost a valued associate, but this company has lost a true friend and an official who, by his prudence and honesty, and his devotion and careful attention to its interests, has shown himself to be a safe manager and faithful servant.

Resolved, that we extend to his widow, children and relatives our sympathy and condolence in this their bereavements.

Resolved that these resolutions be spread upon our records and a copy thereof sent to the family of the deceased.

Personal.

Mr. Harry P. Junkins of Chelsea, Mass., formerly of Portsmouth, was in this city last Sunday.

Mrs. Ralph L. Reinwald and daughter, of Salem, Mass., are passing a few days in this city.

Mrs. Annie Waldron and daughter are guests of Mrs. Kent on Islington street.

William H. Rollins, Esq., was in a railway train which met with a disaster near Syracuse, N. Y., last week. The first intimation Mr. Rollins' friends here had of the accident was a despatch announcing that he was unharmed.

The remains of Mrs. Frank Webber, who died in Boston on Sunday, will be brought to this city for interment to-day.

Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick and family, of Rye, who have been at Longwood, Florida, for the winter, are on their way home.

Chauncey A. Hoyt and Herbert Dow, who have bought out Stich Ban, are both from Newington.

Mr. Browne of Boston, a patent lawyer, was in this city on Monday and took several affidavits relative to the use of a hammock stretcher on which a patent is now claimed. The evidence of several men formerly in the navy was taken at the office of the United States circuit court, showing this same article in ships fitted out at this navy yard many years ago.

HISTORY OF THE "ROGERS MISSION CIRCLE"

Of the North Church.—An excellent Record.

Through the kindness of Miss Mattie Kimball we are enabled to publish the history of the above named society, which we think will be interesting to our readers.

In 1817, a children's society in behalf of foreign missions, was formed in Portsmouth, under the name of the "Juvenile Society." It was probably one of the first foreign missionary societies formed in our country. The members were not only boys and girls from the North church, but also from the Unitarian and St. John's churches.

They met once in three months, at the chapel on Fleet street, paid in their pennies, and were addressed by the minister; but there is no record of any work. Not much is known about its earlier years. Its funds were spent for the education of heathen children, who were often named for the minister or some member of the society. In 1864 the society was turned into a sewing circle which met once a fortnight.

Up to this time $1169.56, had been raised from the contributions of the children. Beside the foreign work they sent barrels of clothing to home missionaries for a time.

During the war the name was changed to the "Mite Society," and as Mites they raised $397, which was spent in clothing and hospital stores for the soldiers. After the war, the circle subscribed $100 toward building the new chapel on Middle street, furnished the Infant-class room at an expense of $95, and took $115 worth of stock in the fence which surrounds the yard. Most of this money was raised by a fair.

After this work was done, in honor and memory of Miss Mary Rogers, who was its fast friend throughout her life, the society took the name of the "Rogers Mission Circle." They pledged to send thirty dollars a year to educate two heathen girls in the Mission school at Ahmadnagar, India. At the time of the famine in India the amount was raised to forty dollars.

For many years, beside the membership fees, they have earned their money by a sale of articles made by the society, and by entertainments, consisting of missionary dialogues, recitations, music, etc. In 1884 the society gave twenty dollars toward building the new missionary ship the "Morning Star." During the last ten years $475 have been raised.

The society is now in a flourishing condition and meets regularly at the houses of its members, and at the chapel. Its officers are, Miss Flora Dow, president; Miss Mary Hanscom, vice president; Miss Kittie Sweetser, treasurer; Miss Mary Neal, secretary.

HOME.

There lies a little city in the hills;
White are its roofs, white each dwelling's door,
And peace with perfect rest its bosom fills.

There the pure mist, the pity of the sea
Comes as a white soft hand, and reaches o'er
And touches it still face most tenderly.

Unstirred and calm, amid our shifting years,
Lo! where it lies, far from the clash and roar,
With quiet distance blurred, as if thro' tears.

Oh, heart that prayest so for God to send
Some loving messenger to go before
And lead the way to where thy longings end.

Be sure, be very sure, that soon will come
His kindest angel, and through that still door
Into the infinite love will lead thee home.

Shoes in the Middle Ages.

In the Middle Ages shoes of an extravagant length became popular. In the reign of Richard II the tips of some reached to the knee, to which they were secured by gold and silver chains. The upper parts were frequently cut to imitate church windows. Such shoes were called "Crackows," after the city of Cracow. They were introduced into England in the reign of Richard II by John, the grandfather of his queen. Several bulls were issued against these extravagances, but long toed shoes held their own for nearly 300 years.

The English parliament at one time regulated by act not only the quality of the leather, but the number of stitches to be taken in making every shoe. In 1463 parliament prohibited the making of any shoes "for the unprivileged classes" with points more than two inches long. The top boots, so familiar to us in the pictures of the early Puritans, were introduced in the Sixteenth century.—Philadelphia Times.

Rinsing Out Poisons.

A curious and novel method of saving life in certain cases of poisoning has been originated by Dr. Carlo Banquirico, of Sienna. By largely increasing the volume of the blood, which can be done by injecting into the arteries saline solutions to the amount of about 8 per cent. of the weight of the animal, the poisons are actually rinsed out and eliminated from the system. In this way the lives of dogs and guinea pigs were saved after being dosed with deadly amounts of strychnine, chloral, alcohol, aconitine, paraldehyde, caffeine and urethan. With certain other poisons, as morphine, curarine and nicotine, the method failed. It is not at all impossible that this discovery may introduce an improved treatment, not only for cases of poisoning, but for certain diseases.—New York Mail and Express.

The Italian Bootblack's Discovery.

The march of improvement is still onward, and the Italian bootblack has caught its step. A gentleman who wished to have his understanding brightened took his seat in the chair of an enterprising son of Italy and soon had one of his shoes adorned with a nice patent leather shine. When the artist completed his work he took from the drawer of his box a piece of canton flannel about six inches wide and a foot long. Firmly grasping its ends he applied its woolly side to the tip of first the right and then the newly shined boots, and rubbed them up until the polish on them was as smooth as that of the patent leather.

"It make the shine verra nice," he explained, as he pocketed the nickel.—New York Evening Sun.

The Study of Shorthand.

Nothing, in my judgment, surpasses the study of shorthand for mental training. It is, in its very essence, an acquirement that lies far outside of the mental limits attainable by idiocy, and the application of its principles calls for the constant exercise of a greater and steadier power of concentration than the technicalities of any other known accomplishment. The fastest writer is habitually, on the average, from six to a dozen words behind the speaker, and to carry these in the mind, while at the same time executing multifarious stenographic intricacies upon the paper, is a feat which can hardly be said, with truth, to lessen the brain's retentive faculty.—A. E. Leon in The Writer.

When Buying Wearing Apparel.

It is astonishing to observe how few people understand the common rules of measurement in purchasing wearing apparel. For instance, a man will buy a coat that is a "size" too small or too large. A "size" smaller or a "size" larger is what he probably needs, but he does not know what a "size" is. Well, a "size" in a coat is an inch, a size in underwear is 2 inches, a size in a sock is 1 inch, in a collar 1-2 an inch, in a shirt 1-2 an inch, in shoes 1-6th an inch, pants 1 inch, gloves 1-4 of an inch, and in hats 1-8 of an inch. Very few purchasers ever understand the schedule named.—Globe-Democrat.

Prevention of Evaporation.

A Colorado farmer recommends a somewhat novel method of preventing the loss of water by evaporation from open tanks or ponds. It consists in giving the surface of the water a thin coating of oil, and was successfully adopted by him during the unusual drought of last summer. He demonstrates the correctness of his theory by filling two vessels of equal size with the same depth of water and pouring a few drops of oil on the water of one. In due course the water in the other vessel will entirely evaporate, while the one that was oiled shows no loss.—Chicago Times.

What "Islam" Means.

"Islam" is the favorite word among the Mohammedans, by which they designate their own religion. It means absolute, unquestioning submission to the will of God, especially as this is revealed in the Koran and in the traditions of Mohammed.—The Gospel in All Lands.

A DISTRESSING COUGH.

How many, especially during the Fall and Winter months, are troubled with a Cough, sometimes dry and hacking, sometimes loose causing the sufferer to raise a large amount of offensive matter; this can soon be cured by using Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific, which acts directly on the Throat and Lungs.

Cured her Cough.

MRS. JEREMIAH CLARK, Lowell, Mass., says: "Twelve years ago I first took a bottle of your Throat and Lung Specific. I had been troubled with a very bad Cough for months. A 50-cent bottle cured my Cough. Since then I have not been without it. I can heartily recommend it to any one who has a bad cough."

Saved his Life.

CHAS. A. WAITT, says: "No language can express the value I attach to your Specific. I believe it saved my life."

We would cite other testimonials did we think it necessary, but a trial bottle will convince you that it is all we represent. Give it a trial.

CHARLES E. SIMPSON.

This life is to full of work, of duty, and of pleasure to be wasted. But every body don't think so, or they would not trifle with a cold, or a cough, when Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the only reliable remedy, can be procured for 25 cents.

Miss Beatrice Potter is to edit Herbert Spencer's biography after his death. She is constantly receiving instructions from him on the subject.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

Mrs. Williams, of Deleware, Ohio., will have charge of the woman's department at the Ohio Centennial, which opens next August. Ohio women everywhere are invited to contribute.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulpher Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

"Octave Thanet," who has become known as a writer of very bright and original short stories, is Miss Alice French, of Davenport, Ia.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

Near Trumansburg, N. Y., on Friday night of last week, Richard Barber murdered the wife of Richard Mason, and so fiendishly assaulted Mr. Mason with a poker that he cannot recover. He then set fire to the house, and the woman was cremated. Mason crawled out of the house, and told the neighbors what occured. Barber was secured, and it was thought would be lynched.

If you are nervous or dyspeptic try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. Dyspepsia makes you nervous, and nervousness makes you dyspeptic; either one renders you miserable, and these little pills cure.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church is going to build a home for immigrant girls near Castle Garden, to care for unprotected young women who come to this country, and to offer them moral and industrious training.

My Friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

Two hundred ladies of Alleghany city, Pa., have agreed not to trade at stores which keep open after 6 P. M. on Saturday. They say the clerks and saleswomen are kept standing until nearly midnight, and reach home so tired that they get no good of their Sunday. The movement in favor of early closing began with six ladies, but is spreading through the whole city.

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet, cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness, and give strength and rest.

Japan is taking active steps to forward the education of women. A woman's college has been founded in Tokio, with English teachers, and the government has entrusted the full management of the college for six years to a committee of English women.

Ripley Bartlett, a well known citizen of Concord, committed suicide Saturday by drowning in the Concord river, at a point about ten rods from the Boston & Lowell railroad bridge. His body was recovered Sunday afternoon. While his wife was out riding Saturday, he went into the house, left his watch, fondly kissed his little girl, and talked with her about 10 minutes. He then disappeared. Deceased, who was in his 51st year, was an inventor, and formerly held a position in the New York Custom House. Mind trouble is supposed to have led to the act.

F. E. Elder of Franklin, Samuel D. Cole of Antrim, and Wm. H. Paine of Berlin have been admitted to the bar at Concord.

Farm help for the open season is reported scarce in many sections of the state, with wages a little higher than last year.

Ex-Postmaster Gilman C. Lang, for many years an influential Republican and prominent citizen of Candia, died March 11th, at the age of sixty-four.

Miss Annie Armstrong, for the past several seasons telegraph operator at the Twin Mountain House, White Mountains, died recently in Vermont.

There was a bad crash in the store of Chas. H. Sherman in Northwood, caused by the floor giving way and letting heavy merchandise down on to some carriages in the basement.

Death a Welcome Release.

Must it not be to those who endure life-long bodily suffering? From childhood to old age many persons are tormented with rheumatism and neuralgia. Ordinary medication and topical remedies are of slight, and always of temporary efficacy. To escape the extreme tortures of these agonizing complaints, they should be annihilated at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which expels from the system the acrid impurities that beget them. The evidence as to its efficacy as a blood depurent in this particular is very ample, and strongly concurrent and convincing. In violent forms of these diseases the nerves are terribly racked. A wineglassful or two of the Bitters before the hour of retiring usually brings a respite from pain, and enables the sufferer to secure much needed repose. For kidney troubles, malarial complaints, indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, the Bitters is likewise beneficial.

Caroline Herschel, the discoverer of eight comets, and the accomplished partner of her brother's astronomical labors, never could remember the multiplication table, and had always to carry a copy of it about with her.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, and are satisfied that purging yourself till you are weak and sick is not good common-sense, then try Carter's Little Liver Pills and learn how easy it is to be free from Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, and all Liver troubles. The little pills are smaller, easier to take and give quicker relief than any pill in use. One a dose. Price 25 cents.

An effort is being made to secure funds for the erection of a hotel at Hanover on the site of the one burned about a year ago.

A wonderful remedy is Adamson's Cough Balsam. It heals irritated parts, cures the cough and helps the throat and lungs to resist the influence of climate so severe at this time of year. Adamson's Cough Balsam has been used by the most prominent people with the best results.

It is reported that the Concord railroad will re-lay ten miles of the North Weare road with new steel rails the coming season.

Stop that cough or it will terminate in consumption. How a Dying Child Was Saved!

CICERO, HAMILTON CO., IND., Sept. 19, 1887.—The following is a true account of what your S. S. S. has done for our little daughter, Hazel, now four years old. When 27 months old a lump appeared on her neck, which finally grew larger. The family physician thought it was caused by a piece of broken glass or needle, but failed to bring anything to light. The child became feebler all the time, seeming to lose the use of her leg, and finally quit walking entirely. The milky fluid and chunks of either hand became enlarged, the flesh becoming hard. The hip joints became involved, so that when seventeen months old she could not stand, having lost the use of leg and arm. Partial paralysis of the spine also followed. The nervous system was wrecked, muscles contracted, and there was general wasting of flesh and muscle. At eighteen months of age she was placed under the treatment of a prominent physician of Boston, Mass., but at the end of ten months she had declined to such a degree that she was in a dying condition. This was in April, 1886. We took the child away and knowing what to do. In this dreadful dilemma we were over-persuaded by friends to try "one bottle" of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC, which we did, and before it had all been taken we saw a change for the better in her symptoms. We kept it up, and have done so to this day, and will keep it up, if the Lord wills, for many days to come, for it has brought our dying Hazel to life, to vigor, to strength and health again. The ashen hue of her cheeks has changed to a rosy tint. She is able to walk anywhere, her languor and melancholy have passed away, and she is now a lithe, cheerful, happy romping child. Should you wish to increase your testimonials of proof of the virtue of S. S. S., our names and what we have said is but a portion of what we owe to you, should you wish to use them.

Kindly yours,

A RELIGIOUS CEREMONY.

In the Tuscan Highlands at the village of Cutipliano they keep high feast on the 8th of August in memory of Saint Aurelius and Saint Irenæus, whose bones lie in state in the town church. The sacred remains exhibited on the holiday are preserved in richly gilt shrines, with glass front and sides. The skulls are bare in all their grinning hideousness; the rest of the skeletons are happily hid in rich costumes, the hands covered with silk gloves and the feet with elegant stockings.

After mass is over in the church and the people have been blessed, a priest standing at the altar holds up a reliquary containing the bone of a saint for the adoration of the crowd. One by one the men come up to the altar steps, devoutly kiss the glass that covers the precious bone, and drop a copper or two into the brass tray which is carried by an attendant. After each osculation the glass is carefully wiped with a napkin and then presented to the next in order.

The women come after the men. The faith of these is apparently more lively. They seem fully satisfied that by the act of adoration they have committed themselves to she effectual safeguard of the saint, and they turn away their faces radiant with peace and contentment. Here comes a family group, a mother leading a little girl by the hand with a baby on her arm. It is touching to see the earnestness with which the mother presses the pouting lips of her infant against the sacred charm and the joy with which she broods over him when she has thus secured his salvation; behind comes an old woman, wrinkled, infirm, alone in the world, but the weight of her years and trouble seems to grow light when she has secured the good will and intercession of the saint.

So they come in a long succession of every age and condition, but all believing and devout. Long after the service is over the worshippers remain absorbed in prayer, kneeling in different parts of the church, utterly lost to all that passes around.

After leaving the church the Tuscans repair to the village green, where a lottery is in progress, and every one, from the gray head to the toddling infant invests in a ticket. They are very superstitious about significant numbers. One man chooses eight because his cat at home has that number of kittens, another twenty-nine because his son fell and broke his leg on that day of the month; still another fifteen because there are that number of letters in the saint's name whom they celebrate.

Every one is in good humor while the drawing takes place, and even if their numbers are unsuccessful they leave with the conviction that it will surely come up on the next feast day.—Foreign Letter.

The Eskimo's Dogs.

Next to his children, the most important members of an Eskimo's household are his dogs, they being essential to his hunting in summer and his traveling in winter. They are very wild, wolfish animals, only half domesticated, and possessing marvelous digestive powers. A pup that Mr. Ashe was rearing, being left to amuse himself in the house one day, did so, very effectually, by devouring stockings, gloves, the greater part of a top boot, and many smaller articles of a similar nature, none of which, apparently, disagreed with him.—J. Macdonald Oxley in American Magazine.

Wife—Of course not. He hasn't touched a drop in fifteen years.

Our Total Coast Line.

The Pacific ocean boundary of the United States has a greater extent of coast line than the Atlantic shore. The aggregate of our shore line on the Pacific is 12,734 miles, while on the Atlantic it is 11,800 miles, and on the Gulf of Mexico 6,843. It was the annexation of Alaska that promoted the Pacific coast to a higher figure than the Atlantic, Alaska having 9,860 miles of coast line. If the lake boundary is added it gives us a total coast line not very short of twice the circumference of the earth.—Chicago Herald.

Automatic Accident Insurance.

The latest London novelty is the utilization of the drop a nickle in the slot machine to the purposes of insurance. A company has been organized, to be known as the Automatic Accident Insurance Box company, and its object, is stated to be "to provide the public with a ready means of obtaining an insurance for twenty-four hours against death arising from accidents of every description, by simply placing a penny in the slot of a box.—Brooklyn Eagle.

An Over Anxious Wife.

Wife (whose husband, realizing the need of exercise, has bought a bicycle)—I shall be so anxious, John, dear, until you have learned to ride it well.

Wife—You must, indeed, John; remember that the bicycle cost over $100.—The Epoch.

Engravers' Wages.

An engraver on brass usually gets a salary of $3,000 a year and an engraver on steel about the same, according to an expert.

It's better for de 'jority o' men ter stay in de place whar da b'long. De dewberry vine doan grow so long atter i's lifted erbove de grun.

DON'T SCOLD

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-phe-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued it—one and am now well."

Coughs, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, and every affection of the Throat, Lungs and Chest are speedily and permanently cured by the use of which does not dry up a cough and leave the cause behind, but loosens it, cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint. CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED by a timely resort to this standard remedy, as is proved by hundreds of testimonials. The genuine is signed "I. Butts" on the wrapper. SETH W. FOWLE & SONS, Proprietors, Boston, Mass. Sold by dealers generally.

BILIOUSNESS.

This very common complaint, which is caused by a dormant or inactive liver, can be cured in a short time by using Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, as can also the various diseases arising from inactive liver or kidneys. These organs, if inactive, will allow impure blood to enter the heart, causing tightness about that organ and palpitation.

She suffered thirty years.

MRS. DUDLEY CHANDLER, of Melrose, Mass., says: "I had suffered with palpitation of the Heart more than thirty years before I found anything to give me essential relief. Last fall I tried Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, and, remarkable as it was, this Compound relieved me in two days, so that for several months afterwards I felt not the slightest touch of it, and so perfectly free from it now. Sometimes, before I took this Compound, the pulsations of my heart were so violent as to shake my whole body with rapid agitations, and at times I fainted and became entirely insensible. Now I am perfectly free from all this suffering. Consequently I can most sincerely and earnestly recommend this Compound to all like sufferers, as pre-eminently the best medicine I ever knew for Palpitation of the Heart."

Ingalls' Mandrake Compound is sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles for $5. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

Rough on Rats Again.

One of the saddest and most mysterious cases of suicide that has occurred for some time is that which took place at Roxbury, Mass., last Saturday, the facts of which, until now, have been suppressed. The person who committed suicide was a young lady, pretty and well educated, and having many friends. The means used was Rough on Rats. The facts of the case are as follows: About two months ago a young lady, about 17 years of age, named Kavanagh, left her home at San Francisco, Cal., and came to Boston for the purpose of visiting her sister, who resides in the Hotel Comfort, corner of Washington and Williams streets, Roxbury. She soon gathered around her a large circle of friends, who became much attached to her. Until last Saturday nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of her visit. On the morning of that day, at about 8 o'clock, she returned from down town, where she had been to do some shopping, going to her room at once. Soon after her return she suddenly complained of pain in her stomach, and soon began to suffer horrible agony. Her friends sent for Dr. W. N. Dodge, who decided at once that the young lady had taken poison, and she finally acknowledged that she had done so. The doctor administered the most powerful antidote known, and worked over the girl faithfully, but to no purpose, the unfortunate young lady passing away in the greatest of agony shortly before noon. A search of her room disclosed an empty box of "Rough on Rats," the contents of which she had so foolishly taken.

Previous to her death she said that she had done nothing wrong, but she gave no reason for her rash act. No reason for the deed has been suggested other than that of Medical Examiner Draper, who, upon being notified, viewed the body and said, after examining those acquainted with the young lady's habits, that she must have been of unsound mind. An autopsy was deemed unnecessary. Where the young lady procured the poison is unknown, but it is thought that she got it down town while shopping that morning. The father of Miss Kavanagh was telegraphed to at once, her mother being dead.

Efforts are being made for the meeting at the ward room to be of special interest; there will be a half-hour praise service. Arrangements are being made for a Sunday evening service of which notice will be given.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

It is reported that Mr. C. H. Mendum has bought the "circus field," so called, on Middle street; also the building corner of State and Penhallow streets in which the late Leonard Akerman, and afterward L. Akerman & Son, conducted a grocery store for so many years.

We have received, from a Portsmouth gentleman who is passing a few weeks in New York, a letter dated last week, and evidently delayed by the general derangement of traffic consequent on the great storm. In it he says: "This evening I met Capt. George Wallace Tucker, who related the incidents of his recent passage to New York in the clipper ship South American from Hong Kong, and which was remarkable from the fact that he arrived here last Sunday night, sailing up the bay as far as Bedloe's island and dropping his anchor in just eighty-five days from Hong Kong at eleven o'clock at night, while in less than one hour from that time it began to blow furiously, in a few hours developing into the disastrous blizzard of the 12th. Capt. Tucker says that ships which sailed from Hong Kong several weeks ahead of him are yet unheard of. The South American is a ship of 1762 tons, carrying 3400 tons of East Indian cargo on twenty-four feet draught, and is owned by Henry Hastings & Co., of Boston."

Two weeks from to-night the first of two performances of the Cadets' Picnic will be given. The entire net proceeds will be devoted to charity.

Spring Medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most popular and successful Spring Medicine.

Nearly every body needs a reliable spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel the impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the winter, to keep up strength as the warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring and you will be convinced that it does possess superior and peculiar merit.

A Good Appetite

"When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was dizzy in the morning, had a headache, and no appetite; but now I can hardly get enough cooked to eat." EMMA SHEPARD, 1 Coral Street, Worcester, Mass.

"Last spring my whole family took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The result is that all have been cured of scrofula, my little boy being entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy as possibly can be. I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla good for catarrh." WM. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

Be Sure to Get Hood's Sarsaparilla, my child. See that they do not give you anything else. You remember it is the medicine which did mama so much good a year ago—so reliable, beneficial, pleasant to take—my favorite spring medicine.

The English Sparrows.

It is generally known that the New Hampshire legislature in their last session passed an act excluding English sparrows from the law which protects useful birds. It was high time that this was done, and shows that our farmers are beginning to awake to the necessity of doing something to abate this nuisance. Among the documents on the subject which were laid before the committee on agriculture, in Concord, was one from which we propose to make extracts, and which deserve to be carefully pondered. It is the report drawn up by Dr. Hart Merriam of Washington, chief ornithologist of the national department of agriculture. In preparing this report, circulars were sent to all parts of the country, and answers received giving the facts asked for, from more than thirty-two hundred persons. Dr. Merriam says "The English sparrow is a curse of such virulence that it ought to be systematically attacked and destroyed before it becomes necessary to deplete the public treasury for the purpose, as has been done in other countries." After giving an account of its introduction in the United States, he proceeds: "From that time to the present, the marvelous rapidity of its multiplication, and the prodigious size of the area it has overspread, are without parallel. Like a noxious weed transplanted to a fertile soil, it has disseminated itself over half a continent before its significance of its presence has come to be understood. In the year 1886 it was found to have established itself in thirty-five states and five territories; the total area occupied being 885,000 square miles, beside a large part of Canada. The sparrows first invade the larger cities, then the smaller cities, then the villages and hamlets. As these become filled to repletion the overflow moves off into the country. The fecundity of the bird is amazing; in the latitude of New York and southward it hatches as a rule five or six broods in a season, with from four to six in a brood. It can easily be computed that the progeny of a single pair will in a few years amount to millions."

It is as an enemy to our native birds that this foreigner is mostly to be dreaded; "of all the native birds which habitually make their homes near the abodes of man, the martin is the only species which has been able to hold its own against the sparrows, and numerous instances are on record where even the martin has been beaten and forced to abandon its former nesting places by these belligerant aliens; it sometimes happens that the martin is killed outright. The birds which have suffered most from the English sparrow, and whose cheery presence in our parks and towns we no longer, or rarely, enjoy, are the robin, catbird, bluebird, wren, song sparrow, chipping sparrow, oriole, vireo, and phœbe. Not only does the sparrow drive away and sometimes kill the adult birds, but when it finds their nests it throws out the eggs and young, and not infrequently feasts upon them. Proofs of this have arrived from every quarter." In addition to the injury thus brought about by depriving our gardens and orchards of the protection afforded by our native insectivorous birds, the sparrows cause a direct loss to our agricultural interests amounting in the aggregate to not less than several million of dollars. Its ravages affect almost every crop produced by the farmer, fruit growers and gardener, and extend over the entire year. In the early spring it prevents the growth of a vast quantity of fruit by eating the germs from the fruit buds of trees, bushes and vines. The magnitude of the havoc wrought in orchards and vineyards is shown by the melancholy accounts given by fruit growers in many sections of the country." After giving numerous data with respects to the havoc committed in grain fields, vineyards, and farms for vegetables, Dr. Merriam proceeds: "At the end of the season of 1886 bitter complaints of damage done to the grape crop by sparrows had reached the department from twenty-five states, and the District of Columbia."

The sparrow was brought to this country in the belief that it was an insectivorous bird, and with the expectation that it would rid us of the caterpillars which destroy the foliage of the elms and other shade trees. The utter futility of this hope has been demonstrated over and over again in hundreds of our cities and towns. Cases are known in which the very boxes occupied by the sparrow have been covered with the caterpillars' webs, and the larvæ have hatched and crawled away without molestation. Indeed it is an everyday occurrence in summer to see sparrows hopping about fences fairly swarming with caterpillars and measure worms, in whose presence they rarely show the least interest. It is true, while feeding their young they destroy some insects, but the proportion is very small compared with other birds. In fact Professor Lintner, state entomologist of New York, makes the unqalified statement that they have caused a marked increase in the number of caterpillars by driving away the few birds that do eat them, chiefly the robin, oriole and cuckoo. He advocates a relentless war upon the English sparrow."

Dr. Merriam advises the destruction of this bird by shooting with small shot, by poisoning with grain soaked in a tincture of nux vomica or Fowler's solution of arsenic (this can only be done in private gardens or court yards, not in public places,) and by systematic destruction of nests and eggs by the aid of an iron hook on a long pole. Our own city has suffered less from this plague than many others, but every summer shows us how our native birds are lessening before their enemies. Now is the time, before the building season of our feathered friends, to destroy these usurpers, and to do something in every town and village, to help rid the country of this pest. It must be done, sooner or later.

United States Courts.

The United States District court, Hon. Daniel Clark, United States district judge, presiding, came in on Tuesday, and adjourned after a brief session.

In the Circuit court, in case United States vs. Nancy J. House, on the civil docket, the district attorney in compliance with directions from the solicitor of the treasury moved to dismiss the action. The motion was allowed.

John F. Frazer of Rye was admitted to citizenship.

Affairs in Kittery.

KITTERY, ME., March 20th.

The 240th annual report of the auditors of the town is completed, and will be ready for distribution by the middle of the week. It contains about the usual amount of matter pertaining to town affairs; also a timely suggestion in reference to our roads, which all should read,—therefore we will give it verbatim:

"The town has raised for a number of years the sum of $2000 for repairs of roads in summer, and $1200 to keep the roads clear of snow in winter. We think we express the public sentiment by saying that a majority of our citizens are dissatisfied with the condition of our roads, both in summer and winter, and we would suggest a new departure. Raise a small sum in labor and a sufficient sum in money for working our road machine, and for employing teams to haul 'gravel'—more gravel and less 'loam,' more stone and less wooden culverts, better roads and less contention for damages for broken carriages."

Gentlemen, we agree with you; the town has been to considerable expense to purchase a road machine, which has been of but little use, simply for the want of a little money to work it; what work has been done with the machine has proved satisfactory, and we hope the town will take active measures towards the needed reform. One great trouble with the majority of our roads is that the gutters are in the middle and not on the sides, as they should be.

The republican caucus will be held on Friday evening next, for the purpose of choosing candidates for the various town offices; rumor has it that several prominet local democrats will act with the republicans at the annual town meeting on Monday, the 26th inst.

The house, shed and barn of Joseph S. Grant of North Kittery were entirely consumed by fire early Tuesday morning. The stock and furniture were saved. This place was formerly the old Rogers estate, and was later owned by the late Joshua H. Sanborn, whose heirs sold it to Mr. Grant about three years ago; it was one of the finest places in town. The buildings just burned were erected by Mr. Sanborn, and were commodious and first-class in every particular, the house being 2 1-2 stories high, and connected by a shed with the barn, which was 72x42 feet on the ground, and had an ice house built against one end. All these were burned, but a small detached building, used as a hen house and shop, was saved. The origin of the fire was as follows: Mr. Grant arose early to feed his stock, before starting to Portsmouth with a load of hay; setting his lantern down in a chair on the barn floor he went upon the mow to pitch down some hay, and there being a calf loose in the barn it knocked over the lantern and broke it, while Mr. Grant was on the mow, setting fire to the loose hay on the floor, and before many of the neighbors could get there the buildings were well under way, burning.

Matters in York.

YORK CORNER, ME, March 19th.

"If tant Col for within 10 days return to York Corner Maine Box—" was the exact return request on an envelope leaving York Corner postoffice a few days ago.

Mr. Benj. Trafton reports that immense quantities of lobsters from three to fifteen inches in length have been washed ashore on the beaches. He picked up 150 live ones in a small space. They were all small, the larger ones having been smashed and killed. He says such a sight was never seen on this coast before.

YORK VILLAGE, ME., March 19th.

Mrs. Eastman, seventy-eight years of age, widow of Dr. Caleb Eastman, a former well known physician of York Village, recently died in Portland, where she has been living with her daughter for some years past. The remains were brought to York on Saturday for burial, and funeral services were held in the First Congregational church on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Nancy Ramsdell, wife of Mr. William Ramsdell, after a long illness and much suffering died at their residence on Feb. 16th.

A very interesting entertainment was given by Old York Lodge, I. O. G. T., on Wednesday evening, March 7th, at S. S. S. hall, York Village, consisting of readings illustrated by tableaux, select readings, temperance talks, recitations, vocal and instrumental music, pantomimes, etc. The evening passed so quickly and pleasantly the audience could hardly realize the lateness of the hour at the close of the entertainment.

At a business meeting of the First Congregational church a short time since, Mr. Charles E. Gerrish was chosen deacon to supply the vacancy made by the death of Capt. Frank P. Emerson.

YORK BEACH, ME., March 19th.

The concert audience of the season greeted the York Beach Minstrel company on their first appearance before the public at York village on the evening of the 9th. This is a local amateur company, composed of the young men of York beach, -- Messrs. Sanders and Stillings as bones, Messrs. Drake and Preble as tambos, Mr. I. York as interlocutor. Mr. Fred Ellis received a deserved encore for his solo. The harmonica duet by Messrs. Bowden and Stacy was finely executed, and called forth a double encore. The clog dancing by Mr. Stillings was done in professional style, and received applause, as did also the fine Indian club swinging by Mr. Will Hildreth. The whole concluded with the laughable afterpiece entitled "An Awful Plot." At ten o'clock on the morning of the 9th there was a grand mounted street parade of all the artists. The company presented a fine appearance; the horses were gaily decked, and around the neck of each was a string of silver-toned bells. As a local pageant the parade was very fine, of which York beach ought to be justly proud.

The plasterers will commence work on the Atlantic house this week.

Marcellus Perkins and family have returned from a visit to friends in Dover, N. H.

Albert Stover is working for Messrs. Ellis & Sons.

Every team was engaged to take people to the minstrel show Friday evening.

If there is a "grease spot" on your clothes, stop at the grocer's on your way home and get a cake of Ivory Soap. Apply it to the spot with a piece of flannel, wet with hot water; rub well, then wet a clean place on the flannel and rub again to remove the soap. If the spot is of long standing, use a nail brush. Ivory Soap may be safely used upon any cloth, for it will not impair its strength or change the color.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Strange But Nice Are Fortune's Ways.

To buy or not to buy was the question that three ladies, Mrs. H. De Laup, 377 St. Ann st., Mrs. Pierre Flotte, 281 Bayou Road, and Miss Mary Henry, 208 St. Philip st., asked when Mrs. V. Gilly, 209 St. Philip st., a vender of Louisiana State Lottery tickets, called upon them with the last tenth ticket she had. A mutual investment of a quarter of a dollar was resolved upon on one tenth of ticket No. 71,57; the number that, in the Grand Monthly Drawing, Feb 7, 1888, drew the capital prize of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, and Mrs. Gilly presented the ticket last Thursday and received therefor a check. Nice wash'n it, for a 25-cent investment each.—New Orleans (La.) Picayune, Feb. 12.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have just issued James Russell Lowell's eagerly-expected new volume, "Heartsease and Rue," which contains many new poems never before printed, also most of the poems written by Mr. Lowell during the last twelve years, with some written earlier but not included in volumes then published. It has a portrait of the poet for a frontispiece, is of course beautifully gotten up and printed, and will find a place on the drawing room table of every refined household. For sale by M. Goodrich; $1.25.

Death a Welcome Release.

Must it not be to those who endure life-long bodily suffering? From childhood to old age many persons are tormented with rheumatism and neuralgia. Ordinary medication and topical remedies are of slight, and always of temporary efficacy. To escape the extreme tortures of these agonizing complaints, they should be annihilated at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which expels from the system the acrid impurities that beget them. The evidence as to its efficacy as a blood depurent in this particular is very ample, and strongly concurrent and convincing. In violent forms of these diseases the nerves are terribly racked. A wineglassful or two of the Bitters before the hour of retiring usually brings a respite from pain, and enables the sufferer to secure much needed repose. For kidney troubles, malarial complaints, indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, the Bitters is likewise beneficial.

An effort is being made in Boston to establish a "rescue home" for women, the statement having recently been made that there are 30,000 of these unfortunates leading a life of shame in Boston alone. The work will be entirely nonsectarian.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

Bill Nye, it is said, made $2,000 last month by being funny in various western cities.

The New York Mail and Express has been sold by Cyrus W. Field to Elliot F. Shephard, a son-in-law of the late William H. Vanderbilt. The price paid was between $450,000 and $500,000.

My Friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

In the national senate, on the 20th, a bill was introduced by Mr. Blair giving preferences for civil service appointments under certain conditions to wounded ex-confederate soldiers. After being warmly debated, the bill went over without action. The measure was condemned by senators from both north and south.

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet, cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness, and give strength and rest.

It is announced that the naval appropriation bill will not be reported to the House until the tariff bill is acted on.

An unknown man thirty years old shot himself through the heart in a hotel at Rochester, N. Y., March 20th.

An excess of animal food and a partial closing of the pores of the skin, during the winter months, cause the system to become filled with impurities. These can be removed and the blood purified and invigorated by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Price $1.

Mrs. Clara Barton, president of the Red Cross Society, sends word from Mt. Vernon, Ill., that the distress among the people there is much greater than has been reported. There was no cyclone insurance on any of the property destroyed, and many of the people are financially ruined.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY.

A Prominent Physician Reveals Some New and Startling Secrets.

"Do you know," said Dr. Bodfich, of Boston, at the club, one evening recently, "what the starting point of most physical troubles is?"

"No, indeed," replied a circle of anxious enquirers, as they crowded about the doctor.

"Tea and coffee," answered the eminent physician.

"Men, and women even more, drink tea and coffee constantly, and wonder why they feel dull and stupid, have headaches, a bad taste in the mouth, pains in the limbs and about the body and irregularity of the secretions. Nine cases out of ten these things are caused by too free a use of tea and coffee. These drinks clog the system, weaken the tissues and destroy the most important organs. Few men or women who indulge in tea and coffee regularly have clear urine, but on the contrary, sediment, scum and brick dust, all of which invariably mean coming disease or death."

"But what are we to do, Doctor? Shall we give up tea and coffee altogether?"

"No. I do not advise that, but regulate it. Keep the kidneys clear and active. There is nothing in the world so good for this as the well known and popular Hunt's Remedy. Any one who uses this medicine regularly can drink tea and coffee moderately without fear. The reason is that Hunt's Remedy flushes or washes out the kidneys, and keeps them free and healthy. Any number of prominent men and women can confirm what I say, among the number scores of doctors and ministers, Gen. Butler, Gen. Monroe and Miss Alcot."

It was plain that the warning and advice of the doctor had made a deep impression on his listeners, as it also should upon the millions of men and women who are shortening their lives by the use of these drinks.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK HEADACHE, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD ACHE they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

BEAUTY IN MANY FORMS.

Striking Specimens of Lovely Women and Sparkling Gems in Washington Society.

Many women of many minds, many gems of many kinds, might be truly written of the Washington ladies this winter, and their adornments, says a letter to the New York Herald.

Senator Palmer's wife prefers laces to jewels, and bought while in Europe last summer much lace, of the finest make and design, "enough to last a hundred years," she says, and each of her evening dresses has a quantity of fine lace on it, most of it being point duchesse. She has precious jewels also.

The wife of Senator Jones, of Nevada, has a penchant for pearls, and therefore, whenever her husband or relatives make her a present, her liking for pearls is consulted. On her last birthday her husband gave her a necklace of quite large solitaire pearls, with a pendant in the shape of an oyster shell, made of diamonds, with a large, single, very pure pearl affixed where such are usually found in oyster shells. She has worn necklace and pendant recently.

Senator Stanford's wife has the largest collection of diamonds possessed by any lady now in Washington, having four sets which belonged to the late Queen Isabella of Spain, which were purchased by Mrs. Stanford in Paris when the effects of Queen Isabella were sold. One of these sets has yellow diamonds, another stones of bluish tint, while a third is of the purest white. One of her pendants of very large diamonds is fully three inches long and of proportionate width.

The largest single diamonds, set in earrings, worn this winter in Washington, are those of Mrs. Langhorne, nee Ogle, of Virginia, whose husband is a naval officer. These earrings have diamonds as large as filberts and very lustrous, and are said to have cost $10,000. The same lady has now a $20,000 diamond necklace lately bought for her by her husband. In the necklace are 50 old mine diamonds and the central stone alone is worth $1,500.

Mrs. Payne, the wife of Senator Payne, of Ohio, and mother of Mrs. Whitney, wife of the secretary of the navy, wears on the third finger of each hand a large solitaire sapphire in a ring. She says that each of the family wears sapphires in memory of one of her sons who is dead, whose favorite stone it was. Mrs. Payne also has a brooch of beautiful and very rare crystals bought in Smyrna. They are not pure white, but are very clear.

Mrs. Whitney has very choice diamond ornaments, one being a comb, another a necklace of three strings of large solitaires, from which falls a pendant of diamonds and rubies. She prefers to wear white dresses, and has a variety of them, both for morning and evening wear. If you see her in her own sitting-room, most likely she will have on a negligee of some white, soft silk, or wool material trimmed with lace. Most of her evening gowns glitter with gold, cut steel, crystal or pearl head pendants and passementeries, always used, however, with discretion, there being just enough to lighten up a white, gray or fancy, colored frock.

The wife of Maj. Powell, the director of the bureau of ethnology, wears a brooch and earrings composed of very large turquoises, which her husband collected in Mexico.

Mrs. Bugher, the daughter of Mr. Washington Mc Lean, wears a necklace with danglers of rare design, bought in Russia, in which are set every precious stone except diamonds.

In this connection, one who knows well the wife of ex-Congressman Flower, of New York, and her sister, Mrs. Schley, recalls that they have the finest opals in this country, which were collected for them in Mexico, and were set in diamonds by a leading New York manufacturer—the same who set with diamonds the large and curious oval-shaped pink stone which the Chinese minister wears nearly in the center of his forehead, and the name of which no one here knows.

Pretty girls have rarely been so numerous in Washington society as now. Pretty as a picture is Miss Willard, Mrs. Cleveland's schoolmate, who was her guest for ten days; Miss Ethel Ingalls, daughter of the president of the Senate, who resembles Miss Willard and is a debutante; Miss Endicott, daughter of the secretary of war; Miss Lucy Corbhill, Justice Miller's granddaughter, who is also a very intellectual rosebud, and Miss Herbert, daughter of Representative Herbert, of Alabama. Each of these girls has a perfect complexion of roses and lilies, and golden or golden brown curly hair.

OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Athlophoros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 8, 1887.

Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years and trying almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After using one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure.

CHAUNCEY B. RIDDICK.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec 26, 1887.

I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its charges defrayed upon one bottle I found it to be worth more than $5 per bottle.

ADAMSON'S BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM

More than twenty years ago Adamson's Botanic Balsam was introduced generally throughout New England as a remedy for Coughs, Colds and Pulmonary complaint. Since its introduction it has stood in its way into public favor, until now it is a universal decision that ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is the best remedy for curing Coughs, Colds and Asthma.

March! April! May!
In these months all humors slay.
Lest your blood become impure,
And diseases harbor to cure
Your feeble system shall attack,
And pains severe your body rack.
You long, you sigh for rest and ease
These fearful sufferings to appease.
I'll tell you where it can be found,
It is Lugalls' pure Mandrake Compound.

It is stated that Ex-Governor Smyth will present a public library to the town of Candia, his native place.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A PROCLAMATION

By His Excellency Charles H. Sawyer, Governor, For a Day of Fasting and Prayer.

By and with the advice of the Council, I hereby appoint Thursday, April 12, next, as a day of fasting and prayer.

And I recommend to the people of the State that, foregoing their usual occupations and abstaining from all unnecessary labor, they assemble in their homes and accustomed places of worship and in a spirit of penitence and submission to the Divine Will offer up petitions to Almighty God, that in the share of His work that may be allotted to us we may, through His infinite love and power, be guided and strengthened to do the right, and that, governed by the principles of truth and justice, we may acceptably perform the duties we owe to God and each other.

Given at the Council Chamber in Concord, this sixth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and twelfth.

CHARLES H. SAWYER.

By His Excellency the Governor, with advice of the Council.

A. B. THOMPSON, Secretary of State.

"Honest Old Dick Tate."

James W. Tate, for the past eleven years state treasurer of Kentucky, is a defaulter to the amount of $150,000, his stealings having been going on during his entire term of office. He has always had the largest majorities on his ticket, and was popularly known as "Honest Old Dick Tate."

ELIOT, ME., March 20th.

Last week's great snow storm blockaded the roads of this town worse than since 1867; the drifts were from four to seven feet high, and from one to three days were required to make the highways barely passable. Hope we shall see no more like it this spring.

Mr. Timothy Dame is surveying land at Gerrish's island, Kittery Point.

Mr. Ira S. Paul and wife are in Strafford with Mrs. Paul's sister, who is dangerously sick.

Elder Wm. P. Israel has accepted the call to be pastor of the Advent society; they are to pay him 364 dollars a year.

Edmund H. Adams, his sister Mabel L. Adams, and A. B. Cole, returned to school at Kent's Hill, Me., on the 12th and 13th.

Mr. Daniel Junkins is confined to his bed with dropsy. He has been sick some four weeks, but is quite comfortable at present.

Edgar L. Paul is to dispose of his horse on Thursday, the 22d, by ticket; fifty tickets have been sold, and the drawing will take place that day.

Mr. George Urch and wife, and brother and sister, from Inglewood, Ind., are visiting their mother and Mr. Hammond, and Mr. Wm. M. Spring and Sylvester Spring, here. They started March 6th, and reached Portsmouth on the 9th. They will pass a few weeks here, and then return. HARRY.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,000 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

The sum of $1,725, which has been raised at Dartmouth College, for base ball purposes, is the largest sum ever subscribed for this object at that college.

Inside a Japanese Home.

I was privileged, in company with a couple of friends, to visit the home of a Japanese lady in Yokohama, which I was assured was very much like all the Japanese homes. The lady had acquired a fair knowledge of English and was able to make herself understood. The house was divided into six or eight rooms by sliding partitions of light wood and paper. There was not a swinging door about the establishment, nor a chair, nor table. Nor did I see any of those wonderful Japanese curios that adorn many American homes, and I was subsequently informed that they were not to be found in the Japanese homes, but were made strictly for export to England and America. The walls were almost entirely devoid of ornament and the floors were covered with straw matting, well padded underneath. Scrupulous cleanliness was plainly apparent everywhere. We were ushered into one of the rooms by a very polite little Jap woman with an exceedingly pretty face who spread a blanket on the floor for us to sit upon, and who dropped upon her knees and prostrated herself before us until her forehead touched the floor. Then the lady of the house entered, prostrated herself before us and with her own hand served us with tea in diminutive cups accompanied by rice cakes. After we had chatted for a few minutes she proposed to give us a special treat, inasmuch as we were Americans, whom she always admired. She called for a stringed instrument which remotely resembled a banjo with a long neck, and played some native music for us which made up in novelty what it lacked in melody. Then her sister entered and danced for us to the alleged music of the stringed instrument. The dancer was the personification of grace and used her fan with marvelous dexterity. She swayed to and fro, swung around easily, moving her head, and arms, and fan with bewitching grace, and occasionally sang a few notes in a melancholy strain, intended to depict the heart-aches of love. The dance was a pantomimic illustration of a soul-harrowing narrative which was related by our hostess as follows:

"A young musician, who worked a flute very clearly, fell in love with a young lady whose heart was in the right place, but she didn't know it—that is, she was coquettish, and while she hadn't the remotest idea of ever marrying the fellow, she thought she'd have a little fun with him. When he asked her if she would be his'n she told him that she would upon condition that he would come and play the flute under her window every night for 100 nights. He accepted the contract at once and went to work on the job. It looked to him as if he'd struck a soft snap and that he'd win his charmer if the flute didn't break, but on the ninety-ninth night he caught cold and the next day he died. Then the girl discovered that she really loved him and his death almost broke her up."

The dancer depicted all the principal points in the story, together with the grief of the heroine, very effectively.—Japan Letter.

Berry Wall, "the King of the New York dudes," has an income of $20,000 a year and a great fondness for flowers. He often sent to lady friends bouquets costing from $10 to $20, and was fastidious regarding the quality of his buttonholes. He is now carefully dodging the florists, who are endeavoring to collect his unpaid bills at the florists.

Landlord—Come, Sepp, that is the tenth match I've seen you strike. What have you lost? Sepp—I'm looking for a match that I've dropped on the floor. —German Joke.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

Be Sure to Get Hood's

Sarsaparilla, my child. See that they do not give you anything else. You remember it is the medicine which did mama so much good a year ago—so reliable, beneficial, pleasant to take—my favorite spring medicine.

Spring Medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most popular and successful Spring Medicine.

Nearly every body needs a reliable spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel the impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the winter, to keep up strength as the warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring and you will be convinced that it does possess superior and peculiar merit.

A Good Appetite

"When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was dizzy in the morning, had a headache, and no appetite; but now I can hardly get enough cooked to eat." EMMA SHEPARD, 1 Coral Street, Worcester, Mass.

"Last spring my whole family took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The result is that all have been cured of scrofula, my little boy being entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy as possibly can be. I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla good for catarrh." WM. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Warm, southerly winds, with rain, followed by colder, westerly winds and fair weather.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 32 degrees above zero.

Clear

Christian Unity.

The Office for the Unity of the whole Church, appointed by the Bishop of New Hampshire, is to be celebrated at St. John's church in this city to-day, at 10:30 A. M. The day is to be known as a Day of Intercession, that all may become as one. All Christian people of whatever name, are earnestly and affectionately invited to join therein.

There seems for some time past to have been a growing tendency to unity of the churches; and why should it not be so? Their aims are one, and the end to be attained the same. In many small towns in this state, as well as in others, where they could support one church, or perhaps two at the most, there are sometimes four or five, and the consequence is that they are not self-supporting, and are closed part of the year; whereas, if the people could unite, and shoulder to shoulder fight under the common banner of Christianity, how much better results would be attained. We hope to see this good work succeed, and there should be a large attendance to-day of Christians of all the denominations, to encourage it. All are cordially invited.

The Harrington Inquest.

The inquest instituted by Coroner S. C. Whittier, under instructions from County Solicitor Emery, as to the cause of the death of Mrs. Ellen Harrington, who lost her life in the Atkinson street fire on the night of Thursday, the 15th inst., was closed at a late hour on the afternoon of Wednesday, the 21st, the jury returning a verdict as follows:

State of New Hampshire, Rockingham, ss.

An investigation taken at Portsmouth in said county the 17th day of March in the year 1888, before Samuel C. Whittier, one of the coroners of said county, upon the view of the body of Ellen Harrington there lying dead, by the oaths of George W. Pendexter, a justice of the peace for said county, and of the oaths of Jeremiah Sanborn and Matthew T. Betton, all reputable persons, who being duly sworn and directed to enquire for the state when, how and by what means the said Ellen Harrington came to her death, upon their oaths do say the said Ellen Harrington came to her death by suffocation and burning as a result of a fire in the house No. 11 Atkinson street, the said fire having been set by some person or persons unknown. That the said Ellen Harrington came to her death by misfortune in the way and manner aforesaid. In witness whereof the said jurors have hereunto set their hands the day and year first above written.

GEO. W. PENDEXTER,
JEREMIAH SANBORN,
MATTHEW T. BETTON.

In witness of all the above written the said coroner hath hereunto set his hand and seal the same day and year.

S. C. WHITTIER.

The hearing lasted five days, and twenty five witnesses were examined, the evidence of all tending to show that the fire was not caused by the unfortunate woman who lost her life by it.

Personal.

Col. Charles A. Sinclair returned on Tuesday, the 20th inst., from a long absence in Florida.

Miss Harriet McEwen Kimball and her sister, Mrs. George A. Gerrish, have gone to Washington for a visit.

Monday, March 19th, was the 77th birthday of Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody, and it found him in the best of health and spirits. During the afternoon and evening a large number of his friends and neighbors visited him at his home on Quincy street, Cambridge, near Harvard college, and offered their respects and congratulations.

Mr. Samuel Langdon of Lafayette road was thrown from his sleigh, and run over, on Monday of this week, while on his way home, and had one shoulder dislocated. He was attended by Dr. Whittier.

Police Court—Batchelder J.

WEDNESDAY, March 21st.

Joseph J. Morrison, for drunkenness, was ordered to Brentwood for sixty days, and to pay $6.90 costs.

Maritime Notes.

The big four-masted schooner Sarah W. Lawrence, which has brought to this port a number of immense cargoes of coal during the past year, met with very rough usage during the great storm of the 11th, 12th and 13th. She was bound from Philadelphia for Boston, and on the night of Sunday, the 11th, when off Shinnecock, Long Island, was struck by the gale with full force, and had a new suit of sails carried away, and the fore, main and mizzen booms broken. The vessel being unmanageable, and the seas sweeping her decks, an anchor and 100 fathoms of chain was let go, but was soon lost. Shortly afterward a heavy sea boarded the schooner, carried away both her boats, threw Patrick Baggon over the wheel and fractured his skull, and severely injured Mr. Nicholson, the mate, by dashing him against the forward house; the same sea carried Capt. Farrow overboard, but he was thrown on the deck again by a returning wave. One of the seamen had his hands and ears badly frozen. The schooner arrived at Stapleton, Long island, on the 19th, for medical assistance.

The schooner Peter H. Crowell, Alson master, from Newport News for this port with coal, was spoken on the 18th, with loss of boat, foresail and mainsail; she also had forward house stove, mizzen gaff broken, and was otherwise damaged.

The ship Grandee of this port, Capt. B. F. Jacobs, sailed from Hiogo, Japan, Feb. 13th, for Yokohama.

The great storm which so disarranged the railroad and telegraph business of the country, and caused so many marine disasters all along the coast from Cape Cod to Cape Hatteras, also proved a serious inconvenience to denizens of the deep which under ordinary circumstances are fully able to take care of themselves, so far as storms are concerned. All along the ocean shores in this vicinity, we are informed by fishermen, thousands of lobsters, mostly of small size but still including many large ones, were thrown up by the waves; and many skates and catfish were treated in the same way. The disturbance caused by the gale must have reached well to the bottom, to have had this effect.

At Music hall to-morrow evening the romantic drama "Forgiven" will be presented, with the favorite actor Frederic Bryton in the leading part. Tickets now on sale at Goodrich's.

The grocery store of Mr. A. K. W. Green, on Water street, was broken into by thieves during the night of Tuesday, the 20th inst., but nothing was missed by the proprietor. It was only a few nights previous that the store of Mr. H. C. Russell, on the same street, was burglarized. Evidently the vicinity of Liberty bridge would be a rich field to do a little missionary work by the police officers.

The snow and ice hardly ever dissolved faster than during the gentle, warm rain of Wednesday.

"Forgiven" at Music hall to-morrow evening.

Texas had a twelve-inch snow fall on the 19th inst. If this thing keeps on our proprietors of summer resorts will have to keep their places open all winter, to enable the people of Texas to escape the rigors of the season in their own state by a seaside residence here.

Frederic Bryton, late leading actor at the Madison Square theatre, New York, at Music hall to-morrow evening in "Forgiven."

A house at Wells Depot, owned by Miss Merriby, who is ninety years old, and who lived alone in it, was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday, March 17th. The contents of the house were saved. There was no insurance. The fire caught from a defective chimney.

The assessors met on Wednesday evening, the 21st inst., and commenced their annual labors.

Both branches of the city councils meet this evening, when the appropriation bill will be the bone of contention.

The Ideal Newspaper.

This was Prof. Josiah Royce's definition of the ideal newspaper:

"A newspaper approaches the ideal, then, in proportion as it lets its community see, honestly and accurately, just what the real life of the moment is; that is, in proportion as it makes its readers actually conscious of the present world of passion, of suffering, of effort, and of joy, in which as in an ocean they pass their lives.

"The ideal newspaper, then, tells the whole significant truth about the daily life of its community, the honest and essential truth. But its truth is confessedly the truth of to-day. Its outlook is not eternity, but 24 hours; and it must needs be interested in many things that will hereafter appear trivial and empty. But the test is, whether the news reporter has told what for the moment is worth knowing, as an evidence of the actually significant human passion of the day."

Bereaved widow (to servant)—"If that is a caller, Bridget, you may say that Mrs. Hendricks is feeling so bad to-day that she is quite unable to see any one." Servant (returning)—"It's not a caller, mum; it's the dressmaker." Bereaved widow—"Ask her into the parlor, Bridget."—New York Sun.

BILIOUSNESS.

THIS very common complaint, which is caused by a dormant or inactive liver, can be cured in a short time by using Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, as can also the various diseases arising from inactive liver or kidneys. These organs, if inactive, will allow impure blood to enter the heart, causing tightness about that organ and palpitation.

She suffered thirty years.

Mrs. DUDLEY CHANDLER, of Melrose, Mass., says: "I had suffered with Palpitation of the Heart more than thirty years before I found anything to give me essential relief. Last fall I tried Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, and, remarkable as it was, this Compound relieved me in two days, so that for several months afterwards I felt not the slightest touch of it, and am perfectly free from it now. Sometimes, before I took this Compound, the pulsations of my heart were so violent as to shake my whole body with rapid agitations, and at times I fainted and became entirely insensible. Now I am perfectly free from all this suffering. Consequently I can most sincerely and earnestly recommend this Compound to all like sufferers, as pre-eminently the best medicine I ever knew for Palpitation of the Heart."

This Compound is purely Vegetable, and strengthens and builds up the system while it eradicates disease.

Ingalls' Mandrake Compound is sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles for $5. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

Strange But Nice Are Fortune's Ways.

To buy or not to buy was the question that three ladies, Mrs. H. De Laup, 377 St. Ann st., Mrs. Honore Flotte, 281 Bayou Road, and Miss Mary Henry, 206 St. Philip st., asked when Mrs. V. Gilly, 208 St. Philip st., a vender of Louisiana State lottery tickets, stopped them with the last tenth ticket she had. A moment's investment of a quarter of a dollar was resolved upon on one tenth of ticket No. 70,836, the number that, in the Grand Monthly Drawing, Feb. 7, 1888, drew the capital prize of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, and Mrs. Gilly presented the ticket last Thursday and received therefor a check. Nice, wasn't it, for a 25-cent investment each.—New Orleans (La.) Picayune, Feb. 12.

Death a Welcome Release.

Must it not be to those who endure life-long bodily suffering? From childhood to old age many persons are tormented with rheumatism and neuralgia. Ordinary medication and topical remedies are of slight, and always of temporary efficacy. To escape the extreme tortures of these agonizing complaints, they should be annihilated at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which expels from the system the acrid impurities that beget them. The evidence as to its efficacy as a blood depurent in this particular is very ample, and strongly concurrent and convincing. In violent forms of these diseases the nerves are terribly racked. A wineglassful or two of the Bitters before the hour of retiring usually brings a respite from pain, and enables the sufferer to secure much needed repose. For kidney troubles, malarial complaints, indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, the Bitters is likewise beneficial.

An American whaling barque, name unknown, is reported to have been wrecked on Molokai, one of the Hawaiian islands, with the loss of all hands, about forty in number.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

The schooner Gen. Grant, of Wells, is having a new deck put in by Mr. George B. Clough of Kennebunk. She has wintered at Wells.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

My Friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, new why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

Mrs. James T. Fields and Miss Sarah Orne Jewitt are at Aiken, South Carolina.

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet, cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness, and give strength and rest.

They are deservedly popular over all others—Hop Plasters, quick-acting, pain-killing and soothing.

Frank Hopkins, a farmer aged sixty-five, and Emeline Whitney, aged seventy, his house keeper, were found dead near Hopkins' barn in Putnam, Conn., having evidently been frozen to death while trying to reach the barn to feed the cattle, many of which starved to death. The bodies were under the snow nearly a week.

Boatswain Edward Crissey is detached from the Pensacola navy yard, and ordered to the U. S. S. Swatara, at this yard.

Elephants that Labor.

In a recent letter to the Chicago Mail, Ex-Mayor Harrison says: In each of the native saw-mills, where small orders are filled, two elephants perform the heavy labor which human hands unassisted could scarcely manage. They draw the logs, many of them three feet in diameter and thirty to forty feet long, from the river, pile them up in systematic order, and when they are needed roll them to the ways and assist in adjusting them for the saw. Lumber is not here sawed into boards, but the slab is taken off and the good stuff left in square timber to be ripped up into boards where consumed. This is done both for home consumption and for exportation. After the log is cut the elephant goes among the machinery, takes the slabs away, and then carries the good timber and piles it up or lays it gently upon the ox-carts to be hauled off.

A carpenter we saw wanted lumber from a particular log which was under several others. One of the monsters rolled the upper logs off and pushed the chosen stick to the mill. The way was not clear—the log butted against others. He pushed these aside and guided his piece through them with a sagacity almost human. His stick became wedged. He pushed and tugged; it would not budge, but at a whispered word from the mahout and the promise of a bit of nice food he bent to it. Still it stuck. With a whistle audible for a quarter of a mile he got on his knees, straightened out his hind legs, and put his whole force to it. He was successful. We could almost read his satisfaction in the gentle flaps of his huge ears and the graceful curve of his proboscis as he put it up to the mounted mahout, asking his reward. Sticks over two feet thick and ten to fifteen feet long are lifted up bodily upon the great ivories, and are then carried off and laid upon the gangways so gently as not to make a jar. One stick 22 inches thick and 22 feet long we saw carried in this way. In carrying this the beast had a path not three feet wide among masses of loose logs. He had to plant his fore feet upon these and thus walk a considerable distance. He looked as if he were walking upon his hind legs. The corner of a bamboo hut stood in his way. He lifted the log over its roof, and bent his body so that his side gently scraped the corner of the house and did not shake it. A hundredth part of his weight would have caused it to topple from its pile foundation.

He was ordered to carry off a pile of 4x6 pieces 10 to 15 feet long. He ran his tusks under a few. The mahout told him that was not enough. He tried again, and probably doubled his load. His driver gave him a fierce prod with his iron hook over the forehead. With a shriek of rage he sent his ivories under the pile and threw his snout over the top. He had to get on his knees to get the load up. It was a decent dray-load. As he passed us, perched on a pile of logs, I moved away, for I thought there was blood in his eye and that he might dump the load on the foreigners. But when he came back he stopped before us, got on his knees, bowed three times, and held out his snout to us for a gratuity. I pitched a coin to the mahout. He whispered to the beast that his elephantship would get a part of it. This seemed satisfactory, for he snuffed up a pint of dust blew it over his rump, and marched off for a bath in a mud-hole not far away. Each mill has a pair. They work only in short spells, and take their rest when feeding in grass-grown mud-ponds.

The Sense of a Butcher Bird.

Of all the birds of Florida there is one that will afford an idler lots of amusement if he will spend an occasional hour watching closely. It is the shrike or butcher bird. A few days ago I was in an orange grove a few rods from the house, where an old darky, with the assistance of a mule, was plowing, and a butcher bird was flying from tree to tree, following up the newly plowed furrow looking for insects. Every few minutes he would go to pick up a beetle or insect, and for some time he simply swallowed his victim.

After a little he seemed to have had enough to eat, and just then a little flock of larks were seen running along in the newly-turned furrow, at times almost touching the old darky's heels. Now and then they would come across an insect too large for them to easily manage, and then would begin a little scuffle. Then the butcher bird would swoop down in the center of the little flock, snatch up the insect, and fly off with it before the larks knew what had happened. The butcher bird had eaten all he wanted, and so, with the beetle in his beak, he flew to the nearest orange tree, and, selecting a long, sharp thorn, he impaled the insect upon it. I watched this bird put at least ten insects on different thorns. During an hour, besides numerous large insects, the butcher bird captured two snakes, the largest of which was two feet long and very lively. These snakes, although they squirmed and twisted, were taken with difficulty to an orange tree and, after a good bit of hard tugging, they were left with a thorn through their bodies.

When the butcher bird is not looking for food or for victims to stick on thorns he is looking for other birds for the purpose of fighting them, and thus he keeps busy from daylight till dark.—The Nationalist.

THE DOCTOR'S MISTAKE;

OR,

What Myrta Saw.

AN EXPERIMENT WITH A LIFE.

By the Authors of "Two Strokes of a Bell," "The Telescopus," Etc.

It is a curious fact of common experience that the ceasing to be of a thing often produces in the mind an effect more powerful than its active presence. A clock in the quiet bedroom may tick its loudest, hour after hour, and never draw attention to itself, but the moment when the constant pendulum ceases to swing the consciousness arises of a change. Instantaneously the thoughts of a waking man are brought home. A light sleeper rouses and becomes aware that the clock has stopped.

So with John Nesmith.

He had been sitting in his easy chair beside his reading table, and a book had fallen from his relaxed hand. Straightway he crossed the room to wind the great clock in the corner. Before performing this operation he observed the several items of accurate information which were registered upon its face.

"It is the fifth month of the year and the twenty-first day of the month, 9 o'clock and 31 minutes," the clock said.

As the clock was only a marker of so much of time, the record naturally ended at this point. Otherwise it might have added that this was the eighty-sixth year of the nineteenth century, and that it stood in one of the chambers occupied by John Nesmith, lawyer, aged 28, and that these chambers were in Wellington street, city of Boston.

A rap at the door interrupted Nesmith in his winding of the clock. Nesmith asked:

"Who is it?"

"Only me," replied the ungrammatical lady of whom Nesmith rented his rooms. "Seeing a letter for you in the hall, and thinking possibly that you had overlooked it when you came in, I thought I had better speak about it."

"Letter for me in the hall!" Nesmith repeated, advancing to the door. "Who leaves letters for me in the hall? Mail for me always comes to the office."

"For all that, this letter was brought with the rest by the postman. It is heavy, too, and looks foreign."

Nesmith took the letter with curiosity, and observed the superscription with surprise, and, in his abstraction, quite forgot to thank the landlady for bringing it to him. She lingered at the door long enough to observe him standing, side toward her, bending his head over the reading lamp on the centre of the table, in order to scrutinize more carefully the handwriting and the postmark on the envelope. He was a dark-featured young man, with black hair and moustache.

Character writes itself in the human face undoubtedly, but there have been wise men who would give more to look through a man's private writing desk, to get an idea of him, than to avail of the common privilege of scrutinizing his countenance. John Nesmith's face certainly did not declare what he would do under any given circumstances. It was rather calculated, indeed, to impress the observer as an exceedingly reticent face, and it had a frown upon it at this moment that made it very grim and forbidding.

The landlady made a careful estimate of the intensity of the frown, and became reasonably sure that the letter was unwelcome.

Mayhap it was; for the scowl did not depart as he began to tear the envelope, and he tore it with a degree of spite which was almost violence. A considerable package of paper fell to the table.

"And why all this from Haynie?" Nesmith asked himself. "Some pages from the German guide-book, I imagine."

Then he sat down again, took up the manuscript and read it. It was as follows:

GOETTINGEN, Germany, May 9, '86.

MY DEAR NESMITH—My object in writing to you this time is twofold. Firstly for your own good, and secondly for mine. For your own good I want to ask you once more, to urge upon you in fact, to accept your rightful share of the property which Uncle Jepworth left me. I see no reason why you should struggle along in comparatively straightened circumstances when I have more than I need or want. You are very careful to tell me that you are acting through conscientious regard for Uncle Jepworth's wishes. Are you so very sure, my dear fellow, that it is not a sort of wounded vanity and a species of unreasonable obstinacy which prevents you from allowing me to become your benefactor? I do most earnestly hope that you will reconsider your refusal, and by the next mail let me know that you are willing to receive from me what I do not want, and which I shall be only too glad to see in your possession. Will you not search your heart well on this matter?

Now, for the favor I spoke about. It is to oblige one of my professors, Dr. Emil Anspacher, who has aided me in many ways. And, in order to make it intelligible I shall have to tell you, briefly, a very remarkable story.

There came from Berlin to Goettingen, about four years ago, a very sick man, to be treated by Dr. Anspacher, who was famous throughout Europe for his skill as a physician. This man had been treated by many of the leading doctors of Germany, and had been pronounced incurable. With his last hope he had come to Goettingen. Dr. Anspacher examined and questioned, and being an honest man, knowing the narrow limits of the powers of drugs, and not caring to experiment with what he considered a hopeless case, he advised an ocean voyage, thinking that the excitement of change of scene might, at least, prolong for a few months the life that his skill could not save. For six months Dr. Anspacher heard nothing from his patient, and, then, one morning a stranger (so the doctor thought) entered his office. He proved himself to be the man who, half a year before, had left with the stamp of death upon his face to try the sea voyage. That the ocean could have brought about this change Dr. Anspacher doubted.

The patient told a strange story. He said that he had sailed from Bremen for New York ten days after he last saw Dr. Anspacher. When near his destination in the new world, the steamship was wrecked. After being in the water several hours he was rescued, but the shock to his weakened constitution caused a loss of reason. He was sent north with some poor immigrants, and on reaching Boston he died—so he said—and his body was sold to a Dr. Lowenthal, who by some strange use of electricity put life back into it, after having performed an operation upon him while dead which would have been impossible when he was alive. His first sensation on regaining life was a jarring and thumping of his whole system, then came strange and unnatural dreams, and finally clear consciousness of things about him. As he opened his eyes the doctor danced about his laboratory with an expression of wild triumph on his face. He then called out, and a beautiful girl came in, who, during the next few weeks aided the doctor in caring for his patient. When recovery was complete, Dr. Lowenthal bought passage for his patient to Germany, and told him "to go and tell no one." He had questioned both Dr. Lowenthal and his fair daughter, as he supposed her, about the means whereby new life had been given him, but could get no satisfactory answer. All the apparatus was carefully guarded, and there was the deepest secrecy about everything.

Dr. Anspacher was the first to whom he had told his story, and he did so with the hope that he might discover the truth about this remarkable cure. Of course Dr. Anspacher took the story with all due allowances, but he believed the man to be honest in intent, and he had his own senses to prove that a cure which all the doctors in Germany had set down as impossible had been performed. Therefore Dr. Anspacher wrote to Dr. Lowenthal, not one letter only but a dozen. The sole reply he received, however, was the following, which certainly contained little enough information:

Dr. Emil Anspacher:

Respected Sir.—Wait. I am only on the circumference. One day I shall get inside the circle. Then I will notify you.

Your obedient servant,
AUGUST LOWENTHAL.

A strange answer, surely! But it showed Dr. Anspacher that Dr. Lowenthal had without doubt made some remarkable discovery, and he became only the more anxious to learn what that discovery was.

Now for my request. Will you unearth this mysterious doctor, learn his standing in his profession, and if possible get a personal interview with him; put Anspacher's request in as favorable a light as may be, and communicate the result to me? In a few months I will see you in Boston, I very much desire to oblige my friend Dr. Anspacher. Your friend always,

PHILIP HAYNIE.

John Nesmith, thrusting aside the letter sat back in his chair, and even as he thought the ominous shadow on his face went on deepening and deepening. The subject matter of the latter portion of the letter vanished from his mind. It was only of the first part, of what he was prone to think of bitterly as the offer of charity, and of the man who had offered it that he could think—this Haynie, who was enjoying life while he was working to live. Curious indeed had been the circumstances which had alienated the affections of these two men.

Haynie and Nesmith were half-brothers. They had been classmates in college; more brothers than friends until Uncle Jepworth died. Uncle Jepworth was Haynie's mother's brother. He was no relative of Nesmith, but the family relations were such that Nesmith had been taught to consider him as his uncle, and to indulge in the expectations which the great wealth of the old gentleman and the singular lack of living kin, naturally suggested to a probable heir. However, when Uncle Jepworth died, he left his fortune to Haynie. The will was peculiar, and made plausible to gossips a theory that Uncle Jepworth's mind was unsound when he drew it. Nevertheless, nobody could question Haynie's right, will or no will. At least nobody did, and the will was probated in due course. What constituted the singularity were the conditions on which the old gentleman's thousands were permitted to remain in the nephew's possession. Uncle Jepworth had loved and married an unworthy woman, and after she died, in the loneliness of his old age, he brooded over his wrongs. One day he called his lawyer, and the will was framed to perpetrate his bitterness. It said in fact: "My said nephew and his heirs and assigns shall hold this property in trust so long as they do not harbor, aid, assist by charity, or knowingly address word or mouth to my wife Adelia or her descendants. If ever the violation of this condition be proved I give, bequeath and devise my said estate to John Nesmith and his heirs and assigns, subject to the same condition." It said in effect: "I appoint Philip Haynie trustee of my property, and John Nesmith."

Surely, if he were mad, he was cunning in his madness. Never would it have scaped to reverse the order of these names, Nesmith was jealous and revengeful by nature; Haynie, an open-hearted, generous fellow, who thought ill of nobody. After the will was read he had said to Nesmith:

"Come, let us be sensible as our uncle in his right mind would have been. I will not take it at all. I will share this fortune with you."

"But Nesmith would not leave it so, and soon he began to dislike his half-brother. Two years had not lessened this feeling.

And that is why the scowl gathered upon his forehead to-night and abated not until he brought his soliloquy to an impatient termination by rising and shrouding the apartment in darkness.

The continuation of this thrilling story will be found only in The Boston Daily Globe next Monday, March 26. It will run about four weeks, an installment being given every week day. Tell your newsdealer to leave you The Boston Globe regularly.

The grave robbers captured in Philadelphia, are not half as bad as those mothers who are life robbers, by neglecting the cough of a child when they know full well that one bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup would cure it and make it happy.

Judge Clark in the supreme court at Dover decreed twenty-seven divorces, of which eight were for abandonment, five for adultery, nine for cruelty and five for drunkenness.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep—had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the one medicine above all others made to cure catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

March! April! May!
In these months all humors slay.
Lest your blood become impure,
And diseases hard to cure
Your feeble system shall attack,
And pains severe your body rack.
You long, you sigh for rest and ease
These fearful sufferings to appease.
I'll tell you where it can be found,
Its lugalis' pure Manitoke Compound.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

The President's Artifice.

Every now and then the report comes from Washington that the appropriation of money to be expended in collecting the revenues on imports, and remunerate the officers of the customs, has become exhausted, and collectors are notified to reduce their forces. This was a little game played when President Cleveland was working his civil-service-reform racket. The mode was to reduce the force and of course discharge republicans, and then put democrats in their places afterward. It is said that the collector of the port of Boston took this order as a serious matter of business, and actually went to Washington the other day to see if he could prevent the discharge of some very competent and trustworthy men! He was soon undeceived. Meeting two Boston members, who knew a thing or two about politics, he was told in plain terms that this was simply an easy way to unload any republicans who might remain in office in New York or Boston; that this was the means by which the president preferred, for reasons of his own, to have the thing worked. The collector was able to see it.

The only wonder is, that now the president has cut loose from his civil-service-reform pretensions, and regards the spoils of office in the true democratic light, why there should be so much humbug in this business. Why not come out and honestly say, "This is our day in. We want the offices, and intend to take them, and let the republicans help themselves if they can." No one would seriously think of blaming the administration for doing directly what it seeks to accomplish by an underhanded process. This smirking, sanctimonious semblance of civil service reform in the president, and at the same time a readiness to obey the party behest if he does not get found out, is what disgusts—not only the mugwump ex-supporters of Mr. Cleveland, but very many high-minded democrats, who blush at the cowardly littleness of the pretender in his efforts to face two ways at the same time.

Another Cyclone.

A cyclone struck Calhoun, Ga., on the night of March 20th, and well nigh wiped out the town, destroying houses, levelling trees and fences, and killing many persons. According to the despatches the cyclone struck Loudon, Tenn., 100 miles from Calhoun, thirty minutes after wrecking the town first struck. The velocity, 200 miles an hour, is incredible, and it will probably turn out that there were two cyclones instead of one.

Awful Theatre Disaster.

While a performance was in progress at the Banquet theatre in Oporto, Portugal, on the night of March 20th, the theatre was fired by a gas explosion, and a fearful panic ensued. Men, women and children were trampled to death, suffocated and burned, whole families perishing. Eighty dead bodies were taken from the ruins on the 21st, and other persons were killed by jumping from the windows.

The Capitol Struck by Lightning.

The dome of the capitol at Washington was struck by lightning on the afternoon of the 21st inst., while Congress was in session. Most of the telegraph and telephone wires in the building were burned out, and a horse in front of it was killed. The congressmen were awfully scared, but probably not enough to do them any permanent good.

The Emperor William.

A newspaper man's reminiscences of majesty have been given to the world under the title, "Monarchs I Have Met," by W. Beatty-Kingston. Here is a bit about the Emperor William from the book:

"He really loves soldiering. Most men become ardently attached to any science with which they are profoundly acquainted, and the king has studied matters military until, in that branch of knowledge, there remains nothing for him to learn. He is so thoroughly imbued with the feeling that he is, avant tout, a soldier, that of a morning, when he is sitting in his pleasant corner room under the lindens, with his uniform coat thrown open, reading, or talking to one of his ministers, he will, hearing the band of one of the guard's regiments playing as the soldiers are marching by his place, always turn hastily to the window to look at the men; never forgetting, however, to button his tunic up to the throat and pull out the cross of the 'Ordre pour le Merite,' always hanging round his neck, so that his troops may see him parfaitement de rigueur.

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

March April May

Are the best months in which to purify your blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier.

At no other season does the human system so much need the aid of a reliable medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla, as now. The impoverished condition of the blood, the weakening effects of the long, cold winter, the lost appetite, and that tired feeling, all make a good spring medicine absolutely necessary. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for this purpose, and increases in popularity every year. It is the ideal spring medicine.

"I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used. Last spring I had no appetite, and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon felt that I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week. My appetite is voracious." MRS. M. V. BAYARD, Atlantic City, N. J.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—
Colder, fair weather, westerly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 20 degrees above zero.

"Forgiven."

An exchange says that Frederick Bryton's "Forgiven," which will be seen for the first time in this city to-night at Music hall, is "one of the best romantic dramas to be seen now, strong in climaxes, coherent, abounding in illustrations of heroic traits, with characters remarkably well drawn, and a clear, well written dialogue. Mr. Bryton has the advantage of youth, fire, intelligence and a splendid stage presence, and he carries his drama deeper into popular esteem than has been done with any modern play on a modern theme during the past ten years." Tickets at Goodrich's.

Past Praying For.

At the opening of the federal courts, as at the commencement of the terms of the state courts, it has been customary to have prayer offered. It is an old custom, such as is observed in legislative bodies. Of late the payment of a small fee to a chaplain has been disallowed by the officials of the treasury department at Washington. A voucher for the sum paid has always accompanied the account of the marshal who has paid the clergyman for his attendance on the opening of the court. Recently the reformer at the head of a division rejected this charge, with the remark: "Disallowed: There is no statute which requires the opening of federal courts with prayer, and there is no necessity for this outlay." Probably not. The most fervent prayer could not avail anything toward arresting the headlong rush of the democracy toward its own destruction.

Items of Interest.

The legislature at the session of 1887 having passed a law requiring savings banks to publish the names of depositors who for a period of twenty years or more have have not added to their deposits or withdrawn any portion of the same or the interest thereon, with the sums due each, a number of depositors in the Portsmouth savings bank have been moved to come in and draw a dollar or two, or make a trifling deposit, so as to remove themselves from the list of those who are to "have their names in the papers." Some of the incidents brought out are worth noting, and we give a couple of them. One case was where a woman originally deposited $100, and never added to it; she at different times drew sums amounting to $211.06, and the bank a few days ago paid her, as settlement in full, $707.77. Another woman, a resident in York county, Me., presented several deposit books which had not been in the bank for over twenty years, and the aggregate of interest added to them was $4700.

Among the names of depositors in the Boston Five Cent savings bank, residing in Maine, who have not made a desposit or withdrawn any part of their deposits or interest thereon for a period of more than twenty years, are the following from York county: Julius E. Hill, Eliot, $47.61; Susanna M. Hart, Wells, $1,025.-96; Martha Remick, Kittery, $370.74.

Portsmouth Harbor Business.

Major Jared A. Smith, United States Army, engineer in charge of river and harbor improvements in this district, recently submitted to the Portsmouth board of trade some questions concerning the business of this port during the past year, to which Col. Sisse has returned answer in substance as follows:

Four steamboat lines and three towboat lines run in and about Portsmouth harbor; and forty-two coastwise steamers arrived and cleared in 1887.

There were 805 sailing vessels arrived and departed during the year. [This is exclusive of fishermen and pleasure craft.]

All classes of vessels are employed in bringing freight, and we have at present three United States ships here; there arrived during 1887 five United States ships and two French ships, the draft of which vessels ranged from nine to twenty-five feet.

There was imported during 1887 about 237,000 tons coal, 62,902,00 feet lumber, 141,049 railroad ties, 700,000 laths, 36,-000 barrels cement, 34,000 bbls. lime, 5,000 bbls. plaster, 1000 hogsheads and 10,000 boxes salt, 3,722 bushels potatoes, 1875 bu. oysters, 1,300 tons building sand, 800 tons phosphate, 1650 tons miscellaneous cargo, 750 tons iron, 500 tons stone, 100 tons concrete, 100 tons ashes, 150 cords wood.

There were exported during 1887 about 15,000,000 bricks—the only article of export of any note.

There are sixty-three vessels owned here, with a tonnage of 10,198.87. There was no shipbuilding here in 1887. There were probably as many as fifty "tramp" steamers which arrived at this harbor during the year after tows.

Municipal Affairs.

In board of mayor and aldermen, March 22d, Mayor Hodgdon in the chair; present, the full board.

Petition for a naphtha light on Mark street was granted. A naphtha light was also ordered to be located on Chatham street, in the vicinity of the Catholic church.

An amendment to the ordinance in relation to the use of firearms in the compact part of the city was passed, and sent to the common council for concurrence.

An ordinance exempting the Portsmouth Machine Co. from taxation for six years was passed under suspension of the rules, and sent down.

The appropriation bill was taken from the table, amended by making the appropriation for the dedication of the soldiers' monument $2500 in place of $1000, and the bill as amended was passed and sent down.

Bills to the the amount of $1839.44 were ordered to be paid.

Adjourned for two weeks.

In Common Council, President Page in the chair.

An ordinance received from the board of aldermen in relation to the use of firearms, was referred to committee.

Ordinance exempting the Portsmouth Machine Co. from taxation, was concurred in under suspension of the rules.

Adjourned to the call of the president.

The Times came out on Thursday evening in a new dress, with columns lengthened, and another column added to each page. The news type is a clear, handsome brevier, very pleasing to the eye. It has just moved into new quarters, and put in a new fit-out all through, including an excellent press and a steam engine; and when it gets fairly settled down to business we have no doubt it will be—barring its political creed, which is very bad indeed—a credit to the city.

Mrs. Ruth Parsons of Cape Neddick, York, one of the oldest persons in the town, was born in Kennebunk on the 29th of August, 1793, and consequently is in her 95th year. Her maiden name was Ruth Wakefield, and she was married when seventeen years old to Theodore Parsons of York, who died twenty-nine years ago. They had ten children who lived to manhood and womanhood—three boys and seven girls, one of the sons being Mr. John Parsons of York. Mrs. Parsons has been an industrious woman throughout her long life; she is now as smart as many of the girls, and has risen as early as seven o'clock every morning the past winter. The venerable lady's useful life seems likely to be prolonged a considerable time yet, as all who know her hope may be the case. She is a cousin of Hon. Hugh McCulloch, ex-secretary of the United States treasury, who on Wednesday, the 21st inst., at his home in Washington, celebrated with his wife their golden wedding.

Medical Inspector A. S. Oberly is detached from the Portsmouth navy yard March 31st, and placed on waiting orders. Surgeon F. L. Du Bois is ordered to this navy yard on the 31st.

Mrs. Joseph O. Adams and children, who have been passing the winter visiting Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Adams on Pleasant street, leave this morning for their home in Minneapolis, Minn.

The stockholders of the Portsmouth Base Ball Association will hold a meeting in Franklin hall this evening for the purpose of forming a permanent organization and electing officers.

There is a movement in New York looking to the enactment in all the states of uniform laws relative to marriage, divorce, bankruptcy, etc. This is an excellent plan.. The law as to divorce might be brief, and read thus: "Any person desiring a divorce may have it decreed on application to any court of the state of which the applicant may be a resident." This would simplify matters, and save eastern people from the expenditure of time and money consumed in temporary residences in the wild west for purposes of divorce.

They Wear Wigs Now.

"The short-hair craze has sort of run out," said a Washington lady barber. "Some of the hair has got discouraged through being cut so often and never given a chance to grow, so that now it won't. That is the trouble with lots of heads I could mention. It doesn't do for a young lady to cut off her hair short too late in life. That's why there are a great many wigs being worn this season. You saw all those young ladies with short hair last summer? You don't see them now. Sometimes hair grows out very well after it has been cut short. Sometimes it doesn't. We have sold quite a number of wigs on account of this change of fashion. There were some pretty suits of hair spoiled by that short-hair cut. Some refuses ever to grow long again, some grows out stiff and straight, some loses all of its natural color. Soft, blonde hair came out stiffer and darker. Young ladies who had soft, curly hair of rich natural color were struck with the short-hair craze. And now—well, they are awfully sorry. All the curl is gone. The softness is gone, too, and so has the rich color. The most common result has been the entire loss of the natural tendency to curl. Constant cutting has made the hair straight. Sometimes they have their own natural hair that was cut off made over into wigs.—Minneapolis Journal.

"So There."

It is sometimes hard to tell whether or not a woman means exactly what she says, but husbands know that this rule does not apply when she says that Mrs. Jones has got one, and Mrs. Brown has had two since fall, and she doesn't care a pin what he says about it, she is going to have a new bonnet before another week—so there!

When a woman says "so there!" with a strong italic accent on the "there," a wise man always caves.

My Laura's hands are smooth and soft,
I love to feel their touch;
Yet how she keeps them so I oft
Have wondered very much.
"'Tis Ivory Soap," she archly cried,
"I use no other spell,—
And as I clean all else beside,
My hands improved as well."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

J. C. CARR.

Origin of the Word Texas.

In a recent article published in the North American Review, Governor Ireland, of Texas, asserts that the word Texas means "welcome," and that on the landing of the first white men on the coast of Texas, the Indians greeted them with the exclamation of "Texas!" or "welcome!"

This theory, according to a correspondent in the Texas Vorwaerts, is not correct. In the ancient Spanish archives, stored away in the Land Office at Austin, it appears that certain lands were situated "en el pais de los Tejas," or in the country of the Texas, or Tejas Indians, x and j being pronounced alike.

It is well known that the Texas or Tejas Indians were a tribe of Indians living in the valley of the Rio Grande, who were exterminated or driven off by a more savage tribe. The word Texas or Tejas is the root of the names of all the Indian tribes in Texas and Mexico. The prefix indicated the locality of the tribe.

The As-Tejas, or Aztecs, dwelt on the high lands of Anahuac. The Tol-Tejas, or Toltecs, lived as far south as Yucatan. The Huas-Tejas lived on the gulf coast, between Matamoras and Vera, and the Tol-Tejas were located in the State of Coahuaila.

A Successful Woman Decorator.

A successful woman is Miss Mary Tillinghast, who has made a business of decorative art. Vanderbilt once paid her $30,000 for inventing a new species of tapestry hangings for his house. She also supplies the designs for the stained glass window representing Jacob's dream just erected in Grace Church, New York. No piece of cathedral art has ever before been intrusted in the United States to a woman, but her designs were so obviously the best that a precedent was established.

Contents of a Ton of Coal.

A careful estimate by an English chemist of the contents or constituents of a ton of coal presents some interesting facts not familiar certainly to unscientific minds. It is found that, besides gas, a ton of ordinary gas coal will yield 1,500 pounds of coke, 20 gallons of ammonia water, and 140 pounds of coal tar. Now, destructive distillation of this amount of coal tar gives about 70 pounds of pitch, 17 pounds of creosote, 14 pounds of heavy oils, about 9½ pounds of naphtha yellow, 6.3 pounds of naphthaline, 4½ pounds of naphthol, 2.25 pounds of alizarine, 2.4 pounds of solvent naphtha, 1.5 pounds of analine, 0.79 pound of toludine, 0.46 pounds of anthracine, and 0.9 pounds of toluches—from the last-named substance being obtained the new product, saccharine, said to be 230 times as sweet as the best cane sugar.—Safety Valve.

Death a Welcome Release.

Must it not be to those who endure life-long bodily suffering? From childhood to old age many persons are tormented with rheumatism and neuralgia. Ordinary medication and topical remedies are of slight, and always of temporary efficacy. To escape the extreme tortures of these agonizing complaints, they should be annihilated at the outset with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which expels from the system the acrid impurities that beget them. The evidence as to its efficacy as a blood depurent in this particular is very ample, and strongly concurrent and convincing. In violent forms of these diseases the nerves are terribly racked. A wineglassful or two of the Bitters before the hour of retiring usually brings a respite from pain, and enables the sufferer to secure much needed repose. For kidney troubles, malarial complaints, indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, the Bitters is likewise beneficial.

Madame Vincent, a French woman, has saved twelve persons from drowning. A short time ago she jumped into the waves entirely dressed and rescued the twelfth, a six-year-old boy. She has seven children of her own, the youngest a baby.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

Hon. Mabelle Brassey, a daughter of the late Lady Brassey, is about to be married. In fulfillment of her mother's dying wish, the trousseau will consist wholly of Irish handiwork, and the making of it will be entrusted to the Donegal Industrial Fund for the benefit of the Irish workers.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

The senate committee on foreign relations has authorized Senator Frye to report favorably the McCreary bill, recently passed by the house, providing for a Congress of American nations in Washington, April 1st, 1889.

Stop that cough or it will terminate in consumption. After suffering for months from a cough which, after using many remedies without any relief, threatened to terminate seriously, we were entirely cured by the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. J. G. WESTAFER, Editor of "Chronicle," Elizabethtown, Pa.

Mrs. Rebecca Bennett was on the 21st inst. chosen moderator at the town meeting in Lee, and Mrs. James Buzzell was elected superintendent of schools.

My Friend, look here? you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

The house and barn of Calvin C. Merrill in Pembroke, were burned Saturday night the 17th inst., with much of the contents.

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet, cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness, and give strength and rest.

The municipal woman suffrage bill has been defeated in the Iowa house of representatives by a vote of fifty-four to forty-four.

Miss Paddock, daughter of United States Senator Paddock, possesses dramatic ability and longs to make her debut on the stage. Her parents are trying to curb her youthful ardor.

An excess of animal food and a partial closing of the pores of the skin, during the winter months, cause the system to become filled with impurities. These can be removed and the blood purified and invigorated by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Price $1.

Miss Bledgett, who has charge of protective work among young girls in Boston, has aided more than six hundred of them since the Young Woman's Christian Association employed her to undertake the work last July. She aids unprotected girls arriving by coast or foreign steamers, helps them to find their friends, warns them of the dangers of a great city, and finds them low-priced but respectable boarding-houses.

Rev. C. F. Brooks

Says that his little girl is troubled with malaria very severely, and that since he gave her Sulpher Bitters, he never thinks of leaving New York for his summer resort without a few bottles, for they always cure his family, and are far superior to quinine.

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists. mo4

SAVED HIS LEG!

SCROFULA

BONE CURED!

LITHONIA, Ga., August 11, 1887.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—I have been afflicted with ulceration of the legs ever since I was a child, the disease undoubtedly being hereditary, as my mother suffered from scrofulous symptoms. As I advanced to manhood my affliction increased until the malady became harrassing and painful beyond the power of words to describe. My right leg particularly became fearfully involved, the left leg being also painfully affected. Finally, about fourteen years ago, the ulcers on my right leg had eaten through the flesh into the bone. In order to save my life the doctors determined to amputate my leg below the knee. The operation was successfully performed by Dr. H. V. R. Miller, of Atlanta, and Dr. W. P. Bond, of Lithonia. But the loss of my leg gave me only temporary relief. The poison was still in my system and soon began to show itself again. In a short time after large ulcers appeared on my left leg, covering it from the knee to the instep. Frequently while at work I could be tracked by the blood which oozed from the huge ulcers, and the sores and rottening holes were so offensive that my fellow-workmen could not stand the stench and would move away from me.

Last winter I was persuaded to try S. S. S. As a last effort I consented to do so, and about seven months ago I began taking the Specific. I soon began to feel the good effects of the medicine, the offensive smelling began to grow less and less and finally ceased, the ulcers healed, my flesh became firm and solid, and to day, after using twenty-one bottles, I am as hale and stout a man of my age as there is in Georgia. I am seventy-one years old, but feel now younger and stronger than I did when I was twenty-five. I weigh about 190 pounds. Nothing is to be seen of the terrible disease, or to remind me of the torture I suffered for so many years, except the scars of the perfectly healed ulcers.

I want the world to know of the almost miraculous cure effected on me by S. S. S., and I call upon those who wish to know the particulars directly from me to write, and I will consider it a pleasure as well as a duty to answer their letters. I refer to Dr. W. P. Bond, of Lithonia, as to the truth of my statement. Very gratefully yours,

R. DRAKE.

A book agent tried to sell a Pittsburg woman a volume entitled "The Art of Speech" yesterday, but she cast such a withering look upon him that the wretch slunk away in shame.

In a speech to the Indian commission, Chief Arlee of the Flatheads asked the following conundrums: "The white men make cards and they make whisky. They gamble with the cards and they drink the whisky. If whisky and cards are bad why don't the white people quit making them? They tell us they are bad. Why do they make them and use them? If those things are good and not bad why will not the white man allow the Indian to have them? I wish you to tell me this."—Nevada Enterprise.

For the Most Beautiful.

A mighty lovely girl who is not unknown to critical Bostonians, received a unique present recently from a devoted admirer on the other side of the water. It was an exquisitely enameled box in the form of an apple, tied with a white ribbon, on which in silver lettering were the legendary words, "Jugement de Paris." This highly complimentary fruit was inclosed in a white satin box fastened with a silver clasp bearing the fair one's monogram engraved upon it. And yet cynics and croakers would have us believe that that enthusiastic sentiment was dead!—Boston Herald.

Horsford's

BREAD PREPARATION

OVER THE USE OF YEAST.

Yeast raises the flour by fermentation, whereby the nutritious elements of the flour are, in part, or wholly lost, and the product is a fruitful source of dyspepsia, especially if eaten while fresh.

Among the advantages resulting from the use of Horsford's Bread Preparation are the following:

The saving of time; the phosphatic bread being prepared in a few minutes, while ordinary fermented bread involves preparation over night.

The bread retains its moisture much longer than fermented bread.

The bread, biscuit, gems, etc., made from it may be eaten warm with impunity.

It requires little or no shortening.

The results are uniformly excellent.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep—had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and, by using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the one medicine above all others made to cure catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

The Herreshoff Torpedo Boat.

The contract for the construction of a torpedo boat, for which an appropriation of $100,000 was made, has not been signed by Mr. Herreshoff of Rhode Island, the builder, though it was let to him some time ago. It is "officially" stated that Mr. Herreshof has delayed signing the contract until he has prepared certain drawings now under way. Officers who claim to know the real cause of the delay say that it is due to a disinclination on the part of the contractor to have his work supervised by ordnance officers, who, he thinks, know little about ship construction. The famous blind shipbuilder prefers that the work be under the direction of construction officers. He remembers the fate of the Alarm and Intrepid, both constructed under the direction of ordnance officers, and it is claimed is averse to having a boat built at his yard meet the same fate. The Alarm and Intrepid have done very little but dock cruising, and many of the officers say that when an attempt was made to take them beyond the reach of the land they "could not get out of their own way."

A Big Fishing Vessel.

The bark Hope sailed recently for Alaskan waters upon a salmon fishing expedition. She is fitted out with steam launches and seine boats, and carries a full crew. The Hope was formerly a ship, was built in Searsport, Me., and is about 700 tons register. She is commanded by Captain J. H. Kelleran, Jr., of Thomaston, Me., who has been in the employ of the Alaska Commercial company for two seasons. The hope goes from San Francisco to Astoria, where she will take on the frame for a cannery and ninety Chinese laborers. Thence she proceeds to Kodiak river, to arrive at the opening of the fishing season.

Mrs. Ammon has been released from Cleveland jail, where she has been confined several months for contempt of court in refusing to tell the hiding-place of a girl whose guardian was regarded both by Mrs. Ammon and by the girl's mother as a person wholly unfit to have charge of her. A new judge has succeeded the one who put Mrs. Ammon in prison, and he has ordered her discharge.

Both of the prizes for scholarship lately offered by the mayor of Brooklyn to the children in the public schools have been won by girls.

A municipal woman suffrage bill has been introduced in the Kentucky legislature.

The Chinook.

One of the most curious and interesting features of the report of Governor Semple, of Washington Territory, to the Secretary of the Interior, is the bit of tradition and rhetoric which he weaves about a zephyr that blows through the mountains.

"The east wind," he says, "the drying or chilling wind, according to the season, that blows down the Columbia River with great force sometimes, was called by them the Walla Walla wind, because it came to them from the direction of the Walla Walla country. In the winter this wind brings freezing weather, and sometimes will close the streams with ice. In the summer it is a parching wind, and its approach can be noted for a long distance as it lifts the dust and debris high in the air. It is an odious wind, and no one wishes it to blow upon him. Fortunately its reign is always short. It rarely prevails for more than a few hours, but will sometimes continue for three or four days.

"Its enemy is the Chinook wind, so called by the Indians alluded to above, because it comes to them from the direction of the country of the Chinooks. This is a balmy wind, coming from the Kuro Siwa, or great Japanese current, of the Pacific Ocean. In the summer it is a cool wind, and tempers the heat of summer so that nowhere in Washington Territory do people fall down with sunstrokes. In the winter it is a warm, moist wind, and is sometimes slightly odoriferous, as if spice-laden from the tropics. It is so gentle upon ordinary occasions that its presence could not be noted by its motion, and it is almost miraculous in its effect. Snow and ice disappear before it with rapidity, and it seems to be able to blow for long distances between walls of colder air without parting with its heat. Sometimes it constitutes an upper current, in which case the remarkable spectacle is witnessed of snow melting from the mountain tops while thermometers in the valleys register below the freezing point. At other times it is the surface current, and follows the valleys and gorges as a flood might follow them. It seems to bear healing upon its wings, like Sandalphon, the Angel of Prayer, and it is not difficult to conceive that the Indians would wish to personify it in order to fix upon it their devotions.

"This wind sometimes penetrates as far as the upper stretches of the Missouri, and even tempers the air on the plains of Dakota beyond the Rocky Mountains. Wherever it goes the chains of winter are unloosened, and the ice-bound rivers are set free. The Chinook is the natural enemy of the odious east wind, and while, ordinarily, it wields it influence as gently as the zephyrs that waft the thistle downs in autumn, still there are times when the two winds engage giant conflicts, and fight for supremacy, now in the upper, now in the lower strata, on the mountains, and in the valleys, alternately driving each other back and forth, swaying the trees, tossing the leaves, and whirling the rain-drops or the crystals of snow as the one or the other advances. But the combat is never long, and the victory is always with the Chinook. The inhabitants east of the Cascade mountains, when winter has seized them and the east winds dash snow in their faces, pray for the Chinook to come. They look by day for its moist front and listen by night for the noise of its combat with the east wind, and when it reaches them they rejoice.

"Such is the Chinook wind, the blessed wind, of the far northwest."—Washington Letter to Boston Advertiser.

"Remember, my boy," said Uncle James, as he gave Bobby a coin, "that if you take care of pennies the dollars will take care of themselves." Bobby looked a trifle dubious. "I do take care of the pennies," he replied, "but as soon as they grow to be dollars pa takes care of 'em."—Detroit Free Press.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

Death of Justice Waite.

Hon. Morrison R. Waite, chief justice of the United States supreme court, died on the 23 inst. at Washington, after an illness of but a few days.

General Greely has determined to ascertain the relative merits of the military and civilian meteorologists of the signal service in order to put an end to the unnecessary cavilling of outsiders who wish to see the weather bureau taken under the wing of one of the civil departments of the government. For this purpose he selected the two best meteologists in the service, one Lieutenant Dunwoody, and the other Professor Cleveland Abbe. Lieutenant Dunwoody had charge of the weather predictions last month, and Professor Abbe this month.—Army and Navy Register.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

"Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and consalpation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

The "Nuisance" Law.

The wholesale movement of prohibitionists against alleged liquor dealers in Concord, and the action of the selectmen of Rochester in the same direction, make the law under which they are acting a matter of much interest to many; it reads as follows:

An act to authorize the suppression of common nuisances by courts of equity.

Be is enacted by the senate and house of representatives in general court convened:

Sect. 1. Any building, place or tenement in any town or city that is resorted to for the purposes of prostitution, lewdness, or illegal gaming, or that is used for the illegal sale, or keeping for sale of spirituous or malt liquors, wine or cider is declared to be a common nuisance.

Sect. 2. The supreme court shall have jurisdiction in equity, upon information filed by the solicitor of the county or upon petition of not less than twenty legal voters of such town or city, setting forth any of the facts contained in Section 1 of this act, to restrain, enjoin, or abate the same, and an injunction for such purpose may be issued by said court or any justice thereof.

Approved Oct. 19, 1887.

Concerning this law the Boston Traveller says:

There is not a state in the Union with a more sweeping prohibitory law than New Hampshire. So far as possible it provides every method of attack against the liquor traffic for drinking purposes. It has, however, been totally ignored in all the cities, and in most of the larger towns. The city of Portsmouth has open saloons, with sale of liquor, beer and wines publically displayed by signs, and like inconsistencies with a state prohibitory law exist elsewhere. As yet no way has been devised to execute the laws and the direct violation of the statutes has become chronic, and has hardened into habit. There is public law enough to close every saloon in New Hampshire, but there is not sufficient public sentiment in the locality to elect town or city officials who are pledged to exercise the power of extermination in the hands of the people. A new movement is now in process of experiment. What is known as the Liquor Nuisance act is to be tested. This act places the initial step in prosecution in the citizen instead of an officer, and the supreme court with all its powers is the immediate judicial tribunal to act on complaint. Without preliminary hearing, upon information against landlord or tenant, signed by twenty citizens and filed with the proper solicitor, the supreme court has jurisdiction in equity, with full power of subpoena and injunction. The struggle under this law has begun. It does away with the detention and legal finesse hitherto used to defeat the aim of the law, and it forces the highest court to act by abating nuisances or giving reasons why it refuses so to do. The people appear to be in earnest in this attempt to suppress an increasing evil. The machinery of the law can in no way be made more accessable to the public. Indeed, the nuisance act of New Hampshire seems to reduce the execution of the law to a matter of local option. If any twenty legal voters care to have it done, the law can have its way unless the supreme court fails in its duty.

Personal.

Red Men.

The charter members of the proposed tribe of Improved Order of Red Men in this city met Friday evening at G. A. R. hall, and chose J. C. Lamos chairman and Samuel R. Gardner secretary.

Voted that the tribe take the name of Massasoit.

Officers were elected as follows:

Prophet, Ernest S. Johnson;
Sachem, Albert E. Rand;
Senior Sagamore, Horace Pearson;
Junior Sagamore, Fred C. Sides;
Chief of Records, Warren Davis;
Asst. Chief of Records, Fred Church;
Keeper of Wampum, Chandler M. Hayford.

The meeting adjourned to Friday evening, March 30th, when the officers of the grand lodge will be present to institute the new lodge and install the officers-elect.

Maritime Notes.

The schooner Ella, Hart master, from Rockland to New York with lime, went ashore on Chatham bar during a snowstorm on the night of the 22d inst. She was boarded by a life-saving crew, and found to be abandoned, and her cargo on fire. Nothing could be learned of the crew of the schooner.

The recent grounding of the U. S. S. Pensacola, Capt. George Dewey commanding, off Cape Charles, is ascribed to the fact that the white light at Cape Charles shows red when there is a heavy mist, and was thus mistaken for the red light of Currituck. The attention of the lighthouse department has been frequently called to this dangerous peculiarity.

Sixty men from Nova Scotia arrived this week at Gloucester to join fishing crews. Among the number are several who will command Gloucester vessels.]

The city council of Gloucester protests against the bill in the Massachusetts legislature to emempt vessel property from taxation.

Timothy Reagan, a coal heaver at the Concord railroad wharf, had his left leg broken just below the knee on Thursday afternoon while working in a schooner's hold, by the falling of a coaltub which struck the keelson and glanced against his leg. Dr. Sherburne attended him.

The schools of Portsmouth are not to be allowed to dwindle, even though Alderman Urch has succeeded in carrying the city councils with him in the cutting down of the school appropriation to $4000 below the amount asked for and required to keep the schools up to their present standard. A nice boy arrived as a regular boarder in the family of Mr. Charles H. Morss, the efficient superintendent of schools, last Thursday morning.

Winnicut Lodge of Masons, of Greenland, has elected officers as follows: John Hatch, W. M.; Ernest Holmes, S. W.; Jeremiah C. Shaw, J. W.; Wm. H. L. Brackett, treasurer; John W. Weeks, secretary; James Drew, representative to grand lodge.

The public schools will have but one week's vacation this spring, which is two weeks less than the regular vacation allowed heretofore.

A great purchase of Hamburg embroideries has been made by Lewis E. Staples; 10,600 yards was the actual amount, and he is selling them in strips of 4 1-2 yards, at 25 cts. per strip. We venture to say the ladies never saw such a bargain.

A special town meeting is to be held in Greenland on Wednesday, April 4th, at two o'clock in the afternoon, to see what action the town will take in regard to $151.52 of uncollected taxes of 1886.

We understand that the practical expert in plumbing, heating and ventilating, Mr. C. W. Taylor, is about to e-xtend his work to out-of-town jobs, and has secured several contracts for plumbing and furnance heating out of the city. The public soon find out a man who understands his business and looks after all work himself.

At the regular meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., Wednesday evening, March 21st, Abel Jackson was elected and installed as commander, in place of Daniel J. Vaughan, resigned; John F. Leavitt was elected and installed as chaplain, in place of O. W. Bartlett, resigned; and Charles W. Tracy was installed as quartermaster sergeant. A donation of $20 was received for the relief fund of the corps, from Storer Relief Corps, No. 1.

Never was there a craze more utterly out of use than the roller skating, and yet it was a prominent feature of social life only two or three years ago.

A SCIENTIST'S WARNING.

"We are startled constantly by the sudden death of some man who seemed the picture of health. He thought he was well. He had felt strange pains darting through his body, but as they did not remain, he forgot them. His head ached him periodically, he was somewhat paler than common and unaccountably tired, but he felt comparatively well and vigorous. And yet, he suddenly died! It is a shame to our boasted civilization."

"Look at the list of women who die in childbirth, and why is it? Simply because their maternal organs have been so weakened by the most terrible of diseases that they cannot withstand the fearful, sudden strain that is brought to bear upon them. How many women escape monthly agonies? And yet nature never intended that pain or inconvenience should attend the operation of her natural laws. The solemn and terrible fact is, that men and women drag along, die, and are buried, and their friends and the doctors say heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, congestion, convulsions, when the cause lay far back of all these things. The truth is that weakened kidneys are the cause of most of our troubles. The great question, therefore, is: 'How shall I preserve my kidneys, or, if diseased, how can they be restored?' I have seen numbers of cases and learned from unquestionable sources of many others, where the preparation, Hunt's Remedy, has been almost remarkable in its results. I use it freely among my patients and shall continue to do so. It is a wonderful and invaluable remedy."

The remarks of the learned doctor should be carefully considered, and acted upon by all who desire long life, and freedom from pain and the danger of sudden death.

A Story of Sunset Cox.

Although nearly 60 years of age "Sunset" Cox is still nearly as jolly as he used to be. He has been a quarter of a century in the lower house of Congress, and in his time has been a little wild, and needed more fun and excitement than his own witticisms and debates in the House afforded him. But he has changed his habits in this respect, and is taking much better care of his health than he used to do. Cox married a comely woman with a handsome fortune, and never likes to do anything to displease her. He has no children and is wrapped up in those domestic relations which his wife alone affords him. But he used to want to have a good time, away from the restraining influences of domestic matters, about once a week.

"Cox used to get out of the house at night by a novel and characteristic excuse," said one of his old chums the day. "When he intended to make a night of it he would invariably go home at an early hour, dress himself in his slippers and smoking coat, crawl well down into a comfortable chair, draw himself up in front of the grate, read to his wife and congratulate himself in audible tones on his ability to get away from the cares of public life. He generally expressed himself as not feeling first-rate and crawled into bed before 11 o'clock. About midnight the crowd down at the club, who were to enjoy the society of the funny statesman, as per agreement, would send a delegate to Cox's residence. He would rap gently on the door, and the statesman would complain bitterly at being disturbed, although he had been resting with one eye open and his mind bent on the good time in waiting. He generally felt too badly to go to the door, and Mrs. Cox would kindly consent to go herself. The delegate from the crowd always wore a very serious look, and spoke in a tone of great importance and apprehension. He would tell Mrs. Cox that there was a caucus on hand at which her husband was to preside. He always deprecated the fact that the business of the caucus could not proceed unless her husband was there, as no one could conduct the proceeding without the information he carried in his head. Cox would first hear the statement then would groan like a boy who has gorged himself with June apples. When Mrs. Cox returned to the bed and informed him what was wanted he appeared to be in the greatest agony, and would threaten to resign his place in Congress if this thing kept up. Then he would go to the door with Mrs. Cox and beg like a good fellow to get off. But the messenger would be immovable, and declare that his absence from the caucus would entail untold inconvenience. Then Cox would dress himself, and going out of the house would express considerable discomfiture in suppressing his laughter over the accomplished manner in which the scheme was worked. When he returned to the house in time for breakfast next day, it would always be on account of the lateness of the hour at which the caucus adjourned and his dislike to awaken the good housewife."—Atlanta Constitution.

How Frank Stockton Works.

At dinner the other evening, says a Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, I sat across the table from Frank Stockton, the delicious story writer rather than novelist. At his left elbow sat Senator Ingalls, a great reader and student, and one of the most scholarly members of the Senate.

"What are your habits of work?" asked the President of the Senate; "how many hours a day, for instance?"

"Two," sad Stockton.

"Two?"

"Two."

"Two hours?"

"Two hours."

"You confounded sybarite!"

"Why so?" said Stockton. "How many hours would you have me work?"

"Well, I'd have you loaf as much as you can on general principles, but I work about sixteen hours a day, and think myself lucky when I get off with twelve hours."

"I work eight hours a day," said Senator Spooner, who sat next, "and I think that is enough."

"I find by experience," said the author of "Rudder Grange," "that two hours a day is about as much as I can work effectively. And even then I do not do physical work. I dictate either to my wife, who is a careful writer, or to a secretary, and then I sometimes run over it with a pen and smooth it up. In these two hours I produce about 1,000 words—say a page of the Century. It is enough, for it results in two large books a year."

I asked Mr. Stockton how many Americans he knew of who were earning their living entirely by pure literature—that is, by the creation of works of the imagination.

"There isn't anybody," he said, "excepting, perhaps, myself. And, unless we have an international copyright, the number does not bid fair to increase. However, there is E. P. Roe," he added dreamily.

"Yes," I assented; "I have seen the statistics of the book stores of Milwaukee, which reported having sold in one year of E. P. Roe's books 1,000 copies, of Ann S. Stephens' 270 copies, of Howells, Aldrich, and Stockton fourteen copies each."

He laughed and said he thought very likely it was true.

"Didn't you meet father in the hall last as you went out?" she asked in cold, sarcastic tones. "No," he replied sadly, I didn't meet him. We were going the same way, and I was only a short distance in front of him." "O," she said with a cruel, significant smile, and sailed away.—Washington Critic.

"I should like to have a coin that bears the date of my birth," said a maiden lady of uncertain age to a male acquaintance; "do you think you could get me one?" "I am afraid not," he replied, doubtfully. "These old coins are rare and only to be found in valuable collections." And yet he cannot see why, when he met the lady the next day, she refused to recognize him.—Texas Siftings.

If you are tired taking the large old-fashioned griping pills, and are satisfied that purging yourself till you are weak and sick is not good common-sense, then try Carter's Little Liver Pills and learn how easy it is to be free from Biliousness, Headache, Constipation, and all Liver troubles. The little pills are smaller, easier to take and give quicker relief than any pill in use. One a dose. Price 25 cents,

Strange But Nice Are Fortune's Ways.

To buy or not to buy was the question that three ladies, Mrs. H. De Laup, 377 St. Ann st., Mrs. Honore Platte, 291 Bayou Road, and Miss Mary Henry, 208 St. Philip st., asked when Mrs. V. Gilly, 208 St. Philip st., a vender of Louisiana State Lottery tickets called upon them with the last tenth ticket she had. A mutual taxesment of a quarter of a dollar was resolved upon on one tenth of tickets No. 71,571, the number that, in the Grand Monthly Drawing, Feb. 7, 1888, drew the capital prize of One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, and Mrs. Gilly presented the ticket last Thursday and received therefor a check. Nice, wasn't it, for a 25-cent investment each.—New Orleans (La.) Picayune, Feb. 12.

Ath-lo-pho-ros Pills are small and pleasant to take, yet wonderfully effective. Invaluable for kidney and liver complaints, dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, headache, etc. They'll take away that tired feeling giving new life and strength.

A German woman in New York last week murdered her three sons, the oldest nine years old, with rat poison, and then gave herself up to the police. Poverty, and a dread of having her children taken from her, led to the crime.

The vacant knighthood of the garter has been conferred upon the marquis of Londonderry, the lord lieutenant of Ireland.

You Can't Make a Samson

Out of an attenuated dude, with meagre legs, pigeon chest and a slight cough. But a man or woman whom constitutional vigor has been denied, can get it to a very considerable extent by the persistent use, in regularly proportioned, alternated doses, of America's chief tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. To the nerves and muscles of the stomach that genial invigorant imparts tone, and to its operations regularity. The proximate result is thorough digestion and complete assimilation of the food, and the ultimate sequence, blood fertile with the elements of muscular tissue, a healthy appetite, nightly rest unimpared, and a disappearance of the nervous symptoms to which enfeebled invalids are always subject, and which they are very prone to take for the manifestations of serious organic disease, and does accordingly. In diseases of the kidneys and bladder, always excessively weakening, and for constipation, fever and ague, and liver complaint, use the Bitters.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad on the 23d inst. brought suit in the United States court at Chicago to compel the Rock Island railroad to take Burlington freight.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

At St. Joseph, Mo., March 23d, Patrick Brown, a brotherhood engineer who had returned to work for the "Q" road, was assaulted and badly beaten by striking engineers. This is a straw indicating the total failure of the strike.

Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in the spring of the year, to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore healthy tone and vigor to the whole physical mechanism. Remember that quality, not quantity, constitutes the value of medicine.

Margaret Mosher, grandmother of an infant recently found dead in the streets at East Boston, has been arrested for murdering the child, whose father, Silas B. Johnson, is held as a witness.

Stop that cough or it will terminate in consumption. After suffering for months from a cough which, after using many remedies without any relief, threatened to terminate seriously, we were entirely cured by the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. J. G. WESTAFER, Editor of "Chronicle," Elizabeltown, Pa.

The U. S. S. Despatch has been detailed for service in destroying dangerous wrecks on the New Jersey coast, or to other wise endeavor to make them less dangerous.

My Friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her, now why not be fair about it and buy her a box?

Capt. Hart and four men, of the line schooner Ella, before reported grounded and burned on Chatham bar, escaped with their lives by taking to their boat and drifting to sea before the gale, after the schooner struck. The schooner Anna E. Morse happened to be at anchor nearly in their track, and the snowstorm clearing up for a few minutes enabled the castaways to see and reach her.

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet, cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness, and give strength and rest.

The Williamantic Savings Institute, of Willimantic, Conn., has closed its doors, the treasurer, H. F. Royce, having caused loss to the bank of about $150,000 by unauthorized transactions.

Senator Evarts is said to make from $35,000 to $50,000 a year out of his law practice. Senator Edmunds has an income from the law that is five times as great as his salary as Senator.

The Boston Star

Says Dr. Kaufmann's great book on diseases, its causes and home cure, with nine colored plates, is the best work ever published. A copy will be sent free to any body who sends three 2-cent stamps, to pay postage, to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass.

Admiral Porter indorses the scheme for a naval station at Port Townsend for protection against the designs of the British government. Secretary Whitney gives the matter but little encouragement.

THE INCURABLE CURED!

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Feb. 24, 1887.

Gentlemen—Seven years ago a sore developed on my nose which I diagnosed cancer. I tried a few simple remedies, but the sore would not yield. I grew worse even for seven years. Many thought I had a cancer. About one year ago I commenced taking S. S. S., and two dozen bottles completely cured me. When I began with Swift Specific I was in very poor health, and could hardly drag about. After I had finished the course of S. S. S. I was strong and hearty, and had a good appetite. I regard it as a most valuable medicine for ladies in weak, delicate health. It is a household medicine with me. Yours respectfully,

MRS. R. W. WILSON.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 2, 1887.

Gentlemen—For twenty years I have had a sore on my left breast, which at times grew quite large. It was on me, and my general health was very poor. Last September I began a course of S. S. S., which I have continued to the present time with the happiest result. The cancer has entirely disappeared, there being no evidence or symptom of a cancerous character left. My general health is good now, and my appetite better than it has been in years. I am 62 years old, and to-day I am working in the field planting corn. Yours truly, JOHN LINDSAY.

Gentlemen—I had a sore on my upper lip for eight years, seven different doctors had tempted in vain to heal it. One gave me a small vial for five dollars, which was a "certain cure." It is foolhardy to say that it did me no good. About two years ago I became quite uneasy, as people thought I had a cancer, and I took a course of eight or six bottles of S. S. S. The result has been a complete cure. The ulcer or cancer healed beautifully, leaving a good, smooth surface. From that day I have been in excellent health. The Specific having purified my blood thoroughly, I recovered my appetite and perfected my digestion. In a word, I feel like a new woman, and, best of all, the night sweat is gone entirely. Yours sincerely,

MRS. W. P. CANNON.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK HEADACHE, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD ACHE they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents: five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

The Wrong Pair of Pants.

Says the Calhoun (Ill.) Herald: A queer thing happened at Fred Perry's, which perhaps ought not to be told, but the joke is too good to keep. Three or four good fellows had sampled Hardin's best frequently during the day, and more so during the evening. Cash, too, had become scare, probably on account of our general freeze-up. Weariness finally induced the gentlemen to retire, one of the parties occupying Fred's best front room. During the night a traveling man came in, and Fred wishing to put him in the best room, took him up-stairs and put him in the room with retired visitor. The traveling man went to bed, leaving his pants on a chair near the other bed. Very early in the morning, when the cock crew for 4 o'clock, the bibulous visitor awakened from overthirst and concluded to go out and hunt up a "good snort" for his stomach's sake. He unconsciously put on the traveler's pants. He went down and roused up the kind of man he wanted. No sooner were the lights up than in came the other fellows, who had got dry about the same time. Drinks were ordered, and our man went down into his pants pockets to hunt up some loose change, and to his great surprise he drew forth a lot of bills. He stared at the money, then at the barkeeper, then at his companions. "Boys, I'll swim be, this beats anything I ever knew. Last night I went to bed with only 50 cents, and now here's $50 that I never knew I had. It beats thunder! I've heard the gods are good to those they love, and I must stand in with 'em. So here goes—we'll blow 'er in." And they did blow her in lively until the traveler wanted his pants, when the ridiculous mistake was discovered. The matter was hushed up and fixed up, but "our man" now declares that the gods had nothing whatever to do with it, but that he must have had a drop too much.

The Dog Cure in the South.

A Mississippi practitioner who was called to attend a gentleman who was suffering from obstinate hiccough says: I knew that he had a large dog, so I took my mastiff along with me. The house consisted of one room, entered by a single door.

The house was crowded with ladies, who had assembled partly out of sympathy, partly from curiosity and partly from gossip. My patient was on a low bed when I entered with my dog.

No sooner did my patient's dog see mine than he sprang for him, and a tremendous fight ensued. The noise of the dogs, the screaming of the ladies and the general confusion was indescribable.

When was over the sick man was missing, but was finally found under the bed, and never had another spell of hiccoughs as long as he lived.

Didn't Look Like One Anyway.

Men who have been in Washington a few years can tell a member of congress in his first term as readily as one tells a pig by the ear marks, says the New York Tribune. There is an air of importance, a look of "Oh, you know all about me, of course," that is never seen elsewhere. The other day a young woman calling to see a well known member sent her card in by a doorkeeper and waited outside rather than brave the crowd that usually throngs the ladies' reception-room. Presently a man came out whom she took to be the same that had carried in her card. She stepped up to him and eagerly asked:

"Is Mr. ——in?"

"I presume she is replied the man in a top-lofty manner.

"Well, will you please give him my card, then?" she persisted.

"I did not; no, madam, I did not; what do you mean?" drawing himself to his full height and pouching his chest with his thumb. "I did not—I am a member, madam."

"Oh, beg pardon," promptly retorted the young woman, with a roguish twinkle in her eyes. "I thought you were a gentleman—you know—one of those that stand at the door there."

Keeping Cats Small.

Certain Brooklyn young ladies have lately been seized with a mild mania for keeping cats small. One young lady let the reporter into the secret, and solemnly declared that it didn't hurt the creatures even "a little bit."

"You see," she said, "it is done very easily. Now, here are "three cats. Yes, I know they look like kittens, but they are not all the same. Nellie, the one with the blue ribbon around her neck, is 4 years of age, but you wouldn't think she was more than 6 months old. Here is old Tom, 7 years old on Washington's birthday, yet he is no larger than Nellie. No, they don't belong to the dwarf family.

"Well, how is this accomplished?"

"I give them gin to drink. How? Why, I hold their mouths with one hand, and pour a little teaspoonful of the spirits down their little throats with the other. I repeat the dose three times a day for two weeks. It makes them very frisky, and they eat up some queer capers at times. Often, however, they go to sleep and hug one fire all day. They don't get any bigger and that's all I know about the matter."—New York Telegram.

Secretary Lamar says the first three books he remembers reading in his childhood are "Franklin's Autobiography," "Rollin's History" and "Plutarch's Lives."

For cure of rheumatism, neuralgia in its various phases of sciatica, lumbago, torticollis, sciatica, &c., and gout, use Salvation Oil, the greatest pain cure on earth. It is a specific for the above diseases. Price twenty-five cents a bottle.

Judge Clark in the supreme court at Dover decreed twenty seven divorces, of which eight were for abandonment, five for adultery, nine for cruelty and five for drunkenness.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep—had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely. It is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the one medicine above all others made to cure catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

The Chief Justiceship of the Supreme Court.

The Times suggests the names of several New England lawyers, who would ably fill the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, now vacant by the death of the late Chief Justice Waite.

If the president should select a New England man for this position, there can be no doubt that he would offer the appointment to Hon. William L. Putnam of Maine. But there is a kind of unwritten law which recognizes locality in these appointments. New England, though as ever, large in its intellectual capacity, is now of comparative small extent in point of area compared with the rest of the country. New England has a justice from her borders, and is not likely to contribute a second member of the bench at present. The Chief Justice and associate justices are from time to time allotted among the circuits, nine in number. It has been the custom to select the justices from these circuits. Thus Judges Woodbury, Story, Curtis, Clifford and Gray, were appointed from the first circuit, and would never have been assigned to what is now the sixth circuit, comprising the states of Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Tennessee. This makes it almost certain that the president will select his nominee for the office from one of the above-mentioned states.

Confined to this area, the president will find no difficulty as to the number of men who may be qualified for or inclined to accept what is regarded by very many lawyers as the most honorable public position within the gift of the government.

Personal.

Rev. James DeNormandie of the First parish, Roxbury, sails for Europe on April 14th in the steamer Etruria from Boston, as delegate from the American Unitarian association to the British association.

Mr. Charles W. Adams of Chicago, after passing a few days in this city with relatives and friends, sailed for Europe on Saturday, on a business trip of two months.

Mr. Henri L. Bates and wife arrived home last week from a trip to New York. The train on which they were journeying toward New York when they started was caught by the blizzard at Athol, Mass., and had to stop there two days.

Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick and Mr. Sylvanus W. Foss, of Rye, with their families arrived home on Friday of last week from Longwood, Florida.

Mr. William McEvoy of Springfield, Mo., formerly of this city, is with his wife and children visiting relatives here, after an absence of several years.

Mr. John B. Downs and wife, of Star Island, Isles of Shoals, and this city, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Moses Garland, at North Hampton. On Sunday Mr. Downs was reported to be in a very feeble state, and fast failing.

Mr. Edward S. Sanart and wife, of Somerville, Mass., are visiting their parents in this city.

Hon. Frank Jones arrived home from Florida, via Washington, on Saturday.

Miss Mary Sheldon of Richards avenue is passing a few weeks with relatives in Providence, R. I.

Miss Fannie E. Wright, of Portland, has been tendered the position of assistant teacher in the Portsmouth high school, in place of Miss Lizzie Flagg, resigned.

Mrs. Celia Thaxter, who has passed the winter in Boston, went the 1st of March to her home at the Isles of Shoals, where she will remain through the summer.

"Webb," the Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal, under date of March 23d says: "Ex-Congressman Frank Jones of New Hampshire was very successful in his long interview with the president. There is good reason to believe that Thomas Y. Smith of Dover will at once be appointed solicitor of the internal revenue bureau, to succeed Chesley, and that the papers notifying him of his appointment have left the White House. Mr. Chesley is the most experienced internal revenue officer in the service of the government; the commissioner of internal revenue a year ago protested against his removal, and wrote a letter stating that his services were invaluable, but the axe is to fall, and civil service has been sent to the rear. A new postmaster has also been decided upon for Concord, and his name would have been sent to the senate but for the adjournment."

A letter from Capt. Willetts, master of the schooner Zmri S. Wallingford, owned by the Dover Navigation Co., was received some time ago by Mr. B. Frank Nealley, treasurer of the company. It was dated on the 9th inst., from White House Landing, Va., and announced that the vessel would sail down the river in the afternoon on that date, bound for New York with a cargo of 200 cords of hard wood. Nothing has been heard from the captain since that time, and the vessel has not been reported; and it is feared she went down with all hands in the gale which commenced on the night of the 11th. The vessel was of 295 tons register, was built at Bath, Me., in 1882, at a cost of $19,000, and had a crew consisting of captain, mate, cook and three seamen. The vessel was uninsured.

Schooners Georgie L. Dickson and John F. Merrow, From Baltimore, William H. Ober and John H. Kranz, from Newport News, and William G. Lewis, from Norfolk, all for Boston, are overdue, and as they were all out in the recent great gale some anxiety is felt as to their safety.

The switchmen at Chicago, of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, struck at midnight last Friday night, in aid of the striking engineers and firemen on that road. It was reported that the strike was general along the entire line, and included the brakemen as well. This means they will all lose their jobs, as the striking engineers and firemen on that road have already done.

The First Symptoms

of Lung diseases are much the same: Wearisomness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be down with, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Hartford, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him. They advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present date.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

Spring Medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most popular and successful Spring Medicine.

Nearly every body needs a reliable spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel the impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the winter, to keep up strength as the warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring and you will be convinced that it does possess superior and peculiar merit.

A Good Appetite

"When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was dizzy in the morning, had a headache, and no appetite; but now I can hardly get enough cooked to eat." EMMA SHEPARD, 1 Coral Street, Worcester, Mass.

"Last spring my whole family took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The result is that all have been cured of scrofula, my little boy being entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy as possibly can be. I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla good for catarrh." WM. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

Be Sure to Get Hood's Sarsaparilla, my child. See that they do not give you anything else. You remember it is the medicine which did mama so much good a year ago—so reliable, beneficial, pleasant to take—my favorite spring medicine.

Clear

Temperance Meeting.

The Unitarian church was filled on Sunday evening, when Rev. Alfred Goodling delivered a thoughtful and encouraging discourse on the progress of the temperance cause, and made an earnest appeal in behalf of funds to aid the new Coffee House and Seamen's Home on Market street, a collection being taken at the close. Rev. Messrs. Fisher, McGinley and Baketel took part in the exercises.

"When Greek Meets Greek."

Two large dogs belonging to a well known dog fancier of this city were shut up together in a barn last Friday evening, as usual. One of the dogs is a huge mastiff, weighing 140 pounds; the other, a cross of the bull and mastiff breeds, weighs sixty pounds—less than half the weight of the other. The animals had always been friendly, but an unpleasantness evidently occurred between them that night, for when their owner went to the barn on Saturday morning he found them lying on the floor, both bearing evidence of very rough usage, and the smaller dog having a firm grip of the mastiff's throat. It was with difficulty the brutes could be separated, and the mastiff, though still alive, was not able to stand at a late hour Saturday afternoon; the half-breed, though badly bitten and cut, was able to be out of doors that day.

Kittery Republican Caucus.

The republicans of Kittery had a large and harmonious caucus in Trefethen hall last Friday evening, to nominate candidates for town officers to be supported at the polls on Monday, the 26th. Col. M. F. Wentworth, chairman of the republican town committee, called the meeting to order; Moses A. Safford was chosen chairman of the meeting, and Levi A. Goodrich secretary. Candidates were nominated as follows:

For moderator, Alexander Dennett; town clerk, Dennis M. Shapleigh; selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, Mark C. Fernald, Franklin H. Bond and James W. Brooks; treasurer, Jesse E. Frisbee; agent, Jethro H. Swett; superintending school committee, H. Mitchell, Jr.; auditors, John Thaxter and William A. Fernald; collector of taxes, Nicholas E. Spinney; constables, Daniel H. Nason, Nicholas E. Spinney, Perry C. Moore, Isaac H. Lambert, Cedric Leighton, Thomas J. Billings and Asa Wilson.

For delegates to the republican state convention of Maine, to be held at Bangor on Thursday, April 26th, Nicholas Spinney, Ira Dunbar, Wm. A Fernald, Ervin Wilson, Jethro H. Swett, Horace Mitchell and James H. Walker, were chosen.

For delegates to the republican convention of the first congressional district, Charles E. Langton, Seth Stirling, Daniel C. Norton, Joseph H. Seaward, John Wentworth and John B. Trefethen.

Several citizens who have always acted with the democratic party took part in the caucus.

At the close of the meeting a large number of signatures were affixed to a paper for the formation of a republican club.

Base Ball.

At the meeting of stockholders in the Portsmouth Base-ball Association, held in Franklin hall last Friday evening, the election of officers was postponed to Thursday evening, March 29th, at 8:30 o'clock; and Daniel P. Pickering, Myers Dempsey and Elgar D. Stoddard were appointed to bring in a list of names of gentlemen to be voted for as directors. The soliciting committee reported a good gain in the amount of stock subscribed for.

Facts for the Guidance of the Public in the Selection of a Food Preparation.—Too True Interpretation of the Results of the Analyses made by the Ohio State Commis of the Baking Powders.—Ex-Commissioner Horst Speaks.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan 25, 1888.

TO THE PUBLIC:—

My attention has been called frequently of late to the Royal Baking Powder Company's perversion of the official analyses made by the Ohio Dairy and Food Commission of dairy brands of baking powder. I had previously seen their garbled, false, and misleading statements, however, and had published in the Ohio State Journal an article denouncing their statements and deductions as being most perversely false. I was at that time an officer of the state, however, and could go further than simply to expose the falsity of their statements, and denounce their abuse of an impartial official paper. Soon thereafter, however, I resigned the commissionship to accept other responsible work.

Against such a false showing—against such impudence and cupidity in perverting an official paper I protest; and now, as a citizen, free from the restraints of official impartiality, I feel free to give the true interpretation of the results of those analyses, as it reflects upon the relative merits of the several brands of powder analyzed by the Commission.

The Royal Baking Powder Company, in comparing the analysis of their powder with others as to the amount of gas produced, drops the Cleveland's out of the list (doubtless because that powder was proven to be richer in gas product, or in leavening power, than theirs), and compares their goods with the cheaper and inferior grades of baking powder. But in comparing as to residuum left in the bread they include the Cleveland brand. And here is their falsification most glaring.

The slightly increased percentage of residuum in Cleveland's baking powder is due to the large amount of pure cream of tartar and bicarbonate of soda it contains, and, considered in connection with its richness of carbonic acid gas, the leavening agent (it contains the highest percentage of carbonic acid gas of all the cream of tartar baking powders), is another and very strong proof of its superiority to the Royal. It is the percentage of carbonic acid gas evolved by the baking powder in the process of bread making that determines the amount of baking powder residuum in the bread. The larger the percentage of carbonic acid gas in the baking powder, the less the residuum in the bread. Cleveland's baking powder contains more carbonic acid gas than the Royal; consequently, bread material leavened by Cleveland's baking powder contains less residuum than does bread material leavened by the Royal baking powder.

2nd.—It is richer in gas product, or leavening power.
3rd.—From its use there is less residuum in the bread material.
4th.—It does not contain an unhealthful or offensive ingredient—such as alum, ammonia, lime, &c. The Royal contains ammonia.

The analyses and comparison of the best eight brands of cream of tartar baking powder show that Cleveland's superior baking powder is the richest in cream of tartar, and richest in gas product, or leavening power, and, having no unhealthful or impure elements in it, it is absolutely the best and most desirable baking powder manufactured.

Easter Tuesday, April 3d: 10:30 A. M., service in St. John's church.

During Holy Week the music will be rendered by the choir chapter of young women, assisted on Thursday and Friday evenings by the young men's choir at Christ church.

On Easter morning the choir chapter will form a chorus with St. John's choir; on Easter afternoon the Sunday schools will sing their Easter carols; on Easter evening, at Christ church, there will be a choral service with music adapted to the season, by the full choir.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend any or all of the above mentioned services.

It is rumored that the "liquor nuisance" provision of the prohibitory law is to be shortly put in motion in this city, but we have not been able to get hold of anything tangible concerning such a movement.

Coal freights were reported very dull at the close of last week, the rates from New York, Hoboken or Weehawken to Boston being quoted at but eighty cents a ton, and from Philadelphia, Norfolk or Baltimore to Boston at $1 per ton. Many coasting captains were seeking southern lumber freights.

Two schooners previously reported missing were heard from on Saturday, the 24th. A despatch from Yorktown, Va., announced the safety of the Zouri S. Wallingford; she sailed from Whitehouse Landing on the 9th, and was caught in the hurricane of the 11th about ten miles from Yorktown, dragged her anchors and went on a mudbank, and was aground six days before being able to communicate with the shore, and secure help to get her afloat. At the time the despatch was sent she was about ready to sail for her destination. Capt. Hartley of Saco, principal owner of the schooner Delhi, which was given up as lost on the passage from the West Indies to Wilmington, N. C., on Saturday received a letter from the captain of the vessel, dated San Domingo, Feb. 26th, reporting that he had to put in there for provisions, the vessel having been detained by head winds and calms.

The roads in the surrounding country are reported to be in a shocking state—about as bad as can be; the travelling is neither sleighing nor wheeling, and slow driving and constant care are required, if safety is any object.

The New York pilot boats Enchantress and Phantom are missing, and the pilot commissioners have given them up as lost in the great storm. There were six pilots and six sailors on the Enchantress; on the Phantom there were four sailors.

KID GLOVES can easily be cleaned by first putting the glove on the hand, then take a clean piece of flannel, some tepid water and a cake of IVORY SOAP, wet the flannel slightly and rub it lightly on the soap, then rub the soiled parts of the glove with the soaped flannel. After the dirt is removed, rub all parts of the glove with a damp piece of clean flannel; remove the glove, stretch it lengthways and lay aside to dry. Ordinary soap contains too much alkali which will turn the color of the kid.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

You Can't Make a Samson

Out of an attenuated dude, with meagre legs, pigeon chest and a slight cough. But a man or woman whom constitutional vigor has been denied, can get it to a very considerable extent by the persistent use, in regularly proportioned, alternated doses, of America's chief tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. To the nerves and muscles of the stomach that genial invigorant imparts tone, and to its operations regularity. The proximate result is thorough digestion and complete assimilation of the food, and the ultimate sequence, blood fertile with the elements of muscular tissue, a healthy appetite, nightly rest unimpaired, and a disappearance of the nervous symptoms to which etiolated invalids are always subject, and which they are very prone to take for the manifestations of serious organic disease, and does accordingly. In diseases of the kidneys and bladder, always excessively weakening, and for constipation, fever and ague, and liver complaint, use the Bitters.

"A GREEN OLD AGE."

Few Men or Women Reach It, But Nearly All Might—The Remarkable Experience of an Octogenarian.

"There is only one thing I dread," said the late Charles Sumner, "and that is the coming on of old age."

Mr. Sumner was a brave man, and could face danger unflinchingly but to watch the hairs whiten, the lines of pain and care grow deep in the face, to feel the strength and activity going and death coming on, were more than he could bear. Alas! how many others feel the same today. Pains, loss of sleep, weakness, poor appetite, and feeblenesss, all break the spirit. Have you never heard of Mr. Nathan Chase, of New Bedford, Mass.? A man nearly four-score years old, and hale and hearty as in youth. And yet he was supposed to be dying of heart trouble less than two years ago. Here is what he says:

"A year ago or more I began to lose flesh and strength. I sent for my physician to know the cause. He examined me, and said it was my heart; that the old machinery was wearing out, and I must be careful. Still I grew worse. Finally I got so bad I could scarcely breathe; I could not lie in bed but had to sit up all night with possibly one hour's sleep out of twenty-four. And yet to-day, I am in fine condition; can go up three flights of stairs without inconvenience, and feel as well and about as young as ever in my life before. What accomplished this? Hunt's Remedy—nothing else. It has made a new man of me, and I bless God for it every day."

Such an experience should be a valuable lesson to all readers, both old and young. It shows that a long and happy life is possible. It shows that men or women need not despond. It shows that by care and the use of the right remedy health, happiness and long life may be secured by all.

Simon Madole's Famous Duel.

When I was on my fishing trip down in Southeast Missouri a short time ago, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, I met old Simon Madole, the man who had the historic duel with Guy Clingman of North Carolina that there was so much lying about in the "fifties." It is hopeless to try to give Madole's fine old Tennessee dialect, but as near as I can put it he tells the story thus: "You see, I went down there into that French brood kentry, and this man Clingman, Guy'ner Clingman, he was there, kem along and made a perlitical speech, which was all full of foolery and dodgasted nonsense, and along about the middle of it I up and pointedly guv him the lie. Well, he sent his challenge to me, and I passed the word back that I'd fight him with swords, mounted. Now, I had a ole ox brute that I had trained to the saddle, and he was viciouser than a trouser's leg full of rattlesnakes when I put the cinch to him; and he ud specially objected to anybody tootin' a horn when ridin' him. I had besides a kiverlet—a bedkiverlet, you know—in which were all colors of the rainbow, although red and blue predominated.

"I put the kiverlet on the ox brute, clinched in the saddle so that his eyes bulged out; I got me an old rusty sabre that my gran'ther fit into the Revolution with, tied on a cowhorn and started for the field of combat. Guy'ner Clingman was there on a fine thoroughbred mare, with a three-cornered French rapeer in his hand, evidently thurstin' for my blood. As me and the ox brute hove in sight there was what these here newspaper fellows call a sensation. Guy'ner Clingman declared he wouldn't fight no such a out-fit, but I took one long toot on the cowhorn and chaiged. Wall, sir his thoroughbred kind of jerked, and shivered, and stared, as though she didn't know whether she was asleep or only dreamin', while the kiverlet was flutterin' in the wind, and the ox brute was snortin' and a pawin' and a makin' for her, end, on.

"The Guy'ner was yellin' for me to stop, but I des' tooted away on the horn and let the ox brute go. The mare waited twell we got about ten yards off, and then she out due east as hard as she could lick, and you can believe me or not but she never even switched her tail twell she crossed the Calina line. There's been lots of lying about the Clingman duel, but that's the truth of it, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

Servants in China.

The ways of the housekeeper are indeed made smooth for her in China, indeed so smooth that, unless she has children to care for, her time often hangs very heavily on her hands. The inter or management and care of the house is entirely intrusted to the majordomo, or butler, called "the Kwan Sa," or chief of the bottles. But more frequently he is simply called "boy." Bells not being much used in China, you often hear the cry of "Bhooey!" coming from the neighboring houses. Do not be alarmed, it is probably only madame calling for her sedan chair, or the master who wants a glass of brandy and soda, the standard drink of foreigners all over the far East.

In taking a house in China the first thing is to get a good boy, the second to have him "secured." The securing consists in getting some reputable or wealthy Chinaman to agree that if the boy runs away with anything, he will either produce him or pay the amount of the loss. The servants in the East are all of the male sex, and women are never employed about a house except where there are children, or where a lady has an amah as her personal attendant. The amah's duties lie in keeping her mistress' room in order, dressing her hair, in short, performing the duties of lady's maid, and, if there are young children, in looking after them. In most cases there is one amah to each child. She receives, according to qualifications, from $5 to $10 a month as wages, out of which she feeds herself, her wages in fact being higher than those of the other servants. Female servants are in China, as everywhere else, a source of internal discord, as they are constantly carrying tales or making mischief, and a lady can do without an amah rarely gets rid of almost the only vexation in her housekeeping life. —Good Housekeeping.

Mr. Agile (to Mr. Stoutman, after a hard run for a horse-car)—"By jove! old boy, I t ought you were too lazy to run like that. Mr. Stoutman (languidly)—"Easily explained, my dear boy, laziness runs in our family." Detroit Free Press.

It seems strange that in the many schemes introduced by statesmen to get rid of the surplus no one has ever suggested that the government start a daily paper to fill a long felt want. We presume, however, they want to be at least six weeks, in spending the money.—Bardwell.

It has been said that "the receiver is as bad as the thief." There are exceptions to this sweeping assertion. A railroad receiver may be a very good sort of fellow, and one willing to give the earnings of the road to the directors instead of wasting it on stockholders."—New Orleans Picayune.

It is said that women are not naturally financiers. This is just about as true as the statement that all crows are white. Hand a $5 bill to the fair occupant of a bazaar at a church fair and see how much change you get back. O, no, women are not financiers, O, no!—Burlington Free Press.

DON'T SCOLD

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Athlophoros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way? It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued to use it and am now well."

4 DECADES HAVE COME AND GONE SINCE THE SUFFERERS FROM COLDS, COUGHS, LUNG AND THROAT TROUBLES WERE CURED BY THE USE OF WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, AND YET IT TAKES NOT OF CURING. SEE THAT "I. BUTTS" IS ON THE WRAPPER.

More than twenty years ago Adamson's Botanic Balsam was introduced generally throughout New England as a remedy for Coughs, Colds and Pulmonary complaints. Since its introduction it has constantly won its way into public favor, until now it is the universal decision that ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is the best remedy for curing Coughs, Colds and Asthma.

Mrs. Lucy R. Parsons, widow of one of the anarchist murderers hanged at Chicago, lectured before the Anarchists' Club of Boston on Sunday.

Ingalls found an invaluable remedy for stomach and liver troubles, in Mandrake, an herb which is most effective in eradicating all humors and other impurities of the blood. This compound is most especially commended to all who suffer from dyspepsia, loss of appetite, indigestion, or any trouble of the stomach or liver.

Ask your druggist for it.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness and give strength and rest. Try them.

Debate on the Tariff.

There was a tariff debate in Tremont Temple, Boston, Saturday evening, the audience filling the large hall. Gov. Ames presided, and on one side of the stage were seated the members of the Tariff Reform League, or free trade club, and on the other side the Home Market Club, or protectionists. The champions were Everett P. Wheeler, for the free traders, and Benjamin Butterworth, for the protectionists; and it is needless to say that each made out a strong case for his own side. The free trade papers of the country will no doubt proclaim with one voice that Wheeler demolished Butterworth, and the protectionist papers will be as unanimous in asserting Butterworth's complete victory over Wheeler.

The Senator's Keen Retort.

Senator Ingalls having been sharply rebuked by the democratic press for his reference to President Cleveland in his speech on the dependent pension bill, writes to a friend who sent him a letter of congratulation, as follows:]

"My Dear Sir—Accept my thanks for your kind and obliging letter of the 9th inst. When I recall the course of the democratic party toward Mr. Lincoln, whom they habitually characterized as a baboon and a clown; toward Grant, whom they styled a butcher and a drunkard; Hayes, whom they described as a fraud and a thief; and Garfield as a public plunderer, and Arthur as a wine bibber and glutton, it is interesting to inquire upon what theory Mr. Cleveland is entitled to absolute immunity from anything but praise and eulogy. I adhere to my definition of Mr. Cleveland, and shall never hesitate to say that when he was elected to the presidency the public service reached low water mark, both morally and intellectually."

Put Him Out.

General Greely has determined to ascertain the relative merits of the military and civilian meteorologists of the signal service in order to put an end to the unnecessary cavilling of outsiders who wish to see the weather bureau taken under the wing of one of the civil departments of the government. For this purpose he selected the two best meteologists in the service, one Lieutenant Dunwoody, and the other Professor Cleveland Abbe. Lieutenant Dunwoody had charge of the weather predictions last month, and Professor Abbe this month.—Army and Navy Register.

As a purveyor of weather it must be conceded that Prof. Abbe is a failure. The man who let loose the big blizzard which stopped all traffic in the Atlantic states for a week, followed it up with a blizzard in the west, and a tornado in the south which moved at the rate of 200 miles an hour, and who also struck the dome of the national capitol with lightning, all in one month, is hardly the person to be entrusted with serving out the weather for this great and glorious country.

The obituary notices of the late Chief Justice Waite in the democratic papers are more pleasant reading than were the remarks of the same papers concerning him when he was appointed. At that time the otherwise uninformed reader would have supposed, on reading the documents referred to, that Hon. Morrison R. Waite was merely a police-court shyster of the lowest class, with neither ability nor character, and that President Grant must have been demented when he made the appointment. Now it is acknowledged that Judge Waite was a man of the highest honor and worth, a good lawyer, and devoted to the faithful performance of the duties of his lofty position.

A Raw Material Which Needs No Protective Tariff.

There is one kind of manufacture in this country that needs no ægis of protection to make it flourish. We refer to the skillful manipulation of ancient jokes into modern instances. The headquarters of this industry seems to be in the city of New York, where the great number of funny papers creates a demand for witty stories, the material for which is largely drawn from the ancient chestnut which turns up in a new garb every few years.

The lighthouse board gives notice that on or about the first of July the fixed red light on the Matinicus rock, off the southern entrance to Penobscot bay, Me., will be discontinued, and in place thereof will be shown two fixed white lights of the second order, placed 180 feet apart, and ranging north-northwest and south-south-east.

The new democratic mayor of Biddeford is a very important personage in the city affairs. The councils have passed an order empowering the city treasurer "to hire such sums of money as may be necessary for current expenses and for taking up notes falling due, pending the collection of taxes." Notes signed by the treasurer have to be countersigned by the mayor, but there is no restriction placed on the two officials as to the amount they shall hire, or the interest that shall be paid. Now the mayor is not only treasurer of the city, insuring perfect unanimity of opinion between those officials as to what is proper to be done in the premises, but is also treasurer of the Biddeford National bank; so it is considered likely that the Biddeford National bank will be the agency selected to advance money to the city, and that good interest will be paid on a generous sum.

Chief Justice Waite's death has caused a drop in Bell telephone stock. That is because the chief justice cast the deciding vote in the recent decision. The court stood four in favor of Bell to three against, Justices Gray and Lamar not voting. Justice Gray did not take part from considerations of propriety, as friends of his had pecuniary interest in the case, and Justice Lamar withheld his judgment because he was not on the bench at the time of the hearing. The government, or Pan Electric case, is still to be heard by the court, and with Justice Lamar and a new man on the bench there is a bare possibility that the recent decision may be reversed.

Hon. Edwin Noyes of Waterville, Me., the well known ex-superintendent of the Maine Central railroad, died in Boston on Friday of last week. Mr. Noyes was seventy-two years old, and was a graduate of Harvard law school. He was associated with George Evans in the famous Coolidge murder trial, and had an acquaintance in his day with many of the leading men of his time. After leaving the practice of law he became a successful railroad operator and financier, and accumulated a large fortune. He was born in Rhode Island, but went to Waterville nearly a half a century ago.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

Spring Medicine

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most popular and successful Spring Medicine. Nearly every body needs a reliable spring medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla to expel the impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the winter, to keep up strength as the warm weather comes on, create an appetite and promote healthy digestion. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring and you will be convinced that it does possess superior and peculiar merit.

A Good Appetite

"When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was dizzy in the morning, had a headache, and no appetite; but now I can hardly get enough cooked to eat." EMMA SHEPARD, 1 Coral Street, Worcester, Mass.

"Last spring my whole family took Hood's Sarsaparilla. The result is that all have been cured of scrofula, my little boy being entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy as possibly can be. I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla good for catarrh." WM. B. ATHERTON, Passaic City, N. J.

Be Sure to Get Hood's Sarsaparilla, my child. See that they do not give you anything else. You remember it is the medicine which did mama so much good a year ago—so reliable, beneficial, pleasant to take—my favorite spring medicine.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Warmer weather, easterly winds, rain or snow.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 32 degrees above zero.

Raining

Portsmouth Horse Railroad.

A meeting of the Portsmouth Horse Railroad Co. was held in the mayor's room in the city building Monday forenoon, those present being as follows: George B. French, president; George E. Hodgdon, clerk; William O. Sides and William Conn, of Portsmouth, Charles R. Corning, of Concord, and William B. B. Frink, of Boston, directors. It was voted to petition the board of mayor and aldermen at their next meeting for permission to lay tracks, and to designate the route. The meeting then adjourned to Friday evening.

It is stated that work on the line will be commenced as soon as the state of the weather and ground will permit. Just where it is to be located is not yet made public.

Kittery Election.

The Kittery election on Monday resulted in the choice of the republican candidates by a vote of 220 to forty-three—177 majority.

Voted to raise for support of the poor, $800; contigent, $1500; debt $1000; interest, $700; district schools, $3000; free high school, $500; repairs of roads in summer, $2400; repairs of roads in winter—labor $1000, money $500.

Tidal Wave in Eliot.

At the election in Eliot on Monday the town went republican by 111 to 66. The reliable old democratic machine must have been awfully out of gear.

Coming Very Close.

The Dover dealers in wet goods were raided Monday, and much liquor seized. Several owners of buildings where liquor is sold have notified their tenants to quit, having been threatened with indictment under the "nuisance act."

Personal.

Mrs. T. H. Rider of Summer street, is visiting her parents, Col. John H. Jackson and wife, of Boston.

Andrew J. Penhallow, Esq., was on Monday reported to be very ill, and steadily failing.

Mrs. Rand, wife of Mr. John Rand of the St. Cloud hotel, New York city, died last week, and her obsequies were held at the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, on Monday. Interment at Forest Hill cemetery.

Mr. Charles W. Badger left last week for Atlanta, Georgia, where his wife and child have been staying for some months. They will shortly return to Portsmouth.

Capt. J. Albert Sanborn of this city, for several years past superintendent of extensive gold mines in French Guiana, South America, arrived home on Sunday.

Rev. O. S. Baketel, pastor of the Methodist church in this city, is considered almost certain of being returned to that pastorate for another year. The church has prospered well under his faithful ministrations.

The work of changing the old soap factory on Elm street into a restaurant was begun on Monday.

While on the way to Boston on Saturday evening, a well known citizen of Portsmouth acted so strangely on the train that he was removed on arriving at Newburyport. He was sent back to this city by the Pullman train Sunday evening.

Mr. Leland F. Powers, whose reading of "David Garrick" in the Star course at Music Hall the past winter was beyond comparison the best entertainment of the kind given here within memory, will read "David Copperfield" and "The Minister's Housekeeper"—the latter by Harriet Beecher Stowe—at the same place on Tuesday evening, April 3d.

C. E. Walker & Co. have hired the Union wharf for the purpose of carrying on the coal business while alterations and improvements are being made on their own wharves.

Members of the Union Rebekah Degree Lodge, I. O. O. F., who intend to visit the Winnicummet Rebekah Degree Lodge of Hampton, are requested to be at the Boston & Maine railroad station at 6:15 o'clock this evening.

For years our democratic brethren in this city loudly proclaimed that Kittery was as reliably democratic as Eliot on a free and fair vote, and that only the navy yard patronage enabled the republicans to carry the town at all. The democrats have had control of that patronage for some years, and on Monday not only Kittery but Eliot went republican by overwhelming majorities.

At the close of the forenoon service in the Middle street Baptist church on Sunday last, a vote of the society was taken upon accepting the tendered resignation of Rev. Dr. Alden, the pastor, and the vote was against its being accepted; but it is understood that the resignation is explicit, and that Dr. Alden's pastorate will cease on the 1st of August. Resolutions of confidence in and regard for the pastor were passed, and ordered to be spread on the church records.

It is reported that twenty old-time democrats of Kittery put their names to the paper calling for the organization of a republican club in that town.

The golden wedding song which is to introduced at the Cadets' Picnic is bright and pleasing, and as rendered by the youthful chorus, with xylophone accompaniment, will be found specially enjoyable.

City Marshal Rowe and another officer had quite a tussle in arresting a drunken marine on Islington street, Sunday evening, and the marshal had several teeth knocked out. They were false ones, however. The belligerent sea-warrior was taken to the station in an express wagon, with the marshal sitting on him to keep him quiet.

We hope the result of the elections on Monday in Eliot and Kittery will not scare the democrats out of renominating Cleveland for president.

See advertisement of auction sale of household goods at the former residence of the late Comdr. Thomas H. Eastman, U. S. N., on Fleet street, to commence on Thursday forenoon, March 29th, at ten o'clock.

The annual state convention of the New Hampshire Catholic Total Abstinence and Benevolent Union will be held in Nashua on Fast day.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO. 106 Wall street, New York.

FOR LOCAL CHARITIES.

Alum Baking Powders.

A List of those most prominently Sold.

The following are the names of some of the baking powders published by the public authorities as being made from alum:

Kenton,	Davis,
Silver Star,	A. & P.
Forest City,	Henkle,
One Spoon,	Ne Plus Ultra,
Patapsco,	Enterprise,
Empire,	Can't be Beat,
Gold,	Eureka,
Veteran,	International
Cook's Favorite,	Puritan,
Sun Flower,	Albany Favorite,
Jersey,	Golden Sheaf,
Buckeye,	Burnett's Perfect,
Peerless,	State,

Carleton,	Crystal,
Scioto,	Centennial,
Zipp's Grape Crystal,	Gem,
Geo. Washington,	Windsor,
Fleur de Lis,	Sovereign,
Feather Weight,	Daisy.

There are doubtless many other brands of alum baking powder beside those so far examined and named by the authorities. Most of the baking powders sold in bulk, by weight, and all sold with a gift or present, are said to be of this description.

Prof. Wiley, Chemist in Chief of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., says: "The use of alum in baking powders in large quantity, in place of other acid salts, should be prohibited by law."

A special communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., will be held on Wednesday evening, March 28th, the occasion being an official visit by the grand officers of New Hampshire; there will be work followed by a banquet.

Meeting of Rockingham County Temperance Association at South Newmarket March 29th. We have already published the programme of exercises.

The democratic caucus at Kittery Point is reported to have called together just ten of the faithful; there are many more democrats at the Point, but they would not come out.

Mr. T. F. Kimball, who has recently been elected vice president of the Union Pacific railroad, was born in Buxton, York county, Maine, October 1st, 1831.

A fish and game warden of York county on Friday last seized a barrel of short lobsters at Kennebunk depot. They were from Cape Porpoise, and marked for New York city, but there was nothing by which the warden could identify the person who caught or shipped them.

Mr. George E. Young, mast and sparmaker, and senior member of the firm of Young & Caldwell of Boston, died at his home in East Boston on Wednesday, the 21st inst. He was born in York, Me., sixty-six years ago, and went to Boston in 1849. He leaves a wife and two children.

The vestibule cars on the Boston and Mt. Desert limited express will be of new and elegant design this year, much different from those of last season. They will have a new style of ornamentation on the outside, and will be much more elaborate on the inside. There will be two entirely new dining cars, making this the finest train that ever ran on the roads of Maine.

The docket of the supreme court, April term, which convenes at Exeter on the 10th, contains 185 civil actions, forty-four equity cases, twelve state actions and eight cases in sessions, a total of thirty cases less than the docket of last term. Judge W. H. H. Allen will preside.

Hampton has chosen a large committee to make arrangements for the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the settlement of the town, and voted to repair the town hall at an expense not exceeding $2500. The town hall was built in the last century, and was originally a church.

At the recent town meeting in Newport, the town voted to prohibit the illegal sale of spirituous or malt liquors, wine or cider. As such sale had already been prohibited by the state, the town's prohibition seems superfluous.

Fire broke out in C. S. Eaton's meat market, situated in the centre of Kennebunkport village, at ten o'clock in the forenoon on Saturday, the 24th inst. The wind was blowing a gale from the northwest, and but for the prompt action of the fire department and citizens, the whole business portion of the village, including churches and two hotels, must have been burnt. Cause, a defective chimney; loss $300; insured.

Cocoanut Milk.

A woman of fine complexion has admitted that it is due to the milk in the cocoanut. Her formula is this: "Take a fresh cocoanut, grate it, place it in a cloth, and squeeze out the milk. Wash the face and hands with the liquid, rubbing a great deal, the more the better, and wipe with a soft cloth. The effect is wonderful and instantaneous."

Ints on Leap-Year Proposals

A young lady comes to us with very curious request. "I want you," she writes, "to tell me how to proceed to make a leap-year proposal. I do not mean anything farcical, but a real matrimonial proposition, and I desire to do it in such a way the effort will not be a failure. Please give me a few practical directions."

Of course we will, dear Miss "Cynthia," of course we will. Evidently you have never made a leap-year proposal and you naturally feel nervous; but, never fear, it's nothing when you get used to it. In the first place, you must catch your man. From the tone of your letter we infer that you have got him. Well, the next thing is to surround the man with favorable conditions. Never propose in the morning. It is worse than useless. To nine people out of ten there is no more romance in the early part of the day than there is sunshine at midnight. The evening is a good time. When the young man is alone with you and his face assumes a sentimental look pop the question. Force an answer at once. The average man needs time to frame excuses and equivocations. The best plan is to make him commit himself, and after he does this get him to write a few sickly love-letters. The sicklier the better.

Then, Miss Cynthia, you must make a few presents to the young man. A cluster diamond ring is quite acceptable; a gold watch and chain would not be amiss, and most anything that costs from $500 to $2,000 would not be likely to freeze his love. You must also pay for tickets to the drama and the opera. Booth tickets at $5 for the two for six nights in one week would be slightly expensive, but you must remember, Miss Cynthia, that courtships are very expensive, especially leap-year courtships.

And, after all, if his love should wander away from you and he should try to defeat matrimony by innumerable postponements, your course would be entirely clear. You would merely have to get those sickly love-letters before a jury and the verdict would follow. Forty-five thousand dollars is the fashionable figure, but as Baltimore is more sympathetic than New York there is no reason why you shouldn't get $50,000, and any young lady who has $50,000 in her own name need not remain unmarried long.—Baltimore American.

Forty per cent. of all the students at Williams College are from New York, and 22 per cent. from Massachusetts.

Opposition is what it wants. That will make it solid; we mean Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It has entered the lists and come out far ahead. In the ranks of legitimate household remedies for the cure of coughs and colds, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup stands first. Price twenty-five cents.

A rare comfort to lame backs, weak kidneys and sore chests—Hop Plasters

The number of Scandinavian immigrants to this country is reported to be very large this spring.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the first successful blood medicine ever offered to the public. This preparation is still held in the highest popular estimation both at home and abroad. Its miraculous cures and immense sales show this. Ask your druggist for it.

Henry Bergh, nephew of the late Henry Bergh, and secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of New York, was on Friday of last week elected president of the society.

When I began using Ely's Cream Balm my catarrh was so bad I had the headache the whole time and discharged a large amount of filthy matter. That has almost entirely disappeared and I have not had the headache since.—J. H. Sommers, Stephney, Conn.

I thank God that you ever invented such a medicine for catarrh. I have suffered for five years so I could not lie down for weeks at a time. Since I have been using Ely's Cream Balm I can rest. Frank P. Burleigh, Farmington, N. H.

An atrocious attempt was made at Malden, Mass., Saturday afternoon, by a man named Cutter, to murder his brother-in-law, Luther H. Rowe of Melrose, who was decoyed to Malden on pretense of business, and then shot at through a hole previously cut in the door. Rowe was wounded in the shoulder, and Cutter escaped. Miss Annie Nickerson of Boston, who was the only other occupant of the house at the time of the assault, is detained as a witness.

Have you these dangerous symptoms,—cough, pain in the side or breast, fever, short breath, night sweats, tickling, rasping, or soreness in the throat, diarrhœa, nervous debility, asthmatic bronchial affections? If so, use at once Adamson's Cough Balsam.

Paymaster John F. Tarbell is detached from the Boston navy yard and ordered to the Wabash.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

You Can't Make a Samson

Out of an attenuated dude, with meagre legs, pigeon chest and a slight cough. But a man or woman whom constitutional vigor has been denied, can get it to a very considerable extent by the persistent use, in regularly proportioned, alternated doses, of America's chief tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. To the nerves and muscles of the stomach that genial invigorant imparts tone, and to its operations regularity. The proximate result is thorough digestion and complete assimilation of the food, and the ultimate sequence, blood fertile with the elements of muscular tissue, a healthy appetite, nightly rest unimpared, and a disappearance of the nervous symptoms to which etiolated invalids are always subject, and which they are very prone to take for the manifestations of serious organic disease, and does accordingly. In diseases of the kidneys and bladder, always excessively weakening, and for constipation, fever and ague, and liver complaint, use the Bitters.

Dr. Lelia Bedell, of Chicago, has a practice that brings her $7,000 a year.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

Stop that cough or it will terminate in consumption. After suffering for months from a cough which, after using many remedies without any relief, threatened to terminate seriously, we were entirely cured by the the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. STARTLING STATISTICS.

What a High Official Has to Say About the Condition of the People—Some Serious Facts and Figures.

[Herald.]

"It is wonderful what figures will show." Such was the remark of a high official in the State Department to a representative of this paper. "How many really rich men do you suppose there are in New England? Very few. But how many do you think there would be if people were physically and mentally sound and vigorous? New England people are active, restless and ambitious, and therefore neglect themselves. Not one man or woman in ten is in perfect health."

"Official figures show this, do they?"

"Precisely. There seems to be a New England disease. People do not seem to think that headaches, or tired feeling, or 'blues,' or loss of appetite, or nervousness mean anything. Then, the first thing they know they are in bed and on thorns d to death.

"De many die of this disease?"

"Thousands. Henry Wilson, Charles Sumner, Wendell Phillips and Governor Bodwell are among the number. James G. Blaine is also on the road, and his trip abroad is in the hope of recovering health."

"But what do you find to counteract it?"

"Very little. The only reliable medicine so far discovered is Hunt's Remedy. The faculty of one of our leading medical colleges, knowing the composition of this medicine, have been recommending it for some time, and the results have been wonderful. I know three ladies and one gentleman (one of the latter a State officer), who have been entirely cured by its use. I wish everybody might know more about it and use it."

Such facts and figures, and from so high a source, should prove invaluable to thousands whose success in life would be much greater were they physically and mentally sound and vigorous.

How It Feels to Freeze.

Early in January, 1854, I left Red Wing in company with S. J. Willard, John Day, and Albert Olson for a place fourteen miles distant, near where Vasa church now stands, for the purpose of cutting and hauling logs preparatory for our settlement at that point the following spring. It was a clear beautiful day with the thermometer 20 degrees above zero. We had a span of good horses, a sleigh partly loaded with lumber, forage and provisions for a few days.

We arrived at the spot just before dark, and camped in a ravine well sheltered with timber. After making ourselves comfortable with a good supper, and a blazing log fire, all four laid down to sleep on a bed made on the snow, with a thin layer of hay on top of some boards, and were well wrapped up in blankets. During the night the temperature changed to a terrible cold, thermometer falling to 45 degrees below zero, as we learned afterward. Had we known this and kept our fire burning, there would, of course have been no danger. But being very comfortable we all fell asleep early in the night, and were unconscious of the danger we were in until awakened by the pain of intense cold, and then we were already so overcome with the cold that we lacked power of energy to get up or even to move.

Comparing notes afterward we found that all had experienced a like sensation, namely: first, an acute pain, like the point of a needle in every pore, but free from all mental anxiety, except a dull conception of something wrong and a desire to get up, but without sufficient energy to do so. This feeling, however, did not last long, and subsided gradually into one of quiet rest and satisfaction until consciousness ceases altogether, and without any struggle or pain, either bodily or mental. We had all reached that stage when, by an accident, the arm and bare hand of Mr. Day, who lay on the outside, fell into the snow. This started the circulation in his body and gave him such intense pain that he quickly aroused himself and got on his feet, and, of course we were saved. It took a long time before we could use our limbs sufficiently to rebuild the fire, and during that time we suffered much more pain than we had before. I am satisfied from that experience that a person persisting in that way has a very easy death, because he sinks gradually into a stupor, which blunts his sensibility both to physical pain and mental agony long before life becomes extinct.

It was about 50 degrees in the morning when we got up. We did not lie down or attempt to haul our building logs, but started in a few hours on a bee line for a ravine that would lead us back to Red Wing. It was a struggle of life and death to get across the rolling prairie, and had the cold been accompanied by a blizzard we would not have got across.

To keep warm we took turns to walk or run behind the sleigh, and Mr. Willard was walking when he was suddenly missed, and the team turned back, following its tracks a short distance to a hillside, where we found him sitting in the snow apparently comfortable and with no desire to move. He rather censured us for coming back after him, claiming that he was all right and would have come along when he got ready; but the fact was that he was already so stupefied with the cold that he would never have made an exertion to move.

After a drive of ten miles we arrived at the first and only inhabited house between Vasa and Red Wing; and it was high time that we found shelter both for ourselves and the horses. That was the coldest day of that year, and to me the coldest in the history of Minnesota.

He Rallied Round the Tree.

A gentleman who lives near Augusta tells an interesting story about William Henry Russell, the great English singer, who was all the rage forty years ago. It was in 1848. The coming of Russell had been heralded for weeks in advance of his visit, and when he reached Augusta the people were eager to hear him. The hall was crowded. In the audience was Col. Bob Harris, who had come fifteen miles to attend the concert. Russell sang "I'm Afloat," "Ivy Green," and several other of his famous songs. His success was overwhelming. His great triumph, however, was his singing of "Woodman Spare that Tree." When he finished the third verse, Col. Harris jumped up and shouted:

"I'll be d—d if it shall be cut down. I'll give one hundred dollars out of my own pocket to save it!"

This interruption of course created a sensation. Col. Harris was an elegant gentleman. Recovering himself, he made an elaborate apology for what he had said and done, but he could not conceal his mortification. There was a short pause. Russell broke thesilence.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said "I have sung that song in all parts of the civilized world. I have been complimented by the crowned heads of Europe and the potentates of the East. But, believe me, I have never received so fine a compliment as that just paid me by the gentleman."

This incident was frequently referred to by Russell, but it has never before been published.—Atlantic Constitution.

"Clara," said the old man from the head of the stairs, "hasn't that young man gone yet?" "Your daughter isn't here, sir," feebly responded the lady in the kitchen to the man from the lamp.—New York Sun.

She Tried and Knows.

A leading chemist of New York says: "No plasters of such merit as the Ath-lo-phoros Plasters have ever before been produced." They are a novelty because they are not made simply to sell cheap, they are the best that science, skill and money can produce, and will do what is claimed for them. For sprains, aches, weakness, lameness, etc., they are unequaled.

404 Fulton St., Sandusky, O., Nov. 21, '87.
The Athlophoros Plaster acted like magic. It is the best I ever tried and I have used many kinds. Our druggist said "plasters are all about the same" but I don't think so now. I sprained my arm and shoulder in July, and it has been painful since, but it does not pain me at all now. MRS. WILLIS MAGILL.

Opposition is what it wants. That will make it solid; we mean Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It has entered the lists and come out far ahead. In the ranks of legitimate household remedies for the cure of coughs and colds, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup stands first. Price twenty-five cents.

Ingalls found an invaluable remedy for stomach and liver troubles, in Mandrake, an herb which is most effective in eradicating all humors and other impurities of the blood. This compound is most especially commended to all who suffer from dyspepsia, loss of appetite, indigestion, or any trouble of the stomach or liver.

Ask your druggist for it.

Warner Clark was on Monday appointed postmaster at Concord.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness and give strength and rest. Try them.

William O'Brien attempted to address a "proclaimed" meeting at Youghal, Ireland, on Sunday morning, but the police interfered, and in a fight many persons were injured.

An Imperative Necessity.

That pure air is to an unhealthy locality, what spring cleaning is to the neat housekeeper, so is Hood's Sarsaparilla to everybody, at this season. The body needs to be thoroughly renovated, the blood purified and vitalized, the germs of disease destroyed. Scrofula, salt rheum, and all other blood disorders are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the most popular and successful spring medicine.

Eliot Items.

ELIOT, ME., March 27th.

The greatest overturn in town affairs for twenty-five years took place at the election yesterday, when the republican straight ticket was elected. It was the greatest political surprise this town ever knew. The republican nominations were as follows:

Town clerk, William H. Spinney;

Selectmen, etc., Timothy Dame, Augustus P. Shapleigh, Albert Lord;

Treasurer, Martin P. Tobey;

Agent, Sylvester Bartlett;

Collector, Albert W. Nowell;

Constable, Samuel H. Staples;

Auditor, Thomas F. Staples;

Superintending school committee, A. L. Hanscom.

There were only forty straight democratic votes thrown. The respectable democrats have got fairly disgusted with the transactions of the past few years, and they as well as the republicans thought best to have a change, so they worked earnestly, and won a glorious victory.

Alvin Remick has been in town for a week past, visiting his uncles and aunts.

Villa Dixon finished her school in district two last Friday. Miss Dixon is much liked wherever she has taught.

Charles B. Remick, brakeman on the Boston & Maine passenger train between Salem and Boston, was at home last Sunday.

Daniel Junkins is slowly improving in health.

Dr. E. H. Dixon is to return home next Saturday, to remain three months, which will give those wishing dental work done an excellent opportunity, he being a very skillful dentist.

Miss Sarah S. Farmer, Miss Myra Hammond and Mrs. C. E. Foy were representatives from the Eliot Flower Mission to the mission in Boston last Saturday.

Mr. Wm. J. Paul is quite ill with neuralgia in the head.

Miss Alberta Nelson has been sick for three months, but is slowly recovering; we hope she will soon be out again.

Samuel Dixon has a carload of potatoes for seed, which he is selling at Portsmouth.

Mary E. Staples is at home, sick, from Portsmouth, where she has been at work the past year.

Frank M. Dixon, the photographer and artist of South Berwick, was home at the residence of Samuel Dixon on Sunday last. He is one of the finest photographers in this part of the country, and is doing a large business. HARRY.

Affairs in Kittery.

KITTERY, ME., March 27th.

John P. Brooks is here from the west, visiting his parents, Mr. James W. Brooks and wife of North Kittery.

Frank E. Donnell and wife, of Dover, N. H., who have been visiting friends here, have returned home.

Mrs. George Reynolds and children, from Minnesota, are visiting her sister, Mrs. James D. Plaisted of North Kittery. We understand her husband will go into business in Boston, and not return to the west.

The Methodist society of Kittery Foreside will give an entertainment and supper in the vestry of their church on Thursday evening, March 29th.

We very much regret, as do others, the omission in the town book of a memorial leaf to the late Frank Bartlett. Mr. Bartlett served the town faithfully several years as selectman, took a deep interest in all town affairs, and his death was a public loss.

The admirers of the great democratic reform administration cannot claim that the overwhelming republican victories in this town and Eliot, yesterday, were won by the aid of navy yard patronage. That was what they used to say of every republican victory in Kittery. SUE ROSA.

Hampton Jottings.

HAMPTON, March 26th.

Rev. J. B. Merrill preached his farewell sermon yesterday afternoon to a large congregation; he will enter upon his new duties at Epsom on April 1st.

During the late storm large stones were washed upon the road at the beach, making it impassable, and it will cost the town quite a sum to put it in order for travel; men employed by Mr. Curtis DeLancey are clearing it. In some sections ornamental trees were badly broken.

Town meeting was held the 15th; $3000 will be expended to renovate and repair the town hall, but there will be no gates at the railroad crossing. New highway surveyors were appointed in some districts. Hot coffee and refreshments were served by the ladies of the Congregational society, members of the W. C. T. U.

Rev. Sam Small lectured here on the 20th, to an audience of upwards of 450 people; he seemed much fatigued. He strongly advocated the sentiment of prohibition, censured the republican party for not doing more for the temperance cause when they were in power, and related many amusing anecdotes.

The ladies in this vicinity are improving leap year, and some of the young men are waited upon in fine style; the widowers and bachelors keep in the shade, fearing they may be served likewise. Some ladies who have turned the first corner pay attention to young men several years their junior.

There seem to be many diseased horses in some localities of the town, some with troubles that baffle the skill of veterinarians. To-day another faithful animal at the west end will be killed on account of an externally diseased throat.

Some of the advertisers in local newspapers may be surprised that one column in the Chicago Tribune costs the advertiser $62,000 a year. The New York World receives for its lowest price column $35,280; the New York Tribune for the lowest $28,654, and its highest $85,653, and these papers, it is stated, are never at a loss for advertisements to fill their columns. These rates are considerably higher than we charge.

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

John Curtis, a fisherman at Biddeford Pool, has had trouble with his wife for several years. Recently his wife drew from the bank about $1000 which Curtis had deposited in her name, and went to live with the family of Thomas Davis, her brother-in-law, at the same time filing an application for divorce. On the morning of the 26th inst. Curtis went to Davis' house and kicked in the door, but Davis restrained him from assaulting the woman. He then went to the place of Orrin Nason, and hanged himself to a tree, but Nason cut him down before life was extinct. He immediately went to the house of Nahum Tarbox, got another rope, and again hung himself, this time effectually. He was about forty-eight years old, was a hard-working man, and owned property to the amount of about $4000; his wife was his own cousin, and they have three children.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

To the Republicans of Portsmouth.

PORTSMOUTH, March 27th.

At an informal meeting of republicans, held on Monday evening last to consider the advisability of forming a Republican Club in this city in conformity with the requirements of the National Republican League, it was voted unanimously that such a club be organized immediately, and a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions and secure centrally located rooms for the headquarters of the proposed club.

As the meeting above alluded to was only preliminary, it is hoped, to the establishing of one of the most wide-awake and effective political organizations in the state, it was voted that when rooms have been secured and put in proper condition, the undersigned shall issue a call to the republicans of Portsmouth, and all voters in the city who intend acting with the republicans in the coming presidential campaign, to meet and participate in the organization of the Portsmouth Republican Club.

GEORGE W. PENDEXTER,
Chairman Rep. City Com.

Keep On.

The Times deprecates the election to the city councils of inefficient men, and maintains that our municipal interests should be in better hands than has been the rule in years past.

Now is the opportunity, while its political friends are in the majority, for the Times to advocate what is commonly known as a "Citizens' movement." There never was a better occasion for a paper which is vigorous and outspoken, and which promises not to defend a wrong in a municipal officer simply because he may be a democrat or votes with the democratic party, to inaugurate a plan by which our best citizens, instead of avoiding their share of responsibility in the management of our city affairs, will "take their trick at the wheel."

If the Times can cause to be instituted a new regime; if there can be selected men who do not wish the places, but serve the city solely from a sense of obligation to the tax-payers; if the patronage of the city government can be so adjusted that the selection of only the best public servants can be made, regardless of political antecedents; if this kind of a local political millenium could be seen, we should become convinced that the change of base growing out of the transfer of the Times to its new proprietors will prove one of the most fortunate happenings for our community. We are glad to note that the Times has positive views upon economic questions, that it has notions which are broad and progressive, and dares maintain them. The herculean task of its conductors will be to educate its party to the high standard the journal now assumes.

Personal.

Mr. Joseph B. Stearns, the electrician, and wife, are guests of Mrs. J. Horace Kent, on Islington street.

Messrs. Joseph Sise and Joseph W. Peirce, accompanied by their wives, left town on Monday morning for a trip to Washington and places beyond. The quartette will be absent several weeks. They were accompanied as far as Washington by Mrs. George L. Treadwell and daughter, who visit Hagarstown, Md., as the guests of Mrs. Beaumont, widow of the late Commodore J. C. Beaumont of the United States navy.

Rev. James DeNormandie was in town on Tuesday. He will sail from New York for Liverpool on the 14th of April, and intends to be home again by the first of June.

The matron of the New Hampshire state prison was in this city on Tuesday, on a brief visit to Mrs. Kent, widow of the late Warden Kent.

Alderman Wendell has made himself "solid" with progressive and public spirited citizens of all parties by his stand on the question of school appropriations, even though his strong plea for the naming of a proper sum was disregarded, and his formal motion to that effect negatived by the board. "One, with the Right, is a majority"—though it may sometimes be a good while before that majority is apparent.

The granite post at the corner of Water and Jefferson streets was recently knocked over by one of the teams of Mr. A. K. Brown, who will replace it as soon as the state of the ground will permit.

The Times has not yet heard of the elections in Kittery and Eliot on Monday.

Ebenezer G. Knowlton, of Manchester, died on the 22d inst., aged ninety-one years and six months. He was a native of Northwood, and served six weeks at garrison duty in the forts of this harbor in the war of 1812.

The appropriation bill is not yet an ordinance, and the common council still has power to put the appropriation for schools at a proper figure. The tax-payers desire that this be done; will the councilmen take heed?

Preparations were on Tuesday commenced at the navy yard for putting the U. S. S. Constellation in the dry dock.

Congressman McKinney has appointed John M. Mitchell of Concord, Posmaster J. G. Dearborn, and E. R. Goodwin, principal of the high school at Manchester, a board of examiners of the candidates who shall present themselves for admission to Annapolis and West Point, at the competitive examination to be held at Manchester on Monday, April 23d.

A number of young ladies of this city will give a Leap Year party in Franklin hall on the evening of Wednesday, April 11th.

The St. Mary's Benevolent Association will give an Easter hop in Franklin hall on Monday evening, April 2d, for the benefit of the Nonpareil Boat club.

Our democratic contemporary on State street has not yet brought absolute order out of the confusion of moving its office, enlarging its size and increasing its news; on Tuesday it said, "New moon at five o'clock this afternoon," while the almanac reported a full moon at that time. But perhaps our brother meant a new democratic moon, the old luminary of the party having been totally eclipsed in this region lately.

Masonic Election.

William G. Billings, high priest;
Edward W. Riley, king;
Albert R. Junkins, scribe;
John Nutter, treasurer;
Walter H. Page, secretary;
Richard I. Walden, captain of host;
Morris C. Foye, principal sojourner;
Marcus M. Collis, R. A. captain.

Our line of Kid Gloves for Easter is second to none for quality and low prices; embroidered and plain backs from 50 cts. to $1.50. Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market street.

Edward J. Moulton and B. Stowe Laskey were on Tuesday evening drawn to serve as petit jurors from ward two at the April term of the supreme court. Henry Wendell has been drawn as petit juror from ward four.

Five hundred dollars in Portsmouth six per cent bonds issued in aid of the Portsmouth Dover railroad, sold at 107 3-4 at auction in Boston on Saturday.

The dance by the children in "The Cadets' Picnic" will be entirely new and original, and is entered into with that charming naivete and sprightliness so pleasing in youthful performers; it is alone worth the price of admission.

A fashion item says "Applegreen is the latest French color." The French are a long way behind this part of the world in that respect; we know all about the apple green and the pear chokey more than forty years ago, and where they could best be procured with the least danger of the man coming.

The river and harbor bill gives $15,000 for Portsmouth harbor, $10,000 for Little harbor, and $9,000 for the Cocheco river.

Capt. C. F. Duncan, of the steamer James Sampson, went to Kennebunkport on Tuesday afternoon, where he will remain until the completion of his new steamer, the Undine, which is being constructed there. The hull has been planked in and the deck laid, and the vessel will be ready to launch in about six weeks.

The schooner A. J. Bentley, Brackett master, from Port Johnson with egg, stove and chestnut coal to E. F. Sise & Co., arrived at this port on Monday.

The following are among the recent transfers of real estate in York county, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds: Kittery—J. Orville Otis of Malden, Mass., to E. Everett Otis of Kittery, land and buildings in Kittery for $300; Wm. Jackson (by adm'r) to Augustus A. Stevenson, land and buildings for $150. York—J. Leander Littlefield to Henry A. Littlefield, real estate for $1.

—A new bicycle is called the roadsculler. It is a complete adaptation of the rowing action, with a sliding seat, to a tricycle. None of these machines will be perfect until something is invented to enable a man to wheel himself home in a wheelbarrow, accompanied by an automatic attachment that will take his boots off and find hisnight-key.

Doors open at 7:30, curtain will rise at 8 o'clock promptly.

THE clearness of plate-glass windows is impaired by washing them with soap containing resin, which always leaves a thin, semi-transparent coating over the surface. Ivory Soap contains no resin, and if used with tepid water, a sponge to apply the soap and water with, and a chamois to rub the window-pane dry, your windows will prove the truth of the saying: "Clear glass is to a house what beautiful eyes are to a woman."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

THE MOST WONDERFUL FAMILY REMEDY EVER KNOWN.

LINIMENT

Paine's Celery Compound

WEAK NERVES

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND is a Nerve Tonic which never fails. Containing Celery and Coca, those wonderful nerve stimulants, it speedily cures all nervous disorders.

RHEUMATISM

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND purifies the blood. It drives out the lactic acid, which causes Rheumatism, and restores the blood-making organs to a healthy condition. It is the true remedy for Rheumatism.

KIDNEY COMPLAINTS

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND quickly restores the liver and kidneys to perfect health. This curative power, combined with its nerve tonics, makes it the best remedy for all kidney complaints.

DYSPEPSIA

CONSTIPATION

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND is not a cathartic. It is a laxative, giving easy and natural action to the bowels. Regularity surely follows its use.

Recommended by professional and business men. Send for book.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the first successful blood medicine ever offered to the public. This preparation is still held in the highest public estimation both at home and abroad. Its miraculous cures and immense sales show this. Ask your druggist for it.

Nashua had two earthquake shocks on the morning of the 27th.

When I began using Ely's Cream Balm my catarrh was so bad I had the headache the whole time and discharged a large amount of filthy matter. That has almost entirely disappeared and I have not had the headache since.—J. H. Sommers, Stepney, Conn.

I thank God that you ever invented such a medicine for catarrh. I have suffered for five years so I could not lie down for weeks at a time. Since I have been using Ely's Cream Balm I can rest. Frank P. Burleigh, Farmington, N. H.

Another great snow storm prevailed in Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin on Sunday, and blocked travel to a great extent.

Have you these dangerous symptoms, —cough, pain in the side or breast, fever, short breath, night sweats, tickling, rising, or soreness in the throat, diarrhœa, nervous debility, asthmatic bronchial affections? If so, use at once Adamson's Cough Balsam.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

In retaliation for attempting the enforcement of the "nuisance law" against the liquor dealers in Concord, those dealers, with their friends, have established a boycott against all those who signed the petition for enforcing the law. In Penacook, which is a part of Concord, these signers were dealers in various kinds of goods and wares which are now under stringent boycott.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites,

For Lung Troubles and Wasting Diseases. Dr. J. Simonaud, New Orleans, La., says: "Scott's Emulsion is the finest preparation of the kind. In affections of the lungs and other wasting diseases, we may consider it our most reliable agent. In a perfectly elegant and agreeable form."

The Paloune Baptist association, at its recent meeting in Moscow, Idaho, resolved "That, as Baptists, we believe woman has the right to vote in the state as well as in the church."

A wonderful remedy is Adamson's Cough Balsam. It heals irritated parts, cures the cough and helps the throat and lungs to resist the influence of climate so severe at this time of year. Adamson's Cough Balsam has been used by the most prominent people with the best results.

Mrs. Patti Lyle Collins is employed by the government at Washington as a reader of "blind handwriting" in the dead-letter office. She is an expert, and is paid a good salary. She is said to read every known language except Russian and Chinese. A thousand letters a day pass through her hands, but she deals only with the addresses.

How Unpleasant

It is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulpher Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

Largest Classes on Record.

The mysterious origin of man has been partially disclosed by the Indianapolis Citizen, who found an infant in a tin-pail at the top of a tree. It is to be remembered there is nothing mysterious about Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; a few doses will cure your cough and cold.

By the explosion of a locomotive at North Manchester, Conn., March 28th, the engineer and fireman were killed.

Ingalls found an invaluable remedy for stomach and liver troubles, in Mandrake, an herb which is most effective in eradicating all humors and other impurities of the blood. This compound is most especially commended to all who suffer from dyspepsia, loss of appetite, indigestion, or any trouble of the stomach or liver.

Congress appropriated $5000 to provide for paying the funeral expenses of the late chief justice.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness and give strength and rest. Try them.

There is a smallpox scare at Saccarappa, Me.

The body is more susceptible to benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla now than at any other season. Therefore take it now.

A SCIENTIST'S WARNING.

"We are startled constantly by the sudden death of some man who seemed the picture of health. He thought he was well. He had felt strange pains shooting through his body, but as they did not remain, he forgot them. His head pained him periodically, he was somewhat paler than common and unaccountably tired, but he felt comparatively well and vigorous. And yet, he suddenly died! It is a shame to our boasted civilization."

"Look at the list of women who die in childbirth, and why is it? Simply because their maternal organs have been so weakened by the most terrible of diseases that they cannot withstand the fearful, sudde strain that is brought to bear upon them. How many women escape monthly agonies? And yet nature never intended that pain or inconvenience should attend the operation of her natural laws. The solemn and terrible fact is, that men and women drag along, die, and are buried, and their friends and the doctors say heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, congestion, convulsions, when the cause lay far back of all these things. The truth is that weakened kidneys are the cause of most of our troubles. The great question, therefore, is: 'How shall I preserve my kidneys, or, if diseased, how can they be restored?' I have seen numbers of cases and learned from unquestionable sources of many others, where the preparation, Hunt's Remedy, has been almost remarkable in its results. I use it freely among my patients, and shall continue to do so. It is a wonderful and invaluable remedy."

The remarks of the learned doctor should be carefully considered, and acted upon by all who desire long life, and freedom from pain and the danger of sudden death.

Ancient Order of Snakes.

The dancing man, says the Apache Critic, made four circuits around the rock which stands near the center of the plaza, halting to face the chorus, where as on the day before, a song was gone through with. The snake men were formed into groups of three each, and now an individual from each group went into the cottonwood shade and extracted a snake from one of the bags, and, after putting it into his mouth and firmly fixing it there by the teeth, started on his round.

His companion, with an arm around his neck, kept the tail of the snake in position, while with the right, in which was carried a stick with two long feathers attached, he held the serpent away from becoming entangled in the hair of his friend. The snake, after being carried around the circle, is thrown from the mouth, when the third member of the group gathers his snakeship up and carries him the balance of the dance, occasionally, however, giving the dancing man some to hold, which they do in rather a modest manner.

Smiles are brought upon the visages of many of the spectators at the sad plight others are put in by the serpents every once in a while making bold dashes for liberty, scattering the crowd in all directions, yet to be brought back captives and be held more securely by the singers. Two or three instances were noticed of the large bull snake being held by the neck, but throwing his long, prehensile body around the leg, thus securing himself from imaginative dangers. One instance in particular, where the snake was longer by fully two feet than the small boy who held it, and twisted itself around first one leg and then the other in such a manner that to move was to fall. The predicament of the urchin called forth a great burst of merriment. Yet it looked anything but funny to the boy. How many snakes were on hand would be hard to tell, yet serpents were plenty and seemed to be in excellent condition, to judge from the manner in which they resisted recapture after having been dropped from the mouth, but there were at least 150.

Those who danced with the snakes not infrequently had three or four at the same time in the mouth, which, of all the performances, was the most repulsive. To see a human being going the rounds with his entire face hidden behind the snakes, not a feature visible, was something to make the shudders creep up one's back, which it did. Yet there was sounds of applause from the natives gathered around, urging the dancers to attempt greater feats, such as taking two of the larger rattlers in the mouth at once, and in one instance a dancer held many snakes in his mouth, which twined around his face in a hideous mass, as if his head had been transformed into that of the fabled Gorgon.

That the performers are thoroughly doctored or medicated prior to the commencement of the ceremonies there can be no doubt. The eyes and the ecstatic bearing of the bodies attract attention at once; there is a peculiar lustre in the orbs and an elasticity in the movement of the body.

Paying Debts in Brazil.

If one borrows a small sum of money from a Brazilian, repayment is regarded as an insult. I was naturally unaware of this; and, when we landed at the Isle de Flores, having no change in the money of the country, I borrowed a dollar of a Brazilian fellow-passenger to give to the men who hauled up our luggage.

Three days later I procured some change, and when I, with many thanks for his loan, tendered my friend a dollar in repayment, he would not take it, and appeared to be quite insulted.

I think his good feelings toward me never quite recovered from the shock thus occasioned him.—"Zephyrens."

Life in the Indian Territory.

A gentleman who lived for years in the Indian country said yesterday that the present system is breeding a race of murderers. "As population thickens in the states and lawabiding settlements take possession of the country, the desperadoes are driven into the Indian territory to prey upon the widely scattered victims. Added to their depredations are the acts of violence committed by the members of powerful families. They control the councils of the civilized tribes and force the more peaceful Indians to obey them implicitly. They do not hesitate to kill anybody who dares thwart their will. Feuds are more common than friendships. Laws are laughed at, and the impotence of the police is growing worse. I knew a harmless white man in one of the civilized tribes, who carried his Winchester for months, even in going from his house to his store, simply because he stood in the way of some influential Indians, and was constantly in danger of assassination. The lands are not cultivated except by a few squaw men and half-bloods. The majority of the Indians live poorly and idly. They quarrel over religion and politics, and act as about their only apparent interest in life. When I say religion and politics I should say over preachers and politicians. They neither know nor care anything about measures or principles. They take a fancy to this or that preacher and fight over their preferences freely. So with politics; all turns on personal and family attributes. It is a shame that such a state of things should be allowed to continue. As for the Indians on the western reservations, they are worse yet.'—Kansas City Times.

She Tried and Knows.

A leading chemist of New York says: "No plasters of such merit as the Ath-lo-pho-ros Plasters have ever before been produced." They are a novelty because they are not made simply to sell cheap, they are the best that science, skill and money can produce, and will do what is claimed for them. For sprains, aches, weakness, lameness, etc., they are unequaled.

464 Fulton St., Sandusky, O., Nov. 21, '87. The Athlophoros Plaster acted like magic. It is the best I ever tried and I have used many kinds. Our druggist said "plasters are all about the same" but I don't think so now. I sprained my arm and shoulder in July, and it has been painful ever since, but it does not pain me at all now. The Bethel meeting was at the Christian chapel last Sunday evening; Mr. Wakely conducted the services.

Mr. Albert Fernald will move on the Mitchell farm at the Harbor this week.

Last Thursday evening one of the pleasantest entertainments of the season was given by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Amee, at their residence. The first part of the evening was spent in reading, music and conversation. Later, refreshments were served in the dining room. The table decorations and the pretty frosted cakes were admired by all, and the sweetmeats and mottoes were the source of much merriment among the guests. The company separated at a late hour, highly pleased with the programme of the evening. AUNT MOLLY.

The recent liquor raids in Dover were not, as many supposed, inaugurated under the "liquor nuisance" act passed by the legislature in 1887. That law neither requires nor authorizes any searches or seizures, but is much more summary, an absolute closer of any place where liquor is sold or kept for sale, by supreme court injunction, a violation of which would imprison a man at the discretion of the court, and fine him heavily besides. The Dover raids were made under provisions of the law which have been in force over thirty years; but it is said the nuisance law will soon be put in motion in that city.

The summer cottage in course of erection on the old Seaward place, Gerrish's island, for Mr. Stickney, has a frontage of 100 feet, and contains fourteen sleeping apartments, a dining hall forty feet in length, and drawing rooms, etc., to correspond. It will be the finest summer cottage anywhere along the coast in this vicinity, when finished.

The annual meetings of the several fire companies for the choice of officers will be held on Monday evening next.

Hampton Falls this year appropriates $1000 for schools, $500 for town debt and interest, $500 for town charges, and $500 for highways and bridges.

A Rochester liquor dealer, disturbed by the announcement that the selectmen intended closing all saloons after Saturday, March 31st, by search and seizure, nuisance act, and any other means provided by law, hired a place in Dover and announced his intention of opening a saloon there. The Dover liquor raids disturbed his plans once more, and he decided not to open his new place as intended.

Mr. Cotton, proprietor of the Wilson house in Farmington, it is reported has leased the Arlington house, Boston, for a term of years.

The wood choppers who have been at work all winter in the forests of Mt. Agamenticus have stopped work, having it is said cleared about one-third of the mountain of its big timber.

The Dover Democrat says there were over $4500 worth of liquors in George Dunn's store when it was searched, March 26th; but only a small part of it was seized.

A tramp at the Dover police station one night recently said the fraternity will give Dover the go-by this summer. They have all learned that water works are to be built in Dover, and are afraid that they might be pressed into the service.

Rev. George W. Bicknell of Lowell, Mass., formerly pastor of the Universalist church in this city, has been invited to deliver the oration at the dedication at Gettysburg next June of the soldier's monument which Maine presented to the Fifth regiment of that state. Mr. Bicknell was adjutant of the regiment during the war, and afterward was its historian, publishing its history in 1871. He was badly wounded at the second battle of Fredericksburg.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 421 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

Notice--Get Your Full Weight!

THIS CARD is intended to call the attention of every housekeeper in the city of Portsmouth and vicinity. The Spring Cleaning time is drawing near, when every housekeeper will have more or less domestic refuse, such as rags and old rubber, and all kinds of old paper stock, to dispose of; every one wants, and ought to have, the best prices of the market, and this can be assured by seeing John O'Brien or his man, as he is about sending out his carts on the different routes, and having made a contract with parties to take all his paper stock, he will be able to pay the best prices of any man outside of Boston. If you do not see O'Brien's teams, drop a postal card to "John O'Brien, No. 1 Holmes Court," and prompt attention will be paid to the same.

N. B. Beware of unprincipled men; they will call and weigh your rags, and give you about one-half of what they really weigh. My attention has been called to six different cases of late where parties got rags in that way and the housekeeper took them back again. Weigh all your rags, and catch the dishonest dealer. What I say to one I say to all—"Weigh your rags." Why should you sell your rags for ¼ cent when you can get 1 cent per lb. for colored rags, 3½ cents for white, and 5 cents per lb. for your old rubbers. You can get these prices by seeing John O'Brien, cash or trade. If you should enter a grocery store and call for a bag of flour, and found it four or five pounds short, you would think that was not right; and why should you not have your weight in your bag of rags? I say to you again, weigh your rags, for me and for all.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. It will positively cure—when in the power of medicine—Spring Debility, Headache, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, and all Diseases caused by a low state of the blood.

"I suffered three years with blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and think I am cured." MRS. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Is so vastly superior to any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier, that one has well said: "Its health-giving effects upon the blood and entire human organism, are as much more positive than the remedies of a quarter or a century ago, as the steam-power of to-day is in advance of the slow and laborious drudgery of years ago."

"While suffering from a severe bilious attack in March, 1883, a friend in Peoria, Ill., recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I tried the remedy, and was permanently cured." J. A. SHEPARD, travelling agent for Devoe & Co., Fulton Street, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

"I tried a dozen articles to cleanse my blood, but never found anything that did me any good till I began using Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. H. PEER, Rochester, N. Y.

"My wife was troubled with dizziness and constipation, and her blood has been in a bad order—in fact she has been all run down. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her a wonderful amount of good." F. M. BALDWIN, druggist, Blanchester, Ohio.

"I was for five years a sufferer with boils, all run down, and was at one time obliged to give up work. Before taking all of two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was entirely cured." R. M. LANE, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

Cruelty to Animals.

President Marvin, of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, made an official visit to Enfield, Monday of this week, and inspected several herds of cattle, which he found in a neglected and suffering condition. William Blood, owner of four oxen and three horses, was prosecuted for using his animals when they were unfit for labor by reason of emaciation, lameness and disease. The offender was adjudged guilty and sentenced to pay a fine and the cost of prosecution. The society has received a great many complaints from various parts of the state against owners of horses and cattle who are accused of keeping their stock so miserably underfed that many animals have actually died of starvation. Some of the cruel owners have been brought to justice, and others will be punished, as they richly deserve, as soon as the society can get at them.

A Correction Corrected.

A correspondent of the Portsmouth Journal, writing from New Orleans over the signature "T. W. J.," says:

Mr. Editor:—Please correct the statement of the correspondent of the Boston Globe, that the ship Fortitude was built on Badger's island. She was the first vessel built at the yard near the old South Mill bridge, which has since been used by Marcy & Pettigrew, (then, 1835, Charles Cushing's.) At her launching, which was the first made from that yard, the ways were laid with so much descent that she ran aground on Peirce's island, opposite, and gave the builder much trouble in getting her off. Capt. Daniel Libbey was commander, and Capt. Isaac White of Newcastle, mate, on her first voyage.

We think "T. W. J." is in error, and that the once famous old ship Fortitude was built where the Globe correspondent said, on Badger's island. Her first papers were taken out at the custom house in this city; and the custom house records say she was built in 1835 on Badger's island, by Thomas Lydston, for Charles Cushing. Capt. Daniel Libbey was not master on her first voyage, but bought her in 1837, two years after she was launched, she being then lying at a wharf in Boston; sailed her around to this port, and fitted her at Pier wharf for a Calcutta voyage.

The custom house records say the ship Harriet Rockwell was built in 1835 (the same year as the Fortitude) at Portsmouth, by Frederick W. Fernald, for Lewis Barnes. The exact location of the yard where she was built is of course not specified; but old citizens who at that time were in active life and connected with shipbuilding work, inform us that she was built at the yard near the south mill bridge, was the first built there, and when launched ran across the narrow channel and stuck in the mud on the Peirce's island side. This is probably the vessel "T. W. J." had in mind when writing of the Fortitude.

In 1836 the ship Thomas Perkins was built at the same yard by Mr. Fernald, for David Pingree and Emery Johnson of Salem, Mass., according to the custom house records; and so far as we can learn no other vessel was built there until Marcy & Pettigrew took the place for that purpose, and constructed there several ships and one or two schooners, the last one—and which probably will always be the last one—being the ship William H. Marcy.

Mr. Benjamin M. Bailey, the veteran caulker, who in 1835 was a member of the firm of "Badger & Bailey, shipwrights, caulkers and gravers," and whose memory is to-day about as reliable as any written record, worked on all three of the ships named, and says the Fortitude was built on Badger's island, and the other two at the south end.

A Hint Concerning the School Matter.

A correspondent of the Times in the following communication gives the members of the city councils a hint which may be worth while for them to consider, before fixing the school appropriation at three-fourths the needed amount:

EDITOR TIMES:—I am a poor man earning $1.50 a day, (when I can get work). I have four children—seven, nine, twelve and fourteen years old. They all go to the public schools. I am trying to give them a fair education. It is about all I can do for them. I have read your editorials with a great deal of interest, and I want to thank you as a laboring man for the manly and decided stand you have taken in this matter. Every word you say is true, and the man, or men, who are trying to cripple our schools will find to their sorrow, when they come up again for office, that the laboring men, will not forget their action in cutting down the appropriation for our schools. As for myself I only pay a poll tax, but I shall not find any fault if the men who pay the taxes want to increase the appropriation to $30,000. Keep on in your good work and you will be sustained by ninety-nine out of every hundred laboring men. As you say, we love our children, if we are poor, and we shall not forget these men who are trying to cut down the appropriation for our schools. I have talked with some of the common council and they say they were deceived and shall vote to grant the $22,000. Every laboring man whose children go to the public schools should see and talk with the member from his ward. If they would do this I don't believe there would be any doubt as to the result.

LABORING MAN.

We would call especial attention to the auction sale of furniture, tools, etc., at No. 13 Fleet street, by Col. Butler, commencing at ten o'clock this forenoon. There is a large collection of nice tools, of the very best make and finest finish, to be disposed of to the highest bidders.

For an evening of real unadulterated fun one can do no better than to see "A Grass Widow." She will be in Music hall, Monday evening, April 2d, with a Chinese dude—Charles T. Parsloe, the best "artificial" Chinaman ever on the American stage.

The military committee of the national house of representatives on Tuesday, March 27th, ordered a favorable report on the bill to grant to the York Harbor & Beach railroad the right of way through the military reservation at Fort McClary, Kittery Point. The railroad is a long way ahead of the bill.

Something the Public Should Know.

The articles, anonymous and otherwise, appearing from time to time in the newspapers, making unfavorable reference to Cleveland's baking powder are from a rival baking powder Company. These articles are intended to counteract, if possible, the letter to the public from General Hurst, late Ohio State Dairy & Food Commissioner, in which he states that the Ohio Commission's investigation of the baking powders, based upon the State Chemist's analyses of thirty different brands, proves that Cleveland's is a strictly pure cream of tartar baking powder, entirely free from alum, ammonia, lime, &c. and that it is absolutely the best and most desirable baking powder manufactured; also, that the Royal baking powder contains ammonia, and that the Cleveland's is superior to the Royal in every quality of excellence. Another object sought by our competitors in the articles referred to is to divert public attention from the scathing but well merited rebuke administered to them by General Hurst for falsifying his official report in their effort to bolster up their baking powder when it compares so unfavorably with Cleveland's powder.

It is quite time that the public is made aware of the deceptive character of the advertising of the baking powder Company in question. While extravagantly advertising their powder they have shrewdly concealed their use of ammonia in its manufacture and have persistently maligned Cleveland's powder.

Cleveland's superior baking powder has never been made of anything but purest grape cream of tartar, purest bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of wheat flour or starch, and has always been absolutely free from adulteration. This is attested by the leading chemists in different parts of the country from analyses made of our powder purchased by them in open market in their respective localities, as shown by their certificates in the circular accompanying each can. We ask the public to show its disapproval of the despicable advertising methods referred to by extending its patronage to Cleveland's superior baking powder, which has for eighteen years been first in point of merit as a pure, efficient, and healthful bread leavening agent.

Good Friday, March 30th: 10:30 A. M., service in St. John's church, with sermon; offertory for missions to the Jews. Church open for private prayer until 3:00 P. M; short service at 1:00, 2:00 and 3:00 P. M. At 7:30 P. M., evening prayer and sermon in Church church.

Saturday, March 31st (Easter Even:) 10:30 A. M., service in St. John's church; 5:00 P. M., evening prayer in Christ church.

Easter Day, Sunday, April 1st: 10:30 A. M., service, address, holy communion, offertory for diocesan missions, in St. John's church; 3:30 P. M., Sunday school celebration in St. John's church, Easter offerings by the two schools; 7:30 P. M., evening prayer, with sermon, music by full choir, in Christ church.

Easter Monday, April 2d: 10:30 A. M., service in St. John's church.

Easter Tuesday, April 3d: 10:30 A. M., service in St. John's church.

The citizens of Portsmouth are indignant because the city council proposes to cut down the appropriation for the public schools greatly below the necessary amount. The fact that a large parochial school building has just been erected is given as an excuse for the reduction.—Boston Journal.

That is not openly given as an excuse by the councils, so far as we have heard. The Catholic school is not yet in operation, and the councils would hardly venture to assert that their cutting down of the appropriations for the public schools was with the object of aiding the sectarian school.

THE MOST WONDERFUL FAMILY REMEDY EVER KNOWN. LINIMENT

Paine's Celery Compound

WEAK NERVES

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND is a Nerve Tonic which never fails. Containing Celery and Coca, those wonderful nerve stimulants, it speedily cures all nervous disorders.

RHEUMATISM

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND purifies the blood. It drives out the lactic acid, which causes Rheumatism, and restores the blood-making organs to a healthy condition. It is the true remedy for Rheumatism.

KIDNEY COMPLAINTS

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND quickly restores the liver and kidneys to perfect health. This curative power, combined with its nerve tonics, makes it the best remedy for all kidney complaints.

DYSPEPSIA

CONSTIPATION

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND is not a cathartic. It is a laxative, acting easy and natural action to the bowels. Regularity surely follows its use.

Recommended by professional and business men. Send for book.

STOCK IN MINNESOTA.—From an exclusive grain country, Minnesota is being rapidly transformed into the finest stock and dairy state in the Union. Cheap lands with abundance, convenient to railroad. Particulars free upon application to C. H. WARREN, Gen. Pass. Agt., St. Paul, Minn.

The Indianapolis Sentinel publishes a statement that Mr. Blaine is utterly broken in health, and cannot probably live long.

Rev. Mr. Spooner on the 28th inst. preached his farewell sermon in the Free-will Baptist church at Farmington, having accepted a call to Lawrence, Mass.

Mr. L. P. E. Richards of Salem has been appointed a deputy sheriff of Rockingham county.

The Springfield Republican has a story that the late Emperor William of Germany had a twin brother. Twins are very inconvenient in a royal family, as it offers a chance for a disputed succession. So one of this pair was kept to become the greatest monarch of continental Europe, while the other was given to a discreet German nobleman to bring up as a gentleman of good family and mysterious origin, who became a staid German squire. His daughter married and emigrated to Ohio, and his grandson is a well known professor of music in New York, who much resembles his cousin, the successor to the imperial throne. The Republican says the late emperor acknowledged the relationship in letters of his own hand, addressed to his niece in Ohio, then herself an elderly woman, who had with some difficulty solved the riddle of her father's birthright.

You Can't Make a Samson

Out of an attenuated dude, with meagre legs, pigeon chest and a slight cough. But a man or woman whom constitutional vigor has been denied, can get it to a very considerable extent by the persistent use, in regularly proportioned, alternated doses, of America's chief tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. To the nerves and muscles of the stomach that genial invigorant imparts tone, and to its operations regularity. The proximate result is thorough digestion and complete assimilation of the food, and the ultimate sequence, blood fertile with the elements of muscular tissue, a healthy appetite, nightly rest unimpaired, and a disappearance of the nervous symptoms to which enfeebled invalids are always subject, and which they are very prone to take for the manifestations of serious organic disease, and does accordingly. In diseases of the kidneys and bladder, always excessively weakening, and for constipation, fever and ague, and liver complaint, use the Bitters.

Three of the "Bald Knobbers" of Ozark, Mo., have been sentenced to death for murder.

Henry Worthen, aged seven years, and Lewis Warren, aged six, were drowned at Amesbury, Mass., March 27th, while playing on the ice in the Merrimac river.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the first successful blood medicine ever offered to the public. This's preparation is still held in the highest public estimation both at home and abroad. Its miraculous cures and immense sales show this. Ask your druggist for it.

Dora Nickerson has been held as an accessory to the plot to murder Mr. Rowe of Melrose, Mass., who was decoyed to a house in Malden and there shot.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

A carload of Knights of Labor, brakemen and conductors from the Reading railroad, left Pittsburg, Pa., March 28th, for Chicago, to take the places of strikers on the Burlington road.

A wonderful remedy is Adamson's Cough Balsam. If heals irritated parts, cures the cough and helps the throat and lungs to resist the influence of climate so severe at this time of year. Adamson's Cough Balsam has been used by the most prominent people with the best results.

Eben C. Berry's meat market at Dover was burglarized on the night of March 27th, and money and goods stolen.

How Unpleasant

It is to see a beautiful child's face disfigured with vile humors, bursting through the skin in pimples, blotches, and sores, and sadder still, when the young and innocent are laughed at and twitted in all such cases. Parents should give them that good and pure remedy, Sulpher Bitters, which will search and drive out of the blood every particle of humor.—Health Gazette.

Gladstone was in parliament at twenty-two, and at twenty-four was lord of the treasury.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

It Pleased Him.

He had come over from York, and having finished his business sat in one of the comfortable chairs of a Congress street barber's shop.

"Bay Rum?" enquired the deft handler of the shears.

The clipped man, looking up: "Did you ask me if I would have rum?"

Barber: "Yes, sir; Bay Rum."

Customer: "You bet!" (To himself) "I'll be gol derned if this aint the daiest saloon I ever struck in Portsmouth."

A party paid ten dollars for a horse at an auction sale. The horse was lame, bruised all over, had the scratches and was terribly "galled." A bottle of Salvation Oil, costing twenty-five cents, was used, and in two weeks you would not have known the animal. It is now valued at two hundred dollars.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness and give strength and rest. Try them.

A SCIENTIST'S WARNING.

"We are startled constantly by the sudden death of some man who seemed the picture of health. He thought he was well. He had felt strange pains shooting through his body, but as they did not remain, he forgot them. His head pained him periodically, he was somewhat paler than common and unaccountably tired, but he felt comparatively well and vigorous. And yet, he suddenly died! It is a shame to our boasted civilization."

"Look at the life of women who die in childbirth, and why is it? Simply because their maternal organs have been so weakened by the most terrible of diseases that they cannot withstand the fearful, sudde strain that is brought to bear upon them. How many women escape monthly agonies? And yet nature never intended that pain or inconvenience should attend the operation of her natural laws. The solemn and terrible fact is, that men and women drag along, die, and are buried, and their friends and the doctors say heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, congestion, convulsions, when the cause lay far back of all these things. The truth is that weakened kidneys are the cause of most of our troubles. The great question, therefore, is: 'How shall I preserve my kidneys, or, if diseased, how can they be restored?' I have seen numbers of cases and learned from unquestionable sources of many others, where the preparation, Hunt's Remedy, has been almost remarkable in its results. I use it freely among my patients, and shall continue to do so. It is a wonderful and invaluable remedy."

The remarks of the learned doctor should be carefully considered, and acted upon by all who desire long life, and freedom from pain and the danger of sudden death.

The Western Rustler at Home.

The western town-lot rustler is a well known character. A correspondent of the New York Times, writing from Gypsum City, Kansas, has seen him on his native heath and describes him thus:

"Real estate rustlers are, in my opinion, one of the natural products of the west. They resemble wheat-plants in their imperious demand for virgin soil. No rustler can rustle effectively when hemmed in by costly buildings. They thrive in small towns which stand on the banks of insignificant streams, or on sandy deserts, or on sagebrush plains. They rustle most effectively in towns which contain from 300 to 600 inhabitants. The more dreary and uninviting the town the more energetically they rustle. I am deeply interested in these mysterious men. I have studied their habits for many months and in many towns, but I have been unable to solve the knotty problem of the origin of these strange beings. The famous problem of the lights or of the binomial theorem are merely intellectual toys with which to amuse children in comparison with this twister. There is something uncanny about the prompt appearance of a rustler in a new town.
